There is something that makes this universe go. It is not dead. It is throbbing with life. The mysterious force called life is touching the roots of the trees outside my door. The promise of spring's resurging life is in the air.

The flowers feel it. The birds feel it. We feel it, for the life in us is a part of that central force which surges through all creation, covering the ground with green, clothing the trees with foliage, pecking its way through the shell of the egg, swinging the stars through space.

IMPERISHABLE FORCE

Like Don Marquis, beloved author and playwright of a few years ago, I believe that this life-force is imperishable, for the simple reason that, if it stopped, the result would be nothingness, and a complete state of nothiness cannot be imagined.

And I feel that some of this universal, imperishable, on-going life is in me. How it came to me I do not know. To be sure, that spark of life was passed on to me by my parents at birth, but that power of generation is a mystery.

It is a mystery, too, where the seat of life is. It might seem to be in the brain, for a blow on the head or a clot in the brain can cause paralysis and death. But even if the brain be the seat of life, it is not the source of it. The brain does not secrete thought as the liver produces bile. It only transmits a force which appears to flow through it.

And this life process, which flows through our bodies, preserves our personal identity through all our bodily changes. Does it not, therefore, seem possible that personality can survive the extreme bodily changes of the grave?

Yes, life is more than brain. These lives of ours presuppose a vaster whole of which we are a part. And when I consider human personality, possessed of a spirit which is so much more than the body, my reason tells me that life is too great for the grave and death cannot hold the soul.

MYSTERY OF DEATH

But mere logic is cold comfort when loved ones are taken. Moreover, when death strikes close to home, it stuns the mind so that we do not think clearly. And then comes Christ to bring our minds out of the dusk into the dawn.

And when we live close enough to Christ to catch His spirit, our belief in immortality is illumined with radiant hope. Jesus did not prepare for death as a man getting ready for retirement, but as one preparing for a larger work.

Jesus showed His mastery of death both by the way He faced it and by the way He emerged from it. And the Easter events convince me that Christ did emerge from the grave. I cannot account for the church without the Resurrection.

When I was 13, I was riding home from school one night after a rain had raised the stream which I had to ford. Darkness had fallen and my horse refused to enter the rushing water. Suddenly a farmer opened the door of a farmhouse on the other side of the stream. From the open door came a path of lamplight. In that path of light my horse and I took courage and crossed the flooded creek.

So Christ opened the door on the other side of death's stream and "brought life and immortality to light."

CHRIST THE LORD IS RISEN TODAY

Christ the Lord is ris'n today, Alleluia!
Sons of men and angels say: Alleluia!
Raise your joys and triumphs high, Alleluia!
Sing, ye heav'ns and earth reply, Alleluia!

Lives again our glorious King: Alleluia!
Where, O death, is now thy sting? Alleluia!
Dying once, He all doth save, Alleluia!

Where thy victory, O grave? Alleluia!
Love's redeeming work is done, Alleluia!
Fought the fight, the battle won; Alleluia!
Death in vain forbids Him rise; Alleluia!
Christ has opened Paradise. Alleluia!

Soar we now, where Christ has led, Alleluia!
Foll'wing our exalted Head; Alleluia!
Make like Him, like Him we rise; Alleluia!
Ours the cross, the grave, the skies. Alleluia!

EASTER

Easter is the greatest spiritual festival in the Christian calendar. It commemorates the Resurrection of Christ's body from the dead.

Death, for man, is the ultimate and final mystery. Death is the complete triumph of time and circumstances over living matter. Death comes inevitably to princes and paupers and no human agency or human power can deny its final victory.

The Resurrection is not a natural triumph. It is a manifestation of supernatural power. Man cannot raise himself from the dead. God could, and God did, revitalize His human nature after He permitted its death.

On Good Friday Christ died to redeem mankind from sin. Good Friday is the festival of God's love for man.

Easter is the festival of faith and hope.

Good Friday ends in the tomb. Easter begins in eternity. Easter is the cornerstone of faith in the teachings of Christ, in the Divinity and timelessness of Christianity, and in the ultimate victory of the soul over death. Easter is the assurance that life here succeeds to life hereafter; There is a life beyond the grave because Christ is risen and is alive beyond the grave.

Because Christ is beyond the grave the grave can hold no terror for men who are heirs to His kingdom. Easter is the festival of joy because the resurrection is triumph over death.

THE HIGH COST OF SPORT

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of New York City College, is concerned about the high price which colleges in the United States are paying for sports.

The high price of athletes is providing a problem in Canada, too, for municipalities rather than for universities.

In the case of U.S. colleges, the complaint is not against the price in cash, although that is considerable, but over the degradation of the standards which any university worthy of the name should uphold. Subsidized college athletes expect and receive lenient treatment from examiners. College sport is really big business; its proceeds help finance many educational institutions. They cannot afford to be without first-class teams. Dr. Gallagher suggests a simple solution. He thinks colleges should have no sets of athletes, one professional to bring in the money, the other amateur to provide bona fide students with an opportunity to play sport.

The problem faced by Canadian municipalities is the high price of athletes in cash. For instance, it is no secret that the Belleville Arena Commission lost a considerable sum of money in the past two years operating the Memorial Arena. It is hoped that the team made a very creditable showing in its O.H.A. senior B group. The exact amount of this loss has not yet been announced, but of one thing we can be sure and that is that they will be required to meet this deficit. It may be argued, quite correctly we think, that no body financed with tax money has any right to become involved in the financial fortunes of sports organizations and certainly not of a professional team, which is what most of our so-called amateur hockey teams are. But it is much easier to state this rule than to apply it.

A legitimate case can be made out for the argument that the municipality should provide recreational facilities for its citizens. Once such facilities are provided, it is almost impossible to prevent some of the high external fortunes of sports organizations of various kinds, unless one provides these teams with tax-financed facilities free of charge. This latter course will not commend itself to many.

If the Arena Commission had not operated the Memos this year, it would have foregone the possibility of obtaining certain revenue and have been severely criticized for failure to provide hockey lovers with an opportunity to enjoy their favorite sport. It would have been damned if it didn't—and will now be damned by many because it did.

The whole situation is like this and is not to outline any detailed code of principles but merely to reduce the cost of athletes. They are much too expensive, receive much more than they are worth. If they were not there, then operating an organized team in almost any sport would not so frequently be a losing proposition. In no other field can a man command a high salary with so little prospect that the person who pays his salary will be able to reap a profit.

Most of the blame for this situation can be placed on a misplaced civic pride and on the demand of sport fans who appear to think that it is the duty of the community to provide them with a class of entertainment much higher than that for which they are prepared to pay.

There is no reason why the taxpayer should finance a hockey team or a ball team. Children buy their own marbles and the tippler buys his own beer. Those who like to see a hockey team or a ball team in action should also pay for their own entertainment, by providing "gates" big enough to finance the operation of these teams. They could do this, too, if athletes were not paid much more than they are worth.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE CHURCH ETERNAL

A man who had spent a number of years in Communist Russia told an audience recently of a significant circumstance he had observed one day in Moscow.

It was Easter Sunday. Ten thousand people were gathered in a great square and they were being harangued by enthusiastic atheists who pointed out the absurdity of Easter and all other Christian "superstitions." This indoctrination went on for some time. At last a very insignificant-looking man—not a clergyman at all—arose and stood for a moment until there was complete silence. Then he said very simply, "The Lord is risen." And from ten thousand voices there came the response, "He is risen indeed."

Evil has many characteristics but no characteristic more prominent as its stupidity. Dictators have believed that they could go on enslaving human beings and giving away with it. They have tried, on a number of occasions throughout history, to destroy religion. The result has always been the same. The final, complete failure of their cherished plans. It is impossible to deny to human beings those things they crave because they are human beings.

The dictators may set the world afire before they are through, but their fire will never consume religious faith from off the earth.

Strange TV Etiquette

(By Harold Weir in the Vancouver Sun)

An American woman named Emily Post who writes in one of the local newspapers to instruct us Canadian louts in the ways of the haut monde has recently had a few pertinent things to say about behavior in front of the television set.

It seems that some puzzled reader had been walking into friends' homes where television was going full blast and he wanted to know if it would be polite if he suggested mildly that they should turn the cursed thing off. Emily Post says no. If you want to talk to a friend and he wants to view television, television must always win. The only thing you can do is grope your way to your host and hostess' home.

No one, says Emily Post, should be expected to turn off a favorite TV program for the sake of any friend.

For this admirable exposition of the American way of life as we Canadians are hideously expected to live it, we extend our heartiest thanks to Emily Post. Read Emily Post faithfully and, ough, friends, and the day may come when you will be favored by being permitted to vote for Eisenhower.

There is, of course, one vital point in Emily's advice, that should not be overlooked. And that is that when friends come barging in uninvited they should be prepared to take pot luck in front of the idiot in the living room.

This principle was recognized in the olden days of cheap labor when you'd send a butler to the door with a calling card: "Mr. and Mrs. Smith are not at home" which meant, in the vernacular, that you'd got a hangover and the old lady can't stand the sight of you. Come back next week.

But there's a vast difference between Emily's method of giving a brush-off and the old-fashioned butler's method of giving a brush-off. The difference is this, that in the old days you could be as rude and brutal as you liked so long as you kept the guests outside. The minute they set foot on your inner premises, they became subject to the laws of hospitality and must be accorded courtesy.

If Emily Post really knew her onions, she would not have answered as she did. She would have advised this puzzled reader that if a fellow wants to look at a television, he should say any visitation in the bud by knocking his guests off the verandah with a garden hose. Once they're inside, he's stuck and the television must go off.

Some readers may detect a faint note of irony in these observations. So the writer wants to make it clear that he's very well aware that human life is subject to constant adaptation. When the primeval seas cooled and land appeared, out came the animals that had to accommodate themselves to breathing air were able to survive. When the seasons changed, those animals that were able, over generations, to convert their scales to fur were set to get by.

Only a very unreasonable person, then, would complain that such things as television mustn't make any difference in our social life.

The only purpose of this column is to suggest a few advices, that is a trifle rough in her formula for adapting ourselves to the blessings of television. To chill a friend's amiable ardor by subjecting him into a television program whether he wants it or not seems to be a cruel and inhuman method of achieving another step towards the higher life.

If the advent of television means that we must become a race of hermits, then there is everything else to that sublime agency of enlightenment, let's all get a good start. Let's maintain a semblance of gentility.

If you don't want to be interrupted in your programs, don't make your friends listen to it. Be refined. Set a series of bear traps along the front walk and uphold the simple principles of hospitality at all costs.

Canadian View Of Vs Wrong

(Maclean's Magazine)

Now that the Penticton Vs are home resting on their laurels it is time we congratulate them on their victory and take to task their supporters for the trouble of doing it again. We address a like message to the spoon-fed citizens of Montreal and Toronto, and to the millions of grim Canadians who have joined in rooting the Vs home.

We do not see how the Vs themselves can be held responsible for this, but it's still true that the tournament from which they emerged as victors started a lot of antitudes and values that would be the dismantlement of much of Mau Mau goat sacrifice than with a bona fide sporting event.

We have always thought it a dangerous thing to mix politics and sport. Politics is a delicate instrument managed to mix politics and religion and sport. The result was, as we have learned a few times lately, Everyone knew from the start that the tournament would be more than the most of the fact that Canadians in the main are tougher than Europeans do. Since Russia had won the championship each year for the past seven, it went in with-ease again this year, it was also to be expected that the Communists would encourage their followers to believe a good Marxist system can lick a non-Marxist team any day. This they did.

The Russians, however, proved the West Germany. Most West Germans, with ample reason, are more scared of Communism than of most Canadians. With their long, long tradition of quasi-military quasi-political physical culture movements, they are also far more susceptible to the appeal of a good set of muscles is proof of a pure heart and a sound ideology. Most of central Europe was West Germany got behind the Vs—vocally and financially—with a vengeance. The Penticton players suddenly found themselves cast in the role of a guest-star Siegfried. In this illusion they were sustained by enthusiastic and hostile —exhortations to defend the honor of Canada, to show the cause of democracy, to strike a blow against tyranny and evil.

In the final game they walloped the Russians, 5 to 0. One official of the team, his voice choked with emotion, came on a trans-Atlantic radio network shortly afterward and proclaimed the victory for the credit to God. Later another official of the team, after recovering over the phenomenal humiliating defeat, said thoughtfully: "This is a great thing for democracy."

If the future of democracy, or any part of it, depends on the taking sniffs of a defeat or so young stalwarts from B.C., then democracy is in a bad way indeed. If God spends any of His time fixing hockey games, then we had better start looking to some more reliable method for our salvation.

Advertising Gets New Job

(Hartford, Conn., Courant)

A move most advantageous to the Western Allies is the private enterprise of the free world's newspaper advertising for the public purpose of instructing the peoples of Europe in the meaning of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The United Aircraft Corporation has scheduled a comprehensive series of full-page appeals for collection in European newspapers. This is a cold-war development that is as useful as it is new and interesting.

The first of the United Aircraft ads is making its appearance this week. Without a single reference to straight-from-the shoulder messages designed to convince readers that American industry, and the progress it exemplifies, depend on freedom, liberty and peace. The novel warnings that there's no time to lose in which to defeat Communism's subversion. They will be carried by each of 25 leading European newspapers in 10 countries. This bespeaks initiative, painstaking work and a sense of duty—opposition to defense against the threat to the free world.

The ads will be of special interest upon which American enterprise depends at home to lift the living standard for goods and services. Why has it not been employed abroad? The answer is that the newer involves many factors besides cost. Foremost has been the conviction that it can't thrive in a conflict with United States foreign policy. Ignorance of the political situations in the several countries. But when General Mildred Bx. Cruesther, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, placed the idea of freedom-enterprise arrangements, the path was cleared for American industry to volunteer its services.

The task is of heroic proportions and will be long. It will require years of the population in the 14 member nations of the world know what NATO is, or what it's trying to do. But Americans have great faith in advertising. They know what it has accomplished. United Aircraft is doing a very real and, perchance, is shaping history.

But of course the recent contest between the Vs and the Russians had precisely nothing to do with God or democracy. It had something to do with the soundness or unsoundness of the respective social or spiritual values. But since it has led millions of normally sane human beings to the opposite belief, however momentarily; since it has led to a heightening of world tensions, we believe Canada ought to pull out of the hockey tournaments and to stay out until the world—ourselves included—has learned a good deal more about the difficult art of being sensible.

Personal Health Talks

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR BROKEN NECK

Beyond an occasional threat of damage suit there has been no report of serious injury from so much as a sprained ankle as a result of following the combined weight of Webster's unabridged dictionary and the assertions of numerous athletes, tumblers, gymnasts and ordinary people for "exercises" as a proper term for the manoeuvre. What these experts call somersaults, we called air springs when I was a boy on Chapel Street in Canadian Soo. The difference between handsprings and, airsprings being that in turning, airsprings the hands do not touch the ground.

I might have carried on with it, but for Young Bill, who relayed to me the word of his physical instructor in college that my "somersaults" are just forward rolls, properly speaking. Even this might not phase me, but the truth is that my neck is getting hard to handle, so I'll call 'em whatever the physical instructor says. Bill, by the way, is the boy who had "enlarged thymus" or "status thymus lymphaticus" which worried us all so needlessly (reminded me to tell readers about this phantom malady later.)

A reader writes:

"I am very happy to tell you I have for the past fifteen years taken every morning rolls every morning, and I always feel refreshed after my rolls.

I am 78 years old, and I hope that as long as I live I shall be able to continue my morning rolls. I read your articles every day and you have helped me in many ways.

"Gratefully yours (....)"

If you decide to try forward rolls without first sending for the pamphlet, ask soon youngster five or six years old to show you how.

Anyway I'm convinced they're good medicine. That's why I roll, my own. Six, before breakfast. Then, early every morning, plus the half dozen movements from the Last Brady Symphony.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE PENALTY WE PAY

There are a multitude of things for which we have to pay nothing. They come to us as free gifts. There are others, however, for which we have to pay a penalty. For the privilege of living to a ripe old age we pay in loneliness, for so many of those whom we have known and loved have gone to their reward. We pay them and our memory of them is something very precious.

We pay a penalty for fame, for riches, for unusual attention on the part of others. Each, in some measure, must bargain for the price that must be paid. It may be too much or too little. We have to figure that out for ourselves. Carnegie got to worrying over the blood money he had acquired and decided to give all, or most of it away. Then he began establishing libraries all over the country—a very worthy thing to do! Millions down the years will bless him for his generosity. I have an idea that he must have considered this act as paying him far more than any other investment.

Health is wealth. It is even more—it is happiness in any age. We abuse this wonderful body of ours we have to pay a very big penalty, and that penalty may be more than we can pay if we have neglected our health and thereby ignored its worth to us. Actually our health and our success, as well as our happiness, are all tied up in the kind of a body we decide to own.

I met two champion golf players recently. Neither used tobacco nor alcoholic drink in any clothing. They told me they did not want to lower their opportunity to keep getting better. They cannot have all the things we wish when we decide upon a course that calls for sacrifice for steady nerves and mental control of our faculties. Athletes, to gain top ranks, know they must respect their bodies and keep them clean, strong and alert.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Let's see if we cannot involve the food industry in the problem of divorce. The more big interests we can entangle in that problem, the sooner it will be solved one way or the other. Big business does not play not only high-priced legal advisers, with at least seven names on their letterhead, but all kinds of public relations experts, research men, soft-talkers and hard-talkers after both facts and fancies. Charge the food industry or the automotive industry with some responsibility in the divorce problem, and how well he could defend it! Nothing straight-from-the shoulder messages designed to convince readers that American industry, and the progress it exemplifies, depend on freedom, liberty and peace. The novel warnings that there's no time to lose in which to defeat Communism's subversion. They will be carried by each of 25 leading European newspapers in 10 countries. This bespeaks initiative, painstaking work and a sense of duty—opposition to defense against the threat to the free world.

The ads will be of special interest upon which American enterprise depends at home to lift the living standard for goods and services. Why has it not been employed abroad? The answer is that the newer involves many factors besides cost. Foremost has been the conviction that it can't thrive in a conflict with United States foreign policy. Ignorance of the political situations in the several countries. But when General Mildred Bx. Cruesther, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, placed the idea of freedom-enterprise arrangements, the path was cleared for American industry to volunteer its services.

The task is of heroic proportions and will be long. It will require years of the population in the 14 member nations of the world know what NATO is, or what it's trying to do. But Americans have great faith in advertising. They know what it has accomplished. United Aircraft is doing a very real and, perchance, is shaping history.

Next came ready-cooked fish. French fries requiring only to be heated up. Then the frozen meat that got the whole works out of the bin, there was no pots and dishes to wash, because you threw the plate away.

This, as you can see, is a fatal blow to the married state. Despite the fiction built up by generations that love was the motive force towards marriage, most of us will tell you that the goal of marriage, that the need for the comforts of home is really the fundamental basis of marriage. And good meals are the first of the comforts of home.

Now the food industry comes ahead and makes it possible not only for bachelors and old maids to multiply by the thousands, but for married people to get mad at each other and go their separate ways to eat every meal at a deli or at the corner grocery's freezer.

Watch out, the appliance industry is likely to come up any day with an automatic bedmaker. Then marriage is finished.

C of C Presents to Council Brief on Proposed Sewage Plant

STIRLING — On Monday evening a delegation from the Stirling Chamber of Commerce waited upon the village council at their regular meeting and presented the following brief re their recent survey on sewerage..

Reeve West and members of the Municipal Council of Stirling:

As representatives of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce, may we present to you the following briefs having to do with the matter of sewage disposal in the village of Stirling.

The chamber wishes to make clear that its chief concern has been to develop an informed public opinion on the subject of sanitary sewage disposal. Some time ago, with the co-operation of the municipal council, the chamber sponsored a public meeting at which experts on the matter outlined their thoughts and answered questions asked by those present. A full account of the meeting was published.

In planning its program of work for 1955 the executive of the chamber felt that much more could be done to develop an informal opinion in the minds of the local ratepayers. In order to ascertain a cross-section of public opinion on the matter the chamber mailed some 257 questionnaires to Stirling ratepayers. The chamber, with the valued assistance of the Stirling Boy Scouts, collected the questionnaires. To date a total of 187 replies have been tabulated. This total represents 72.72 per cent of the total number mailed.

At this time may we present to you the tabulated results of the questionnaire to date. We believe that the results as shown are a true indication of public opinion on the matter of sewerage. The chief conclusion of the chamber is that a large majority of Stirling ratepayers are in favor of having some of the problems and details related to the installation of a sanitary sewer system to serve our community.

A space provided on the questionnaire requested the ratepayers to enter any questions they might have with regard to this subject of sewerage. It is evident from the replies that a large majority are anxious to learn more details. However, it also seems apparent that before many of these questions can be answered it will be necessary to have a complete survey of the village and proposed plans drawn. A large majority of the ratepayers favored having this survey made.

There are many more interesting conclusions which may be drawn from the results of the questionnaire. The chamber feels that our elected officials are most capable of interpreting these results for themselves. The chamber policy has been, and will continue to be, one of assisting and co-operating with our council in every possible manner. We trust that council will give the results of this questionnaire their considered judgment. May we draw your attention to question seven, which reads as follows: "Would you favor the Chamber of Commerce making a formal request to the municipal council of the village of Stirling, requesting that a complete survey be made in order that accurate figures and data may be presented to the taxpayers on this important subject". According to our tabulation 68.44 per cent answered "yes" to this question.

In view of these results, the chamber respectfully requests that municipal council authorize the making of a complete survey of the village for a proposed sanitary sewer installation to serve the town.

In conclusion the chamber wishes to express its sincere appreciation to council for their consideration of these matters. It is the sincere desire of the chamber to co-operate and work with our council on all matters affecting the welfare of our community.

Signed on behalf of Stirling Chamber of Commerce: E. D. Ketcheson, president; D. W. Rodgers, vice-president; R. D. Patterson, secretary; J. V. Holt, industrial chairman.

The questionnaire on the basis of 187 returns gave a reply of 62.03 per cent favoring a preliminary survey of the village. 64.43 per cent favored sewerage for the whole village with only 8.55 per cent wanting it for the business area only. 72.70 per cent stated their willingness to attend further meetings and learn more about, this project.

67.82 per cent stated their willingness to connect up with a sewer line if it were laid in front of their homes.

67.91 per cent favored that a survey be made at an approximate cost of five thousand dollars, and 68.44 per cent favored the chamber making a formal request to council.

As was said before all these figures are based on the 187 returns. The questionnaires were mailed out on March 21st and were collected a few days later.

Council held a special business meeting on Wednesday morning to discuss details.

Change in Methods of Setting Bag Limit for Fish Is Aim

By ALEX DIMEO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The time is coming when government conservationists will size up a lake in the same way a farmer appraises his land to determine the annual crop," a Quebec biologist says.

Gustave Perron, director of the Quebec biological bureau of the game and fisheries department, told delegates to a North American wildlife conference here some of the aims and problems of his department.

Among the aims is a change in methods of setting bag limits for fish. Mr. Prevost said the tendency today is to liberalize fishing laws, rather than restrict them, to make maximum use of renewable fish resources.

DIDN'T WORK

The general law of setting a maximum catch of a certain species of fish in all lakes throughout the province did not fit into this plan and usually didn't work.

"Suppose that after a careful study of a lake we decided that 1,000 fish should be the annual crop. The present law does not prevent a high catch and anglers may take out 2,000 a year. Such overfishing may damage the lake.

"Suppose on the contrary that only 200 fish are taken out. The lake would not have given its full results and there will be a loss of fish because of old age.

"It is therefore urgent to establish the annual crop of each individual lake, doing so after the manner of a farmer planning the exploitation of a section of land.

"Then, instead of a day bag limit, we shall have a year bag limit."

J. O. Pellerin of Montreal caught a 26-inch, five pound muskellunge in Lac Superieur, north of Montreal, last year.

To a muskie fisherman it may not sound like much, but to the Quebec government it meant that an experiment started in 1951 is proving successful.

In that year some 17 lakes in Quebec—mainly in the Laurentian mountain district — were planted with hundreds of tiny muskies, which the game department hoped would replace the native, but disappearing speckled trout.

Provincial biologists say Pellerin's catch indicates that others pulled through and new planting can be undertaken with confidence.

Fishermen have been asked to preserve muskie specimens and a $3 award has been offered for their return to the biological department.

The Dumbells To Give Repeat Show on May 6

TORONTO (CP)—The first performance in a quarter of a century of Canada's most famous army show, The Dumbells, will be given here May 6 for First World War veterans.

The Dumbells, named for the red Dumbell patch their unit wore on its tours of the 1914-18 trenches, will put on a one-night comeback during celebrations of the 40th anniversary of the battle of Bellewaerde Ridge, second German attack on the Ypres salient.

The show is being sponsored by Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Association of Toronto, and among those expected to attend is Brig. Hamilton Gault, the man who gave $100,000 to found the regiment.

Six of the original performers will put on the come-back, Ross Hamilton, Alan Murray, Ben Allen, Arthur Kay, Art Rafferty and Jack McLaren.

FIRST ON BROADWAY

The Dumbells were formed by YMCA entertainer Capt. Merton Plunkett of Orillia, and the nine players had their stage debut 18 months front line service when they put on the first show on the Passchendaele sector in 1917.

The group later topped the bill at the Coliseum, Britain's largest music-hall, became the first all-Canadian show to play on Broadway, made 12 cross-Canada tours and played 56 weeks at Toronto's Grand Theatre.

National Wildlife Week Will Bring Life of Jack Miner to Fore

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Probably even Jack Miner didn't realize what he was starting 51 years ago when he coaxed the first wild geese to land on his farm near Kingsville in western Ontario.

In later years his property became a famous bird sanctuary and his name a household word among lovers of nature. Next week Canadians will think of the man who spent most of his life protecting wild life when they observe the eighth anniversary of National Wildlife Week.

The week was established by Parliament in 1947 to begin each year on Jack Miner's birthday, April 10. The noted bird lover died in 1944.

INSPIRING EXAMPLE

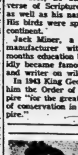
The late prime minister Mackenzie King said of Mr. Miner: "The inspiration he has given the young and old of many lands by his life and work will live after him."

During the week school teachers will stress the need of conservation to their pupils and many clergymen will preach on the great outdoors. Federal and provincial fish and game departments will bring conservation to the fore.

Two postage stamps, depicting two of Canada's nature rarities, the whooping crane and the muskox, will be issued by the post office department. There are only 21 whoopers left on the continent and about 10,000 musk-ox.

John Thomas Miner was born near Cleveland, Ohio, April 10, 1865. He came to Canada with his parents in 1878.

STARTED SANCTUARY



As ardent hunter, he realized something had to be done to save Canada's fast-decreasing wild life. In 1904 he bought four wing-clipped Canada geese and started his game sanctuary. He banded his first duck in August, 1908, and from then until 1915 he is said to have banded about 20,000.

In 1915, he started placing a verse of Scripture on each band as well as his name and address. His birds were spotted across the continent.

Jack Miner, a brick and tile manufacturer with only a few months schooling behind him, rapidly became famous as a speaker and writer on wild life.

In 1943 King George VI awarded him the Order of the British Empire "for the great achievement of conservation in the British Empire."

Diocesan Pres. Addresses PTA

The April meeting of St. Michael's P.T.A. took place at the Academy on Monday, April 4. Mr. R. R. Collins presided. Miss Joan Foley read the minutes of the March meeting and the correspondence was read by Mrs. G. O'Brien. Mr. Carl Casey introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. B. Burley, diocesan president of the P.T.A.

In her address, Mrs. Burley summarized briefly some of the work involved in the association. Special mention was given to the success of the campaign against indecent and crime comics. Ninety per cent of the comic books now published were stamped with the Comic Code Authority seal of approval.

Classrooms were open for inspection during the evening, and each room displayed an exhibit of handwriting for which prizes were given by the P.T.A.

The prize winners were as follows: Grade I, Barbara Bean; Grades I and II, (1) Paul Whalen, (2) Stephen Glancey; Grades II and III, Raymond Smith; Grades III and IV, Donald Smith; Grade IV, Christine Seames; Grade V, Clifford Smith; Grade VI, Carol Sager; Grade VII, Michelen LaClerc; Grade VIII, Maria Narusevicius; Grade IXB, John Shannon; Grade IXA, Mary Jane Cowan; Grade XB, Sharon Eves; Grade XA, Betty Lou Tisdale.

The attendance plaque was won by Sister Mary Avita's class.

A New Season At Easter Time

By NANCY CLEAVER

"The little flowers came through the ground,
At Easter time, at Easter time;
They raised their heads and looked around,
At happy Easter time.
And every pretty bud did say,
"Good people, bless this holy day,
For Christ is risen, the angels say
At happy Easter time!"

In most parts of Canada, it is the promise of spring in the near future, and not the beginning of spring which makes us rejoice at Easter time. This is a movable date determined by the phases of the moon. Easter Sunday is the first one after the full moon which happens after March 21st (the vernal equinox date). This year it falls on April 10.

For centuries people all over the world have marked the end of winter. The word Easter may be traced to the name "Eastre", the Saxon goddess whose festival was celebrated in the spring. The Early Church Fathers changed this heathen festival to a holy day, marking Christ's resurrection.

MISS MUCH

Boys and girls miss a great deal if they do not catch from their parents an appreciation of the wonder and the beauty of the changing seasons. The youngsters living in the country or small village observe the first mineral to appear and flowers and the return of the birds. But city children, too, know there are parks and gardens also see the spring's magic at work.

Many households find great pleasure trips into the country in their car. Boys and girls in the family auto, from urban centres, do see the fresh new green of the countryside. They should be encouraged to walk through the woods and along the paths beside a stream too.

Sometimes people are very thoughtless in carelessly strolling through a woodlot and greedily picking large bunches of wild flowers. These quickly wilt and are sometimes thrown away before the family gets home. Wild flowers, unless they are very common, should be left to grow unpicked so others can enjoy their loveliness too.

Children love handicraft and they ask, "Why do we color eggs at Easter time?" Giving colored eggs is a very old custom. Long before the coming of Christianity, the Egyptians, Persians, Greeks, Romans and other lands used to color the egg as the symbol of the universe. They dyed them in vivid shades and gave them to friends. The Jews used eggs in their Passover feast. To the early Christians the egg became the emblem of the Resurrection.

FEATHER FRAGILE

A homemaker can prick both ends of the eggs she uses for baking. Then she can blow the yolk and white out, so that the shells can be colored. These empty eggs are rather fragile, so they must be treated with care. Hard boiled eggs are much easier to handle. Waxtable coloring, or crayons can be used in interesting designs.

If there is a New Canadian family in your neighborhood, they may be painting eggs with striking or-nate designs. Do you admire their handwork? Notice the patterns they have created using only coloring eggs in their native land.

Sometimes it is forgotten that Easter is a holy day as well as a holiday. Centuries ago, Gregory of Nyssa described how crowds in new clothes who honored this festival by their attendance at church.

This is the Great Day when the whole family should worship together and rejoice in the message of Easter. The music, the sermon, the Scripture and prayers, the white lilies in the church all echo faith in the Life Everlasting.

There are many Easter legends and poems which can be read aloud. Borrow a book of them from the library. You will find an exquisite little poem by Alice Freeman Palmer in "The Easter Book of Legends and Stories" by Hazeldine Smith. The last verse of this exclamation about the butterfly:

"From that creeping thing in the dust
To this shining bliss in the blue!
God give me courage to trust
I can break my chrysalis too!"

Quinte Secondary School News

OMNIBUS DISCENDO CERSCEMUS

KEY CLUB

The Quinte Key Club held its first luncheon meeting in the new Quinte cafeteria on Wednesday of this week. Dinner was eaten with the rest of the school and the meeting was held after. The Kerrette club were guests at this meeting. The guest speaker was Alderman Ralph Graham, who spoke on civic affairs. His main topic was the responsibilities of the divisions of the city council.

On Tuesday of next week the Key Club will entertain Crescent School and BCIVS are going to the annual convention at Niagara Falls.

The convention is to start on Wednesday morning and is to run through till Friday at noon. The boys will return on Friday afternoon.

ASSEMBLY

Wednesday's assembly was presented by Grade 9B. The school band played for the first time in the new auditorium under the direction of Mr. Wright. First item on the program was the presentations to Quinte Secondary School's first king and queen, Bernard Lafrette and Bob Elliott took the honors and silver cups were presented to Eric Moody and the principal, Mr. Reid.

Following this there were a number of instrumental, vocal and dancing selections by various students of Grade 9B. The students then presented a debate, resolving that Grade 9 students should be given all privileges enjoyed by Grades 10 and 11. The negative side won by a very narrow margin. The assembly closed with "The Queen."

CORONATION CLAMOR

The Drama club held the Coronation Clamor on Thursday night in honor of our first king and queen. The gymnasium was festively decorated with pink and blue streamers, flowers and balloons galore. The students danced to the music of Dan Farnan's orchestra and a festive note prevailed. Refreshments were given for novelty dances and refreshments were sold in the cafeteria.

We would like to congratulate the Drama Club on its wonderful work in presenting this dance.

QUINTE KING AND QUEEN

At four o'clock Tuesday, the school voted for the Quinte King and Queen. This contest was sponsored by the Drama Club of Quinte Secondary School. The candidates, who included the popularity of the candidates, also took into consideration their academic ability, for a very close contestants for king and seven for queen. The voting was very close and everyone is pleased with the enthusiasm and interest the students and teachers took in the contest. At the assembly on Wednesday morning the winners were presented with their cups by Mr. Reid, the principal, and Eric Moody, president of the Drama Club. The winners are Bob Elliott and Annette Durette. Bob and Annette are both all-round students. Bob was captain of the basketball team and he plays rugby and interform volleyball. He is also the Athletic Society representative to the Students' Council. With all these activities he still manages to obtain good marks in school.

Annette was on the school basketball and volleyball teams. Annette is very good in all sports and she, too, makes good marks in school work.

The whole school is very proud

Going Places

Many Pleasant Ways to Travel

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Flying is fast, railroading scenic, but it's a travel happening, water cruises novel, and motoring confers that which offers the most fun? If you've a choice next time you're going places, consider these comparative pleasures.

Air travel is a joy as much for its speed as for anything else. It rarely takes more than one-fifth the time of the next fastest mode of travel and when you really want to get where you're going, that's something to be appreciated.

Airlines also are noted for their highly personalized, detailed, and courteous service, which eliminates much of the feeling of battling the world that too often characterizes other types of travel. Free meals aloft, no tipping, carefully trained and selected personnel, and not to be overlooked—comfortable cabins and seats, all add up to help make air travel a pleasure.

However, it has its drawbacks. Sightseeing is nil, as even when you're not above the clouds, is disappointing. Everything appears flat and remote. A few exceptions are the majestic air corridor between Salt Lake City and Denver, the intricate waterways between Vancouver and Seattle, the Grand Canyon, and the lovely mountain slopes of northern New England.

Also inherent in air travel are the problems of limited reservations, air sickness and weather-caused cancellations, all of which can pretty well spoil a trip.

The railroads, long established as they are, have learned most of what it takes to give a passenger his money's worth. While they admittedly cannot compete with the airplanes on speed, they do add to your travel pleasure with such items as all-weather dependability, conveniently located stations, selective meals, liquor service, a large variety of accommodations, ample reserved and unreserved space, and relaxed, satisfying sightseeing.

Nevertheless, heavy tipping in train travel is still a bugaboo to people of limited means. So is the unavailability of a piece of long journeys and the discomfort caused by many roadbeds that are still not up to date. Antiquated equipment is being replaced rapidly but there are still too many cars in use that would be better lodged in museums.

Bus travel is vastly underrated. Though best known for its modest cost, it may also lure others by offering the most intimate form of travel for a head of strangers. The vehicle inevitably has many a tale of club lounge after a few miles. Everyone soon knows everyone else and the miles pass deceptively fast. Probably more romances have started and more genuine fun been had on cross-country bus trips than in all other moving vehicles put together.

BUSES GO MODERN

Advanced, modern equipment and improved roads are helping greatly to eliminate the kidney-jarring discomfort and nerve-tiredness that used to be identified with such transportation. Sightseeing is given a modern, personal twist with occasional informal travelogues by the driver. In addition, the pleasure of regular service between many cities throughout the country not adequately served by trains can be sold short.

An over-water cruise is, first of all, a distinct change of routine for anyone but a professional sailor, which in itself is enough to recommend it to the average. Taking a cruise is like living in a luxurious resort hotel while traveling. The food is traditionally outstanding, varied and abundant, and—best of all—included in the price of the ticket.

If you can overlook the absence of a golf course, you'll usually find the features of a cruise—whether they favor the sea air, the accommodations, or the company—stack up well with a stay at any hotel.

Women's Activities

The regular suchre party of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Patrick Millfield, L.O.O.M., was held in the IOOF hall Wednesday.

Following were the winners—Ladies — Mrs. F. R. Smith, Mrs. Conway; consolation, Mrs. Thompson.

Gents — Mr. Bunnett, Mr. W. Grey; consolation, Mrs. A. Johnstone.

There is the added attraction of having places to visit at the end of the line.

BUT IT'S EXPENSIVE

This may sound like an expensive way of vacationing and it is. However, it is usually well worth it. Also, it is cheaper than flying across the water. You can bring almost anything you need with your baggage, even your car if you can afford it (ask your travel agent). But it's slow, and if you're inclined to scatter your things on voyage, it will seem a lot slower.

The overwhelming favorite on this continent, however, is still the incomparably simple practice of driving the family in the car and heading out. Therein lies the real gastronomic joy of travel, the veritable tasting of the land, its varied wonders and people. You gain the sense of living with and among them in motels and diners rather than in stereotyped cosmopolitan hotels, restaurants, and terminals.

There isn't a schedule in the world you have to worry about, a reservation you have to keep, a train you have to jump for, or heavy baggage limit you have to observe. Your buggy holds all the kids and the price of meals and the clothes you could conceivably need.

Of course, overcrowded roads, crazy drivers and overloaded sand sometimes overpriced hotelrites keep you from finding this completely idyllic, but there is still good reason why its devotees outnumber all others.

Wesley United Church W.A. Holds Charming Daffodil Tea

The spacious home of Mrs. Trent Reid, Graham, Sr., Bleecker Road, was opened for a spring tea, under the auspices of the Wesley United Church Women's Association on Wednesday.

Mrs. Reid was assisted by Mary Lou Denyes. Mrs. Gerald Frost attended to the guests' wraps and invited them to the drawing room where they were graciously welcomed by Mrs. Graham, Sr., Mrs. K. Graham, Sr., and the president of the Wesley Church Women's Association, Mrs. Everette Windover.

The glowing fire in the hearth and the beautiful spring flowers arranged throughout the drawing room created a warm welcome to all those who braved the elements of the stormy day.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS PAY FOR THEIR COSTUMES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A year ago I wrote to you a/out my wedding plans, and received most helpful advice from you. Now my closest friend is to be married in June, and we both wish you would set us straight about a discussion we are having. She says that she read in one of your articles that the bride-to-be buys the dresses of her maid (or matron) of honor and her bridesmaids. Is this really true? I was always of the opinion that each of the bride's attendants bought her own costume—and when I was married I never even thought of offering to pay for their dresses: only for their flowers. — C.B.

You are right about this, . . . each bridal attendant pays for her own costume, although every detail is chosen by the bride-to-be. (The attendants' flowers, as you say, are provided by the bride-to-be or her family, since they are planned as part of the decoration.)

Your friend must be mistaken that she read in my column that the bride-to-be buys the dresses of her attendants; and I'm happy to be able to reassure you that you were right about not even offering to pay for the dresses of the attendants at your wedding last year.

SHOULD INCLUDE LATE HUSBAND'S NAME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow, formerly from Canada, and now living in New York state. My daughter's engagement to be married soon, and I would like to send the announcement to two Canadian newspapers, the engagement announcement now, and the marriage announcement later. Please tell me if in these announcements I should include my late husband's name as well. — M.I.

Yes . . . daughter of Mrs. Charles Davis Latham and the late Mr. Latham."

INVITING THE PARENTS OF WEDDING ATTENDANTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the correct procedure regarding invitations to the wedding attendants' parents and family (brother and sister)? Should I:

a. Send them a written wedding invitation and reception card?

b. Invite them personally or through the wedding attendant?

c. Send them a written invitation or a verbal invitation to the church only? — A.

If there are to be formal invitations, these are sent also to the attendants' parents, brothers and sisters. If the invitations are to be by notes, these notes should be written by the bride's mother (or by the bride-to-be in her mother's name). If there is to be a large general reception, the attendants' families are usually invited. And invitations to the ceremony and to the reception are extended directly by the bride's mother, and not through the attendant.

MAILING THANK-YOU NOTES ON WEDDING DAY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to send thank-you notes for wedding gifts the same day as the wedding? I had my married name put on the notes. — J.S.

What you should do is to write your thank-you notes for wedding presents as they arrive before the wedding. But of coruse before the wedding you must not use the notepaper marked with the monogram or initials of your married name. So if you have had your note-paper marked in this way use your personal note-paper, or the white double-sheet note-paper on which you wrote to me. But just don't wait to mail your thank-you notes on your wedding day so that you can use your paper marked with your married name!

WHEN THE BRIDE'S UNCLE DOESN'T DANCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are going to the wedding of my niece in April. Ceremony in a Catholic Church at 9 A.M., with a wedding breakfast and dance afterward at a country Club. (1) Do we have to stay until the bride and bridegroom leave the Wedding-Breakfast-and-Reception? (2) My husband does not dance. How does this work out when his turn comes to dance with the bride? — A.

(1) No, it is not a "must" that you and your husband stay until the bride and bridegroom leave. But I do hope that you can plan to stay, for their gala departure is such a happy and dramatic feature of the occasion, that you would want to stay to see the going-away festivity . . . amid confetti and rose petals and "Every Good Wish!"

(2) Since your husband doesn't dance, he should not feel obliged to attempting to dance with the bride . . . I'm sure she'd rather have him omit the invitation, and this is just what he should do.

GOLDEN WEDDING . . . TOASTS, CAKE, REGRETS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. At the Open House given in the afternoon for a Golden Wedding Anniversary, should a toast be proposed for the toasts?

2. Should the couple's friends who come to the Open House bring gifts? — Reader.

1. Some 'drinkable' . . . wine or whatever is preferred . . . should be served for the toasts, which are such an important feature of a wedding anniversary.

Also, and particularly for such an important anniversary as The Fiftieth, there should be a handsome and 'noble' an Anniversary Cake as possible . . . the first piece to be cut by the couple and shared together.

2. Here's a BIG question! Presents need not be brought to a wedding anniversary party . . . but still relatives and friends are apt to feel that they would like to bring presents to such a "Golden" Occasion. Or of course they may present beforehand to the home of the couple.

Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

What was the name of the father, whose three oldest sons had followed Saul to battle against the Philistines, and after forty days he sent his youngest son to them with food? This lad was looking after his sheep at Bethlehem. The father called him and said, "Go quickly to the camp with parched grain and ten loaves for your brothers. Carry with you a gift of ten cheeses for their commander. See how they are getting along. Bring back some token from them."

The youngest boy rose very early the next morning and left his sheep with a keeper. He reached the encampment just as the host were going forth to the battle line, shouting their war cry. Leaving his gifts in charge of the man who looked after the baggage, swiftly he ran to the ranks and greeted his older brothers.

Just then a huge warrior in the enemy's camp, a giant of a man, stepped out from the ranks of the Philistines and challenged the Israelites. Perhaps the sun shone on his helmet and his javelin of bronze, on his spear with its great iron head, and on his shield carried by a soldier in front of him.

He stood and cried, "Why have you come out to draw up for battle? Am I not a Philistine and are you not servants of Saul? Choose a man for yourselves and let him come down to me. If he is able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your servants. But if I prevail against him and kill him, then you will serve us. Give me a man, that we may fight together!"

The Israelites were greatly afraid and they fled from him. The youth who had been sent by his father with food supplies, inquired, "Who is this Philistine that he should defy the armies of the living God?" and he asked what reward was offered to the man who would slay the giant.

His eldest brother was very angry and accused him of leaving his sheep in the wilderness just so that he could see the battle. But the boy answered, "What have I done now? Was it not but a word?" Find the father's name of this youth and read this story in First Samuel, Chapter 17.

Lord Is Risen

. . . And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it. Matthew 28: 2. (Central Press Canadian).

From Chris to You

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Tomorrow morning you will be taking your family to Easter Church Service. For my part, I hope we sing "Christ the Lord Is Risen today" for it takes me back to the Easter Sundays when I stood on the pew seat beside my father so I could reach and hold the hymn book with him.

Naturally I hope you have a rewarding day and that Easter dinner goes off without a hitch and that everybody notices your new hat and that it is warm enough for a suit. Brrr!

Chris sent me a lovely note which she asked me not to print along with a weight and measure chart copied from an English magazine, and a highly recommended one-dish-meal casserole.

WEIGHT AND MEASURE EQUIVALENTS

Fresh breadcrumbs: 2 cup equals 1 oz.; dry breadcrumbs: 1 oz. equals 3 tablespoons; Cheese grated: 4 tablespoons weigh 1 oz.; Cocoa: 3 tablespoons weigh 1 oz.; Currants: 1 cup weighs 4 oz.; Raisins: 1 cup weighs 8 oz.; Lard or other fat: 1 cup weighs 8 oz.; Flour 1 cup weighs 5 oz.; Rolled Oats: 1 cup weighs 4 oz.; Rice: 1 1/3 tablespoons weigh 1 oz.; Sugar: granulated — 1 cup 7 1/4 oz.; Icing Sugar: 1 cup 4 oz.; Syrup: 1 tablespoon 1 oz.; Salt: 2 1/2 tablespoons 1 oz.

CORNED BEEF DINNER

This is the original recipe. 1 6-oz. package macaroni boiled, 1 12-oz. can corned beef chopped, 1/4 lb. American cheese cubed, 1 1/2-oz. can condensed cream of chicken soup, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 3/4 cup buttered crumbs. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Chris says: This may be stretched easily. We prefer 1/2 lb. winners instead of corned beef, but I have used a lb. when needed, also more milk and onion. I like to have bacon fat in my frying pan for that different flavor. The crumbs just finish this dish to perfection.

Thank you Chris for being helpful in such a practical way. I loved your letter.

QUESTION: . . . would you kindly give recipe for old-fashioned Bannock? I think hunters in the woods use this a lot. I have tried baking powder biscuit dough but I don't think this is right. Mrs. R.N.C.

ANSWER: My recipe is for Bannocks — I am not sure that that is the same as Bannock. When I was young I made Bannocks over campfires and used this recipe and it was good.

BANNOCKS

Mix together 1 cup fine oatmeal, 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, and 2 tablespoons shortening (we used bacon fat) mixed with 4 tablespoons hot water or barely enough water to make stiff dough. This is supposed to be rolled out on a board or cloth sprinkled with fine oatmeal to 1/4 inch thickness. (We usually rolled it out on a clean flat rock sprinkled with oatmeal, with a milk bottle.) Cut in separated muffin can. Bake on a hot griddle in very little fat — pan should just be rubbed with fat — 5 or 6 for proper pancakes. Turn over when batter has all bubbles and bake other side. These may be buttered and eaten as is or split and toasted. Serve hot with butter. Good for another meal when they are reheated by splitting and toasting.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HOW CAN SHE FIND OUT IF HE LIKES HER?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 14 and I like a boy who is one year older.

We went with each other for awhile when we were in grade school, but then we went to different schools and that broke up. Now we are together again in high school and I would like to go with him again. I think he still likes me, but I'm not sure.

What would you advise me to do to find out whether he likes me or not? — J.C.C.

Dear J.C.C.:

You girls are always asking what you can do to find out if boys like you, and my answer always is that it is better to do anything almost directly at any particular boy. That only makes it perfectly obvious to him what you are up to, which is not a very smart move on your part. It certainly can't be difficult to find out whether or not a boy likes you, for very few boys are too shy to let girls see by their attitude toward them whether they are interested or not.

The very best way to show some special boy notice you is to have as many friends as possible and take part in as many activities as time permits, for the girl who is popular with everybody, and more shares enthusiastically in all that goes on, can't help but be the kind of girl who attracts the boy she's like to know better.

PUT TOGETHER ON THE OTHER GIRL'S PLACE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Some of my girl friends are having a party, and each girl is supposed to bring a boy.

The boy I would like to bring goes with another girl, and I am wondering if it would be wrong of me to ask him to go to the party with me. — U.

Dear U.:

Well, how would you like it if you were going with a boy and some other girl invited him to be her escort?

Actually, of course, my own feeling is that it would be a very fine thing if you teen-agers would be content to go around with "more than one friend at a time, instead of devoting yourselves exclusively to one. But since, it seems, this way of doing things is out of style at the moment, then it becomes necessary for a girl or a boy to stop and think whether they would be cutting in on somebody else's friendship if they gave such an invitation as you propose.

Under the circumstances, don't you think it might be better to stay on the safe side and invite some other boy? There must be plenty of boys you know in school who would be glad to find one you'd like to have take you to the party, and I suggest that you choose one of them.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

THERE'S MAGIC IN MAKE-UP

Women who are wise in beauty ways use make-up with distinction and discrimination, are never guilty of an artificial effect. The object of synthetic complexion aids is to improve upon nature by subtle art; the harried, careless use of soaps, creams and powders defeats its own purpose. Make-up performs magic in experienced hands. Hollywood experts have manufactured many "Plain Janes" into visions of loveliness.

Time was when white-haired, elderly women were not supposed to toy with the items in the make-up box. Could anything be sillier? A dexterous application of cheek and lip coloring and a darkening of the lashes can be startlingly rejuvenating.

Nor does the application affect the complexion only. It penetrates the entire being. For when a woman knows she looks her best, that she is decking the birthdays, she has a feeling of agelessness and youthfulness.

The smart woman will study her natural coloring and keep it in mind. Her choice of powder, shade of rachelle, compounded especially for her dark-gray hair shaded girls. Never must it be lighter than the skin. If it is slightly darker it will be more satisfying.

Cheek coloring should blend imperceptibly into the natural tone of the complexion, while harmonizing with the eyes and hair. The lip-tint should have the same color family, but can be somewhat more vivid.

Day-time make-up differs from night make-up in that it is lighter, more natural. Either do not require the additional touches called for after nightfall.

Warns Against Lengthening Medical Courses

MONTREAL (CP) — A McGill University professor says the present trend towards lengthening medical courses is bad.

"A profession can educate and train itself out of a job," Dr. Guy Fisk, director of the McGill school of physical and occupational therapy writes in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Journal.

"This has happened to the nurses and is in the process of happening to doctors. . . . The students are so old when they graduate that, having lost the fire of youth, they are unwilling to take the necessary risks of starting out on their own and so seek a safe berth in some overcrowded area."

Dr. Fisk also says nurse training schools should have five-year courses for full-time career girls and two to three-year diploma courses for "diploma-and-husband girls" whose primary desire is to get married but who want to take training in a profession.

Appeals for Care During Holidays

TORONTO (CP) — Highways Minister Allan today asked all drivers and parents to take special care during the Easter holiday to keep children out of traffic accidents.

The minister said the 10 - day release from school is more likely to be welcomed with enthusiasm than a thoughtful determination to avoid accidents.

He urged both motorists and parents to be sure all safety rules are obeyed

Bulletins From Birdland

BEATING THE DRUM.

Man is often spoken of as a creature of habit. Day after day, without ever thinking, we wind our watches as we take them off, put the same arm first into a coat sleeve, and choose the same chair in which to sit.

Habit is just as strong in members of lower orders of animals. If your robin of last summer is still alive it will surely return to the same beam to nest. And when the home is built, it will come from the same direction after each trip away, will sit on the edge facing the same way, and leave from the same side as always. Just watch him.

Similarly, the ruffed grouse goes through his regular routine, and in spring sits in the same spot, on the same log, often at the same hours every day, beating the drum. This is his manner of attracting the female—or females, because the grouse really is a polygamist. As for the favorite log—the constant use of the one particular place on it finally wears away the wood.

If your summer home is not too far from a patch of woodland beside a not too much frequented road, listen for this, the Grouse's "love song". The uninitiated may take the drumming to be a car trying to start, or an outboard motor in the distance.

STARTS SLOWLY

The sound starts slowly, "bup, bup, bup", gains speed, and ends with a whir, "rrrrr". Once known, it cannot be forgotten.

Very, very fortunate is he who actually sees the drumming. With tail tipped up and opened like a fan the male shows off his beauty to the best advantage. His lovely ruff, which gives him his name, is also spread like an Elizabethan frill, then, throwing back his head, he struts around and jumps to his log, and his wings begin to beat the air.

The nest of a ruffed grouse is nothing more than a hollow on the ground at the foot of a tree, stump, or rock (occasionally under a fallen log), and lined with last year's dead leaves. The eggs are pinkish buff, sometimes spotted with brown, and hardly distinguishable among the leaves even when we know them to be there.

However, the mother rarely leaves them for the 24 days which they take to hatch, and she, in her feathers of wood browns and greys, mottled and barred, is practically invisible. It is said that even a Hawk can be fooled, and trained dogs pass by without recognizing her.

THURSDAY'S SCORES

The Postiacs were de-tired by the Goodyears on Thursday night, six punctures (oops, pardon me) goals to three. It all adds up to the fact that the Kingston Goodyears are a 6-3 victory over the Orillia Postiacs in the Limestone City to tie their OHA senior "B" best-of-seven semi-finals at two games each. That's two straight wins for Redden's boys after dropping the first pair and tonight's battle in Orillia should be the key game of the series.

Here in our fair city on the same night Earl Anderson's Point Anne club used a powerful, hard-hitting defence and their high-scoring Guyer-Williams-Guyer line to trounce Beeton 8-2. That was the first game of their OHA intermediate "C" semi-finals. Second battle in Beeton tonight and the third back there on Monday evening in the three-of-five affair. The winner meets Lucan or Exeter for the Ontario championship.

IT'S ONLY FAIR!

The financial statement of the senior "B" hockey group was released at the group meeting held in Kingston last Sunday and copies handed to team representatives. The Cornwall manager, Ray Miron, handed his copy to the local sports editor and he forthwith published it. That column reprints it here, feeling that hockey fandom of the city should know what goes on as far as the financial status of the group is concerned. Here it is:

Through the regular season and the playoffs, 15 per cent of the gross gate of every game is sent in to the league. Of this amount 5 per cent is ticketed for travelling expenses and the remainder goes into a general pool. At the end of the season the 5 per cent is divided amongst the teams in accordance with the amount of travelling they did during the year. The 10 per cent is divided equally amongst the clubs. The 5 per cent collected this season was not sufficient to meet the guarantee of the travelling expenses originally agreed upon and the deficit was made up from the general 10 per cent pool.

Of the 15 per cent levy a total of $9,217.85 was positioned out for travelling expenses. The remainder $13,723.64 was divided equally amongst the seven teams, each receiving $1,961.37.

The formation of a pool which all clubs would split equally at the end of the year was a strong factor in keeping the loop together toward the end of the schedule. None of the teams dropped out even though only four were getting into the playoffs and Clinton and Peterborough were trailing by a wide margin. The only sour note that occurred during the year was the failure of Brockville to live up to commitments in one league game. The incident occurred at the end of the season when the Brocks failed to log a team for the Gardiner home game with Peterborough. Marghetson were fined $30. It was a tight sentence because Peterborough was on its way to Cornwall and the fine covered the team's overnight expenses. With an almost $5,000 share in the pool at least it is a little wonder there were no defections late in the schedule.

The Kingston Goodyears were the mainstay of the league last winter, as their 15 per cent share of the group pool came to $7,188.30. The rest of the clubs were all bunched with Belleville contributing $2,940.66 and Cornwall in third place with $2,676.60. Peterborough Petes had the poorest attendance in the league, 15 per cent of their gates amounting to only $1,961.37. Reconciliation and settlement will be deducted from their take home pay as their tribute to the Ottawa District Hockey Association for permission to play outside their own branch. Attendance was down at the Cornwall arena last season and the Cornwall Colts lost approximately $2,500 on the year's operations. Average attendance was 1,000.

There was considerable discussion at the league meeting over plans for next year. Everyone seemed agreed that the season's operations as a whole had been successful and that the competition had been good. The general feeling was that Clinton Comets should be dropped from the loop and the group reduced to six teams. The two objections to the Clinton Comets were the travelling distances occasioned by the long hike to the New York centre and the feeling that the Comets, playing in two leagues at once, were not doing justice to their games in the EOSHL. As well as operating in the Eastern Ontario circuit the Comets also play in the Eastern United States Senior Hockey League, a five-team loop that includes Worcester, Baltimore, Washington and New Haven. They travelled a total of 16,000 miles fulfilling their commitments in the two leagues.

Much as the other teams in the EOSHL would like to see the Comets disappear they will not take action to oust them should they wish to continue operations next year. However, the Comets are not going to be allowed to play in two leagues at once and they have until June 15 to make up their minds which circuit they choose. Clinton would prefer to stick with the American circuit if one or more teams can be induced to enter the present five club grouping. The league meeting June 11 will probably decide Colts' plans for next winter. The Colts are writing the ODHA to request permission to carry on in the EOSHL next year. Unless the ODHA throws up a roadblock by ordering the Colts to play in the Ottawa City League or some such silly suggestion as that, Colts will be back in the EOSHL. We think it is a sound idea.

Linesmen Hayes, Morrison Told to Leave Mount Royal Where Wings Bedded Down

By W. E. Wheatley
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Touched off by another hotel-lobby incident, the Stanley Cup final moves into its fourth game tonight, another clutch assignment for both Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings, particularly the Montrealers.

Canadiens made their first homeice stand in the series a victorious one, winning 4-2 Thursday when Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scored three of the goals.

Still down 2-1 in games, Canadiens will have to repeat again tonight at home to get the best-of-seven series on an even keel before Sunday's fifth game in Detroit. If the powerful Red Wings grab tonight's game they will be overwhelming favorites to put a quick end to the series and walk off with their seventh Stanley Cup.

LOBBY INCIDENT

The lobby incident lacked the overtones that featured an affair in Detroit last Monday, but it created enough fuss to set everybody talking on the off-day of the series schedule.

Linesmen George Hayes and Bill Morrison were sitting in the lobby of the Mount Royal hotel where the Red Wings are staying, when they were spotted by Carl Voss, referee in the other National Hockey League.

"What're you fellows doing here?" said Voss. "You should be at the Laurentien." The linesmen were confused by the question. Voss said Hayes and Morrison checked in at the Mount Royal Thursday. They were allowed to remain overnight but were told to go to the Laurentien Friday morning.

"They knew they shouldn't have been there," said Voss. "It has been our policy during the series to keep officials away from the same hotel where a team is staying."

REGAIN CONFIDENCE

Canadiens regained much of their shaken confidence by knocking off the Red Wings Thursday. Confidence was given able support by his mates.

The Red Wings' big production line went scoreless, and Detroit's two goals were by defenceman Marcel Pronovost and forward Vic Stasiuk. Canadiens were aces in front, and Jackie Leclair added Montreal's fourth goal in the third period.

The game was rough and rugged, particularly in the first period when 11 penalties were called, including misconduct penalties to Gordie Howe of the Wings and Bert Olmstead of Canadiens.

Howe was sitting out an earlier minor penalty when Geoffrion gave Montreal a 2-0 lead on goals 12 seconds apart. The first game when Geoffrion deflected Jean Beliveau's drive past Terry Sawchuk and the second when Kelly kicked the puck into his own net while Geoffrion was looking for it.

ON A SCREENED SHOT

Kelly scored late in the period on a screened shot after taking Stasiuk's pass. Kelly's goal was Montreal was a man short at the time.

Geoffrion got his third at 14:23 of the second period, on an almost identical play for Beliveau's goal as in the first period, and Stasiuk took Marcel Pronovost's pass from the boards to beat Plante at close range two minutes later.

Leclair made the scoring at 7:50 of the last period, golfing a shot from a sharp angle that caught Plante off Sawchuk's pads.

Coach Jimmy Skinner of the Red Wings said penalties hurt his team in the first period—"We lost our heads and lost the game."

REALLY DIGGING

Asked if he thought the puck was "rolling for Montreal," Skinner said: "The puck is rolling for those who're digging, and Canadiens were really digging. I thought our defensemen weren't as sharp as in the first two games."

Coach Dick Irvin of Canadiens is counting heavily on another improved game by Beliveau. The high-scoring centre came up with his best game of the series Thursday, apparently overcoming the infection that almost kept him out of the first two games with a virus.

Canadiens' injury list today included goalie Jacques Plante and winger Dickie Moore, each with three-stitch cuts on their heads, and defencemen Dollard St. Laurent, who has a painful chafing about the legs.

Soo Gunners Defeat Ottawa For East Title

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — The Gunners of Sault Ste. Marie booked to Port Alberni in British Columbia almost on the last stop in their bid for the Canadian senior men's basketball championship.

Gunners swamped Ottawa Saints Friday night with a 66-42 victory over the Lumberjacks. The win gave Gunners the best of five series 3-1 and their first eastern crown. They go on to Alberni and Athletics in the Dominion final.

Gunners took the first game 65-60, dropped the second 76-73 and moved into the lead again with a 69-61 win in the third engagement.

As in the other games, superiority of the Soo boys was settled Friday night's engagement. Shafers outgoaled Gunners 44-26 at halftime but Sault Ste. Marie gained 28 points to Ottawa's 18 in the third.

HELD EARLY LEAD

Gunners took the early lead and managed to hold it throughout the first half. But as the period wore on, Shafers cut into the lead and at one time moved to within three points of the champions.

Some brilliant shooting from the corners enabled the Gunners to build their three-point margin of 32-29 at the half.

Ron Foley led the winners with 18 points. Ray Siltanen had 14 and Jerry Kahle 12. Tommy Gallagher was top man for Shafers with 13 points. Avatus Stone contributed with 12. Bishop Lucas and Glen Pettinger each scored 11.

Siltanen was the big man in Gunners' first-half drive. He netted 12 points, while Lukenda and Damaso Godfrey came up with seven apiece.

Coaches Expect Memorial Cup Semi-Final Will Go Limit

By George Frajkor
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Mayor Wilfrid Hamel can take some of the credit for helping Toronto Marlboros get in shape for their Memorial Cup semi-final game Sunday against the Quebec Frontenacs.

By special permission of the mayor, the Marlboros were allowed to practice Friday at the Coliseum, which normally would have been closed Good Friday. The Marlboros and Frontenacs, junior A hockey champions of Ontario and Quebec respectively, have won one game each in the best-of-seven series and they didn't dodge anything Thursday when they tied 1-1 in overtime in the first game of a two-game clinch in Quebec.

The Marlboros will practise today, said general manager Stafford Smythe, and will keep practising as much as possible.

ALL THE WAY

"We expect the series to go all the way," he said.

By contrast, the Frontenacs took it easy Friday and work practice today, coach Phil Watson said. He added he expects a long series too, but his boys needs a rest more than a practise.

"Turk Broda's boys may be bigger and harder than mine," he said, "but they're no smarter. We are outskated." He predicted a good skating Thursday and we'll have to have it Sunday. All we need is a rest."

Smythe said Marlboros should win now Thursday's game by a walk but couldn't get the puck past goaly Jacques Marcotte.

"We had it over them in every way. The puck was always in their zone. Marcotte is all they've got."

The 20-year-old Quebec goalie blocked 39 shots and had no chance on the one goal that Glen Cressman flicked past him in the second period. Quebec got only 13 shots at Johnny Allanti in the Toronto nets.

ONLY GOAL

Little Guy Rousseau potted the Frontenacs' only goal less than two minutes after the start of the game, tipping up a blueline drive by defenceman Pat Presley.

"We played lousy. We can't get any worse," Watson said.

Watson said he was satisfied with the work of a few forwards and his defence.

Smythe said Broda planned no change in Toronto's lineup or tactics for the game.

"Marcotte can't keep it up for ever," he said, "although he has played the best for us, but all our cheers are good and we can win."

Mike Nykoluk, the experienced, 19-year-old Marlboro captain, set up Cressman's goal when he took the puck from a tangle of Quebec players and relayed it across the crease.

Point Anne Downs Beeton 8-2 In First Game of Semi-Finals

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Beeton Combines never recovered from a body-checking barrage in the early minutes of the game here on Thursday night as they met with a convincing 8-2 defeat at the hands of the Point Anne Centennials in the first game of their best-of-three O.H.A. Intermediate "C" semi-finals series. The scoring game took place in Beeton tonight with the third fixture also scheduled for there on Monday evening.

Although they outplayed the visitors by a wide margin in the first period, breaking up all their plays with solid bodychecks, the local squad could only manage a single tally. Beeton knotted the count early in the middle session but the Williams re-notched once and pumped home a trio to lead 4-1 going into the third period. Gerry Goyer garnered a winner to clinch another four goals while the Combines fired one in the dying minutes of the game.

The victor's main attack came from the Goyer - Williams - Goyer line, the two-winger Gerry Goyer flicking the light twice and assisting on three others while Percy Williams scored a pair and drew one helper and Leo Goyer netted a goal and two assists. Pats and John Green, standouts on defence, each scored once with Brien Mulvihill getting the other goal. Captain D. Kearns and J. Holancin tallied for the losers.

Referees Stan Scrutton and Bill "Squeak" Reason of Kingston awarded seventeen minor penalties and one misconduct, Beeton drawing six of the minor sentences and the misconduct.

TOUGH DEFENCE

The game, forty minutes late starting, was a tough affair with Beeton Pete Green spilled a pair of the Combines with a beautiful bodycheck and Bill Hurst added to the visitors' woes by upsetting Kelly on a dangerous play. The visitors fired right back but charging penalties to Kelly and Norton at 6:18 and 7:36 paved the way for the Pointer's initial goal. Kelly had just returned to the ice and was aided in the play while Norton was still off when Leo Goyer blasted a drive home on a power play with Gerry Goyer and Semark D. Kearns came close for the losers at 13.06. Bob Green's post with Point Anne a man short but the period ended 1-0.

Williams was still in the sin-bin from a boarding penalty in the last minute of the first period when Kearns made it 1-1, deflecting an attempted clearing pass that trickled past Green. The Cementmen rushed back and had Kearns screened feet out of the Beeton net at one time but could not sink the disc.

GREENS SCORE

Big John Green put his team in front to stay at 8.38, shoving home the rebound on a ganging attack. Mulvihill and Gilmour drawing assists while Pete Green tipped the rubber into the net off the goalie's skate to make it 3-1 at 9.36. The netminder argued over the goal and Green got a misconduct penalty, served by Porter.

With Beeton a man short, Tim Williams scored the prettiest goal of the night at 13.35. Leo Goyer's pass to Gerry was relayed with precision by Percy Williams crossed the blueline and his bullet drive caught the far corner. Don Ketman made brilliant saves when the Combine attackers got close but John Green added a sure goal by battling away a loose puck in the goalmouth while Ketman sprawled on the other side of the net in the last minute of the period.

Penalties to Hurst and Gilmour paved the way for a beautiful penalty-killing job by Bobby Hunter early in the period. Brian Mulvihill made it 5-1 at 7.42, going in alone and toying with the goaltender until he slid out before dumping the rubber behind him, while Williams added another at 11.08. After Hunter hit the post on a breakaway at 14.09, Gerry Goyer tipped Semark's goalmouth pass in at 18.20.

Holancin got that back with a backhand flip at 19.05 but Gerry finished off a passing play with his linemate at 19.51 to complete the scoring.

The teams:

Beeton—D. Kearns, Latto, Kelly, Letts, D. Kearns, Nichol, Porter, Holancin, Wallace, McLean, Norton, Walters.

Point Anne—Letman, P. Green, J. Green, Gilmour, Mulvihill, Strahan, Semark, Hurst, L. Goyer, G. Goyer, Williams, Hunter.

Referee—Stan Scrutton and Bill Reason, of Kingston.

Managers Pick Indians to Win American Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Indians will successfully defend their American League championship and will oppose the Milwaukee, New York or Brooklyn in the world series.

This is the consensus of the 16 major league managers in a pre-season canvas by The Associated Press today.

Only one pilot—Al Lopez of the Indians—was bold enough to select his own team. Two others—Lou Boudreau of Kansas City and Charlie Dressen of Washington—also named the Indians. The others recognized Cleveland's strength but also showed respect for the Yankees and White Sox.

No National League manager was willing to go out on the limb but all agreed that the Braves, Giants and Dodgers rated the top three spots. Eddie Stanky of St. Louis, Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati and Mayo Smith of Philadelphia each predicted that their clubs would also be in the thick of the pennant race.

NO PUNCHES FULLED

Lopez pulled no punches as he predicted another Indian flag.

"I think we ought to win the pennant again this year," the Cleveland pilot said. "We've got a stronger club than we had last year with the addition of Ralph Kiner and Herb Score. Kiner will give us a little more power and Score will strengthen our pitching. I don't think we'll win as many games, however.

"The Yankees ought to give us the most trouble again. I expect them to be plenty tough. The White Sox ought to be about the same and the rest of the league looks a little stronger. The league probably will be better balanced."

Teams Trade More Punches Than Goals

SEAFORTH, Ont. (CP)—Seaforth Baldwins tossed Woodstock Warriors 3-2 Thursday night in the opening game of an Ontario Hockey Association junior B home-and-home total-goals series that saw the players trade more punches than goals.

In the spring minutes of play Paul McPherson of Seaforth and Carl Hatt of Woodstock started a fight. Hatt had words with referee Frank Sluta of Kitchener, added an additional 10-minute misconduct and game misconduct to his two-minute penalty for retaliation.

Protesting the charges given Hatt, it's a mistake Matt Revlish pushed Sluta around the ice until police ushered him from the game. Revlish was also charged with a 10-minute misconduct and a game misconduct.

Jack McIlwain, Chalk and Bell scored singles for Seaforth. Jim Erizo and Hull notched Woodstock markers.

Next game will be played in Woodstock tonight.

Ezzard Charles May Have Bout With Earl Walls

EDMONTON (CP)—A bout between Ezzard Charles, former world boxing champion, and Earl Walls, Canadian heavyweight star, appears more than a remote possibility.

Here for a scheduled 10-round bout Monday night with South African titleholder Johnny Arthur, Charles says he would like to fight Walls.

Co-managers Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz talked of a Charles-Walls match is glowing terms.

"We're fighting Johnny Holman in Miami April 27 and after that nothing. We'd like nothing better, Tannas said.

"Time would be a good time," than to meet Walls right here in Edmonton," Tannas finished.

Richie Ashburn May Not Make Opening Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This was the year Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phils figured to cash in on a personal ambition by cracking the National League record for consecutive games played. Now, his hopes are threatened before the season even opens.

At best, his hopes of topping the 822-game streak set by Gus Suhr at Pittsburgh from 1931 to 1937 are a bit shaky.

Ashburn, with a 730-game string was laid low by a collision with Del Ennis as the pair chased a drive by the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle Friday. They met full stride, crumbling unconscious.

It took five minutes to revive them. Ennis was merely shaken and bruised, but Ashburn suffered a sprained left knee.

MANTLE-HOWARD HOMERS

The Mantle blast fell from Ennis's glove for a three-run, inside-the-park homer. That tied the game in the eighth and Boston Braves assured by manager Casey Stengel that he'll be the first Negro to wear a Yank uniform in the regular season, made it 6-5 with a home run.

But the Phils scored three times in their eighth off Johnny Sain to win 8-6.

Johnny Antonelli, picked to pitch the New York Giants' opener, had his troubles as the world champions beat Boston 8-7. Pitching with a nicked finger, Antonelli gave up four home runs in his sixth innings with Sam Mele, Jack Dittmer, Jack Lunz and Sammy White doing the damage. Two errors and Bill and Herb Score Kiner will give us a little more power and Score will strengthen our pitching. I don't think we'll win as many games, however.

"The Yankees ought to give us the most trouble again. I expect them to be plenty tough. The White Sox ought to be about the same and the rest of the league looks a little stronger. The league probably will be better balanced."

Not Likely Any Games Will Be Switched

KITCHENER (CP) — Chances that any of the playoff games between Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and Moncton Hawks, meeting in the best-of-seven eastern Canada Allan Cup set, will be switched to Moncton was considered unlikely today.

Hawks, trailing 2-0 in the series, are scheduled to play all their games on Kitchener ice. They have applied to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to have some of the games played in Moncton.

George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, said Thursday night he wasn't in favor of having any of the games changed. However, he said he would confer with CAHA president Baldy George of Kemptville, Ont., to whom the Moncton request was made.

Regina Pats Beat Winnipeg Monarchs 4-1

REGINA (CP) — Regina Pats maintained their supremacy over Winnipeg Monarchs here last night to take a 4-1 victory and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup semi-final.

Winnipeg's only goal, scored by Roger Ron Fairchild late in the second period, ended Regina goalie Peter Schlegel's shutout string at 107 minutes. Only three playoff goals have eluded him in Regina's last four games.

Bill Kurtz, Elmer Schwartz, Bev Bentley and Con Collis counted Regina's goals.

The series, with the winners meeting either Toronto Marlboros or Quebec Frontenacs, moves to Winnipeg with the third game today and the fourth Monday.

Fort Erie Spears Protest Game

FORT ERIE (Pic 8 Fort Erie Spears, beaten 5-4 by Tillsonburg Thursday night in the sixth game of their best-of-seven intermediate "A" semi-final series in the Ontario Hockey Association, have protested the game on the grounds that a Tillsonburg player did not arrive at the arena until after the engagement started.

If the verdict stands, Tillsonburg will be credited with three victories and two ties. Spears have a win and two ties.

Don Lee, Belleville, Elected As OASA Executive Member

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The Ontario Amateur Softball Association ruled Friday after long debate that limited replacements for Pat teams will be allowed this year under the same conditions as in the past.

There was disagreement between northern and southern branch team delegates. The North supported replacements and asked for a larger group, while southern representatives wanted an unconditional no-substitute rule.

Other proposals included: A ban on pitchers having white or cream color in their uniforms. Intermediate industrial teams will be open to players employed by more than the same employers; peewee and bantam teams will have zone playoffs before meeting in tourney competition.

A substitute will be allowed to play if through an oversight his entry into a game is not announced, the association decided.

The executive will consider a Quebec suggestion for an eastern Canada interbranch playoff.

John G. Brady of Oshawa was appointed by acclamation, succeeding W. G. Jacks of Kirkland Lake.

Others re-elected: Roger Stewart, Grimsby Beach, first vice-president; Dent; William Perkins., Simcoe, second vice-president; Roy Brush, Sarnia, third vice-president; Frank Hamilton, Kingston, secretary; Lloyd Alguire, St. Catharines, treasurer; H. F. Champion, Hanson, and D. Dorsey, Scarborough, auditors.

Elected to the executive were: Harold Dormer, Peterborough; J. M. Francis, Toronto; Don Lee, Belleville; L. G. Pickard, St. Catharines; Art Ray, Windsor; and J. E. Brewe, London. Three more are to be appointed.

The 150 delegates to the convention received a civic welcome at Friday's dinner, a number of prominent officials including Mayor Jewart, attending.

The meeting voted to hold its next annual session March 25-26 in Belleville.

Treasurer W. L. Alguire of St. Catharines reported a 1954 deficit of $1,185 but said an extra $2,017 was spent last year in aiding minor teams in travelling expenses.

Total receipts were $12,025, plus a balance from 1953 of $2,662. Expenditure in 1954 was $13,718 and a balance of $3,970 remains.

Secretary Feaver reported 227 affiliations last year—the highest on record—and a record 317 play offs.

Moncton Hawks Down Two Games to Kitchener Dutchmen

KITCHENER (CP) — Moncton Hawks have said all along they wouldn't hit top form before the third game of their Allan Cup semi-final series against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

So tonight, if you figure like that, is the big one. Hawks are down 3-0 Dutchmen, in the best-of-seven eastern Canada set and meet them here in the third engagement tonight.

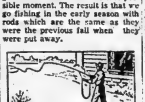
Hawks, who dropped the first game 6-2, were blitzed 11-4 on account Thursday night but got their wheels rolling again into fairly good shape before they fell under Kitchener pressure. Their defence couldn't cope with the Dutchmen's offensive, however.

In contrast to the opening game last Tuesday, the second meeting was a wide-open crowd-pleaser. Most of the 3,940 customers were in an uproar all night.

Dutchmen fired 34 shots at goaltender Nick Pidzodny in the Moncton net. Hawks took 28 shots at Dutchmen's Keith Woodall.

Defenceman Clare Martin led the Dutchmen attack with the scoring two goals and set up two others. Ralph Backstrom, Hawks' ace, also tallied a pair for the winners. Buddy Horne and Jackie Hamilton scored singles for Dutchmen.

Hamilton sank a penalty shot in the third period after Moncton defenceman Fred Weaver tripped Ken Laufman from behind as he put in on goal.



Lorne Watters, Dewar Thomson, Ivan Hoile and Weaver scored the Moncton goals.

Spring Casting Tune-Up

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT,
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables)

Most fishermen, and that includes me, have the lamentable habit of putting all overseas characteristics connected with rod repair and general overhaul until the last available moment. The result is that we go fishing in the early season with rods which are the same as they were the previous fall when they were put away.

Always at the close of a fishing season a rod, if it has been used, needs going over. It makes little difference whether the rod is bamboo, steel or glass, a coat of varnish or spar varnish does not come amiss.

Then, too, all too few of us put in enough time practicing casting. No doubt you have noticed that good casters (and this includes fly rod, casting rod and spinning rod) are indeed few and far between. The answer to this is plain—very few men, or women, will take time to practice. Thus, they never properly do learn how to cast well.

It is not necessary to practise casting over water. Actually, the best place is your lawn. There you need only use your wrist and forearm the distances by walking from one spot to another. We use a 30-inch metal hoop—the sort that children roll in the spring. And old bicycle tire will do just as well, however.

CAST FOR SCORE

The best way to develop accuracy is to cast for score. Mark off casting stations for fly rod at 40, 45, 50, 55 and 60 feet. For casting rod and spinning rod, set your distances at 50, 60, 70, 80 and 90 feet. A cast which strikes either the edge or well inside the hoop scores zero. Other casts are penalized one for each foot or fraction thereof away from the target. Low score wins. Competitive casting of this sort is fun and it improves both your accuracy and your distance tremendously.

There are a few tips on casting which may come in handy. First, don't take the fly rod. Most folks hold a fly rod incorrectly. Don't place your thumb on top of the rod directly opposite the reel. The base of your index finger should be on top of the reel, with your thumb at the side. This allows your wrist to be free. Now, grip the rod as you would read this and you will see what I mean.

When you throw the back cast with a fly rod, throw it high, well above the horizontal. At first you will do well to watch it so as to make sure that your line straightens it belongs. A high back cast necessitates a good forward cast. It is difficult to throw a bad forward cast if your back cast goes up there where it belongs.

Don't be afraid to use your entire arm when you are casting. The old book-under-the-arm method is as obsolete as the horse and buggy. Move your arm from the elbow with your wrist into play. That will improve both your accuracy and your distance.

With the casting rod the arm should be moved as little as possible. Don't cast sidearm! Sidewheel casting never was and never will be any good. Make your casting rod move through an arc the plane of which is perpendicular to the ground. Then, and only then, will accuracy become easy.

TROUBLE WITH BACKLASHES

Nearly all baitcasters have trouble with backlashes, some more than others. A good way to overcome backlashes is to make the point never to remove your thumb entirely from the spool drum until you are making a cast. When you release the cast, keep your thumb pressed gently but persistently. Don't keep it there. Never let your reel run free at any time. That is the way to cut down backlashes.

The same thing is true, in a modified form, with the spinning rod. Casting with a spinning rod is very easy to learn. You can even end up with a sidewheel motion and lets fly. Out goes the lure and the line peels free. Usually the reel is stopped by flipping over the bail and engaging the line with the winding rig.

This is what we call heave-and-hope casting. Nothing in casting could be easier. Conversely, accurate, controlled casting with a spinning rig is quite difficult. The cast is made overhead, just as with a fly rod and casting rod. Then the index finger is placed at the edge of the line spool and the forward progress of the lure is thus controlled.

This year, instead of doing your practising alone, you are fishing (always a painful process for your long-suffering wife) by giving your tackle a work-out on the lawn. Believe me, a little practice helps you get much more fun out of your fishing.

JEERS WIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Eilers took a first step toward their sixth senior women's Dominion championship here Thursday night, dumping Saskatoon Aces 56-36 in the ragged opening game of best-of-five series.

Vernon Canadians Back in Series With 7-3 Win

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Reeling from two setbacks encountered in as many starts in the best-of-seven western Canada senior hockey playoff, Vernon Canadians got back into the picture Thursday night when they paddled Fort William Beavers 7-3 before 4,300 fans.

Odie Lowe's goal in less than two minutes of action put the British Columbia champions in front for the first time in the series, and from then on in they were never headed, although Alex Irving squared the count some 12 minutes later.

Before the first period ended Sherman Blair and Milt Schmidt each added another for Canucks.

Blair counted again in the second frame while Johnny Harms, George Agar and Frank King completed the Vernon scoring. Kemper accounted for the other two Fort William tallies during the second and third periods respectively.

The Allan Cup series continues Sunday afternoon with the fifth game scheduled for Tuesday.

Edmonton Flyers Up Two Games On Stampeders

EDMONTON (CP)—Lorne Davis scored twice and assisted twice as Edmonton Flyers a come-from-behind 2-1 victory over Calgary Stampeders Friday night in the second game of the Western Hockey League finals.

The win before-7,000 fans gave Edmonton a 2-0 bulge over Stampeders in the best-of-seven series. Third game will be played in Calgary Monday, and the fourth in Calgary Monday.

Johnny Bucyk, Edmonton left winger who was the league's rookie award this season, had tied the score at 1-1 after 10 minutes of the third period after centre Pat Lundy put Stamps ahead 1-0 midway through the first. The second period was scoreless.

Jones Scores TKO Over Johnson In Fifth Round

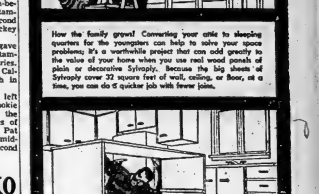
Jones, a New York middleweight hammered Johnson, a port Seminole, Texas boy, down in the sixth perhaps 12 or 15 blows as Johnson lay back against the ropes, his hands dangling.

Referee Harry Kessler stepped in to call a halt to the nationally-televised bout.



Screened Shot Beats Quebec In Semi-Final

MONTREAL (CP) — A 25-foot screened shot by Montreal captain Glen Harmon Friday night produced what proved to be the winning goal as the Royals downed Quebec Aces 7-6 in the final game of their Quebec Hockey League semi-final series.

The victory gave Montreal the best-of-nine series five games to three. The Royals meet Shawinigan Falls Cataracts here Sunday in the opening game of the best-of-seven final playoffs.

'Father Knows Best' Becomes Real Hit Under Robert Young

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—One of the least likely persons you'd expect to find in this fabulous fun town is Robert Young.

After all, Young is the picture of normality. A solid citizen, he is the father of four daughters in real life and three children on TV's "Father Knows Best." Although flashier stars draw the headlines, Bob has proven that being normal can pay off, even in Hollywood.

Bob and his for-real wife, Betty, (Jane Wyatt is her TV counterpart) were here for a spree before he starts a year's work on TV films. And there is one of the nicest success stories of the year.

Bob did "Father Knows Best" on radio for a number of years. The gentle comedy seemed a natural for TV.

"But I wasn't sure I wanted to get into it," he remarked. "I didn't know if I wanted to undertake all that work. Oddly enough it was Loretta Young (no relation) who helped convince me. She told me TV was the thing to do. And then I ended up opposite her on Sunday night."

The actor was realistic about the show's chances for success.

"I knew it was going to build slowly," he said. "It was that way on radio: People didn't call up their friends and tell them to be sure and listen to it. The show built enthusiasm slowly but when it did get fans they were intensely loyal."

A couple of months ago, the cigaret sponsor announced it was dropping the show. This brought forth a flood of letters from determined fans. Even hard-boiled TV editors joined in the campaign to find a sponsor for the pleasant, homey series.

Young believes this wave of enthusiasm was a major factor in his decision to undertake all finding a new bankroller.

AT THE BELLE — Romance — Kirk Douglas and Bella Darvi are the romantic couple in "The Racers" the new Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production in color magnificence, showing today and Monday at the Belle Theatre. Their tender love story furnishes a vivid contrast to the speed and action of Hans Ruesch's novel about sports car racing, from which "The Racers", was adapted. Douglas plays a champion race driver and Miss Darvi a French ballerina. Henry Hathway directed this thrill-packed drama.

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You can get a pretty good picture of the bridge hand held by your partner. How? By listening to his bidding. Experts use such a picture for making bids that a novice might fear to try.

The boys in the tight sessions seldom miss a chance to reach a game. If they cannot see it in a rule they do it from the view they get from the bidding around the table.

As just came up in this deal.

♥A 2
♦8 6 3
♣K 5 4 3 2

WEST
♠9 7 6 5
♥Q
♦A K Q 10
♣Q J 10 8 6

EAST
♠10 4 3 2
♥J 9 7 5
♦9 7 4

SOUTH
♠Q 8 5
♥K 10 8 6 4 3
♦J 5 2
♣A

The bidding went like this:

Pass	1 ♣	Double	Pass
2 ♥	3 ♦	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

You may wonder if north was just taking a chance with support when holding less than three hearts. But he got a photo of a long heart suit in south from the way the bidding went.

The north double was for take-out to show a hand as good as an opening one bid. To jump the response and thus show enough for shown in west and north by their bids. So, most of the five tricks promised by south must be length in trumps that will ruff shorts in side suits.

This length in hearts is what decided north to support with nothing more than an ace and small. After which it is almost a foregone conclusion that south will go to a game. Even if it fails.

Of course, such bidding can run into trouble and often does. But you need not despise it just because you see east with a kill holding in trumps. Even these did not down the contract.

Play south and hold opponents to only three tricks.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, April 11, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may find obstructions, unexpected contention from hidden sources. Espouse any cause that supports wholesome desires, honest efforts. Be as right, as kindly as possible always.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Some restrictions may be necessary. If you would avoid pitfalls, unpleasant arguments, needless errors. Do not become involved in matters which do not concern you.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — The whole day has an aspect of caution. Anxiety will not help, however, but sensible forethought in order to eliminate difficulties will. There will be no immediate drawbacks if you are alert, use good common sense.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Just view your tasks, duties calmly, without anxiety or worry; try to avoid prejudice and don't harbor grudges. Extreme, irritability and lack of consideration for others hinder programs.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — This day's influences are somewhat negative so if duties are demanding and heavy by volume you may have to use extra energy to get things done. This does not mean straining, however.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Friendly Mercury rays should be helpful in mental work. Matters that require analysis, checking for errors. But be careful, nevertheless, not to overdo and don't go too deeply in debt.

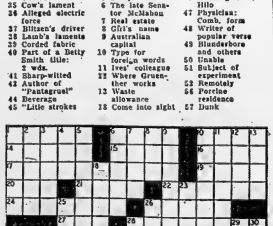
September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — It isn't the things that must be done, but how we do them and the attitude we maintain during our efforts that count. Give and take in true Libra fashion—which is innately fair-minded.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — There is no time like the present and no better opportunity to advance in worthwhile goals, happiness, and general good will than you have today. And you are elected to try.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Yesterday's Jupiter configuration, suggesting care and accuracy among other things, still holds sway today. Start slowly enough to start right, and keep that tempo.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — While your Saturn is headed for a fine aspect in a couple of days, it is still in a position which indicates a need for forethought, sureness of method, willingness to learn.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Note what others are doing, and try to profit by their mistakes. Don't spend time regretting the past, but aim for improvement in the future. Be optimistic.



February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Time isn't the only thing. For of what avail is it when melted may cry or motive is wrong! Think before you commit yourself to anything, and plan well before acting.

You born today: This is a strong, active, very interesting sector of the Zodiac. You can become a leader with personality, or an able follower (although in the latter capacity you may have to discipline yourself to take orders and be able to take criticism). Your talents are numerous. Develop art in some form (many of this birthdate have become noted singers, musicians). You could do very well in public life. Always aim high and keep climbing; success can come at any age. Do not be oversensitive, don't dissipate vital energies; pray, and have faith in those prayers. Birthdate of: Chas. Evans Hughes and Edw. Everett, noted Amer. statesmen.

Two of Three Injured Taken To Hospital

TRENTON (Special) — Two of the three people injured when a Rathbun bus and a car collided on Dundas Street Thursday were sent to the Trenton Memorial Hospital for examination. They were allowed to return to their homes afterwards.

Hurt when the bus drove into the path of an eastbound car were: Fred Ellis, 213 Byron St., Trenton; Mrs. Gertrude Rose, 90 West Street, Trenton; Mrs. Jean McCormack, 394 N. Byron St., Trenton. Mr. Ellis who suffered a bruised right cheek, did not require medical treatment. The other passengers and the driver escaped unhurt.

Mrs. Ross suffered a neck injury and Mrs. McCormack appeared to have only a mild case of shock. Damage to the grill, radiator, the bus's front fenders and the hood of the latter's car was estimated at $300.

Description of the accident recorded by the police indicated the bus travelling south on Scott St. struck the other car, Street West waiting for a break in heavy five o'clock traffic, to make a mild cause to move forward again the bus moved through the first line of traffic into the path of the car. The driver told police he did not see the car that hit him. The latter car crashed into the bus at the doors in line with the eastbound traffic lane, police reported. Damage to the bus was estimated at $150.

Gerald Holnbeck, 41, of Trenton, was driving the bus. The car was operated by Mrs. Gwen Armond E. McCormack, 29, of 294 N. Byron St., Trenton.

All the passengers were shaken in their seats by the impact.

Baxter at Cobourg, Thursday. The magistrate who reserved judgment in the case at the close of the trial on February 14 found Hillis guilty of the offence.

The victim, a hardware clerk in Trenton was hit in the chest by a shot from close range. He has recovered and is back at work although no ill effects. Hills told the court in giving evidence the Trenton hunter fo a wolf.

Youthful Sailor Returns After World Cruise

TRENTON — (Special) — Paul Kirk, 19, a Trenton boy has returned home from a globe circling tour with the U.S. and Canadian Navy. The youthful sailor, an Able Seaman Engineer Mechanic 3rd Class, is a member of the crew of the destroyer Huron travelled some 30,000 miles and visited dozens of foreign and Commonwealth countries in the journey that took 8 months to complete.

The Huron left Halifax last August, sailed through the Panama canal, across the Pacific to Japan and home via the Indian ocean, the Suez canal and the Mediterranean.

Seaman Kirk spent Christmas in Japan and New Year's in Hong Kong. He noticed the hustle bustle of Britain's crowded seaport on the China coast and was amazed to learn that 60,000 of the city's teeming population were without homes to live in and sleep in the streets the year round.

"You have to watch yourself after dark", the young seaman remarked.

The crew of the Huron made a tour of Japan, sailed two patrols in Korean waters, played goodwill ambassadors for Canada on a tour of Commonwealth ports. Young Kirk was one seaman who returned with a souvenir from every country he visited.

At present the Trenton sailor is staying with Mrs. G. Wickens of Percy street, where he has made his home for years. After leave he expects to sail with the crew of the Huron on a tour of ports in Europe.

Residents Flee As Floodwaters Rise 15 Feet

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—City council held an emergency meeting Friday and formed committees to take care of the homeless. More than 120 city and district residents forced out of their homes by floodwaters of the murky Assiniboine river.

The water was 15 feet above normal Friday, the highest level since 1914. It dropped 10 inches in two hours after reaching the high and city officials are optimistic the peak is past.

One hundred Winnipeg Provwat Corps members were sent to help the refugees.

The local army barracks were filled with 90 persons from the Sioux Indian village near here and farmers rescued by boats.

Resources Minister C. Gruneau said one more warm day will reduce the flood danger.

At Brandon, the level of the Assiniboine fell as ice jams began moving downstream.

TRUST FUND MAY

"On numerous occasions in the past there have been reports to the effect that the girls were worth $1,000,000 or more. Actually, the amount never quite reached $ 1,000,000. Right now it is closer to that than at any time in the past."

What do the girls plan to do with their money?

"Nothing spectacular," said Mr. Dionne. He said the girls would likely put the money into another trust fund under their own control.

"I don't think that coming into the money is going to make any difference at all to their lives. After all, they always had everything they needed; this will simply continue to be the case. I am sure they will continue to do what they are now doing."

NO ROMANCES

Mr. Dionne said none of the quints has shown any romantic inclination.

"I suppose there will be people who will try to get to the girls now that they have control of so much money. However, they will be only using their time because the girls are intelligent enough to spot those who are only after their money."

The quints are not planning anything spectacular to celebrate their 21st birthday. It will be the first birthday without Emilie and her death is still very much with them, Mr. Dionne said. He said he and Mrs. Dionne and Marie plan to go to Montreal to join the three others for the day.

TWENTY-YEAR

Signature of this long-delayed treaty by the four big powers would bring Austria independence and put an end to the 10-year Allied occupation of the country.

Austria, in a note handed to Molotov last Month, urged a conference of the four powers with Austria and asked for clarification of the required guarantees of neutrality and against Anschluss.

Britain, France and the U. S. this week reminded Raab that they, too, were interested in the question of a state treaty, But their declaration was considered then by Russia as putting pressure on Austria to prevent "constructive results" in the coming talks.

Today's Kremlin announcement of the friendship treaties said the British government, "regardless of its obligations under the treaty, had signed and the British parliament approved the Paris agreements concerning the remilitarization of West Germany and its involvement in military grouping directed against the Soviet Union.

"In view of this action of Great Britain which constitutes a direct violation of the obligations assumed by Great Britain under the treaty of 1942 the Council of Ministers, in accordance with the position of the Soviet government outlined in its notes of Dec. 20, 1954, and Feb. 28, 1955, has proposed to the presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R. a proposal on the cancellation of the treaty."

A similar statement was issued by the French-Russian treaty.

The first threats to cancel the treaties were made in notes in December.

Further notes re - emphasizing these threats were sent to Britain in February and to France last month.

POTENTIAL FLOOD AREA

A flood-forecasting committee set up by the provincial government has predicted that this spring there will be flooding of the Red River which five years ago inundated 330 square miles of southern Manitoba. But the mighty Red can overrun its banks and cause heavy damage as it did in 1950. This map shows how the river flows through the heart of the city, and Assiniboine Rivers is only a short distance from the corner of Portage Avenue and Main Street, centre of the city's business district. Manitobans Along Red River Apprehensive of Warm Days

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) —The mighty Red river is beginning to shrug off its blanket of snow and ice.

But Manitobans living along the banks of the river are apprehensive with the advent of warmer days. For spring means floods and the Red, once it sheds its winter covering, can cause disaster.

Flood - conscious Winnipeg remembers too well what happened in 1950 when the Red spread over 330 square miles of southern Manitoba and forced thousands to flee.

Since then the Red has stayed within its banks each spring but every year there's a lot of amateur speculation.

OFFICIAL BODY

Now Manitobans have their speculating done by an official body. A year ago Premier D. L. Campbell established a flood forecasting committee. Recently, the premier issued the committee's first forecast: No flooding of the Red this spring.

But the premier and the committee hastened to add that this was a forecast made well in advance of the spring break-up and the findings are only tentative, based on the assumption that future conditions will be normal.

The committee predicted flooding on the Assiniboine river lowlands west of Brandon but none east of the western Manitoba city.

The Assiniboine joins the Red in the heart of greater Winnipeg.

FIRST OF KIND

The flood forecasting committee is believed the first of its kind in North America. It grew out of a suggestion contained in the Red river basin investigation report of 1953, an exhaustive study of past floods and suggested defence measures.

FLOOD CONSCIOUS

Flood-conscious Winnipeg is worried that spring again might bring floods and disaster when the Red River finally sheds its winter blanket of ice. The Red River spread over 530 square miles of southern Manitoba in 1950, forcing thousands to flee their inundated homes. This scene was a familiar one when the river flooded the streets of the city that spring. (CP Photo).

The committee is headed by B. B. Hogarth, director of the water resources branch of the provincial department of mines and natural resources.

Members are D. M. Robertson, head meteorologist at the Dominion weather office here; H. L. Johnston, district engineer for the water resources division of the federal department of northern affairs and natural resources; H. Shand, assistant general manager of the greater Winnipeg water district and J. A. Griffiths, drainage engineer of the provincial public works department.

WINTER DATA

The committee begins to gather information for its forecast after Nov. 1. For its initial forecast this early winter flow were kept by the federal water resources division.

Information was secured from the U.S. weather bureau at Fargo, N.D., and the U.S. Corps of Engineers at St. Paul, Minn., in the two states where the Red river originates. The information included the results of a snow survey made during the first week of March.

The committee met for two days in Winnipeg to correlate the information and reach a forecast.

ON ASSUMPTIONS

One committee member stressed in an interview that it was a forecast based on assumptions.

"After all you can't correctly forecast the weather," he said. "These long-range forecasts are pretty general."

But he expressed his confidence in the committee's initial forecast. "This is not an abnormal year, except that the spring weather is way behind," he said. However, moisture conditions are above normal, from one-half to one inch according to weather office records.

But chances of a flood have been lessened by the fact that the frost depth this year is comparatively light, the result of a heavy early snowfall. In 1950 the frost went deep and a heavy runoff occurred.

year it checked the results of a snow survey made by the water resources branch during the period March 14-19 which indicated the water content of the snow on the ground in the basins of the Assiniboine and the Red in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

A soil survey was made by the water resources branch at freeze-up last fall. Records of fall and

RED CHINA'S DELEGATES IN PLANE CRASH

Strangler Sought In Slaying Of Judy Carter

Child's Body Dumped In Creek, Found By Boys

TORONTO (CP) — A trail turned cold by time confronted police today as they launched the strangler who knotted Judy Carter's woollen scarf around her neck until she was dead and dumped her body into a river.

Six weeks passed between the time the eight-year-old Toronto schoolgirl disappeared and the discovery of her body Saturday by two boys out for a day of fishing.

The fact confirmed in part what detectives had feared all along: that Judy had been abducted from a street near her home and that death came soon after the abduction.

But an autopsy showed the brown-haired girl had not been sexually assaulted, causing police to make a sweeping change in their theory that she was murderedby the victim of a sex pervert.

SEEK NEW MOTIVE

"We now set to establish a new motive," one detective said of the hunt for a killer whose face and name are unknown to police.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said he was almost positive Judy was murdered by somebody who knew her.

"The only motive for the crime I can think of is revenge against her or her family," he said.

Dr. Lawson said he believed the killer knew well the area where the body was found and probably had already selected the bridge nearby as the spot at which he was going to dispose of her.

THE BODY . . . AND CLUES

The body was found on the bank of a lonely stretch of the Rouge river in nearby Markham township and was lying face down in the mud. Police said it was partially trimmed coat and hat had not been disturbed.

Only her shoes were missing and they were found nearby. Ironically, they were found three weeks ago by a farmer's hired man. He noticed them by a bridge and placed them on a fence post so that anyone looking for them could find them more easily. Since then they had fallen.

At the time the man—his name was withheld—was at the request of his employer—said the shoes could have belonged to Judy. But he regarded them as of little importance and didn't report finding them.

A squad of 15 Toronto detectives and constables searched a 50-square-mile area in the township around the spot where Judy's body was found.

It was the second day searchers had scoured the three-by-one-mile tract trying to establish the route the killer had followed from the spot where he abducted the girl.

The body was found by Eric Christensen, 13, a Markham township schoolboy, and 13-year-old Kenneth Oliphant of Unionville.

RAN TO FARM

They ran to a farmhouse and township police were called. Within minutes the vacated area was full of detectives, identification officers and medical-legal experts was on the spot.

Police said they believed the body was dumped from a bridge half a mile from the spot where it was found. It had been well preserved.

The head was bruised but the autopsy indicated this had been caused after she had been thrown into the river. There was no water in the girl's lungs.

Judy disappeared on her way home after reading comics with two playmates. She had gone to their house after school at 2 class was dismissed for the day.

Searchers Angered

Police received many reports on her whereabouts—she was reported seen with a man in restaurants and streetcars and on the street—but none of the leads was useful.

The two boys who found Judy's body will probably share in the $1,500 reward offered for discovery "of the whereabouts" of the child, police officials said. Chief John Chisholm will make the decision.

The money was offered in $500 lots by the Toronto police commissioners, a Toronto life manufacturing company and the trustees of the Sir Sandford St. Catharines and Toronto branch.

Does Not Want To Break Up Prison Quartet

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Orville E. Gray, 27-year-old bank singer serving a 10-year robbery sentence, has turned down a chance for a parole.

Gray told parole supervisor E. M. Parkman that he doesn't want to break up the prison quartet, of which he is a member.

Two Children May Receive $500 Each

TORONTO (CP)—Eric Christensen, 12, and Kenneth Oliphant, 12, may share $1,000 of the $1,500 reward money offered in connection with the disappearance of Judy Carter.

Police officials said today the two boys who found the body of the little girl, missing 43 days, may share $500 rewards offered by the Toronto Police commission and the 81st Battalion Club.

The remaining $500, put up by a tile company, was for clues leading to the arrest of the man who kidnapped the girl.

Ernest Levitt, president of the company, said today the reward will still stand for apprehension of the killer.

Will Polio Announcement Bring Stampede For Vaccine Is Question

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The big secret of the Salk polio vaccine is set like a time bomb to go off at 10:20 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Will it bring a frantic stampede by parents to get vaccine or selfinjections? Or will it for young children and pregnant women remain susceptible to polio. Will it bring disappointment to the proponents of the cod of the anguish of polio?

These questions were raised by a prominent medical scientist, suggesting a stop-and-look-now attitude as the big news broke at 10:20 a.m.

What will happen afterward?

The question is put by a well known medical scientist who asked not to be identified. He has no connection with polio but he knows from knowledge of the history of vaccines (TAB, DPT and GG (gamma globulin) for polio.

Suppose the vaccine "is a success.

"It could become a test of our moral fibre," he said. "It will start a stampede, like a theatre fire to get vaccine at any cost? Will there be bootlegging, venality?

"Suppose the vaccine is found ineffective, or less than perfect? How much danger or loss of confidence may result? A vaccine can be a success without being perfect.

"Another point to remember is that the vaccine tested was one existing a year ago. Since then improvements have been made. It might have had faults which since have been corrected."

Some answers to his questions will come Tuesday. Meanwhile, guesser about Dr. Francis' report range from zero to 100 per cent effectiveness. Generally there is an air of optimism, but Dr. Francis just isn't talking.

OTTAWA CHURCH GUTTED BY FIRE, $250,000 LOSS

20 Firemen Treated, Overcome By Smoke

OTTAWA (CP) — Chalmers United church, home of one of the capital's oldest and largest Protestant congregations, was severely damaged by fire, smoke and water on Easter Sunday.

A fire that raged through the Sunday school and church offices Sunday night was quenched after 3½ hours as it threatened to take hold of the domed roof above the main section of the huge stone edifice on the corner of downtown O'Connor and Cooper streets.

But the main auditorium was blackened by smoke and soaked with water. Many of its windows, some stained glass, were ruined when glass, gasped today where firemen had been forced to smash them. Damage was expected to be more than $250,000.

Twenty firemen were admitted to hospital for treatment when overcome by smoke. Ambulances and the fire department emergency car were kept on the run as the heavy smoke took its toll.

CHURCH ELDER DIES

Alex. W. MacDonald, a senior elder of the church, collapsed and died of a heart attack as he brought a blanket from inside the building for a pregnant church.

A crowd numbering near the thousands, many of them from the more than 2,000-member congregation of the church, watched the destruction. Many of the church members helped save books, pa-pers and movable furniture from the main auditorium.

The fire was discovered by the church caretaker, William Wolfe, who lives in an apartment at the rear of the church. He noticed smoke coming from the basement of the Sunday school about 4:30 p.m. EST, just before hours before the church would have been packed to its 1,700 — most of them with worshippers at the Easter evening service.

The probability of arson was being investigated by police and fire department inspectors.

Records of the church, whose congregation first met in a rented hall in 1822, were known to be harmed in a fireproof vault in the basement of the church.

The church, opened in 1913 to replace the original building built in 1863, was not expected to be useable again for weeks.

The congregation had planned to celebrate its 90th anniversary next Sunday.

Second Earthquake Shakes Mindanao Is. in Philippines

MANILA (Reuters)—An earthquake, which seismologists say may be worse than the disaster 10 days ago in which some 400 persons were killed, shook Mindanao Island in the southern Philippines today.

In Dansalan city, where 330 persons died in the earlier quake, the residents panicked, according to reports received here.

No definite report of casualties or damage in today's earthquake has yet been received.

The latest reports on Mindanao's earlier earthquake list 416 dead, 782 injured and 151 missing. Lake Lanao, near the Moslem city, dropped six feet and many natives fled inland to villages along its shores.

The Philippines News Service said many persons were injured in the Lake Lanao area today.

"All buildings partially damaged," the service added, "and elapsed during this morning's tremors," PNS reported.

C.C.F. Charges Present Policy Destroying Ontario Forests

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario CCF party says the province's lands and forest minister is encouraging disastrous forestry practices which "will result in the destruction of northern Ontario forests in 20 years if continued at the present rate of exploitation."

The party's 21st annual convention adopted a resolution blasting which viewed the practices "with alarm and dismay."

Donald C. MacDonald, provincial leader, said the government has not awakened to the fact that the province is only 17 years away from destruction of timber resources.

Mr. MacDonald spoke on the resolution submitted by the Fort William CCF club.

He said growth outpowed, the backbone of the pulpwood industry, will be cut out within 20 years. The industry would "die a quick and die out." Another resolution called for immediate introduction of a modern system of sustained-yield forest management.

Delegates from industrial areas joined those from agricultural areas in supporting another resolution which said a serious drop in farm income since 1951 has resulted in a decline in living standards.

They agreed the decline in farm income was resulting in a serious loss of purchasing power for Ontario's industrial production and an ominous threat to the province's economic prosperity.

They said the economic welfare of industry and agriculture was closely linked.

The party advocated a thorough investigation of the farm machinery and price policies of industries now providing machinery, fertilizers and other agricultural supplies with a view to bringing prices down.

The party accused the provincial government of "unwarranted interpretation of justice to protect itself and its supporters "from consequences of the maladministration of the highways department."

Delegates adopted a resolution which also accused the Progressive Conservative government of refusing to investigate the role of political contributions in highways irregularities.

W. J. Grummett, one of two CCF members of the Ontario legislature, said the Progressive Conservative majority of the committee which investigated the irregularities refused to call witnesses the opposition requested.

"Undoubtedly, one of the questions they would have put was how contracting companies contributed to party funds," said Mr. Grummett, MPP for Prince Edward South.

"The whitewash of the scandal committee was the Conservative members to serve on the committee," he said. "He could not have picked nine more subservient fellows."

Mr. Grummett was one of three opposition members who served on the committee but boycotted it after the majority voted against calling the witnesses by subpoenae.

The resolution demanded that "all those who abused the public trust in the highways affair, and not merely the little fellows, be punished.

"Minor officials of the highways affair, and not merely the little fellows, be punished.

"Minor officials of the highways department were charged, pleaded guilty and were convicted, and were jailed. Top officials were charged, found guilty but only were fined. Worse still, contracting firms were charged, found guilty and fined but continued to receive and be paid out of profits—while former executives responsible officers who direct the affairs of these companies were dropped on the flimsy excuse that these officers were merely employees."

Mr. Grummett said it could only be presumed that charges were dropped on instruction of the provincial government and that the attorney-general's department is in charge of administration of justice in the province.

Atomic Submarine Nautilus Soon to Head to Sea For Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The atomic submarine Nautilus will head out to sea soon to test her speed and wheels last between two and four weeks, but, it is learned, that of the Nautilus will extend far beyond that period over much greater distances.

Then, in the Atlantic, however, that this first real sea cruise will be a test of the claimed round-the-world cruising capability of the first atomic submarine. Such a demonstration may come later.

The probability is that the Nautilus will cruise in the west Atlantic and Caribbean. For the first time, she will travel without the accompanying fleet of conventional surface rescue vessel.

The Nautilus will operate on her own and with other ships of the U.S. fleet.

The tactical phase of the shakedown cruise will test out her ex-perimental engineering features. The Nautilus probably will work against submarines, planes and blimps, equipped with the most modern underwater detection gear.

For offensive training, the A-sub will test out fully her torpedo armament and the sonar directional listening gear by which submarines hunt their prey.

Unlike other submarines, the Nautilus is not limited in the amount of her time submerged. But if she is caught on the surface she can dive in much less time than conventional submersible. This is because the Nautilus has the same atomic power sources submerged as surfaced. There is no need to shut down diesel engines, start generators from battery sources and then dive. Training is given in the safety under the sea. Training in the shakedown program.

SURPRISE OFFER SENDS AUSTRIAN FLYING TO MOSCOW

Independence Treaty May Be Arranged

By SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Chancellor Julius Raab of Austria arrived by air today for Kremlin talks on the long-awaited state treaty which could end the four-power occupation of his country.

Raab and his party were invited to Moscow by Foreign Minister Molotov to discuss "questions relating to the conclusion of the Austrian State Treaty."

Raab is expected to stay in Moscow for three days in an effort for clarification from the Soviet government of the Russian attitude towards the state treaty. The delayed treaty which would bring Austria independence for the first time since Hitler took over 17 years ago.

The Austrians were flown here in a special Soviet airliner. On hand to greet them were Molotov and Anastas Mikoyan, a first deputy premier, Andrei Gromyko, deputy foreign minister, and Western and other diplomats.

CONTRIBUTE TO PEACE

"We have come to Moscow with the purpose of contributing towards strengthening peace," Raab said, adding that he hoped to say a few words of greeting to the chancellor.

The chancellor is seeking a way out of the, East-West deadlock which has prevented conclusion of a treaty restoring Austrian sovereignty and ending the country's occupation by Russia the United States, Britain and France.

The surprise Russian note to the other three occupation powers Saturday held out the hope that "given the necessary conditions" a treaty for all interested states, it will prove possible in the near future to reach the necessary agreement and to conclude a state treaty for Austria."

Observers here think the success of Raab's mission will depend on what guarantees Russia demands from either Austria or the Western powers to prevent any future anschluss (union with Germany).

Aid by Govt. Termed Death Bed Repentance

CHATHAM (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader today termed the provincial government's $7,500,000 municipal aid program "a death bed repentance."

The program was "an admission of failure," he told the legislature that the government should have been doing more all along to help the municipalities, he said.

Mr. Oliver said municipal aid is a "breed of the former" but claimed municipalities in Ontario are receiving less than those in many other provinces.

He also said the Progressive Conservative government's "road scandal" will "have to be answered for when an election is called."

Mr. Oliver addressed a meeting of the Southwestern Ontario Liberal Association which St. Clair, Kent, 43, Chatham solicitor and former mayor of Elenheim, was elected president.

Anyone Who Can Walk Can Fly It Says Pilot of "Flying Platform"

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — The test pilot who first took off in a radical new wingless "flying platform" says anyone who can walk can fly it.

"You just lean the way you want to go," said test pilot Phil L. Johnston of the "research tool" developed by Hiller Helicopters of Palo Alto for the United States Office of Naval Research.

"I'd let my kids fly it. It's no trick at all."

Johnston's first flight was Jan. 15 in the weird new machine which looks like a flying manhole cover, and which rises in a literal flying saucer.

Hiller's development to date, said the ONS in the first disclosure of the new craft, "definitely has established the feasibility of radically simplified flight."

The "flying platform" works by a downward-thrusting air stream from a jet engine, the company proprietors. They produce balancing force, like a gyroscope.

How it takes off is as simple as that.

Ascent is controlled by throttle. You steer by leaning the way you want to go.

What happens if the engines quit, however, is an obvious problem.

Without the lifting air thrust, it would crash to the ground.

Test flights so far have been little more than eight feet off the ground.

Believe All Dead As Indian Airliner Falls Into Sea

Minor Communist Officials Were En Route to Bandung

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — An Indian airliner carrying members of the Chinese Communist delegation to next week's Indonesia conference has crashed into the sea about 100 miles north of Kuching, Sarawak, according to reports here today.

In New Delhi, L. C. Jain, Indian director-general of civil aviation, confirmed the crash of the chartered four-engine Air India Constellation and said the passengers and anyone being saved was "remote."

A report from Hong Kong quoted a usually reliable source as saying the airliner had 11 passengers aboard, of whom eight were minor Communist Chinese officials. The source said the other were Polish journalists, Dr. Fredrich Jensen and Jeremi Starec, and a North Vietnamese named Voong Pish-Phuong.

Radio reports monitored here said the plane had sent three S O S signals giving its position as 108 miles north of Kuching. All ships in the area have been asked by radio to look for the plane.

Jakarta radio said air control had asked the plane if the Chinese Premier, Chou En-lai, was aboard. The reply from "the plane was "negative," the radio said.

Chou En-lai, who opened the Indian state airline, Air India, was on a flight from Hong Kong to Jakarta, Indonesia, the reports said.

Communist China is one of 29 Asian and African countries attending the conference, which starts April 18 in Bandung, Indonesia.

Reports from Jakarta earlier today said the first planeload of the Chinese delegation—carrying advance delegates and news correspondents—was expected to arrive tonight.

Three Children Burned to Death

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Starling were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed their two-storey, six-room frame farm house in Teck township, 14 miles south of here.

The children are Gail, 4, Fred, 2½, and Linda, 8 months.

The fire occurred while the parents were working in the barn a-fect from the house.

The father attempted to enter the house through the front door but the flames drove him back. He then went around to the back window and managed to bring out the body of Linda.

The blaze is believed to have started from faulty wiring.

LINER CONSECRATED

The Olympia, with 600 passengers aboard, sailed from Piraeus. The vessel was launched in Glasgow in 1953.

Easter Parades Condemned By Town's Clergy

TORONTO (CP) — Sunday's Easter parade in Newmarket, 30 miles north of here, has been condemned by many of the town's clergy.

Rev. A. E. Collins said: "Easter Sunday is a holy day and should be observed as such. There are other days on which a parade could have been held.

Four other clergymen here agree with Mr. Collins about such parades, and Rev. Dr. Reid in an editorial in this week's Newmarket Era and Express set out of keeping with Easter thoughts.

Rev. Dr. Cecil Rose, minister of Jarvis Street Baptist church since the death this week of Rev Dr. T. T. Shields, commented: "All true Christians ought to be strongly opposed to any commercialization of Easter Sunday."

Rev. H. B. Henderson, chairman of Toronto's presbytery of the United Church, said the parade would further Easter be held Monday. Dr. Crossley Hunter, Trinity United church, said he found nothing "seriously objectionable" about the parade.

"It is more in keeping with the arrival of spring, quite rightly a time of gladness."

Two Girls Held

DETROIT (CP) — Police said Sunday two girls, aged 6 and 9, were held in a juvenile detention home after they took a two-year-old child from their home and tortured her for an hour.

Police said the girls lured the baby girl into a vacant house during their parents' absence, and carried out the attack. They left over the body with a safety pin.

Then they tried to stuff a mixture of mustard, red pepper and baking soda down the child's throat, police said.

Finally they tried to force the child out a second storey window, they stated.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY DURING HOLIDAY

Grass blazes and bonfires occupied the attention of city firefighters over the Easter weekend with several such calls being answered.

Early Sunday morning the reels were called to Howard Street, where a garage owned by Ed. Brinkman, had been set afire from a bonfire which apparently had been left burning all night. Considerable damage was caused to the garage and the nearby residence was scorched by the heat of the flames.

Two grass fire alarms were answered this morning, while Sunday, firemen were called to the Trent Road, also for a grass fire.

Member Firms of Chamber Offered Group Insurance

Considerable discussion took place at the Belleville Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors' meeting held Thursday in the New Queen's Hotel, with reference to a letter received from an insurance company offering its services to provide group life, sickness and health benefits to member firms of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, who are not already covered by such plans. The letter listed fourteen Chamber members in Eastern Ontario now participating in the group insurance plan and requested the opportunity of discussing with the Directors, such a plan for member firms of the local Chamber.

The directors agreed that members of the Chamber should be sent questionnaires which would determine, as a result, informalities, on the number of member firms, who might be interested in group insurance coverage through the local Chamber. The Chamber's executive felt that, if sufficient interest was indicated that the members of the Chamber, once companies interested should be given the opportunity of proposing a group plan.

APPROVE PROGRAM

The directors approved of the suggested program of work for 1955. The following committees for the year 1955 were appointed to carry out their respective activities, it was noted that some of these committees are active at the present time. The committees set up were: Retail, Manufacturers', Civic Affairs, Agricultural, Tourist and Publicity, Industrial, Civic Beautification, Parking, Membership, Program and Dinner, Finance, By-laws and Purposes, Sports and Golf, Constructive Planning Committees.

Mr. Ken Ross, director, reported on the meeting arranged with the Trade and Industry Branch of the Department of Planning and Development at Ottawa, which was held in Campbellford on April 6th.

130 DELEGATES PRESENT

He said that approximately 130 delegates from the County of Northumberland and Durham, Victoria, Hastings, Haliburton, Peterborough, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington were in attendance. Mr. A. J. McLean Haig, director of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans Mark Battle of Vimy Ridge

Memories of the battle of Vimy Ridge the "greatest British victory since Waterloo" were vividly recalled at "Vimy Night" held in the spacious auditorium of Bayside Park Army, Air force Veterans in Canada on Saturday night.

Distinguished guests mingled with high ranking officials at the head table. The menu of the eat-get-together was an outstanding address by Captain J. H. (Bert) Wells, Ex3, who in his usual eloquence outlined the famous battle that ranks as blazing star in Canada's book of military achievement.

The meeting was held under the chairmanship of President William J. Ford. Present at the head table were Archdeacon J. R. Creeggan, chaplain of the branch; vice-president Ray Perkin; Mayor John Roth; Lieut. Col. P. H. Wills; Captain Angus Duffy, who represented Lieut.-Col. S. S. Fairman, commanding officer the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment; Comrade Jack C. Lundberg, president Ontario Provincial Command, ANAF; Captain Wells and provincial welfare officer C. A. Chapman.

REVERENT SILENCE

The crowded auditorium sat in a hushed reverent silence as many Vimy Ridge veterans and their younger comrades of World War II paid silent tribute to the memory of their glorious dead. The haunting notes of 'Last Post' rang out as the lights slowly dimmed. During the two minutes of silence, Piper Tommy Roberts slowly paraded through the crowded auditorium softly playing the "Lament". Trumpeter Charles Lawson of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment then sounded "Reveille" as the tribute ended.

Prior to the address and tributes, the crowded auditorium sat down to a delicious cold roast beef dinner served by the ladies of the branch women's auxiliary. It was excellently cooked and at excellently served.

Archdeacon Creeggan gave the invocation with vice-president Denike proposing the toast to Her Majesty the Queen. Comrade Chapman proposed the toast to the former President Captain Duffy responding. He urged that all take an interest in the reserve forces. President Ford extended the official welcome to the guests and guests and members of the branch.

Mr. Ross said that the purpose of the meeting was to form the Belleville Chamber, which is part of the regional development plan being sponsored by the Ontario government. This region would be set up in a similar manner to the Eastern Ontario Development Association, which was formed in Ottawa last June, and is actively promoting the economical development of that area. Representatives from the various municipalities representing elected officials and members of Commerce members agreed in principle, that this organization should be formed and moved that a meeting be held in four weeks' time in Campbellford at which the delegates returned to their various municipalities and organizations, and reported back to them.

Mrs. Ross pointed out that the Lake Ontario Regional Development Board would consist of 25 members, one appointed by four to a board of directors from which an executive would be chosen and a full time general manager would be appointed. The organization would be financed by the various municipalities on the basis of 7c per capita and the Ontario government would not contribute to the initial organizations.

Mr. J. Freeman, of Williams' Ladies' Wear, was accepted as a new member of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

DISCUSS BUILDING

Discussion followed on the proposed new public building. The directors agreed that the Chamber had established its purpose by bringing the proposed new federal building to the attention of the public and were pleased to note that Belleville city council had discussed the matter but further action was considered necessary by the Chamber directors.

The policy declarations of the Chamber were read by the Secretary, Mr. A. O. Drysdale, chairman of that committee and members of the Chamber. Due to the importance and length of these policy declarations the directors will hold a special meeting next Thursday, April 21st to study more fully. The policy declarations cover such items as agriculture, civic beautification, civil defence, employer-employee relations, immigration, freedom of enterprise, natural resources, industrial, promotion, town planning, parking and others.

Golden Sunshine Floods City In Warmest Easter in Years

Golden sunshine flooded a spring-hungry city and countryside for one of the warmest Easter week-end in many years.

The weather man in joyous Easter mood sent thermometers zooming upwards with the mercury at the 60-degree level, a climb of eight degrees over Saturday's high.

Thursday-like atmosphere brought winter - weary householders out in the largest numbers in years. Highways were dark ribbons of moving traffic. The weather-hungry and in all-out shedding of midady's new spring apparel turned city and other thoroughfares into show windows of the new 1955 styles.

Spring "was bursting out all over", florists and packers were running and many fishermen sought them. It was reported the pickerel fishing was on, but not legally, for anglers — that is.

TULIPS UP

Tulip heads were greening city gardens. Even the trees with leaves getting ready to burst forth in full foliage. Concerts for spring birds. Robins and squirrels were busy enjoying the warm lovely weather.

There was another barometer that spelled spring. Kites were the key still in the air, young Master Belleville marked the brilliant Easter Sunday by baseball bats and gloves. A few risked their marbles.

While the "Great Annual Easter Parade" was not marked with too large a crowd, there was quite a number out and about "more than in 1955" apparent. The favored head-light hat was in evidence while pastel shades were the order of the variety. The male of the species, too, was in his new-hat-and-topcoat glory in some cases.

The thunder of mighty organs and the voices of choirs were reconciled through the city on Sunday as churches were filled to capacity with Easter worshippers. It was estimated that the largest congregations in years filled church and chapel to commemorate the glorious festival of the resurrection. Easter Sunday early morning until noon and in some cases the afternoon the glorious music of instrument and voice marked the celebration.

Many churches featured special music, with soloists, sacred cantatas, while a number held children's services in the afternoon.

The glorious music of Easter was everywhere apparent with a brilliant sun streaming from a cloudless sky, tempered by invigorish zephyrs adding to the enjoyment of the holiday.

Don... EEZZE-pAz rise ...

Many gifted out-of-town speakers and choirs were added their quota to the general observances, with special music by augmented choirs backgrounding the services with beautiful choral music.

Many people took advantage of the lovely weather to eat their first meal of the season in restaurants and other places, which served the traditional ham, or roasted species was required by Miss O'Brien to perfect in readiness to act with a circus more daring than that of a bareback rider. It requires extreme skill to turn a somersault from a galloping horse to the ground without experiencing a spinal jolt.

Equally important is the training of the ring stock. A circus ring is 40 feet in diameter and to keep from throwing a performer off balance a horse must take just so many measured steps. The gait must be mathematically uniform. A misstep on the part of a performer might result if a horse's stumbling.

Miss O'Brien is an accomplished somersaulting rider. Just new she has about perfected, after six years of practice, the turning of a back somersault from one running horse to another galloping horse, a feat that only a few male riders have accomplished.

Kinsmen Club Will Sponsor Circus Here

The circus is coming to Belleville with a bang!

The thrills of watching the big, brass band of ring performers are scheduled to be experienced in the city this June 20 when the King Bros. Circus lays out its stakes on the old circus grounds at Sidney St.

Arriving here under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club, the circus counts a total of 150 performers, including twenty riders, a double ring and a bareback rider Jenny O'Brien.

Pretty and 18, she probably owes much of her skill and daring to inheritance. The atmosphere of sawdust and spangles has been the backdrop to her life up to this.

Born in Copenhagen while her parents were touring with a circus in Denmark, she is the third generation of a famous circus family.

While her act lasts but eight minutes, months and years of constant practice was required by Miss O'Brien to perfect it-

Traffic Through City Heaviest In Many Years

A pleasant Easter week-end with temperatures soaring to a warm 65 degrees brought out motorists in droves Sunday afternoon with city and provincial police reporting solid lines of traffic, which bogged down almost to a standstill on highway routes through Belleville and Trenton.

According to police the bottleneck at Trenton surpassed that in Belleville where it required police to bumper on the highway route through the town and for a mile or more each way.

On the whole, however, the traffic congestion kept speed to a minimum and not a single serious accident was reported either by city or provincial police.

Provincial police apprehended two drivers during early Sunday morning in charge of a truck reported stolen in Toronto. The half-ton pick-up was stopped on the side of the highway west of the city and when the two boys were unable to produce proper credentials they were brought to the police station and it was learned later the truck had been stolen. The boys were then taken back to Toronto.

This morning provincial police recovered a motorcycle near Desoronto, which had been reported stolen in Toronto. A Toronto man seen in the vicinity was held by police for questioning.

Police Court

Convicted on a charge of shoplifting from the local T. Eaton Company Ltd., store, James Smith, transient, was sentenced to three months in the county jail when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills on Saturday.

Smith was arrested by officials of the store and when apprehended he had in his possession two sets of millinary brushes taken from the counter.

City Youngsters Enjoy Annual Shriners' Party

Upwards of 900 city youngsters enjoyed the annual hospitality of the Belleville Shrine Club at the sixth annual Kiddies Party held at the McCarthy Theatre, Good Friday morning.

Held under the chairmanship of Noble Ken Smith and his hard-working committee, the party was said to be one of the best if not the best since the inception of these annual "treats" for crippled and other children of the city.

The familiar red fez of the shriners was seen everywhere as the clubmen were kept busy looking after their young guests. Of-ficers were also given the children by Chief Rabban, D. L. Storey of the Rameses Temple divan. Mrs. Hobbs and Mrs. Dafoe of the St. John Ambulance Brigade were on hand to take care of any emergency. Buds of Ambulance also stood by and assisted in the transportation of kiddies unable to travel otherwise.

Thanks to the generosity of Noble Willard Wilson and his staff of the McCarthy, the facilities of the building were given gratis and the youngsters enjoyed a splendid program of cartoons and other motion picture fare.

The shriners also paid tribute to the Checker Taxi Company for outstanding assistance in transporting the kiddies. Bill Cook, Weston Bakers, the Borden Ice-cream Company and the Coca Cola also assisted greatly in the provision of "treats".

The shriners also paid appreciative tribute to Police Chief Walter Probert, Fire Chief Gerald Vance and the city police and fire departments for their wholehearted co-operation in handling traffic and looking after the welfare of the youngsters.

The kiddies enjoyed numerous "goodies" besides the motion picture entertainment. A special feature, which delighted the youngsters was a puppet exhibition given by Mr. Walter Fleet, well-known archer of the district.

Chinese Missionary Thrills Large Congregation With Story

At a special service in Calvary Temple on Sunday afternoon, the Reverend Jessie Wong of Vancouver, formerly of Shanghai and Hong Kong, thrilled a large congregation with a graphic account of her life story "From Idols to Christ," which included the vicissitudes of family ostracism, the Japanese occupation, starvation, flight from Communism, and at last peace and security in a God-edified mission-ary endeavor on Canadian soil.

Although small of stature this indomitable Chinese missionary's voice rings out loud with sincerity when she speaks of her conversion. Daughter of a wealthy Chinese merchant in Melbourne, Australia, she was brought up by "heathen parents" who worshipped various idols. Miss Wong, in her beautiful command of English idiom, with Chinese tonal quality and pronunciation accent, held her large audience enthralled as she unfolded the story of her life.

"My mother prayed particularly to the Goddess of Mercy for a son, as she had only three daughters," said Miss Wong, "and although mother continued to believe and pray for ten years, no son came. Then my God made by hands turned her heart to Him and she came to pray for a baby brother, but to no avail. So up at two o'clock at night to worship her idols would put many Christians to shame.

"At six years of age my parents sent me to the Presbyterian Mission School. Although they were heathen they were very old-fashioned and would not allow me to attend a co-educational school. I was supposed to learn English, geography, history and grammar, but the teacher spent more time teaching the children the way of the Lord.

ONLY TAUGHT BIBLE

"My sister Mary said she wanted an education so she could go to China and be a leader in politics and in the country to lift up the standard of the Chinese women. But mother continued to teach the Bible. I want to say that when the women of China have the word of God their status will be lifted. David said, 'Thy word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee.' I did not say he wanted history, geography and grammar hid in his heart. My teacher believed that 'the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom' and I thank God that she crammed the truth of the Bible down our throats.

"I wish more mothers would thrust the word of God down their children's throats and there would not be so much juvenile delinquency."

Miss Wong was ten years of age when she actually believed in God. This came about after she made a "test" by praying for a Bible and giving minute description of what kind of a Bible she wanted. If she was given this Bible she then promised to believe.

"The next day I walked to school," said Miss Wong, "watching the sky, looking for my Bible to drop down to me. But it didn't come like that. Instead in the December recess two prizes were given for bible examinations. Jessie Wong was one of the winners and the prize . . . a Bible, of the exact description I had requested!"

In the year 1919 Jessie Wong's parents gave her a choice of either recanting her Christian beliefs and living in the lap of luxury, or of leaving their home forever. She chose to remain true to Christ and she went to Shanghai to teach in a mission school.

She was baptized and thereafter went through years of severe persecution. "But through it all," smiled the brave little lady, "I learned patience, learned to forgive, learned to trust and cast all my cares upon Jesus. Whenever the fiery furnace of persecution blazed, Jesus was always the nearest. God was polishing me for service, so that I would be meet for the Master's use, God's time is never too fast and never too slow.

NEVER REGRETTED STEP

"I have never regretted the step I took in giving up wealth and position to follow Jesus. My parents asked me if Jesus supplied me with silver and gold, houses and land. But I was able to say that He supplied my needs from day to day. I had learned that although friends may fall you and relatives disappoint you, God you can trust, and I knew that His would provide as I did not fear stepping out on my own."

In 1923 Jessie Wong went to Shanghai. God led her into Christian service. Persecution ceased, she founded the first independent church in 1937 during the Sino-Japanese war this mission was completely destroyed by bombs, along with her home and all she possessed. But she set another mission on foot which now is still being carried on by competent native teachers.

Throughout the Japanese occupation of Shanghai she worked in refugee camps and aided the panic-stricken populace with the necessities of life as well as assisting with the care of the thousands of wounded Chinese soldiers. During the Japanese occupation it was necessary to keep her British citizenship a secret, as the invaders had arrested all British subjects. For four and a half years this dauntless little missionary dared not utter a word of English.

"During this time," said Miss Wong, "I was privileged to lead hundreds of Chinese souls to Christ. Is that not better than silver and gold?"

MOVED TO HONG KONG

Before the Communists took Shanghai, Miss Wong moved to her headquarters in Hong Kong. Then on May 4th, 1950, she left Hong Kong for Vancouver. She felt the leading of God to minister the Gospel to her countrymen in Canada, particularly instructing the newly arrived Chinese students in the Christian faith.

"There is much starvation in China," stated Miss Wong. "You in this wonderful God-blessed land of Canada do not know how fortunate you are. My heart is thrilled when I see so many of God and my prayer is that many will come to know Jesus Christ in this land of plenty and opportunity."

The speaker sang a hymn in the Chinese language and also spoke a short message for the benefit of about twenty-five local Chinese folk who were present.

Kingston Man, Napanee Boy Drown In Hay Bay, Boat Upsets

What was to be a pleasant Easter week-end at a summer home farm on Hay Bay ended in tragedy for two families Saturday evening when a Kingston man and a 10-year-old Napanee district boy drowned in ice-cold water when their 14-foot boat overturned.

Jack Simmons, 51, 1 Seventh Ave., Kingston, and Dennis Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fox of Stratchens, five miles northeast of Napanee, drowned in 8 feet of water just thirty feet from shore at Sherman Point in the mouth of Hay Bay.

Two other occupants of the skiff, the Fox boy's mother, Mrs. Grace Fox, 33, and his 13-year-old brother, Noel, managed to cling to the over-turned boat until it was washed against the rocky shore.

The bodies of Mr. Simmons and the Fox boy were recovered by provincial police Sunday morning.

Both Mr. Simmons and Mr. Fox work at the Aluminum plant at Kingston and the two families had come to use the cottage week-end to ready the vacant Simmons farm home for the summer season's occupancy.

SPLIT IN TWO PARTIES

Muddy roads prevented getting to the farm at the mouth of Hay Bay by car and the family members split up into two parties. Mr. Simmons, Mrs. Fox and the two Fox boys decided to go by boat and boarding the 14-foot skiff with the provisions set out from Bruce Huyck's dock for the two mile trip along the bay shore. Mrs. Simmons, Mr. Harold Fox and his daughter Marilyn, walked the mile and a half from the road.

When almost within sight of the Simmons landing the skiff, powered by a five horse power motor, became swamped in the choppy water as it rounded the point into the bay of Quinte. The boat overturned throwing the four occupants into the cold water.

All four people managed to grab the overturned boat. Mrs. Fox later said Mr. Simmons had called encouragement repeatedly pleading for all to hang on as the boat was not far from shore. But 15 minutes after the boat swept ashore Mr. Simmons and the youngest Fox boy had disappeared.

BOAT NEVER ARRIVED

At the farm house the party, which walked in had stripped, arrived and had hung out a lantern to guide the boat to the landing. The boat never arrived. Instead, shivering in the night air, Mrs. Fox assembled across a quarter of a mile of muddy fields to the site of the accident.

Police and volunteers tried vainly to find the missing boy and

Two Toronto Women Injured In Car Crash

TRENTON (Special) — Two women were injured in a tail-end collision which occurred during the time heavy traffic was moving through town on the No. 2 Highway route.

Mrs. Lucy Buck of Trenton suffered a fractured lower right leg and abrasions, while Mrs. Nellie Cotton of Toronto, thrown forward by the impact, received a cut on the lower left leg.

The body of the boy was recovered first, then ten minutes later that of Mr. Simmons. Two Oshawa men week-ending at a nearby Hay Bay resort, Ted Arnold and Jack Duncan, assisted in the search.

Funeral services for the two drowning victims will be held Tuesday afternoon. Coroner Dr. F. C. Wilson said there would be no inquest.

Mr. Simmons leaves his wife, while the Fox boy is survived by his parents, his brother Noel and sister Marilyn.

HEADS DOMINICANS

The front of the Cotton car was damaged to the extent of $350. The damage to the Buck machine was slighter and estimated by the police at $70.

TRAFFIC HEAVY.

Chief Constable F. J. Taylor of Trenton said today he can never remember when traffic on the main route through Trenton was heavier than it was yesterday and last night. Members of his department devoted most of their time keeping cars moving both east and west but at times the lines reached from the top of the west hill in front of Fitzhurst Hotel to the east limits.

SCOTS TO THE RESCUE

The Scot is the only emigrant who leaves his homeland, not to better himself, but to improve his adopted country. If you do not believe this ask any Scotsman living away from the Highlands.

Scotsmen have been improving the far corners of the world with such zeal and diligence for the past three centuries that the haggis and bagpipe are secondary symbols of nationhood in such far flung outposts as New Zealand, Argentina, South Africa, and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties in Canada. Not the least of the Scots' good work has been the civilising of England with university professors and professional men of all kinds.

The list of the Scots' benevolent deeds is hard. Despite every valiant effort there is still much to be done. The Scots are continuing to do it.

Last year 23,000 missionaries left the land of heather and haggis for more sparsely settled Scottish communities elsewhere. The appeal of new industries in Scotland could not dampen their ardor. E. A. Hoggin, Registrar-General for Scotland, announcing the emigration figures, noted that Scotland is losing 20,000 of its people annually. Of last year's migration 11,700 went to other parts of the United Kingdom and the majority of the rest to the Dominion countries, of which Canada was the most popular.

There is food for thought in these figures. Is the world so full of sin that Scotland must lose 23,000 stalwarts annually to the cause of its redemption? And what of conditions in the United Kingdom? If the United Kingdom needed 11,700 Scotsmen last year to keep its industry and social life intact, can we really believe all those statistics about Britain's remarkable post-war recovery?

And what about Canada? Have Canadians, living among signs of prosperity and progress, been pillowed upon mirages?

How else can one explain the Scots' preference for Canada as a destination for emigrants? Those of us who failed to recognize the signs of impending disaster are relieved to know that canny Scots not only saw our plight but proved swiftly the error tragedy by bulwarking our country in such numbers.

When Scotland ceases to spawn emigrants it will mean one of two things: that the world has at last been won for Scotland, or that the rest of the world is not worth winning.

SAME TUNE

A proposal by the United Auto Workers of America, in convention at Cleveland, lends an ironic note to the pending merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The UAW says that when the merger is accomplished every union should put up a dime for every present member to finance a campaign to organize millions of workers at present outside the ranks of organized labor.

When the Committee for Industrial Organization was first formed in the AFL, it was for the purpose of organising the unorganized. When the unions represented on this committee left the AFL and changed their Committee for Industrial Organization into the Congress of Industrial Organizations, it was because John L. Lewis and other CIO leaders felt that the AFL was not prepared to give adequate attention to forming new industrial unions.

In the intervening years the CIO has vastly increased the number of workers, both in Canada and the United States, who are union members. Two of the biggest CIO unions, the United Steel Workers and the United Auto Workers, represent employees in two major industries which were once unorganized and were regarded by many union members as impossible to organize.

The CIO split with the AFL in order to organize the unorganized. Now that the two branches of the labor movement are being reunited, and the Auto Workers want to make that reunion the signal for a new drive to organize the unorganized.

BRITISH-BORN GROW FEWER

We have read much about postwar immigration and the way in which this influx of new citizens is helping Canada to expand industrially.

The number of immigrants has been large. Yet, in Ontario, it has not kept pace with the natural increase of the population of the movements to this province of natives of other Canadian provinces.

A "Directory and Guide to Services of the Ontario Government," published by the division of publicity of the Department of Travel and Publicity, provides the figures on which this statement is based.

Canadian-born residents of Ontario increased by 693,204 between 1941 and 1951. In 1951 they constituted 81.51 per cent of the province's population, compared to 80.64 per cent in 1941.

Ontario residents born in countries on the European continent numbered 323,289 in 1951, an increase of 120,451 over the 1941 figure of 202,838.

But the number of persons born in British countries other than Canada actually declined during the decade. In 1951 Ontario had only 441,738 of these persons, a decrease of 7,407 from the 1941 figure of 449,145, a decline of 1.65 per cent. Immigration had not been sufficient to offset the losses by death or departure for other areas.

There is food for thought here when we are considering Canada's immigration policy.

SON-IN-LAW

After the wedding I gained a son.
A fact they told and a fact I knew.
But now when there's something that must be done
I've found I had gained a mechanic, too.

That son-in-law is a helpful chap;
A willing worker I much admire.
He can mend a clock and repair a tap,
Start a motor and change a tire.

He knows how to put up a pantry shelf.
He's a handy lad with a power drill.
And the things I cannot do for myself
I've a son-in-law who can and will.

Bicycle riders here years ago, most of whom were members of the local Wheelmen's Club, were real classy in their special outfit of knee pants, sport coats, cycle shoes and peaked caps. Here is an item in this connection from our files one year at this time in 1895: "The Oak Hall has received a large shipment of bicycle pants. Wheelmen should inspect these attractive and comfortable articles of apparel".

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Most of us carry, like talismans suspended in the secret and precious back rooms of our minds, one or two or three memories of something which, in an instant, can be seen again, as clearly and poignantly as ever. They are fadeless. Wild scenes supply an immense number of us with these memories. Sunsets, storms on water, a flight of wild geese, a first glimpse of a landscape, an aurora. We do not have to be native lovers or even particularly attracted to the natural world to have these etchings imprinted on our memories, in an instant and in fact forever. Two of mine I shall recur endlessly, without being summoned, may spring into my mind while I am standing or walking in a crowded street. The first video is that of a grey, lifeless November day, near sundown. I was deer hunting, and came out on a high bald rock in the Cloche Mountains. No wind was blowing. The landscape before me was lifeless and still. Below me was a wide gulley in which a pewpipy creek ran. As I stood watching, there appeared far down the gulley a wispy, silvery flight of small birds. It was the advance guard of an immense flock of snow buntings. They did not pass in a solid flock but in a silent, undulant stream, uttering no sound whatever, below me, so that I could look down on their white and buff coloring, a ghostly, perhaps weary procession of hundreds upon hundreds of them, lilting, dipping, rising, dreamlike, magical. It was like having seen symphonies.

The other talisman was my first sight of a Snowy Owl. I had hunted for twenty years for this orchid, all my sporting companions and most of my friends and family had seen them. But though one of those complexities that beset those who love the outdoors, I just could not find one.

Then one spring day, I was searching for an oven bird's nest. I had tracked the singing bird down. I knew the nest was within a limited area. I was down on my hands and knees intently scrutinising every foot of the ground. And there, under the beeches, two feet from my eyes, was a Snowy Orchis in full and fabulous bloom. It was the least showy of all flowers. It was like a tiny sun, white and mauve, shrinking, chalkwet. It will live there, in that place, in that instant, as long as I live.

Early Morning At the Office

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

In the philosophically minded, there are few times or scenes which better reveal the infinite variety of human nature than an early morning in the office. The elapsed time-space between the home and the office is normally so short that a man's co-workers have almost no chance to reveal a view of his nature as his his wife; and early-rising children are not yet sufficiently accurate index to character.

There is the lean and hungry individual who is always special and variably sleeps badly and arrives at the office in a state of nervous energy to harass his wide-awake brethren.

There is the unbearably hearty type who is boisterous over a breakfast table and has no idea of early morning office etiquette is to sprawl across a neighboring desk, and there is the person who paints face and relate some choice anecdote of replies to the jokes and the revelries of the previous evening.

And there is the largest class of all, which consists of those who never look their friends in the eyes properly opened by the time they arrive at the office, and to whom speech is a painful effort alike repugnant until a due and proper process of adjustment has been observed.

And finally, there are those perennial members of the staff, the feminine components of the staff, who arrive looking as neat as well-groomed and as charming as if they had limited themselves to a single, cordial bandbox, and who by that very fact convey a perpetual reproach to the mere male—a reproach, however, which they are far too tactful ever to voice.

'Up and Atom' New Pub Name

(Winnipeg Free Press)

It is with a slight pang one reads that the name of a public inns are going modern. And yet this development is more than is to be expected.

For centuries the creaking sign outside the old inns have mercifully reflected many facts of English life and history. Such names as "Lord Nelson", t h e "Shakespeare", the "Red Lion" and hearings of ground landlords in the many "Red Lions", "Bulls", "Red Feathers", "Blue Posts" and "Green Dragons" serve to sparks of a bygone era in the Bull and Bear", the Dog and Bad-ger", and "Fighting Cocks".

So it is only appropriate that today's inns should reflect the world in which, after all, is tomorrow's world. And so we have the "Atom" which commemorates the conquest of the world's highest peak in 1953; a Flying Machine" and, even more portage from above the rapids conceived the idea of a canal. Urging it on his company they organized the St. Mary's Ship Canal company and entered a successful bid for construction.

Not even an engineer, the 34 year old salesman Charles T. Harvey was put in charge of the job with 24 months to do it. In the face of many difficulties including supplies, tools, and even strikes, he had it done two months ahead of schedule. The new canal had two locks each 300 feet long.

To such an extent has traffic grown that today it would take a freight train of one hundred 50-ton cars moving out every 23 minutes through the year to handle the tonnage that moves through the five locks, including the Canadian Soo and canal was completed at a cost around $5,000,000 was opened in 1855.

The original locks on the American side have been replaced twice, and substantially enlarged. The original was the Weitzel which, after being enlarged once, was superseded by the big new locks to the north, was replaced by MacArthur lock during the last war.

The water taken by the canals and the power developed there has left the once big rapids a comparatively small stream. The earth and rock, removed during the construction and deposited in the rapids, has created a new island to which one quarter natural width.

Because of the vital importance that it has assumed in the country's security elaborate military precautions have been taken for their protection. During the second war, also, extra railway lines were built to bring the precious iron ore from Minnesota in case of emergency.

There has been some talk of an additional lock on the Canadian side to meet the present traffic, but not pressing in view of the fact that the locks are free for use any of the locks. Several Canadian ships are forced to use the larger American locks because the Canadian lock, although 800 feet long is only 60 feet wide.

Real Problem Recognized

(Montreal Gazette)

There is one hopeful thing about the railway problem, the public is beginning to realize more and more about it it. The idea of expecting a modern railway system to transport a high proportion of its freight at prices set in the days of Queen Victoria is coming to be recognized as the most remarkable economic anomaly in 20th century life.

In submitting the 74th annual report of the Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday, Mr. W.A. Mather, president of the railway, commented on the "gradual growth of the serious inadequacy of railway freight rates." Mr. Mather is not the man to exaggerate his difficulties, but he is that expresses have been incurred by increased labor revenues. This, quite obviously is not the trend that can continue indefinitely.

And this increase of expenses, in connection with maintenance, is the more noteworthy because so great an amount has been held for held expenses down. As yesterday's CPR report shows, all but the most pressing maintenance work has been eliminated. Expenses have been cheeked in other directions, but the fuel economies resulting from the increased use of diesel power. The railway has spent more on the use of time and rolling stock. Freight rates in 1954 were only 5 per cent higher than in 1948, the year before diesel units were used in real numbers, but gross tons miles (the carrying of one ton one mile) were 20 per cent higher per freight train hour than in 1948.

Despite all such economies, expenses are rising disproportionately rapidly than revenues. And there is likely to be little change, so long as the railways are required by law to carry the burden of uneconomic rates.

As Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan said in November he gives the judgment as arbitrator, the railways "are, by reason of the shackling effect of a national policy, in much the same position as a man facing formidable and powerful antagonists with one hand tied behind his back."

more up-to-date—an inn which honors the father of jet aircraft. Sir Frank Whittle is "The Jet and Whittle".

Progress being what it is, it is, no doubt, now only a matter of time before we have the "Up and Atom", "Jet and Whittle" or appropriate enough name for a pub, the "Uranium", the "Proton" or "Diesel" and others equally representative of the age in which we live.

ARTHRITIS OF THE JOINTS

Remember the fellow who slips in between the Lone Ranger and Groucho, puts on a barber coat, spectacles and stethoscope and tells the lady how the medicine wakes up her liver bile? In my supplious way I thought he was a phony, but the other day I heard from his cousin, who has arthritis of the joints and that reminded me of a neighbor of ours on Chapel Street in Canadaigua who used to come down with pneumonia on the lungs.

Dr. Brady

Everyone knows I'm no authority, but just a plodding practitioner turned quack in order to make a decent living. It quack, says Webster, is one who professes skill or knowledge in any matter of which he knows, little or nothing. Modestly I profess only as much knowledge on the subject of joint disability as is in the medical profession, having had more time to study the subject than most real doctors have.

There was a bowling alley right around the corner from medical school and it is possible that I cut class the day Prof. Pohlman lectured on the biliary tract. I remember only one variety of bile, but then there's a vague notion that all gall is divided into three parts. So I had better not be too positive about arthritis which doesn't effect the joints. To my mind arthritis means joint inflammation and nothing else.

Recognized medical authorities, from Osler down to the present time, have described various types or kinds of joint disability under such names as rheumatoid arthritis, arthritis deformans, athrophic arthritis, hypertrophic arthritis, osteoarthritis, degenerative arthritis, and many others. And it has proved impossible to determine whether these authors are talking about the same thing. When one has studied them all, one with a one-track mind cannot help believing how they get away with it.

A bulletin issued by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, 23 W. 45th St., New York 36, N. Y., last May said:

"It should now be recognized that treatment with the various drugs available today has not been shown to alter the natural course of the disease in a significant manner."

The bulletin pointed out that the best results are being obtained with essential vitamins and minerals—200 were substantially improved and 113 were restored to self-sufficiency and active social and economic life.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

"And God said, Let there be light: and there was light."

Thus did the mind of God sound out "in the beginning," when God created the heavens and the earth. Then was the earth "without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep." But what was that darkness compared with the darkness of men's souls when they put the Son of God to death on the cross? What is all void compared with the confusion of men's minds that they could put upon the Holy One of God and see in him nothing but evil?

The first great "Let there be light," brought the earth and its creatures into being, but on that first Good Friday, darkness set upon the hand of God reached down into the grave of Jesus of Nazareth and of Him rise from the dead, a light burst forth on that occasion, a light organized world locked up and took hope.

Then did men know that righteousness had been vindicated, that evil had been overwhelmed, that the power of death had been broken.

"To be in Christ is the secret of our victory."

To be for Christ is the meaning of our activity.

To be with Christ is the hope of our glory."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GOOD TALK

Dr. Samuel Johnson was famous for his ability to select an interesting group of friends who always seemed to have something to say. After one of these evenings, he wrote to his guest and exclaimed: "Well, didn't we have Good Talk!"

Man is the only animal who expresses himself in the spoken word. I have looked upon it as the most intelligent dog and sensed his great desire to enter into conversation. But words, like his master, Whenever any group gets together there is bound to be good talk from some one. The ones who imagine that they do not express themselves as they would like often remain silent but, if they only knew it, they may have had words to express what might be the best of the group!

One of the most interesting talkers I have ever known was the late Robert H. (Bob) Davis. He was the most travelled men of his time. He went everywhere, had an observant nature and a ready ear for everything. And he had a flow of words that was as fantastic as listening to an orchestra.

More many a friend has telephoned to another friend and asked him to call—just to have one of those talks that drive away loneliness, and often temporary despondency. He thinks of the of the encouraging words we utter to others—perhaps at a time when we needed. The reason why we have been endowed with the ability to talk is that we might help to uplift others.

Gates and front doors easily swing welcome to those who have cheerful words to utter and an absolute barrier to interruption be to dispense. The more you read, travel and meet others, the smoother and more to be good talk from some one. The ones who imagine that they do not express themselves as they would like often remain silent but, if they only knew it, they may have had words to express what might be the best of the group!

Vehement Controversy Swirls Around Way Roosevelt Used Authority and Results Obtained

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten years ago a massive cerebral hemorrhage brought to a sudden, stunning close on April 12, 1945, the unprecedented 12-year presidential term of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Seldom in history has the death of one individual struck the United States with such emotional impact.

President Roosevelt's brimming confidence had lifted up a whole nation in the dreary days of apple selling, soup kitchens and economic collapse. It had helped lift up freemen — "the massed, angered forces of common humanity," he called them — in the grim war against axis aggression.

Never before had the United States given a president such enormous power. Roosevelt used that power through the world's most corrosive depression and its most devastating war.

CONTROVERSY GOES ON

Now, a decade later, vehement controversy still swirls around the way he used his authority and the results he got.

The stir which followed the recent release of the late FDR papers points up one fact: It may be more decades before history can put Roosevelt in proper perspective.

Millions still idolize his memory and nearly everything he did or stood for. Others still hate him, believe his four elections to the White House undermined the constitution.

Many deeds of his administration have become an indelible part of American life. Social security, for example, and bank deposit and housing loan insurance, and administration of securities.

But the Roosevelt regime also left a tremendous national debt. And in spite of billions spent on pump priming, it fell far short of its goals of full employment and production in peacetime.

At the instant of Roosevelt's death, much of the controversy over his acts subsided for the moment.

SWEPT BY GRIEF

On that day in 1945, when word flashed out that Roosevelt was dead, numbness dulled and then consuming grief swept across the United States and beyond. Thousands of people stood hushed and tearful through the night as his funeral train wound northward toward Washington. Radio networks put aside commercials and poured out hymns, memorials and news. Sports events were cancelled. Entertainment spots shut down.

Even political opponents lamented his passing.

The late Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio called Roosevelt "The greatest figure of our time." Many echoed Australia's prime minister Curtin in describing him as "one of the greatest men of all time."

The president was buried on a brilliant, burgeoning spring morning in the hemlock-bordered rose garden of the Hyde Park, N.Y., estate where he was born and lived for 63 years. That was the spot he loved above all others.

He was a warm and magnetic man. Women wept, shrieked, wrung their hands at the sight of him. People were injured and even killed in crowds surging and shoving to get near him.

Yet Roosevelt could be bitter or even vindictive.

In his famous first 100 days that rewrote the economic laws, FDR held the hoop and congress jumped through. Later, conservative Democrats and isolationists of both parties began to drift away from him.

He set and shattered precedents on a grand scale.

He was the first U.S. president to fly, to leave the country in wartime, to report to the people by radio, to place a woman in the cabinet, to write directly to the emperor of Japan — and because nobody ever had done it before.

And he was the first president, and the last because of a change in the constitution, to run for and win a third and then a fourth.

He was a man who could roar at jokes on himself and delighted in pulling them on others.

The Roosevelt humor and wit found their way into many presidential speeches. Along with them went magnificent, moving phrases. FDR could open up a sweeping vista in a minimum of words: "I see one third of a nation ill-housed, ill-clad, ill-nourished."

Perhaps with the passing of another decade, or many more, it may be possible for persons with an unbiased, detached point of view to determine with some certainty whether the Roosevelt record, on balance, was one of blunders or blessings.

Five Fishermen Row to Safety After 39 Hours

LIVERPOOL, N.S. (CP) — Five hardy fishermen rowed to safety last night after 39 hours without food and water in an open dory in the Atlantic along the south shore of Nova Scotia.

Four of the men, crew members of the sunken fishing boat, Irma and Rog II, walked 1½ miles to a farmhouse. All were suffering from exposure and frostbite.

The fifth, too weak to walk and too heavy for his companions to carry, lay temporarily blinded on the beach until he was rescued by the RCMP who made their way to the rocky shore with a horse and wagon.

Captain Robey Hatfield, Second World War navy veteran, said in an interview that his 50-foot craft sank beneath him Friday a few hours after his crew had launched a dory.

They had no time to stock the small boat with provisions and one man bailed while four rowed. Grant Low, 48, was blinded by shock and salt water Saturday. Hospital authorities here said Sunday night his sight had returned and he "seemed all right."

A search for the missing vessel on the Canadian Atlantic coast was launched Saturday after she was reported 24 hours overdue. An RCAF Lancaster, two fishing boats and a fisheries department vessel were in the hunt Sunday.

Captain Hatfield said in an interview that he saw planes twice Saturday but was unable to attract their attention. He said an oil tanker passed the dory, but crew members apparently did not hear the cries of his men.

One of the first to arrive at the Ste. Catherines river farmhouse, where the men sought help, was Mrs. Hatfield. Earlier in the day she had given up hope for the safety of her 47-year-old husband who was mentioned in dispatches for his own rescue work during the Second World War.

Bandung Parley May Provide Key To China's Plans

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The big African-Asian conference opening at Bandung, Indonesia, a week from today may be a big factor in Communist China's decision whether to attack in the Formosa area this spring or, in fact, at any time.

In any event, high United States officials have decided that the Chinese Reds are not likely to move on the Matsu or Quemoy islands before or during the conference.

It was disclosed authoritatively Sunday that President Eisenhower has directed American forces to stand clear of any initial attack on the coastal islands until he personally can determine the nature and intent of the assault.

WOULD LOOK TO CHIANG

That means no action by U. S. forces prior to orders from Washington, which is evidence of a desire to avoid any trigger-happy reaction under the pressures of a sudden crisis.

Persons familiar with the Washington administration's Far Eastern policies say Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists will be expected to bear the initial thrust of any attack that may develop. American forces are said to have been told to stand in readiness but not to join in the hostilities unless deliberately attacked.

Army Secretary Robert Stevens, returning Sunday from an inspection trip to the Far East, said he doesn't believe the Reds have any immediate plans for an offensive in the Formosa strait. If there is an attack, he thinks Chiang's forces could "give very good account of themselves."

POSSIBLE RESULTS

The Chinese Communists will be one of the major participants in the Bandung talks. What happens to them there may have either of two results as authorities here analyze the situation:

1. If the Communists find that their demands for possession of Formosa and the off-shore island groups are generally supported as right, then they will be encouraged to use force in realizing those claims. The danger of war in the Formosa strait would flame high the next week, or soon thereafter.

2. If the Chinese Reds find that their threats of force costs them goodwill of the African and Asian countries and subjects them to censure, then they may be persuaded to stay their hand. Slender hopes for a negotiated settlement would be substantially enlarged.

Proper Family, Proper Schools Produced Eden, Proper P.M.

Editor's note: Following is the first of two stories on the personality of Britain's new prime minister.

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP) — When young Anthony Eden first stepped out on the political stage soon after the First World War, he impressed his associates by being such a contrast to his father.

Sir William Eden, seventh baronet of West Auckland, country gentleman, artist, amateur boxer, ardent hunter and gardener, is remembered as a red-bearded man who could be magnificently angry. It is said that son Anthony tried deliberately—and with success—to suppress the family temper in public.

Eden was born June 12, 1897. His mother, Lady Sybil Eden, called him "the quiet one" of her sons. Anthony was reared in the solid and secure England of the century's early years, surrounded by the amenities of fine living—a stately home with a park, pictures, bespoke tailor and sheraton furniture and cultured society.

ATTENDED OXFORD

Anthony went first to Sandroyd school. Then he went to Eton, and after war service completed his education at Christ Church, Oxford. The emphasis was on Oriental languages.

Eden fought in Flanders like most Englishmen of his age. There was no easy command for Capt. Eden—he went over the top on dark nights. Once on the Somme, under star shells and machine-gun fire, he dragged back a sergeant whose thigh bone had been shattered.

He considered a military career. There were many soldiers in the family as well as bishops, diplomats and members of Parliament. But politics was the greater attraction.

He started with a reverse, defeated in 1922 in his native County Durham. The next year he was returned to the Commons from Warwick and Leamington, the constituency he has represented since.

He was married during the 1923 election campaign to Beatrice Beckett, attractive daughter of banker Sir Gervase Beckett, who was also a director of The Yorkshire Post.

The bride helped Eden in that early political campaign. But her interest flagged quickly and the Eden home soon was temperamentally divided—she preferring a bright social life, while he found in the ministries of Westminster the environment his nature craved.

They had two children—in 1924 Simon, who was killed in an air mission in Burma, and in 1930 Nicholas, who in 1952 went to Ottawa as aide-de-camp to the governor-general and now is employed in a London bank.

Eden obtained a friendly divorce in 1950 on grounds of desertion. Mrs. Eden having gone to the United States to live. There was some concern that the divorce might jeopardize Eden's political career. But it aroused surprisingly little disputation. Two years later Eden married Churchill's 23-year-old niece, Clarissa Churchill.

From 1926 to 1929, Eden was Austen Chamberlain, then foreign secretary. In 1931, he was appointed under-secretary of state for foreign affairs. He became lord privy seal in 1934, and minister for League of Nations affairs in 1935.

In December of 1935, on the resignation of Sir Samuel Hoare, he became foreign secretary at the age of 38.

RESERVED WARMTH

Eden radiates a reserved warmth, as befits a well-bred aristocratic background. He is slim and tall. His face is robustly classic. The Eden mustache, once quite a bush, is like a properly cropped English hedge.

His hair is longish and brushed back to its proper place. It is becoming greyer, and it waves a little.

The lines of his face are becoming more pronounced and there is a suggestion of a fold under the chin. Cartoonists have noticed the two prominent upper front teeth.

His clothes are just about what the world has been saying—correct to the last pin stripe. The homburg hat has become a symbol not only of Anthony Eden but, in a way, of British foreign policy. Mussolini didn't like it, and Eden's own explanation of why he adopted it is that the conventional derby made him "look such a fool."

Eden has a feel for clothes. Yet, say his close associates, he pays comparatively little attention to what he wears. Speculations as to his appearance make Eden fret. He winces every time he gets on to another best-dressed-men list. Three times foreign secretary, the man who scolded Mussolini and helped write the United Nations charter does not fancy being regarded a clothes horse.

Weddings

MILLIGAN — ROSE

Easter lilies, spring flowers, and palms interspersed with ferns formed a lovely setting in Knox United Church, Embro, Ontario, for the marriage of Eleanor Mae Rose of Embro, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Innes Featherston Rose, to Bruce Charles Milligan, of London, Ontario, son of Mrs. George Milligan, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Milligan, on Friday, April 1st, at 2.30 p.m. The Reverend W. J. Maines officiated, in the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Grant McKay, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Carol Hussey.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of white Panglaze taffeta fashioned on Princess lines with circular skirt in waltz length, with fitted bodice having long, pointed sleeves and portrait neckline edged with tulle. She wore an elbow-length veil of tulle illusion, and carried a white Bible crested with pink Delight roses.

Mrs. Alex. McBurney, of London, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore an aqua limelight taffeta, with full, ballet-length skirt, and bodice featuring an Empire waist and "V" neckline. The fitted sleeves were in three-quarter length style. She wore a matching shirred headdress, matching shoes and carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses.

Mr. John Milligan, of Ottawa, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Mr. Alex. McBurney, of London, and Mr. Spencer Lloyd, of Belleville, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother received, attired in navy crepe, with navy shoes and bag, pink hat and gloves, and corsage of Butterfly roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore azure blue crepe with white accessories, and corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

For the wedding trip to Ottawa and Montreal, Mrs. the bride chose a three-piece ensemble in light blue, with navy accessories, pink hat and gloves, and corsage of pink Delight roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Milligan will reside in London, Ontario.

Women's Activities

MELROSE W.M.S.

The Easter meeting of the Melrose Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth McMechan last week with an attendance of fourteen ladies and three children.

Mrs. Morgan, president, conducted the worship service, the theme being "Christ, the Hope of the World."

Mrs. Morgan, assisted by Mrs. E. Cappell, conducted the program, which was based on actual quotations from the World Council reports. "God summons the church of Jesus Christ today to speak plainly about hope. The good news of hope is the gift of God Himself."

Mrs. R. MacFarlane, citizenship secretary, gave a reading, "We Believe and Therefore Speak."

The temperance secretary, Mrs. McLaughlin, also gave a reading, "A Heavy Drinker." Miss Baillie led in prayer for the missionary, Miss Helen Houston, Indore.

Miss Beatrice MacFarlane read a letter from Rev. V. T. Mooney, treasurer of the United Church of Canada, thanking the society for bales of clothing sent for Korean relief and money to cover shipping charges.

It was decided the society would hold an open meeting in the church early in June when an invitation would be extended to neighboring societies to attend.

The treasurer, Miss McLaren, gave her report. Easter offering was $19.75.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Milligan.

Mrs. E. Embury conducted the Easter program in which Mrs. Newton Demille read a poem; Mrs. Embury gave a reading, followed by a reading by Mrs. R. MacFarlane. Mrs. Jas. Milligan gave a reading on the Easter message.

The hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Morgan graciously thanked the hostess for her hospitality.

W. M. S.

The Centre, Victoria and Redcrest Missionary meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Vanclief on Thursday, with eleven members and one visitor present.

The president, Mrs. T. F. Townsend, opened the meeting with a worship period. Theme for the month, "Christ, the Hope of the World."

Mrs. Ralph Stafford read a poem.

The program, with Mrs. Ray Giles as leader, assisted by Mrs. Melvin Pulver, and Mrs. Herb. Pulver, was given from statements taken from "World Council of Churches" meeting last summer. Theme: "Christ the Hope of the World." Meditation and prayer responses were read, giving a hope for peace. One should have joy in her heart this Easter time in the hope that is hers through death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Business was conducted. Plans were made for the Easter service on Sunday, place of meeting for May to be Mrs. Leon Ward's.

Mrs. Townsend offered a prayer for the missionary, Miss Newbert, in India.

Mrs. Frank Townsend, delegate to Presbyterial in Picton, gave her report on afternoon session. It was opened by Bridge Street W.M.S. Topic, "Christ Is You, the Hope of Glory," taken by Mrs. C. Hyde.

Miss McKeen took charge of younger groups, assisted by secretaries of Mission Band, Mission Circles and Baby Bands.

Dr. Winnifred Bryce, a missionary of India, spoke on "Christ the Hope of the World for India," telling of what Christianity has accomplished for the women of their land, who now hold offices, even to being in parliament. There were now three important changes, "Ban of Women," "Untouchables," "Religious Liberty," as now India sends out many of her own missionaries.

She spoke of the terrible poverty, but Christian leaders in agricultural lines and education are helping improve these conditions.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend read a paper, "The Perfect Presbyterial," which was enjoyed.

Collection $3.13. Mrs. Townsend closed the meeting, and refreshments were then served.

Wrens Will Be Built Into Training Corps

VANCOUVER (CP) — A nucleus of Wrens will be built up to form a hard-knit training corps in the event of an emergency, Canada's top naval woman said during her recent visit here.

Cmdr. Isabel Janet Macbeth of Ottawa, chief of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, was referring to recent establishment of the branch on a permanent basis.

"The nucleus will be capable of training wrens and taking responsible positions in the naval set-up. There will be only 385 wrens and 85 officers in the permanent force."

"We will accept applications now from wrens in the reserve," said Cmdr. Macneill, "and expect a few vacancies to appear for people from the shores."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ARE MODERN BOYS DIFFERENT FROM THOSE OF YESTERDAY!

"Cried you explain why boys of this generation act the way they do?", asks a girl in her very late teens. "Or have they been the way they are forever?"

What this 19-year-old has in mind is what she has experienced when she goes out on dates. Young men today, she declares, are senseless love-making as a routine part of dating, and especially of "going steady."

She goes on to assure me that it is not her experience alone which has brought her to the rather bitter state of mind in which she finds herself, but that, comparing notes with her friends, she learns that practically all of them feel just the same way. They say that if they refuse to cooperate in the matter of the date program, they end up sitting home night after night with each of their escorts for company.

This girl goes on to explain that, after "going steady" for a few months with a young man three years older than herself, he asked her to have an affair with him. This made her very angry, and she told him if that was the kind of fellow he was, she didn't want to see him again.

Well, he obviously was that kind of fellow, for he agreed that they had better break up.

She also cites the experience of her best friend, who asserts that she "just can't stay a boy friend," because as soon as a boy finds out that is what he has with what he wants, he drops me for someone who isn't so prudish."

All this has made my young friend of the letter feel rather desperate about her chance of getting the sort of husband she wants.

"Do you think," she asks, "that a girl is right these days in trying to follow the old-fashioned ideas her parents taught her, and is a girl ever likely to find a man who will love and marry her if she insists on keeping her self-respect?"

Apparently this girl, and doubtless all the friends who have the same complaint, feel that self-respect and self-control, high standards and ideals, are things that are in and out of style, and that today we live in an era in which such qualities must be considered "old-fashioned." They are not yet old enough, either by years or by experience, to have learned to tell the difference between the superficialities of life, which are short-lived, and the fundamentals which are always the same.

Yet, even though they do seem to feel that the ideals and principles instilled in them by their parents must be out of date, both these girls, you will notice, prefer to stick by them rather than give them up. However confused they may be, and however difficult they might find it to explain, they obviously feel that these "old-fashioned ideas" are sounder guides for conduct than any modern ways they have observed.

So, let me assure them that they are absolutely right when they take the way of self-control and self-respect rather than that of self-indulgence. As they grow older, they will discover that there are a great many reason why this is so.

And lest they think that all this sounds like just so much preaching, let me tell them, also, that one of these many reasons—and perhaps the most striking one—is something completely selfish. It is simply this: That the person who acts with self-control and self-respect almost invariably finds, in the end, that it has worked out to his own best interests, while the one who throws away such standards in favor of the impulse of the moment, usually finds that he has sadly defeated his own ends.

In terms of the question my correspondent asked, about whether or not a girl will ever find a man to love and marry her if she insists on holding to her standards, what I have just said simply means that she is far less likely than otherwise to find such a man if she does not stick to them. For the vast majority of young men who persuade a girl to discard her standards are bent, not on marriage, but on momentary pleasure.

TRY THIS PLAN; IT MAY HELP

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have a brother who is 17 and always gives me in an unfriendly way. When he and I get into an argument, my mother just sticks up for him and always tells me it's my fault. I admit that sometimes it is, but most of the times it's his fault.

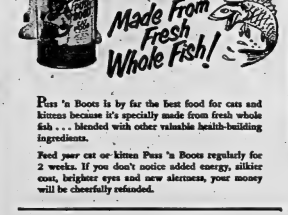
I don't mind very much if someone teases me in a friendly way, but my brother is always so mean. Whenever I speak a few as I am stubborn that he won't eat it, even though he finds me his favorites.

Could you tell me if there is anything I could do to make my brother stop acting as he does in such a way way I could improve in my own actions, I would like to know that, too. — C.B.C.

Dear C.B.C.:

You don't tell me how old you are, but I assume that you are a younger sister and your brother feels superior because he is older, and so tries to keep you in what he thinks is your place.

Why don't you try the experiment—now, for a week, perhaps—of never allowing yourself to get angry at anything he says or does, but always answering in his pleasantly? When he makes a mean remark, pretend that you don't realize he means to be disagreeable, and answer just as though he had spoken nicely. If it's a joke, crack, and doesn't call for any answer, then start nodding, and don't even look mad. Make a big effort, and don't let him get you into an argument of any kind.



It's pretty hard for anyone to keep on being nasty to a person who doesn't snap back but who keeps calm and pleasant. It does, of course, take a bit of self-control to do this, but if you can control yourself to that extent, the chances are practically certain to see a change in your brother's attitude.

You don't tell me that you want to make a quarrel," so that if you refuse to quarrel, there can't be any. Never mind who's right or who's wrong in any difference that comes up. Stick to the experiment and see if it doesn't help. I think it will.

And let me know, won't you, if it does?

Beauty

WHAT MAKES THE WELL-DRESSED WOMAN?

Perhaps you fancy that the words "fashion" and "style" are synonymous. They aren't. Styles in fashions are worn. A frumpy woman can wear the smartest model ever put together with needle and thread, yet she will not have style.

It is the woman who has a pleasing figure and who wears her clothes beautifully who is the epitome of all eyes. When you see her, you take a second look. She is a joy to behold. Besides her, the merely pretty girl does a fade-out. When a woman sees lovely mansequins modeling frocks at a fashion show she is likely to be filled with envy. If she owns a bonny of a dress and slips it on, she may wonder what has happened. It doesn't look the same on her, appears to have lost line and chic. The reason is obvious. She doesn't put life and character into the dress as does the mannequin. Mannequins just stands, lets her body, poses her arms and hands. Tricky, eh? Shouldn't be. It's because—if she puts her mind on it—can develop splendor of posture, grace of movement.

"Every woman has two bodies," writes Dorothy Yo in her interesting book, "New bodies for Old"—a book that every woman should have. "She has a static body and a moving one. They are quite separate and distinct in their good and bad qualities. Many women are beautiful until they start to move; then the body, instead of a reward, acquires the effect of ugliness.

So far away from your full length mirror. Walk toward it slowly, watching yourself at every step. As you do so prepare yourself to answer these questions:

"Do you walk with your head thrust forward?

"Does your chin lead your body?

"Do you swing too far from side to side as you walk?

"Does your chest slump in, and do your shoulders sag over it? These faults have a bearing upon your appearance and should be corrected."

Hollandaise Sauce Adds Glamor to Vegetables.

By Mary Moore

Hollandaise sauce is a tricky little mix to make even for the most experienced of cooks. Sometimes it curdles in spite of careful obedience to the rules.

The reason Hollandaise is on my mind is because it is such an elegant sauce and I feel all of the current vegetables demand , our best efforts during April until our asparagus and promise of all the lovely new ones.

What Hollandaise does for broccoli every good cook should know, and as for spinach it wins everybody over to it.

But how to overcome its difficulties? Would I be talking about it at all if I didn't have a remedy up my sleeve? No Ma'ams.

Last month I wanted Marianne to make Hollandaise for some broccoli, which she did, the while I hovered over her. She enjoyed it wanted a "foolproof" recipe to use when she was away from the parental roof and cooking for Herbie on her own. I racked the old brain real hard and the one I devised made me pretty happy for it turned out better than even optimistic me expected.

HOLLANDAISE FOR NOVICES

The rule in making Hollandaise is to use 1 large egg yolk to each ¼ cup butter—just remember that ratio in the event you are ever on a desert island without a cookbook and have to work your way to a cannibal's heart through his stomach before he gobbles you up into his.

Bring 2 cups water to the boil in bottom of double boiler. Remove from heat and place upper part over it. Have measured ¼ cup butter and put one-third of it in the top, add 2 slightly beaten large egg yolks and beat with rotary beater until butter is melted. Add second one-third of butter and beat until melted. Do likewise with third piece and continue beating until sauce thickens—you may have to add a little boiling water in the bottom of the double boiler to heat it up to make the egg yolks hot enough to cook—but never boil the water. Remove upper part of double boiler from hot water. Into ¼ cup cold water stir 2½ tablespoons arrowroot. Dip this at the drug store and keep on hand to make the glaze on fresh strawberry and cherry tarts too), and stir over boiling water until thick and clear. Add 1 tablespoons lemon juice to this arrowroot paste and stir until smooth. Let this cool to warm. When both it and Hollandaise are the same warm temperature, combine them. Add salt and if desired a little cayenne,—about ⅛ teaspoon salt is right. If you would like to store this keep it in covered jar and refrigerate. Bring water in bottom of bowl in hot, but not boiling water. It is worth all of the trouble. Use on fish, cutlets, and for Eggs Benedict too.

Dear Mary: . . . could you supply me with a sour cream fudge that is pure white, similar to divinity fudge . . . Mrs. John A.

Answer: I have only 1 recipe for

SOUR CREAM FUDGE

Mix together in heavy saucepan 2 cups granulated sugar and 2/3 cup rich sour cream. Stir and heat to boiling, remove cover and boil without stirring to exactly 234 deg. Fahr. (very soft ball) Remove from heat and pour onto platter slightly moistened with boiling brisket with damp cloth. Leave undisturbed until cool. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt and with a spatula work until thick, cool creamy and smooth. Then knead with hands for a minute or so. Roll out to ¾ or ½ inch thickness and cut into squares.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

MOTHER SHOULD HAVE HONOR OF MAKING ANNOUNCEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to give a dinner party for my daughter. My husband and I have been divorced for some time, and of course he will not be at the dinner. Would it be proper for my daughter's uncle to announce the engagement? My daughter has always lived with me, — D.B.

Since your daughter has always lived with you, I would wish that you yourself would at the dinner make the announcement of the engagement of your daughter. You have had the loving responsibility of her upbringing, and I think that the honor you should have the privilege and the honor of making this important announcement. You might rise and give a simple toast: for example, "Please join me in drinking to best of all significant occasion . . . to my Margaret and to her Alan. And to their happiness, always!" Or: "I propose we drink a toast to the happiest of days for Margaret and her Alan." Or if you prefer not to propose a toast, simply say: "Margaret and Alan may stand together to receive the guests as they arrive: you, the bride to, and you, my daughter next to you, then her fiance. Then you might make the announcement, you say, "Here is Margaret . . . and her fiance, Alan Leigh."

TWO SIDES TO EVERY QUESTION . . . A TO THIS ONE TOO

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I'm 77 years of age. I have three daughters and several grandchildren. Two years ago I attended the church wedding and the large reception of a grandson (my oldest daughter's son). He insisted I stand in the receiving-line as I was the only grandmother on either side. Between that moment and now I never was married (either side of another of my daughters). Just naturally I stepped into the receiving-line, and my granddaughter, the bride, said very loud, "You don't belong in the line." Everyone heard, and I thought I die. I went and sat down, and a gentleman I didn't know said, "Ah! Sir, I think you need a cup of coffee," and he brought me one. Was my granddaughter right or not, Mrs. Beeckman? I just can't get it off my mind. But my youngest daughter says, "Oh, forget it, Mother. You know how she is." M.

I'd like to join forces with that kind and wise youngest daughter of yours, and implore you to forget this unpleasant happening. I judge from the fact that your youngest daughter said "You know how she is" that this bride isn't exactly famous for her courteous ways. I can understand that at the other wedding, your loving grandson and his bride gave you such happiness in inviting you to be in the receiving-line and you quite naturally wanted to have that happiness repeated. But remember, dear lady, that you were invited to be a member of the receiving-line at the first wedding, and you hadn't been invited to be in the line at this second wedding. And of course no one has the right to take her place in the receiving-line without being invited by someone making the plans. However, your granddaughter should not have been so extremely rude, should not, Heaven forbid, have hurt you as she has. Here's quiet and gentle ways for her to explain, best of all to have asked her mother, your daughter, to explain. I do think, however, that you should get in touch with your granddaughter, (perhaps write her a note) explain to her why you misunderstood, apologize, and ask for her forgiveness. Such courteous straightforwardness lifts the cloud that isn't lifted by brooding over an unhappy occurrence. And this I will leave your mind free to think of the happiness and proud joy you had in being invited to be in the receiving-line at your grandson's wedding. God bless you.

WINNIPEG'S DIKES

Some 17 miles of earthen dikes form Greater Winnipeg's sole defence against future Red River floods. The diking system was planned by the Greater Winnipeg dikes board set up in July, 1950, at a cost of $4,827,000. This 30-foot-wide earthen dike is part of the system set up on each side of the river. The dike is built to a height of 30.3 feet, the 1950 flood level. (CP Photo.)

Winnipeg's Defence Against Floods Only Broken Chain

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — A broken chain of dikes forms Greater Winnipeg's sole defence against future Red river floods.

And Premier D. L. Campbell said in the Manitoba legislature recently that he had to "frankly admit" that the city would have to depend on the 17 miles of earth walls for the next few years.

His statement shocked opposition members.

CCF Leader Lloyd Stinson said: It left him with a "depressed feeling."

Opposition leader Duff Roblin called for federal aid to implement multi-million-dollar projects outlined in the Red river basin investigation report, the work of a three-man committee set up by the federal and provincial governments following the disastrous flood on the Red river in 1950.

FLOOD POSSIBILITY

Mr. Roblin noted the possibility of a flood similar to the one in 1826 — the greatest on record — which he said would drive everyone out of the city. He said that possibility was "like the atom bomb—just too awful to contemplate."

The diking system was planned by the greater Winnipeg diking board set up in July, 1950. Total cost of the project was $4,827,000 of which 75 per cent was paid for by the federal government.

The board's plans called for the construction of 30-feet-wide boulevards on each side of the river. They were kept to a uniform height of 26.5 feet above the average level of the winter ice at Winnipeg.

At this height the dikes, would hold back a flood of the 1948 magnitude, a small disaster compared to the one in 1950 when the water reached a peak of 30.3 feet. However, after the diking board completed its work in 1951, the city proper built up the dikes to a height of the 1950 flood level with the exception of one section in the downtown area and two suburban sections which protect a residential as well as an industrial area.

FURTHER PROTECTION

The dikes are wide enough that, should a repetition of the 1950 flood occur, another earth wall could be erected on top of them on the river side. However, this temporary dike could not exceed a height of four feet. There would be room for a double traffic lane on the land side to permit trucking material for emergency flood construction.

In 1950 much of the flood damage in the city was caused by sewers backing up onto streets and into houses and business premises. To prevent such a recurrence the board constructed 21 pumping stations and gated the 105 sewer outlets into the river. The city has since constructed two more stations and plans an additional two or three.

During high water the sewer gates would be closed and the pumping stations, capable of handling some 940,000 gallons a minute would discharge sewage and rain water over the dikes into the river. Construction of the dikes was not without its complications. Riverfront homeowners protested that the boulevards would destroy their property.

HOMES UNPROTECTED

Right - of - ways selected would leave many homes standing unprotected between the river and the dike. But the board could find no practical engineering solution and 340 homes were left outside the dike. Since 1951 this number has increased considerably as dozens of new homes were erected on the river banks. There is no legislation preventing them from doing so.

"We have done all the diking that can be done," W. D. Hurst, city engineer, said in an interview. "We are satisfied that we have all the protection possible from such a system."

But Mr. Hurst said the city would be helpless if a flood greater than the 1950 one should occur.

Anything greater would be "disastrous" as far as the future of the city is concerned. Potential industries and population would be frightened away," he said.

"Winnipeg would be set back for at least 10 years," said Mr. Hurst.

Garden Notes

Planting for Good Eating

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Vegetables have quite definite preferences as to spacing and depth of planting. Many gardens now their seeds too thick and too deep. A table has been worked out which gives good results on loamy garden soil.

If your soil is heavy clay, plant seeds shallower than usual. If the soil is quite sandy planting is better a quarter to half an inch deeper. In general, seeds should be sown only deep enough to insure that they will have sufficient moist soil to anchor them and keep them supplied with moisture, and that they will not be splashed out by an ordinary rain.

Before preparing the seed bed broadcast complete plant food at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet. Work this in by spading, hoeing and raking until the soil is smooth and free of clods.

MAKING TRENCHES

To make shallow trenches ¼ to ½ inch deep for fine seeds, the handle of the rake, or hoe will work well. For deeper trenches use the corner of the hoe. With a little practice you will get an even depth for the row. Irregular depth or crooking causes an irregular stand of plants. Firm the soil over the roots with the rake, or hoe but do not pack it.

If you have heavy clay soil which packs and cracks or forms a crust which will interfere with the seedling coming through use a mulch.

A band of peat moss, vermiculite, leaf mould, or similar material, a half inch deep and three to four inches wide will prevent crusting or cracking.

Thinning is most important in obtaining high quality vegetables. Beets should be thinned to three inches apart; carrots two, onions three, and radishes one. These distances allow for full development and produce tasty vegetables that you will be proud to carry in for the cook.

Crop:	Depth to cover Seeds
Pole beans	½	4
String beans	½	3
Beets	½	6
Carrots	¼	30
Chard	½	4
Corn	½	3
Lettuce	¼	10
Radishes	½	15
Squash	1	18

STARTER SOLUTIONS

When you transplant do you use a starter solution?

You should, you will get better results if you do. When transplanting seedlings from a flat to pots, or to the cold frame, it is wise to have a gallon or two on hand. The new instant plant foods have different formulas but the basic chemicals are the same. Follow the directions on the package for proper use.

One product suggests one pound of the fertilizer to five gallons of water. Mix throughly and let stand for a few hours. Mix again and keep stirred up. If possible have the solution slightly warm or tepid. A cold shower is invigorating to adult plants, but baby seedlings take more kindly to a warm drink.

Use one cup per plant of this same solution when transplanting cabbages, peppers, tomatoes and broccoli. Transplanted flowers will welcome this lift, too. The phosphorus in the mix is especially valuable in repairing the roots damaged by transplanting. The calcium, magnesium and other elements also assist in giving the plants a good boost.

What's news at Inco?

DUE TO THE CORROSION-RESISTING QUALITIES of nickel and nickel alloys they are widely used for vessels in which pharmaceuticals are prepared. Even small amounts of metallic compounds in a drug can impair its effectiveness.

INCO NICKEL HELPS SAVE LIVES BY PROTECTING THE PURITY OF DRUGS

AN AMERICAN RESEARCH SCIENTIST arrived in Bolivia where a typhus epidemic was raging. He had 200 grams—the total world's supply—of a new and untested drug called Chloromycetin.

There was just enough to treat 22 patients. All were seriously ill—some with signs of certain death.

A death certificate had already been made out for one typhus victim. Forty minutes after receiving Chloromycetin, he asked for a drink of water.

Within a few hours after the drug was administered, many of the 22 showed marked improvement. All recovered! Chloromycetin went into full production.

In the processing of Chloromycetin and other pharmaceuticals, corrosive conditions develop. Nickel or nickel alloys play an important part in protecting the product from contamination by metallic compounds.

Inco research and development teams in cooperation with industry have been in the forefront of the world's metallurgical developments since 1921. The knowledge and experience gained are among Inco's greatest assets. Inco research points the way to Inco's future!

"The Romance of Nickel", a 72-page book, fully illustrated, will be sent free on request. Bulk copies supplied Secondary School teachers.

Red Wings Bound Back Into Old Form With 5-1 Victory Over Canadiens

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

HAPPY EASTER

This part of "Lower Canada" got into the sports spotlight over the Easter week-end. In hockey the Kingston Goodyears, flashing the form that swept them to the group title, took their third straight game from the Orillia Pontiacs to grab a game lead and the chance to wrap up the series tonight in their Community Centre. Don Lee was elected by the Ontario Amateur Softball Association executive while the signal honor was paid to Harry Rollins when he was named honorary president of the association. The "Athlete of the Year" special committee held a session here on Sunday and came up with the decision to hold the presentation to Keith MacDonald in Belleville next Saturday night. The Belleville softball delegation won its "assessment" change which noted that reserve playdowns be played in one centre as a tournament, thus saving heavy travelling expenses for all concerned.

The "Athlete of the Year" committee in special confab, decided unanimously to hold the MacDonald presentation at the Canadian Legion "Parade Ball" in the Bridge Street Armouries on Saturday night next, instead of Picton as formerly suggested. It was felt that since the trophy is a Belleville one, paid for by business men and presented by sportsmen of this city, the presentation should be held here.

Thanks to the Legion committee the presentation will be made by Eric Nesterenko of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club—a special guest of the Legion on Saturday. Eric will present the handsome trophy while Vern Gorry, former and first winner of the pewterware, will present the miniature which becomes MacDonald's permanent possession.

The committee also decided to hold future presentations in this city regardless of the winner. This goes along with committee's constitution. A miniature and miniature will be on display in the window of Paul Mercier's jewelry store, Front St., all this week. The time of the presentation was not decided but this will be announced as soon as the Legion officials are contacted.

BACK TO FORM

Kingston Goodyears reared back for their third straight victory over Orillia Saturday night, defeating the Pontiacs 3-2 in their own ice garage. With Sarnia whipping Dundas 7-3 to grab a 3-1 margin it looks like a "rubber-off" final.

Ken Johnson, Goodies' goalie, again took a starring role as the desperate Pontiac drove hard to pull out a win. The team play the sixth game in Kingston tonight with the Casterton crew favored to take the series. The seventh tussle, if necessary, is slated for Orillia Wednesday night.

CONFAB NOTES

The OASA convention at Peterborough was one of the best, if not the best, in the history of the association. Popular John Brady, Oshawa, "mighty mite" of softball, and very popular in the province, was elected president, and warned all and sundry that while he would do his best, he did not want anybody falling down on the job.

Belleville's Don Lee was elected to the executive for his second straight term. Don has proven very popular with softball men in the province and this department was informed he finished high in the standing. This city and district were well represented and had plenty to say during the sessions. Don was given further honors when he was named to the association's sub-committee.

There was plenty of argument as some 54 amendments were aired for discussion. "Soup" Campbell, Oshawa, and M. E. Fallis, North Bay, verbally battled for upwards of an hour before Chairman Jack Hall. Jacko nearly shattered his gavel and declared both out of order.

One of the highlights as far as Belleville is concerned was the naming of Harry Rollins as honorary president. It was a fine tribute to this city and to one of its veteran softball men, who has done much of his time and effort to the furtherance of the game. It was a well-deserved honor and a fine tribute to one who is and has been associated with clean, whole some recreation since he made this city his home. Congratulations, Harry, it could not have happened to a more deserving fellow.

Gordie Howe Breaks Up Game With Fine Three-Goal Effort; Can Wrap It Up Tuesday

By W. R. Wheatley
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DETROIT (CP) — Gordie Howe, who can break up a hockey game while you're looking for him, slammed in three goals Sunday night and was the dominating figure in Detroit Red Wings' 5-1 spanking of Montreal Canadiens.

The big Detroit Wings, snapping back into form with two Stanley Cup records, again moved in front in the best-of-seven cup final. Leading 3-2 in games, they can capture the trophy for the seventh time since Detroit entered the National Hockey League in 1926 by winning Tuesday in Montreal.

So far this final has been strictly a home-ice affair, Wings won twice at home, then lost two in Montreal. Canadiens were hopeful of carrying the speed and drive from their 5-3 win Saturday on into the Sunday game.

GATHERED STEAM

For half the first period it began to look as though the Montrealers would succeed. Jean Beliveau put the puck behind Terry Sawchuk, moved in front, gathered more power as they went along and let fly the time he was behind their fifth goal early in the final period the Detroit ace had faced.

Vic Stasiuk's goal early in the final period was the conclusion, if one were needed, that Canadiens were well beaten and must regain their form of Saturday night to have hopes of prolonging the series.

By the time the first two periods were over, two playoff records had been broken. Another of sorts — perhaps one was wiped out when Red Kelly of Wings, doing battle with Butch Bouchard, drew a five-minute major and misconduct penalties.

HOWE SETS RECORD

Howe's three goals raised his total to eight in the semi-final against Toronto and the final so far against Montreal. With 11 assists he bring his total points to 19, he holds a playoff record. The previous high on points was made by Toe Blake of Montreal in the 1943-44 playoffs.

Until now, that same series had produced the highest total of penalty minutes—scored by any single line. It was made by Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard. In Sunday night's game the Detroit production line of Howe, Ted Lindsay and Earl (Dutch) Reibel raised their total to 20.

Beliveau's goal at 8:01 of the first period gave the small contingent of Montreal fans among the crowd of 14,284 something to whoop about when the big center drove in a low shot.

Glen Skov evened the count five minutes later when, directly from a faceoff, the puck flew high to-wards the net. Goalie Montreal Sgt. Dollard St. Laurent on the shoulder and bounced on into the net while goalie Jacques Plante made a frantic grab for it.

WINNING GOAL

Six minutes later Howe bagged his first and it proved to be the winning goal. Reibel lifted a shot from Plante's left, Alex Delvecchio knocking the puck down and Howe rifling it into the net.

Canadiens put up a howl about the goal claiming not only that at least two Detroit players were in the crease but that Delvecchio had batted his hand on the puck and dropped it in front of Howe.

Howe just about took personal charge of the second period with two more goals. The first was on the rebound of Delvecchio's shot and the second on a clean breakaway while Canadiens were trying to click on a power play and Red Wings were a man short. Stasiuk's third-period goal was on another rebound, again from Delvecchio's shot.

After the third-period brawl, Bouchard and Kelly, who already had been banged for minors and majors dawdled about going to the penalty box and went after each other again. The misconduct penalties were added and the two went to their dressing rooms with less than eight minutes of the game left.

WITHERING DRIVE

In the Saturday game at Montreal, a solid, slam-bang affair, before 14,284 fans, both teams let loose at full tilt but it was Canadiens' withering drive in the second period that made the difference.

Three unassisted goals were counted in that period by Montreal —believed to be the first time that four unassisted tallies in a single period—and there wasn't a reply from the Red Wings.

The pace was so terrific throughout that 79 shots in all were fired at the goalies—Jacques Plante of Montreal facing 40 and Terry Sawchuk of the Wings 39.

The five Montreal goals fell to as many players—Calum MacKay, Geoffrion, Beliveau, Tom Johnson and Floyd Curry. Earl (Dutch) Reibel, the speedy little centre for Red Wings, counted twice and Jim Hay scored the final goal.

Brundage Not Happy Over Olympic Picture

MELBOURNE (AP)—Obviously disappointed at the progress being made for the 1956 Olympics, Avery Brundage, American president of the International Olympic Committee, said flatly today that it was not too late for the games to be taken from Australia.

"I would like to leave saying I am happy," Brundage told reporters as he prepared to emplane for Canberra after surveying Melbourne's preparations for the past eight days. "But some one has to face facts. I am not quite happy. I know of at least three cities that could take the games over at this late stage.

"It is not too late for the games to be taken from Australia."

NOT HAPPY

Some members of the games organizing committee sat behind Brundage during the hour-long interview, and they looked far from happy.

After the conference, a high official of the committee told The Associated Press: "It's a shame Brundage did not come here 12 months ago. We might get some thing done now."

Brundage, one of the most influential men in the Olympic setup, will make a report to the IOC at a major meeting next month in Paris. His report will be instrumental in determining the course the committee follows.

The Chairman's hotel executive made a hurried trip here a week ago when he heard rumors that all was not going well.

Australians have been most worried over a dispute between carpenters and contractors which halted progress on the building program two weeks ago.

Dutchmen Favored For Eastern Title Take Three In Row From Moncton

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, with three more wins in three tries, are favored to sweep the eastern Canada Allan Cup finals against Moncton Hawks in the minimum number of games.

Dutchmen defeated Hawks 5-2 before 4,345 fans here Saturday in the third game of the best-of-seven series. The eastern winners will meet either Fort William Beavers or Vernon Canadians for the senior hockey title.

Saturday's game was the closest of the series but the outcome was never in doubt. The Dutchmen went ahead 2-0 in the first period and increased it to 3-0 in the second before Moncton scored its first goal. The Hawks sandwiched their second tally between two Kitchener goals in the third period.

Doc Bauer, who hadn't scored a goal in the last 19 playoff games, notched a pair Saturday to lead the winners. Charlie Brooker, Bud Horne and Gerry Theberge were the other snipers for Dutchmen. Bob Bowness and Ivan Houle counted for Moncton.

Keith Woodall, in making 21 stops in the Kitchener nets, handled his toughest saves to date but Nick Pidoudey, Moncton netminder was peppered with 41 drives. Hawks managed to hit Woodall with only four shots in the last period.

Dutchmen received six of the 10 minor penalties but all seven goals were scored with both teams at full strength.

WIN IN WEST

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Brandon Wheat Kings took the best-of-five western Canada intermediate hockey semi-finals at Saturday night by defeating Kenora Thistles 5-1.

The Wheat Kings now meet Ponoka Stampeders for the western title, starting Tuesday night.

REPRESENT EAST

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two Hamilton bowlers will represent the East in the women's and men's Canadian singles finals bowling competitions opening today.

Vera Ward will meet Ollie Ryndak of Winnipeg and Joe Blard will compete with Dick Thompson of Fort William. The competition ends Tuesday.

Toronto Marlies Swamp Frontenacs, Take Game Lead in Junior Series

By George Fraker
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Phil Watson, coach of the Quebec Frontenacs, says Toronto Marlboros are out to get Quebec goalie Jacques Marcotte.

Watson, bitterly contemplating the 8-0 shellacking his team took from Turk Broda's Marlboros Sunday to go one down in the best-of-seven final Cup semi-final series, said former Gerry Gauthier has been breathing into the crease since Marcotte for the last three games.

The Marlboros lead the best-of-seven series 3-1 in games, with one game tied. The fifth game is in Toronto today and the sixth in Quebec Thursday, Broda and his team had left for Toronto when Watson made the statement and could not be reached for comment.

"James (as he's known to get Marcotte," Watson said. "Yesterday he got him."

Watson was referring to Marcotte's battle with James after the 185-pound Toronto forward collided with the Quebec goalie. Marcotte went after James and drew a major and a misconduct. After that the Frontenacs went into a slump and the Marlboros took control of the game.

Toronto's Gary Collins and Gary Aldcorn netted two goals each and Glen Cressman and team captain Mike Nykoluk one. Nykoluk and linemates Cressman and Collins each wound up with five points.

The game drew a near-capacity crowd of 9,000—the largest crowd for a hockey game in Quebec this year.

"I don't mind losing at home," Watson said, "but I'd like to lose playing hockey.

"Ever since we beat them in the first game in Toronto they've been after Marcotte. He was cut on the head in a play in the last game."

Both sides have admitted Marcotte makes the difference between success and failure for the Quebec team. Marlboro general manager Stafford Smythe has said Marcotte is all Quebec has. Outplayed and outhit by the Marlboros in all games so far, they've still managed to win two and a tie on Marcotte's goaling. Smythe says:

"The Marlboros took 36 shots at Marcotte Sunday. Their own goalie, Johnny Albarda, blocked 22 to earn the first shutout of the series.

"Albarda, not as colorful a player as Marcotte, was steady in the Marlboros nets although he had few difficult shots to stop after Marcotte's blow-up took the fight out of the Frontenacs.

Millions Await First "Pitch" Baseball Season Opens Today

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Millions of baseball fans eagerly await the Presidential throwing of the first "pitch" today, the signal for the official opening of the 1955 major league season.

Following the chief executive's ceremonial toss in Washington, the Senators, according to custom, were scheduled to launch the American League campaign against Baltimore's Orioles at 1:30 p.m. (EST). The six other clubs will get under way Tuesday.

Not to be outdone, the National League's Cincinnati Redlegs also were slated to beat the gun by 24 hours, taking on the Chicago Cubs. A traditional sellout crowd of some 33,000 was ready for the opening of the National League's 80th campaign, starting Monday at 1:30.

The spotlight Tuesday will focus on Kansas City, which will mark its first game in the major league society. When the transplanted Athletics take the field for their game with Detroit, it will mark the third successive year a change in the major league map has been made.

Two years ago, Milwaukee moved into the National League, taking over the Boston Braves' franchise. Last year Baltimore replaced St. Louis in the American League.

Fair and warm weather was promised at Washington today where a select crowd of 27,000 was expected to see the Senators' Bob Porterfield oppose Baltimore's Lou Kretlow in a battle of right handers.

A pair of veteran righthanders, Bob Rush for Chicago and Art Fowler for Cincinnati, were the probable pitching choices at Cincinnati.

Experts have tabbed Cleveland and Milwaukee as the likely world series antagonists. The Indians were picked to win the American League pennant after a bitter struggle with the Yankees and possibly Chicago White Sox.

A more wide-open race was predicted for the better balanced National League with three clubs—Milwaukee, New York and Brooklyn—serious flag contenders. St. Louis and Cincinnati were regarded as outside threats.

Until outfielders Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn were sidelined by injuries in a collision last Friday, the Phillies, too, were rated a "dark horse" in many circles. Ennis suffered a broken leg and will be out at least a month. Ashburn sustained pulled ligaments and was not expected to be available for the start of the season.

Hornets Win Calder Cup; Trim Bisons 4-2

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Pittsburgh Hornets have made a clean sweep of American Hockey League honors.

Hornets, who finished first in regular season play, captured the league's Calder Cup with a 4-2 victory over Buffalo Bisons Sunday night.

Pittsburgh took the best-of-seven series 4-2 and then deserted by plane for a victory celebration at home.

Bob Solinger's two goals in the second period and another by Ray Thingvan gave the Wasps their winning margin.

Bisons roared back in the remaining 19 minutes on goals by Ken Wharram and Frank Sullivan, but their efforts were doomed to failure.

Solinger's last and decisive goal came at 11:36 as Bisons' Pierre Pilot was thumbed off the ice for tripping. Solinger carried it past from Will Marshall across the blue line and outraced goalie Ray Frederick to the corner.

CROWD HOPEFUL

A victory-hungry home crowd of more than 7,400 fans in Memorial Auditorium arena stayed when Wharram notched his goal at 13:05 in the final round and Sullivan followed up with another at 16:08.

But with goalie Frederick out for the last two minutes, Hornets' Willie Marshall stole the puck off the stick of Dickie Gamble and shot it into the open unguarded Bison cage to put the game away.

Pittsburgh's series victory include a 5-4 victory at home, and three wins on Buffalo ice, 3-2, 4-3 and 4-2. Hornets last won the Calder Cup in 1951-52 when they had also led the regular season play. Buffalo finished fourth this season.

Urged to Enter Soccer Team

TORONTO (CP) — Canada was urged Saturday to enter a team in world soccer competition.

Jimmy McGuire, North American representative to the World Federation of Soccer Associations, said by entering a team Canada would be making its first step toward world recognition as a soccer-minded country. He was addressing the annual football association of Canada meeting. The executive will consider his proposal.

Jock Hendry of Vancouver was elected to his second term as president of the association.

In his annual report, Hendry said the association has "made very little progress in selling the universal game of soccer to sports fans in Canada."

Only a small profit of $4,412 was made on the year's operations, he said. Main reason was the loss of $6,000 in the interprovincial playoff leading to the Canadian championship.

Escoe Replaces Arthur In Charles Fight

EDMONTON (CP)—A boxer who hired out as a sparring partner finds himself facing Ezzard Charles in a main event here tonight.

Past-his-prime Verne Escoe is substituting for Johnny Arthur, 25-year-old South African heavyweight champion who was floored by a virus infection and taken to hospital Sunday.

The seven-member boxing commission and handlers of both Arthur and Charles agreed at an emergency meeting to accept the 34-year-old Escoe as a stand-in. Arthur's doctor said the South African was "definitely too sick to fight."

Escoe is a former Canadian champion but has dipped into obscurity since losing the Canadian crown two years ago to Earl Walls of Toronto. He had been Arthur's sparring partner during training.

SAME AGE

Escoe and Charles are the same age—34.

Escoe—originally billed to fight Frankie Williams, Charles' sparring partner—was reported "in the best shape of his fighting career." Since losing his title the Halifax-born Negro has won all seven of his fights.

The fight was to have been a big feat for the young South African.

Escoe is expected to weigh-in this afternoon about 192 while Charles is expected to tip the scales at close to 191.

Training Camp Notes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cubs, who have been saved from the National League cellar by Pittsburgh Pirates the past two years, today emerged as champions of the grapefruit-cactus league—the loop that nurtures hopes that rarely materialize.

Stan Hack's team came through with a 15-7 record, including a seven-game winning streak that ended Sunday when the Chicago White Sox took a 9-7 decision in the second of the annual intra-Windy City series.

In the American League, the New York Yankees won the spring burning with a 17-9 record, followed closely by the Washington Senators with 15-8. Then, in order, came Boston, Cleveland, Kansas City-Chicago, Baltimore and Detroit.

Following Chicago in the National League were Milwaukee, Pittsburgh, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Brooklyn and Cincinnati.

The Yanks whipped the Dodgers, 7-3. Yogi Berra and Joe Collins hit home runs.

Hank Aaron broke up a ball game with the Indians by stroking a home run in the 10th inning with one mate on base to give the Braves a 6-4 triumph.

The New York Giants got to Dick Brodowski for all their runs in the first five innings and a 6-4 triumph.

The Kansas City A's, who arrived home amidst a city-wide celebration today, stroked four Philadelphia pitchers for 20 hits—including two home runs by Vic Power one each by Bill Wilson and Gus Zernial—and in the process ground out a 14-5 decision.

Royals Win Over Cataracts

MONTREAL (CP)—A late third-period goal by Cec Hoekstra, playing his first game in a Montreal uniform, Sunday gave the Royals a 4-3 win over Shawinigan Falls Cataracts in the opening game of their best-of-seven Quebec Hockey League final series.

Hoekstra, called up from the St. Catharines TeePees of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A circuit, pounced in a goalmouth pass from Eric Roche. His tally came after the Cataracts had overcome a three-goal lead Montreal's push up in the first period.

Eddie Mazur, Cary Hialne and Paul Masnick gave Montreal their 3-0 advantage by the 16-minute mark but Shawinigan scored twice in the middle stanza and tied the game near the halfway mark of the third period.

Forts Could Be Western Champs

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Barring a complete collapse Fort William Beavers will travel east for the Allan Cup finals.

The Beavers are within one game of that trip as a result of their 4-1 victory over Vernon Canadians here Sunday. The victory gave the Beavers a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven western Canada senior A hockey championships. The winner of the series will meet either Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen or Moncton Hawks in the Allan Cup final. Kitchener leads the best-of-seven eastern set 3-0.

Sunday's game in Fort William, watched by 4,500 fans, was close for the first 25 minutes. The Beavers took a 1-0 lead in the first period but Vernon tied the score early in the second. Fort William added another two goals before the middle session was over and scored the final marker in the last 20 minutes.

Alex Irving, Pete Coegan, Gino Antenlazzi and Vic Kyriuk were the snipers for the Beavers, Brian Roche scored Vernon's goal.

Fifth game of the series will be played here Tuesday night.

Cary Middlecoff Wins Masters Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Cary Middlecoff won the 1955 Masters golf tournament by a record seven-stroke margin and he can provide a one-word explanation of his victory: "putting."

The dentist - turned - golf pro proved again Sunday what the experts always have contended—that no one can win the Masters unless his putting is superb.

Ben Hogan, winner here in 1951 and 1953, wasn't putting with his usual accuracy this year and had to settle for second place — his fourth time in the runner-up spot. Middlecoff's 279 total was four strokes higher than the record Hogan set in 1953 but the seven-stroke margin from his rounds of 72, 65, and 72 and 70 was the biggest ever.

Sam Snead, who won the Masters last year in a playoff with Hogan, matched Middlecoff's closing 70 and moved into third place with a 283. Two of the youngster stars, Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, tied for fourth with the former U.S. Open champion. Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C. The pro-fit won $1,333.

Middlecoff collected a $3,000 check for his triumph. Hogan got $3,125 and Snead $2,125.

Woodstock Takes Junior Series

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Woodstock Warriors of the Inter-City Senior Soccer League took Saturday night to win their Ontario Hockey Association junior B home-and-home total-goals series 8-6 and advance into the junior B finals against Woodbridge.

The tie-breaker was tallied when a belt-driven shot from mid-field gave Warriors a 3-3 with one game tied. Seaforth took the first home-and-home game 3-2.

Meaford Edges Lindsay 5-3

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (CP)—Meaford Knights scored twice in overtime Saturday night to down Lindsay Muskies 5-3 and sweep their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association intermediate A semi-final 4-1 with one game tied. Meaford now plays Tillsonburg in the finals.

Sonny Robinson paced the winners with three goals. Charley MacDonald and Barney Walmsley added singles.

Vic Corley, Fred Mortimer and Orlie Crawford scored a goal apiece for the Muskies.

Pt. Anne Defeats Beeton 11-5 For Second Victory

The Point Anne Cementmen took a commanding 2-0 lead in their best-of-three O.H.A. intermediate "C" series with Beeton on Saturday night by whipping the Combines 11-5 on their own ice.

This followed an 8-2 win for the local here on Thursday night and they could qualify for the Ontario finals with a victory in Beeton tonight.

Saturday's fixture featured plenty of rough action but only about eight penalties were handed out. Gerry Goyer, of Point Anne, drew a misconduct in the dying minutes of the game when he exchanged words with the referee after receiving a minor penalty.

The victor's big line clicked for six more goals, playing-coach Tim Williams, Gerry Goyer and Leo Goyer each netting two markers. The other goals were divided among Bill Hurst, Joe Scott, Jud Semark, Pat Gilmour and Billy Strahan.

Don Letman tended the nets and turned in a very fine effort, stopping plenty of hard drives off the Beeton sticks. If a fourth game is necessary, the two teams will decide on a date tonight.

The winners of this series will meet either Lucan, last year's champs, or Electric, who are engaged in a similar series at present.

Southern Title To Kingston

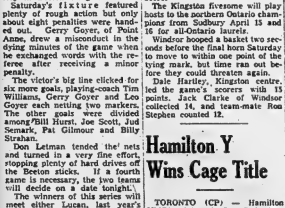
WINDSOR (CP) — Kingston Warren Orphans won the southern Ontario intermediate A Ontario Amateur Basketball Association title Saturday night by a two-game total point score of 118-111 over Windsor Giles United Church.

The Windsor team dropped the first game of the series in Kingston a week ago 82-64, but bounced back in their home town to win 53-36, one point shore of tying the series' score.

The Kingston fivesome will play host to the northern Ontario champions from Sudbury April 15 and 16 for all-Ontario laurels.

Windsor hooped a basket two seconds before the final horn Saturday to move to within one point of the tying mark, but time ran out before they could threaten again.

Dale Hartley, Kingston centre, led the game's scorers with 15 points. Jack Clarke of Windsor collected 14, and team-mate Ron Stephen counted 12.



Hamilton Y Wins Cage Title

TORONTO (CP) — Hamilton YMCA defeated St. Catharines Eagles 72-63 Saturday night to take the Ontario YMCA intermediate basketball championships.

It was Hamilton's third victory in the seven-team tournament. The Hamilton crew downed Sault Ste. Marie CJC and Sudbury 85-84 to reach the finals.

St. Catharines beat Peterborough 59-57 in the other semi-finals. High-est-scoring game of the nine was the playoff for third spot, won by Peterborough with a score of 110-77 against Sudbury.

Doug Ash of Sudbury put up the tournament's top-one-game total with 38 points in the third-place playoff.

AT THE BELLE — "Break Your Neck"—These words are Lee J. Cobb's exhortation to his drivers as they enter the famous European speed classics. Here he is shown with Kirk Douglas just before the start of the Mille Miglia in "The Racers", a spine-tingling drama about sports car racing, which continues Today and Tuesday at the Belle Theatre. Douglas stars with Bella Darvi, Gilbert Roland and Cesar Romero in this Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production, in color magnificence.

AT THE CAPITOL — Some of the exotic, mysterious flavor of the beautiful but dangerous Belgian Congo comes through in this scene from the Twentieth Century-Fox Technicolor jungle thriller, "White Witch Doctor," with backgrounds actually filmed there, opening Today at the Capitol Theatre. Stars Susan Hayward and Robert Mitchum are shown here pointing out some of the sights to be seen. On the same program in Technicolor, the musical, "Walking My Baby Back Home", starring Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh.

AT THE McCARTHY — Sarita Montiel, who makes her American movie debut in "Vera Cruz," Technicolor-Superscope production opening today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, pleads with Gary Cooper to join the rebels in the Mexican revolution of 1866.

Larger Studios Getting Ready To Embrace New TV Medium

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." That is the new policy of the movie industry toward TV.

The policy is not entirely new. It has been developing for the last three years. But in the last few weeks, the situation has been breaking wide open. Big studios that have been ignoring TV now are getting ready to embrace the new medium.

There are two trailblazers in this field. Without too much fanfare, Columbia pictures entered the TV film business three years ago. The venture has proven highly profitable.

The Ford Theatre deal has proven a real moneymaker, since the half-hour dramas are sold to other sponsors for re-runs.

Walt Disney took an even bolder step, with his hour-long Disneyland, he created an expensive show, partly based on the valuable films he has in the studio vaults.

FOX JOINS RACE

Republic came out with a shocker last week. The company announced that it might give up making theatrical movies entirely and concentrate on making TV films.

Twentieth Century-Fox, long a holdout against any truck with TV, now is jumping into the field. The studio is converting its veteran Western avenue lot in Hollywood to TV production. The plant will feature 20 stages and is being refurnished at a cost of three million. One of the big stages will be made into a theatre for live shows.

Paramount has long kept an interest in TV development. Now the studio plans to enter actual TV production with an hour show that appears to be similar to Disneyland. And Warners has announced that it will start TV production with an air series as first project.

Universal - International entered. After producing one series, the studio has limited itself to making commercials for TV. RKO has not entered production, but rents out most of its Pathe lot in Culver City to TV producers.

The latest report is that MGM is mulling a leap into TV, possibly renting some of its vast studio space to outside producers.

WANT MILK DRUNK

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Milk Producers Federation Saturday announced a $400,000 campaign to finance a national publicity program to promote the drinking of milk.

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

There are pictures all over the place in every bridge deal. The bidding gives you pictures of what other players are holding. A lead or play of a card may give you a view of what a player has not.

The south player got himself into a contract of four hearts in the deal you see here:

NORTH
♥A 2
♦7 6 3
♣K 5 4 3 2

WEST
♠9 7 6
♥Q
♦A K Q 10
♣Q J 10 8 6

EAST
♠10 4 3 2
♥J 9 7 5
♦9 7 4

SOUTH
♠Q 8 5
♥K 10 8 6 4 3
♦J 5 2
♣A

West pulled in three diamond tricks fast and then led the queen of clubs. When south saw dummy he figured to lose a trump trick if the hearts were normally divided between opponents.

Ordinarily, normal division of unseen trumps is what a declarer hopes for. This is a case, however, where the abnormal division of outstanding trumps was the salvation of the contract.

The club lead was taken with south's ace. A small trump was won with dummy's heart ace. When west had to play the heart queen it gave the declarer a picture of east holding the remaining unseen trumps.

So, dummy's final trump was returned and when east played the seven, south covered only with the eight-spot. This held the trick and the photo of east's trump holding was thus developed.

If dummy could lead another trump the east holding of Jacks-nine could be picked up with a finesse. But dummy had no more trumps to lead. So, something that answers the same purpose had to be tried.

Dummy got in with a small spade to the jack. A club was ruffed by south. Dummy got in with another spade and another club fell to a south ruff when east discarded one of his spades.

Another spade entered dummy whose club return smothered east. Because east was down to nothing but two trumps and had to play one of them, south overruffed whatever east played, like a finesse.

When you picture a bad division of outstanding trumps, don't blame the American card company. Try to develop it.

Tribute Paid To Carson Cooper By Jack Adams

MONTREAL (CP)—Jack Adams, general manager of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, said Thursday he was "shocked" to learn of the death in Hamilton of Carson Cooper, professional hockey scout and a famed player 30 years ago.

Cooper will be buried Thursday at Cornwall.

"Hockey was Cooper's life," said Adams.

As a player and scout Cooper had spent about 22 years with the Detroit organization. Adams said Cooper's outstanding discoveries "among the present-day Wings are Ted Lindsay and Red Kelly. Cooper also had a part in finding Toronto goalie Harry Lumley.

Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, said Cooper had been a "very fine hockey player" and as a scout had contributed "immensely to the present great Detroit team."

Hap Day, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL, described Cooper as "one of the best right hand shots ever in hockey."

"I know," said Day, "I played with him. As a scout he probably discovered more hockey players than anyone else in the business."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section on which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, April 12, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Not overly strong rays suggest extra caution in new and expensive (or expansive) undertakings. You may reap better results by staying within known channels of activity.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Be sure you know all the angles and the ins and out of activities before going ahead. Hidden obstacles could be troublesome to the over-confident. In the afternoon there may be some unexpected assistance.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Because of irritating aspects, look for trouble all sides, watch the reaction of others to your program. You may be called upon to protect personal investments, home, collaterals. Be ready.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Rays better day to begin. Open up any new and worthwhile channel within reasonable scope. Don't let important people or papers wait, and don't be annoyed if you have to wait yourself.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Sidestep propositions you are not sure of or which have not been well thought over beforehand. Be cooperative, diplomatic in discussions, in business or with family. Avoid rushing at any time.

August 23 to September 22 — (Virgo) — Control activities so that you may be able to stop quickly if you find you are on the wrong track or are causing friction. There may be fewer possibilities for money and business matters now. Analyze all well.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — This day has pitfalls that could cause trouble if you are careless or lackadaisical. View circumstances calmly, without anxiety or worry however. You should do reasonably well. Emphasize Libra's decorum.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — A faulty outlook could be costly. Do not let emotions or past disappointments influence you and you'll find that ideas are better, tasks easier.

November 23 to December 22— (Sagittarius) — Lack of interest or impatience could cause upsets, retarding the best of plans or effort. With opposite reactions, prospects should be most productive, and personal affairs more pleasant.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Your natal planet is in benefic aspect for most well considered activities. Conditions are favorable for cheerful, harmonious associations both at work and at home. Do your part.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Some astute thinking and plenty of ambition needed — especially if you have responsibilities or are depended upon for advice. Friendly rays in the p.m. for personal affairs, romance, family.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Encouraging and stimulating influences for your special tasks, interests if you go about all calmly. Among top favored: confidential matters, handling beverages, chemicals, oil, medicines, travel.

You born today are interesting, colorful, at times inclined to fiery disposition, perhaps too demanding. Fine talents and great capability are indicated in your Zodiacal sector. Recognize your many assets and use them as God intends. You can be a charming, likeable person, when you respect others' rights and talents and are not too indifferent. You can show wonderful understanding when living up to your best. 1955 still has numerous advantages for progressive ideas, methods, research, invention and statesmanship.

Birthdate: Henry Clay, Amer. statesman, orator.

General Motors Pledges to Work For Labor Peace

DETROIT (AP)—The giant General Motors Corp. pledges to work toward negotiating a new contract peacefully with the CIO United Auto Workers union.

GM makes the pledge in Monday morning newspaper advertisements in major United States cities. Contract talks were due to resume this afternoon. The union opens negotiations with the Ford Motor Co. Tuesday.

The GM ad, the company's first statement on its bargaining which got under way last week, says nothing about the UAW's requests for the guaranteed annual wage, pay and pension boosts and other concessions.

Instead, GM stresses that the expiring five-year contract with the union has meant prosperity for the workers and the investors in higher pay, steady employment, plant expansion and increased sales.

"Every one of us who is a member of the GM team can be happy that we have a winning combination that benefits all concerned," the GM ad says.

"There's every indication that the GM ad says.

"There's every indication that the coming year will be the best year of all. It's just plain common sense to keep the ball rolling straight through 1955."

This seems to mean that GM thinks it will be possible to avoid any strike in this year's new labor production. The present GM-UAW contract expires May 29, with the Ford contract running out three days later.

AN "OPEN MIND"

"We at GM have taken our place at the bargaining table with an open mind," the company says.

GM thus avoids displaying the slightest evidence of fight against the UAW demands, particularly the most controversial one for guaranteed annual pay which is what Walter Reuther, president of the UAW and the CIO, has promised he'll win from the auto industry this year.

Reuther has said the UAW will strike if necessary, to win its demands and has asked a $25,000,000 strike fund to back it up.

GM says in its ad that the five-year contract has provided a 44-cent hourly wage increase for GM workers and "stable" employment. The UAW had no immediate comment on the advertisement, but the union is on the record as contending that there have been too many layoffs because of production fluctuations.

Reuther said in a speech last week that GM decides steady employment then the guaranteed wage "won't cost the corporation a penny." On the other hand, the year-around pay plan was necessary so that car production would be kept at an even pace.

Traffic Crashes Claim 22 Lives

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nearly two-thirds of those who died violently in Canada during the three-day Easter holiday weekend were killed in traffic accidents.

The toll was at least 35 with traffic accidents taking 22 of the lives. Warm weather and clear highways caused record crowds to be drawing motorists to the highways.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p. m. EST Thursday showed Canada's death toll was a small blaze near the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, yesterday. He was an employee of the department of horticulture.

BARNS DESTROYED

At Port Dover, a blaze which destroyed two barns was blamed on a children's bonfire. Their fire caught on to some dry grass and spread to an adjoining barn housing two propane gas tanks.

The tanks exploded, igniting a second barn which housed 15 head of cattle. The animals were saved.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the 100-year-old Big Bay Point Hotel on Lake Simcoe about 15 miles east of Barrie Saturday night. Loss of the three-storey building was estimated at $40,000.

More than a dozen mail-gathering trucks were destroyed in a fire at the rear of the Howard Bacon Cartage Co. in Toronto Saturday. Loss was estimated at $200,000.

The two-storey frame home of Gideon Gardiner was destroyed near Napanee Saturday, while three barns and a shed on the farm of Ross Cooper near Wallenburg went up in flames. A barn and a shed on the farm of Simon Brenner of Breslau, near Kitchener, were destroyed Saturday. Cause of the fire-break was not known.

A bush blaze destroyed five acres of young pine Saturday near the village of Midhurst, five miles north of Barrie. Favorable winds prevented the fire from spreading to a large reforested area.

A grass fire burned down a summer cottage and scorched more than five acres of farmland near Stouffville Saturday. More than 100 persons beat down the flames with brooms, shovels and pitchforks.

At Worcester, 33 miles north of Stratford, fire swept through a hardware store and threatened a block of stores and apartments. Loss was expected to run into several thousand dollars.

Isolation Over, Quebec Village Gives Thanks

ST. HILAIRE DE DORSET, Que. (CP)—The village of St. Hilaire returned back to the quiet community of a rural Quebec community today as normal living returned after the flood of May 29, when the Ford contract running out three days later.

AN "OPEN MIND"

In the twin-steeple church Sunday farmers and their families attended Easter service and gave thanks for the reopening of their side-mile corner life-line — the road to St. Evarist.

Hundreds of men wielding shovels Saturday finished the job begun the day before by contractor Gerard Gilpert whose men had worked without rest for 36 hours to clear the village from the bank-age of the snow.

A two-day blizzard on 29 days blocked roads and boats alike from road, threatening hunger for the village's 42 families.

Rev. Armand Germain, parish priest, shared his supplies with other parishioners when a ran out of food. Thursday, his housekeeper-with his approval—telephoned a Quebec City radio station in the hope of attracting public attention to the village's situation.

The move stirred contractor Gilpert to open the facility's new highway to stores selling groceries, meats and other supplies.

No Market Here For New Zealand Butter, Cheese

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (CP) — Canada's Trade Minister Howe, on a goodwill visit to Australia and New Zealand, said today there is little possibility of Canada importing either butter or cheese from New Zealand.

Howe said butter and cheese are two of Canada's most "sensitive" products.

"The difficulty is that our dairy products are about the highest priced in the world. That's the penalty we have to pay for trying to farm in a cold climate.

"We can't ship cheese and butter overseas so we're compelled to take it ourselves."

"We have faced this problem for many years and frankly I can't see any way out of it."

Thus there was little hope of Canada taking 2 Blackburn R 1 dairy products from New Zealand, although he realized these were the main items New Zealand wanted to sell to Canada.

Hitchhiker Killed

TORONTO (CP)—A hitchhiker was killed Sunday night on the highway 401, just west of the city.

Dr. F. D. Gardiner, city coroner, said the dead man's papers identified him as Robert Alexander Fleury. Police believed he was either a soldier stationed at Camp Borden or a former soldier there.

Police said Fleury was hit by a car and run over by a truck.

Damage Is Heavy In Dozen Fires; Two Men Die

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twelve fires in Ontario during the weekend led to the deaths of two men and caused damages exceeding $450,000.

The worst blaze was at Ottawa Sunday where the Sunday school and church offices of Chalmers United church were nearly damaged. Loss in that blaze alone has been estimated at more than $250,000.

Veal Adds Zest To Spring Table

One of the things that keeps meal time interesting is variety in the meat course. Veal is one of the meats which is plentiful now, in fact spring and early summer is the peak of the veal season and the time to put it on the menu. It is a mild-flavored meat with very little fat and the lean is fine textured and rather velvety.

The cuts of veal vary greatly in color and size because they come from animals of different weight and maturity, ranging from fourteen weeks to several weeks of age. The color of the meat and the bone is usually a pretty good indication of the age of the animal. Meat from younger animals is pinkish gray in color and the bones are soft and reddish. The meat from older animals is a slightly darker pinkish brown color and the bones are somewhat larger, coarser but still slightly reddish in color.

Although veal comes from a young, tender animal it has a considerable amount of connective tissue. The bone economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture advise that veal must be cooked slowly and long enough to completely tenderize it. They say that veal actually takes longer to cook than beef and it is never served rare but always cooked to the well-done stage.

ROAST VEAL OFTEN

There are several types of veal roasts and the butcher shop today. First, there is the leg roast from which the bone is usually removed. This leaves a slit or pocket ready to fill with a well-seasoned stuffing. Then there is the fillet roast from the fleshy part of the leg which is usually cut up and sold as steaks or cutlets. There are also the rump and sirloin butt roasts. The loin may be sold as roasts but usually it is cut up into chops. Then there are the less expensive cuts round bone, shoulder and blade, from the front quarter which may be sold as roasts or chops. Sometimes this section may be completely boned and sold as a rolled shoulder.

Most of the cuts of good quality veal can be roasted in the oven —that is cooked on a rack in an uncovered pan without water. The temperature to use is the same as that for all other meats, a moderately slow 350 degree F. oven. Before putting roast in the oven, put several pieces of bacon on top of it or cover the top of the roast with bacon fat. This gives the meat a very good flavor and at the same time it adds the extra fat that most veal needs. There should be enough added to make sufficient drippings so that the roast can be basted occasionally while it is cooking.

Veal should be roasted to the well-done stage, that is until there is no trace of pink and it is greyish white in color, then but tender to cut. To reach this stage it is best to allow forty to forty-five minutes a pound or until a meat thermometer placed in the centre of the meat reaches 180 deg. F. In other words a four pound roast would require approximately two and three-quarters to three hours' cooking time in a moderately slow 325 deg. F. oven.

VEAL CHOPS

Loin, rib and shoulder veal chops may be pan-fried or braised. The chops may be breaded by dipping them in seasoned bread crumbs, egg and then crumbs again or they may be simply dipped in seasoned flour or cooked without any coating at all. It is a good idea to snip the edges of the chops to prevent curling. They may be browned in fat enough hot fat to keep them from sticking to the pan. Bacon fat is good to use because it adds a desirable flavor to veal. After two or three minutes browning on each side, the chops should be turned, seasoned and covered. If desire to be finished on top of the stove, reduce heat to very low and continue cooking, covered, one-inch thick chops will require fifteen to twenty minutes on each side; half-inch thick chops eight to ten minutes on each side.

To braise veal chops, that is to cook them in liquid, preferably a well-seasoned tomato sauce, chops should be browned on both sides, gravy added and simmered covered on top of the stove or placed in the centre of a 325 deg. F. oven. In either case, allow twenty to twenty-two minutes a side for one inch chops, or ten to twelve minutes a side for half inch chops.

World's Longest Underwater Phone Line Will Be Able To Handle 35 Calls at One Time

By DAVE MASON

LONDON (AP)—One day this summer a trim ship, flying a blue ensign will lift anchor and steam across the north Atlantic, slowly paying out the world's longest underwater phone line.

Transatlantic phone calls have been possible for years, over erratic radio circuits. Conversations often are punctuated by static and sometimes voices fade away.

An Atlantic cable will shoulder as easy to hear as one from across town. The new cable will handle 36 calls at once.

INTERNATIONAL PROJECT

The $35,000,000 project is international, with United States and Canadian firms and the British post office taking part. The cable is being turned out here in a factory built for the job. It will be laid by the Monarch, largest cable ship in the world.

The cable will lie along the hundreds of miles of ocean bottom. Into it are going 2,700 tons of copper, 1,400 tons of polythene (a plastic material used for insulation, 11,000 tons of steel wire, 1,800 tons of jute yarn and 2,400,000 yards of cotton cloth.

A vital accessory is the repeater, or amplifier, to boost conversations on their course along the sea bottom.

The repeaters will be inserted under the cable at regular intervals of 42 miles. They will form a bulge 9 inches in diameter, making the cable look like an ostrich neck with an orange going down.

NEWFOUNDLAND KEY POINT

Enough line will be loaded onto the Monarch to make the entire 2,250-mile stretch of ocean bottom between the eastern terminal point at Oban, Scotland, westward to Clarenville, in Newfoundland. From Clarenville, there will be separate wires to Terenceville, Nfld., Ireland, to Heart's Content, Nfld.

Sir Anthony Eden Thumps No Tubs, Rouses No Rabble

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new prime minister has yet to use a paradoxical entertainment talent to rouse no rabble.

Strength his good looks and aristocratic poise, he generates no warm excitement in crowds. He is an indifferent speaker. Yet the halls fill for his public appearances. He is heard with unfailing respect by the working classes, the backbone of Britain.

Perhaps, his finest hour in all his 31 years in Parliament was his ruckus with prime minister Neville Chamberlain in 1938.

Eden was foreign secretary. Dictators were on the march. Mussolini into Ethiopia and Albania and, in conspiracy with Hitler, interfering in the Spanish civil war.

OPPOSED POLICY

Chamberlain's formula was to deal with the dictators, yield a little here and hold a little there. It was the beginning of appeasement. Eden's urgent advice to the prime minister was to stand up to them. Then came evidence that Chamberlain was negotiating with the Italian over Eden's head. On Feb. 20, 1938, he resigned as Chamberlain was negotiating with foreign secretary. He gave an explanation to the House of Commons the next day.

Eden seemed, deliberately, to make it as undramatic as possible: "Of late the conviction has steadily grown upon me that there has been too keen a desire on our part to make terms with others rather than that others should make terms with us. This was never the attitude of this country in the past. It should not be the interests of peace, be our attitude now."

HIGH OPINION

Eden's low - key resignation speech had three visible consequences.

Britain formed a high opinion of Eden as a man of principle.

The rift with Chamberlain was not complete, so it was possible for Eden to return to his government later.

And from Winston Churchill, then in a political doghouse, came this comment: "He is the only man from the front rank who has risen during the course of the generation revaged by the (first) great war."

It was the beginning of a solid friendship, an association of personalities which triumphed over dictators and continued long afterward in the frustrations of the cold war.

Eden's repute as a statesman depends largely on his handling of foreign affairs. Now he must furnish leadership in home affairs; specifically, Eden is expected to follow the Churchill path. He favors the social services, health, insurance and assistance schemes which give Britain its own special characteristics. He accepts some industrial nationalization schemes, such as mining, railways and communications, which Labor governments put into practice.

Christians Throng Churches in Many Lands for Easter

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Christians thronged churches in many lands Sunday to worship in traditional Easter services commemorating the Resurrection of Christ.

At Vatican City, the Pope sought to comfort a troubled world by blessing the peaceful uses rather than the potential destructiveness of atomic power. He spoke to a crowd estimated at between 300,000 and 500,000 in St. Peter's square.

At York, England, the Archbishop of York, second ranking prelate in the Church of England, said in an Easter sermon that "fear and suspicion" are the greatest hindrances to world disarmament.

"We fear the Russians, the Russians fear us," declared the bishop, Dr. Cyril Garbett, "and probably the things most feared by the Soviet and the Allies."

He called on Christians to remember that "our nations like men might lead to war and use of the hydrogen bomb."

ROYAL FAMILY

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh entertained at a family party at Windsor Castle. Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret were there.

The Royal Family attended Easter service in St. George's chapel at the royal estate. During the day more than 30,000 sightseers strolled through the grounds.

A record crowd of about 2,000,000 joined in the Fifth avenue Easter parade in New York as the city basked in 77 - degree weather, warmest of the year.

By contrast, British and western Europe had chill weather and the SAME INTEREST

But he opposes any more nationalization. His aim, he has said, is to see the firm establishment of a "property - owning democracy," secure in all the traditional British liberties.

He has said that free enterprise should be "humanized, not nationalized."

"We must not think any longer of industrial relations in terms of two sides," he wrote in his latest book, "Days For Decision." "The truth is that both management and labor have the same interest in the prosperity of their industry."

"The socialist party," he wrote, "is far too much given to control for the love of control. So is restricting liberty in small matters they are playing into the hands of those who would suppress liberty in the greater things of life."

Where? I said, and ma said, On the side, under your hair?

And she reetched and felt it, saying, Why of course it's a hump, how in the world did you get that?

G, I dont know, I said, and ma said, Now how is it possible to have a hump like that in your head and remain in blissful ignorance?

Maybe I've always had it, ma, and you just happened to notice it, I said, and she said, Maybe the man in the moon eats green cheese. You cant possibly have a lump of that size without knowing where it came from, she said.

Why not, ma? I said, and ma said, Because that would be the worst kind of a hump and I'd have to take you to the docter with it.

Aw G, ma, why is a strange lump any worse than a lump you know the whole story about? I said, and she said, Never mind the cross examination. I'll have the docter examine that thing before we let the grass of another day pass under our feet.

! Well heck, ma , I didn't say I didn't even have an idea where it came from, I said, and she said, How do you mean, an idea?

Well, I was fencing Glazzes Magee with.2 long sticks, and we got tired of that so I let him hit me on top of the head with his stick just exactly as hard as I hit him with mine, but so harder, but we soon stopped that. Anyways, ma that's my idea of where the lump came from, but I'm not all the ways positive, I said.

Stevenson Hits Far East Policy Of United States

Fears Humiliating Retreat Or Else Hazard of War

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says the United States has put itself in a position in Asia where it faces "another damaging and humiliating retreat, or else the hazard of war."

He called Monday night for a joint declaration by the free world condemning the use of force in the 100-mile-wide strait between Nationalist Formosa and Communist China.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, in a coast-to-coast radio broadcast, said a "major policy" of the Eisenhower administration has put the U.S. in its present position in Asia.

The administration's "policy of extravagant words" in the Far Eastern situation, Stevenson declared, "has alarmed our friends, good deal more than it has deterred the aggressors."

QUEMOY ISLANDS

"The tragedy is that the possibility of war just now seems to hinge upon Quemoy and Matsu, small islands that lie almost as close to the coast of China as Staten Island does to the U.S. . . . I have the greatest misgivings about risking a third world war in defence of these little islands in which we would have neither the same legal justification nor the same support as in the defence of Formosa."

He said the U.S. should enlist both its friends and the neutral powers in "an open declaration condemning the use of force in Formosa strait."

Russia also should be asked to "declare its position."

PUBLIC SERVICE

Stevenson spoke on a radio "hookup provided free as a public service by the CBS and NBC networks. Friends call for the broadcast to give his views on Far Eastern policy in response to "hundreds of letters, telegrams and phone calls."

It was the first time that he had publicly criticized President Eisenhower's Far Eastern policies.

At the headquarters in New York, diplomats said the question of any U.S. action in the event of the off-shore islands has been resting quietly on a single precedent weeks ago when Red China refused to even discuss the security council's call to arrange a ceasefire.

CONSIDERING ASKING

(In Washington, Senator Walter George (Dem. Ga.) chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, disclosed in an interview that the Eisenhower administration is considering asking the UN General Assembly to pass a resolution against the use of force in the Formosa strait.)

Stevenson said:

"The division of our coalition over these off-shore islands—the weakening of the united alliance of free nations pledged to stand together to defend themselves—is in my judgment a greater threat to us during peace than the islands themselves."

(In a March 24 speech to Parliament, Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, said that while Canada would always be with the U.S. in the event of a major war, she could not support a shooting action involving the off-shore islands.)

Stevenson added:

"We must face the bitter consequences of our government's tormous policy which has created a another damaging and humiliating retreat, or else the hazard of war, modern war, by accident or by necessity, not by strategic judgment, but by a policy based more on our political difficulties here at home than the realities of our situation in Asia.

"If we should withdraw under fire from the defence of these islands we again act the 'Paper Tiger;' if we join in their defence we are at war, and the world at war, without major allies and with most of public opinion in Asia and Europe against us. . . ."

Think Convict May Know Killer Of Judy Carter

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says a prisoner at Collins Bay penitentiary near Kingston may know the killer of Judy Carter, 8, found strangled Saturday on the bank of a Markham township creek, 17 miles northeast of here.

In a newspaper story the paper says Toronto police are investigating information that a prisoner "called the shot" three weeks ago in a conversation with a guard. He is reported to have said Judy's body would be found 18 miles north of Toronto.

The paper adds that penitentiary guards will be interviewed by the warden to find the one said to have talked with the prisoner about the case.

Judy will be buried today, six weeks after she disappeared from an east-central street near her home.

Meanwhile, the police commission today announced a $2,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Judy's killer. This is in addition to any reward that might be paid to the two boys who found Judy's body.

A Toronto city commission on Monday night its offer of $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the murderer had been increased to $1,000.

Police said a man arrested near Walkerton in connection with another case will be questioned about Judy Carter.

Grain Handlers At Lakehead Threaten Strike

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—The union representing 1,200 Lakehead grain handlers announced today almost 97 per cent of its members have voted in favor of striking to enforce demands for higher wages.

No strike date was set by the union's negotiating committee which tabulated the ballots from 1,126 of the 1,200 members.

However, C. W. Hardick of Fort William, district chairman of the CSU, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL-TLC), said the strike will start "some time after" this date. The exact date will be decided by Frank Hall of Montreal, Canadian vice-president of the brotherhood.

Actress Says "Perfect 36" False And Phony Way to Describe Figure

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The "perfect 36" is a false and phony way of describing a good figure, says movie actress Mamie van Doren.

Mamie, who measures 37 inches in the bustline and can afford to be unprejudiced, commented in an interview:

"It's the most dishonest measurement I ever saw. How can a bustline measure the same size when more than 60 per cent of the measuring has nothing to do with it?"

She has a point there, as the current method of measuring bustlines gives a break to big-boned girls with broad backs. They girls who mistakenly stuff with cotton because they think nature has forgotten would get a break from Mamie (Honest Count) van Doren.

Mamie objects to the fact the "perfect 36" includes inches of horizontal areas occupied by the arms, shoulder blades and back.

Mamie said she got on her soap-

OTTAWA RIVER LIKELY ATOMIC STATION SITE

Will Be Built Near Des Joachims Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — First flow of atom-produced electricity in Canada likely will surge through power lines in Ontario from a spot on the Ottawa river 145 miles northwest of here.

An informed government source says Canada's first atomic power station may be built at or near the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's Des Joachims plant. It is the largest of four hydro-electric generating stations on the Ontario Hydro on the Ottawa river.

Located on the Quebec-Ontario boundary in the Ottawa river, the plant is adjacent to the small Quebec village of Des Joachims. It is about 25 miles by road from the Chalk River, Ont., atomic energy plant and 38 miles directly upstream from Pembroke.

WILL BUILD PLANT

Ontario Hydro, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., which operates the Chalk River project, and the Canadian General Electric Co. will build the experimental plant jointly at a cost of between $13,000,000 and $16,000,000.

The plant is not expected to be completed until about mid-1958.

The project represents another forward step in the Canadian program to harness the atom for industrial power. The pilot plant is not expected to generate electricity economically, but experience gained in its operation will pave the way for later construction of economic plants.

Selection of a site now is being discussed by AECL and Ontario Hydro. The provincial government said, "I expect that the Des Joachims location will be selected, but a decision is expected shortly."

FOUR PLANTS

Ontario Hydro operates four hydro-electric plants on the Ottawa river. They are at Chats Falls, 35 miles upstream from Ottawa; at Chenaux, 40 miles upriver; at Des Joachims, and at Le Cave, near Mattawa, about 180 miles from Ottawa and some 80 miles from Chalk River.

Location of the experimental reactor at Chalk River is convenient to Ontario Hydro to feed power directly into an existing system. Any power produced during the operation of the plant also would not be lost because of low power by the Des Joachims system.

RAAB, MOLOTOV BEGIN TALKS ON AUSTRIAN TREATY

Expect Discussions Will Last Four Days

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Julius Raab of Austria and Foreign Minister Molotov began formal negotiations in the Kremlin today on an Austrian independence treaty.

Before the opening of talks the visiting chancellor and his aides made brief courtesy calls this morning on Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Molotov.

Raab's talks with Molotov, exploring the possibilities of concluding a state treaty which would restore Austria's independence and end her four-power occupation, are expected to continue for four days.

Raab arrived in Moscow Monday at Molotov's invitation. He is staying at a government guest house next door to the Austrian embassy.

NO COMMENT

Moscow's big newspapers have still published no news photographs of the Austrians' arrival on their front pages, but there has been no editorial comment on their mission.

Official Soviet government statements have recalled that there already have been exchanges on the subject between the Austrian government and the Western powers since it was last discussed by the Big Four foreign ministers at the 1954 Berlin conference.

The mail car was gutted. Another mail car and the express building were damaged. A diesel engine was used to move other cars to safety.

Reports said no mail was damaged, but three piles of parcels on the loading platform were destroyed.

No one was injured.

Martin Pledges Federal Aid To Treat Million Canadians As Tests' Results Favorable

By HAROLD MORRISON
Ottawa Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today announced it will continue financial contributions for Salk vaccine 'production this year in efforts to boost supplies of the polio preventive for Canadian children.

Health department authorities estimated that sufficient vaccine will be produced by July to inoculate 1,000,000 Canadian youngsters.

To encourage greater production, Health Minister Martin announced in a statement issued here, the federal administration will share 50-50 with the provinces in production costs as it did in 1954.

The statement followed an announcement at Ann Arbor, Mich., where the University of Michigan's Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. said mass tests of the vaccine show it to be 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

GOAL ALL OUT

Canadian production will be concentrated at the University of Toronto, Connaught Medical Research Laboratories and the University of Montreal Institute of Microbiology.

Martin said the experiences last year put up about $720,000 for production at Connaught, which turned out 90 per cent of the polio virus for the vaccine used in big inter-provincial trials in 1954.

There was no indication how much will be contributed this year, but federal authorities said they will go all out to produce enough.

In addition to Connaught and the Montreal institutes, at least two commercial drug companies are planning distribution in Canada as soon as the vaccine is licensed for sale.

Control over the distribution of vaccine is in the hands of the provinces, but Mr. Martin, a vice-chairman of the Cabinet, said he hopes children will get free inoculations. Polio remained in slightly restricted use in Canada and the U.S. today.

"The development and evaluation of the Salk polio vaccine is a great forward step in our campaign to bring this disease under practically under control," he said. "I am sure that all will join me in thanks of every Canadian parent when I acknowledge our indebtedness to the medical scientists who have made this advance possible."

Vaccine 'Incredibly Safe,' 80 to 90 Per Cent Effective

(By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE)

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The Salk polio vaccine is safe, effective and potent, it was officially announced today.

The vaccine was found 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio in tests last year, anxious parents were told by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, immediately declared he is sure the vaccine is potentially almost 100 per cent effective and can bring complete triumph over polio and its lieutenants of terror and tragedy.

Dr. Francis' official report declared the vaccine had produced an "extremely successful effect" among children with bulbar polio, the most dangerous type.

There is no doubt that children now can be vaccinated successfully to end the hazard of polio and the anxiety it causes every year.

INCREDIBLY SAFE

The vaccine was found incredibly safe, with only .4 of one per cent showing "questionable" reactions — "the effect was maintained with almost completely lacking.

The time of protection from the vaccine appeared reasonably good — "the effect was maintained with but moderate decline after five months."

Paralysis occurred in 33 children who received the vaccine in areas where children were given either the real vaccine or dummy shots. Nine died.

ONE CHILD DIED

Just one child given the vaccine died of polio and this death followed removal of tonsils two days after his second shot of vaccine in an area where polio was already prevalent.

Dr. Salk urged that children this year be given only two shots of vaccine in order to step up the effectiveness of the vaccine. He said the shots should be spaced six to four weeks apart, with the third one delayed for at least seven months afterward.

Dr. Salk said he finds the best protection comes when the third inoculation this way instead of being given all within five weeks as was done last year.

BOOSTER SHOT

He said some variations in the vaccine preparations were apparently due to some bad or impotent batches of vaccine.

Salk also urged that children vaccinated last year be given a booster shot as soon as the vaccine is available.

Licensing of the vaccine by the United States National Institute of Health is expected within 48 hours to make possible a quick beginning of the huge inoculation program.

It is estimated there will be enough vaccine for 20,000,000 children and if Dr. Salk's recommendation of two shots instead of three immediately is followed this would make possible inoculation of 45,000,000 children.

Dr. Francis revealed his report at a meeting of 400 scientists and officials.

SOME CASES DEVELOP

Out of 1,800,000 children in the test program, 1,013 cases of polio developed.

Labor Council May Go Into House Building

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council, representing 60,000 CIO - CCL trade unionists, offered Monday night to form a limited dividend company to provide low-rental housing for elderly residents of metropolitan Toronto.

The council suggested other unions join the plan and also suggested plant managements with which its unions have contracts subscribe to the company.

Murray Cotterill of the United Steelworkers union said unions had been fighting for industrial pension plans.

"As a result of these industrial pension plans, many people are retiring who might not otherwise be retiring," he said. "There is no use providing a $100-a-month pension if the whole $100 is going to the government in income taxes. There is a housing shortage.

"We can't just run around ensuring other people. We have a certain responsibility in the matter ourselves."

The council's legislative committee proposes to finance cheap housing under terms of the federal national housing act which offers 90-per-cent mortgage to limited dividend companies formed by municipalities or groups of citizens.

Crash Victims Are Identified

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Police today identified the victims of a collision Monday night between a car and a heavy tractor-trailer at Aberfoyle Manor, Mrs. Nellie Nipawin, Sask., and Irma Oliver, 23, of London.

The auto crashed into the transport in east London during heavy rain. Police said the tractor-trailer was trapped in the car until freed by passersby.

Truck driver Bruce Wilson, 46, of Toronto, said he threw on the brakes when he saw the car coming. The truck was standing still when the crash came.

"It came out of nowhere, but I didn't see it until it was about 30 feet in front of me," Wilson said.

Suicide-Bent Montreal Boy Rescued By Friend from Girder on High Bridge

MONTREAL (CP)—An 18-year-old delivery boy hung to a girder 165 feet above street level on the Jacques Cartier bridge for almost an hour Monday before being dragged down by a friend.

More than 1,000 persons watched from the bridge and the street below as Remi Trembley, 18, of suburban Ville Jacques Cartier clung to his precarious perch threatening to jump to kill myself."

First word of the abortive suicide attempt came when the youngster telephoned his employer, Lucien Royal, earlier in the afternoon. Royal, owner of a butcher shop, said the youth cried into the telephone: "I'm going to kill myself. Send somebody to pick up the bicycle. I'm going to leave it near the bridge."

When police first arrived the youth called out: "Don't come near, I'll jump." Police would have to be summoned.

Remi Maillioux, a truck-driver for Provincial Transport, climbed to the guard rail on the bridge and began climbing the girders.

When he reached Trembley, covered his body with his own, and with the tortured youth screaming he dragged him to the bridge. The delivery boy was taken to hospital where he was reported "under observation."

STOLEN CAR SOON RECOVERED

Auto thieves who last night stole the car of Harriet Stapley from in front of the house at 142 George street must have left the car in big hurry.

Rotarian Lugs Jug Round 'n Round $400 Rattles in, a Lovely Sound

- How much money does a five-gallon jug hold?

Ask Rotarian Carson Elliott and it's ten-to-one up to last night he'd have given you hundred-to-one odds on your guessing the right answer. And he'd have taken your money gladly (you were bound to lose) but you couldn't have been sure.

Up to yesterday at 1.15 p. m. the jug held exactly $400, made up to ten, twenty and ten-spot bills, plus a strong foundation of nickels, dimes and quarters. By last night Carson hoped to up the ante another $100 for a grand total of $500.

The money took three weeks of hard work to accumulate, but Carson had a motive, not only inoperative but irresistible — the Easter Seals campaign for crippled children.

The entire Easter Seals campaign in this area, which ended yesterday, was conducted by Carson's club, Belleville Rotary. However, his individual contribution as a club member apart, Carson decided to branch out into his own campaign.

STORM GREETS PARADE

Three weeks ago he kicked off his drive with a bugle call in a parade conducted by Carson-men of the CNR station here with the arrival of a life-size Easter Bunny. Carson had a motorcade to parade through the city for the Bunny which was to ride in a flower-bedecked auto escorted by a pipe-band and page boys with Mayor Jack Reid riding shotgun as honor guest.

Along with them was pretty Sharon Rushlow, nine-year-old victim of polio, who was to be Carson's petite mascot for the campaign.

The weather couldn't have been more foul and turned turkey on the day by snowing at a trot. However, Carson had a flair for such occasions and this time his flair shone like a beacon.

He got cameras on the platform and the amusing parade went as scheduled, the processors dauntlessly moving off through the snow.

Since then Carson, his jug and Bunny have been working like double-jointed toothpicks on an oak knot, pushing their campaign in the Belleville district.

Carson's jug, by the way, have appeared at Rotary gatherings, both here and in Trenton, in taverns and restaurants, plugging for Easter Seals subscriptions.

Last time the jug was seen in public was when the Easter parade here when, together with two helpers, Cec Frederits and Don Mowbray, Carson, Sharon and the Bunny distributed Easter eggs to pyromaniacs of all ages at the corner of Victoria Avenue and Front St.

Yesterday the fruits of his labors to date were announced to his fellow Rotarians at their club weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte when Sharon dropped a penny in the jug, bringing its total contents to $400 cash.

The announcement brought plaudits for Sharon, the Bunny, Carson, and his co-workers. But Carson managed to distract most of the attention away from himself to the smiling Sharon.

As for the Bunny—well, no statement was forthcoming from it up to press time, but one thing is certain—it had to be over six feet tall to do a massive job.

Never before has a rabbit worked so hard for so much lettuce.

Travers, many times winner of the local Easter tourney, received a supplementary trophy which he retains permanently. Other players who won over 10, Jackson, of Trenton, in the "B" class finals.

Belleville players took part in the annual checker tournament with eight entering in the "A" class. Players came from Kingston on the east, Trenton on the west, Brighton to the south and Prince Edward County.

Competition in "A" class with points made in the round robin series were: Henry Jillings, Napanee, 18; J. Travers, Kingston, 18; Chas. Flood, Trenton, 17; William Werden, Bloomfield, 15; R. Lafay, Trenton, 13; Dan McCarthy, Kingston, 12; P. J. Strimpy, Bancroft, 10, and W. Davy, Bancroft 8.

This was the first year that a supplementary trophy for the "C" class has been offered at the tournament. The trophy will be held for one past year, after the Collver trophy when he fails to retain the silverware.

Stirling Youth Accidentally Shot in Groin by Companion

Accidentally shot in the groin by a .22 rifle in the hands of a companion, 18-year-old Charles Hamilton of Stirling is in serious condition in Peterborough hospital after being carried five miles out of the woods and rushed there by ambulance Monday.

The shooting accident took place late Monday morning as Hamilton and four other teen-aged youths, three of them from Stirling, were hiking through the woods to a hunting camp near Maynooth for what was to be an Easter holiday.

The boys had tired during their hike and had sat down to rest when the rifle in the hands of a companion discharged, the bullet lodging in Hamilton's groin.

In the party with Hamilton were James H. Woodbeck, 17, Gene Mack, 18, and Marvin Tanner, 16, all of Stirling and Gary Woodbeck, 14 of Bloomfield.

HOME MADE STRETCHER

With their companion seriously wounded the four other boys improvised a stretcher made from grass saplings and a blanket, then took turns in carrying Hamilton back to the road a distance of over five miles. They then drove their injured companion by car to Bancroft 30 miles south, where he was attended by Dr. Hugh Johnson. Dr. Johnson ordered the youth to Peterborough hospital where an operation was performed yesterday afternoon.

At Peterborough Civic Hospital Marvin Tanner who has come in the ambulance with Hamilton said the rifle was in the hands of Gary Woodbeck. He said Gary thought the safety catch was on and "pulled the trigger and that's how it happened."

Provincial Police Corporal Archie Greyling in charge of the Bancroft detachment, said he was informed of the accident about 1:30 Monday afternoon after the boys arrived in Bancroft.

The investigation is being continued by Constable John Hawkins who worked with the four boys to pick up their gear in the woods west of Maynooth.

Sea Cadets Tour Plant

The Quinte Sea Cadet Corps combined their regular drill night with an inspection of the Belleville Coca Cola Ltd. plant last evening.

The Corps, under the command of Lieut. Ross Watson, marched from their drill hall to the plant and after a very educating tour marched back to the ship on South Front Street.

Mr. Aubrey Coe, manager of the Coca Cola plant, and his staff guided the corps through their building, as open house performances, which they had held a few years ago. The sea cadets honored their hosts with a band concert in the plant's garage area as well as a drill demonstration.

The inspection was one of many which the Coca Cola Ltd. branch here are conducting for city organizations. The cadets also watched the many operations of the plant with interest.

Easter Story Subject of Talk To Rotarians

Sacrifice and shouldering of responsibility must go hand in hand with achievement, Rotarians were told yesterday by Archdeacon J. B. Creeggan, rector of Christ Church.

"Victory only comes in anything as we face responsibility and sacrifice," he said.

"It is only in that way that we can attain anything whatsoever."

Archdeacon Creeggan was delivering the second of a series of sermons at the Easter season to the club's weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte and his remarks was entitled "The Easter Story."

He recalled for his audience the scene in the Garden of Gethsemane in Christ, perspiring at the prospect of His Agony and Passion pleading with His Father.

From the scene at Gethsemane there are three important messages for us, he said for Christianity: the facing of one's responsibility, sacrifice, and victory.

Christ wavering for an instant, had prayed "Father if it be Thy will to let this cup pass from me . . . Nevertheless not My will but Thy will be done."

"So He faced that responsibility and He went on to be tried," Archdeacon Creeggan said.

He recounted how the excited apostles, Peter and John, had carried the Easter message bearing the body of Christ had disappeared and finding the report true realized that God had become victorious over death."

His next message was the great sacrifice and triumphed over death," Mr. Creeggan said. It became the foundation stone of Christian faith which in turn was the foundation upon which our laws and ways of life are built.

"Jesus Christ has built a great kingdom upon love for which many martyrs are prepared to die," said Archdeacon Creeggan.

"Let us cherish that victory . . . face responsibility, sacrifice and then—victory.

"We have to sacrifice if we want to obtain victory."

Archdeacon Creeggan was introduced by Major A. S. Dixon, Q.C., and thanked by H. M. Davis.

IN MEMORIAM

FREDERICK. — In loving memory of Lillie Beatrice Frederick, who passed away April 12th, 1954.

She has taken her last journey,
Left us one by one to rest;
Away from this world of sorrow
In God's home of eternal bliss.

Sweet is the memory we have of you,
Dear Mother, as we think of you today;
Sweet are the memories you left behind,
Dear Mother, to cherish always.

As I wander along life's way,
But a voice seems gently calling,
Come to me, I am waiting,
At the end of life's journey
I shall see my mother once more,
Never removed from me by death.

Will.

Three Survived Red Plane Crash In China Sea

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Royal Navy reported that three of the crew of a crashed Indian airliner carrying 1st Chinese delegates to the African-Asian conference were rescued today in the South China sea.

Fifteen persons are still missing, including eight Communist Chinese officials, a Vietnamese correspondent and two Polish journalists.

The navy said the Singapore coastal ship Taype picked up the plane's first engineer, navigator and ground engineer 200 miles northeast of Singapore, near the Great Natuna islands.

The survivors were reported suffering from slight injuries. The British frigate Dampier was rushed from Singapore to pick them up.

The four - engined Constellation disappeared Monday night over the South China sea after sending three distress signals. RAF fliers sighted the plane's wreckage and empty lifejackets off the Natuna Islands earlier today.

The Constellation, Kashmir Princess, was one of two Air India International (AII) planes the Peiping government had chartered to fly its delegates to the meeting opening in Indonesia next week.

County Tax Rate Will Be Set At April Session of Council

For what was said would be a heavy session with equalization of assessments, budget estimates to be considered, together with setting of the county tax rate, members of Hastings County Council met this forenoon for their spring session.

Council members were welcomed to the session by Warden James H. Sprackett, who asked for the co-operation of the various reeves in the conduction of a speedy business.

He noted that heavy demands were being made on taxpayers for various services and reminded that councillors were pledged to protect the county tax rate.

Warden Sprackett referred revised copies of council procedure which he said was a credit to council member calling particular attention to the clause ruling that the warden should vote only twice on any matter under consideration. Revision of the rules of procedure was authorized at the last session of council.

Before the first session of council the acts room of the council chamber was the scene of activity as the warden noting the work had been set in a cost cut and necessary work having been done by jail inmates.

The warden noted council had been called a week earlier than was anticipated owing to the fact that according to farmer members who next week may be anxious to get at their farm work.

TAKE NO ACTION

Two provincial government departments will take no action with regard to the resolution sent by county council in connection with barring dogs for deer hunting. The resolution was forwarded for statute amendment allowing payment for sheep killed by dogs at a lower price than market value.

Council had passed a resolution asking that the use of dogs be outlawed for three years in the 12 townships in Hastings. A letter from Hon. C. E. Mapledoram, minister of Lands and Forests, noted that in the evidence of over hunting in North Hastings. Admitting there was a lessening deer population Mr. Mapledoram said this was not the result of dogs but was due to changing forest conditions.

Council also had a letter from W. E. Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, stating that the department could take no action on the resolution as it would not be feasible to pick any group of townships to put out a ruling [illegible] to effect.

The resolution had mixed reception from municipalities in the county. Several of the municipalities had approved of the resolution but those in the north were generally opposed. Wolves, not dogs, were responsible for the reduction in the deer population, it was claimed.

Hon. J. A. Thomas, Minister of agriculture, noted in his letter in connection with the loans that the dog owners and not the sheep owners should be penalized if there were dog taxes failed to cover sheep losses. The minister noted that municipalities had the authority to increase dog tax if additional revenue was needed to cover sheep losses.

The resolution in question was from Tyendinaga township office. It was stated that sheep losses in their township were exceptionally high. Councillor Charles Long noted today that they had already increased the dog tax, but sheep losses still were higher than the revenue from dog taxes.

Two solicitors' letters were read to council concerning possible claims against the city regarding county roads.

Road reconstruction dealt with a county road in the village of Marmora, which had been widened at a curve and guide posts erected with the congregation of the Pentecostal Church claiming the change affected the value of their property. The claim, the ages of $3,000 were asked in the letter.

Councillors failed to agree with the damage claim and referred the matter to roads and bridges committee to deal with it as they saw fit. The same action was taken with respect to a letter from the solicitor of Madoc property owner who claimed the route of the proposed Madoc-Foxboro development would affect his property at Moira Lake on which there was a fourspar mine and shaft house.

VACCINE SAFE

In areas where the vaccine and dummy shots were used interchangeably, 426 out of 749,258 came down with polio.

In observed control areas where only normal orders were inoculated, 385 of 1,009,459 children developed polio.

Of children receiving dummy shots, 115 became paralyzed.

In the areas where vaccine was used on some and others merely observed, 38 children became paralyzed as opposed to 230 who did not get the vaccine.

Four children who received dummy shots died of polio as against none of those vaccinated in areas where dummy shots and vaccine were used interchangeably.

FAMILIES PROTECTED

In areas where it was known that children received vaccine not one child, it was found, died of deaths among children who were being merely observed.

Only one set of twins protected well against outbreaks of polio within families.

Only one out of 333 vaccinated children developed polio after family contacts as against eight out of 246 who received dummy shots.

FEW REACTIONS

On the question of safety, Dr. Francis said 931 children who were vaccinated and 239 given dummy shots had minor reactions, much the same percentage, 24.

For the so-called "major" reactions, none could clearly be attributed to inoculation. There were nine in children receiving vaccine and 13 such reactions in those getting dummy shots.

These findings failed to implicate the vaccine as a significant cause of untoward reactions.

There was no evidence to blame the vaccine as a factor in paralysis, the report declared.

Among children who developed paralysis there was no evidence that the paralysis localized or involved the left arm where all injections were given.

Dr. William J. Workman of the National Institutes of Health declared the vaccine "warrants certain consideration for licensure" attesting to its safety, purety and potency.

ABILITY VARIES

The vaccine is designed to protect against all three types of virus which cause human paralysis but it varied in its apparent ability to halt the different types.

Dr. Francis said in the dummy-vaccine shot areas, the Salk vaccine was 68 per cent effective against type 1, 100 per cent against type 3, and 92 per cent against type 2.

"On this basis it may be suggested that vaccination was 80 to 90 per cent effective against paralytic polio; that it was 60 to 70 per cent effective against disease caused by type 1 virus and 90 per cent or more effective against disease from type 2 and type 3 virus.

"The estimate would be more secure had a larger number of cases been available."

Dr. Francis said there was no significant difference in the rates of non-paralytic polio in test and control groups.

Identify Body

TORONTO (CP)—The body of a young woman washed ashore on Twonio island Monday was identified by police today as that of Mrs. Romeo Arsenault, 17.

Mrs. Arsenault, mother of a two-year-old boy, was last seen walking on the breakwall at Cherry beach last November with Kenneth Hunnington, father of four. He was also believed drowned.

MARTIN PLEDGES

Federal - provincial grants last year covered the cost of vaccine to immunize 200,000 Canadian children. Consequent increased production is about 600,000 complete doses and output likely will total close to 800,000 by next July, authorities here estimated.

The Montreal institute is [illegible] the mass-production field and is expected to produce about 200,000 complete doses by July.

Most of some 3,000 Canadian children who participated in the mass international vaccine field trials last year received injections of the polio virus. Some got dummy shots and they will be inoculated this year. In addition, thousands of schoolchildren now are getting injections in cities across the country.

In most provinces, authorities first plan to immunize children in the age groups of five and six years.

SEASON DUE SOON

Canada's poliomyelitis season begins early in the summer, usually rising to a peak in August and September, it is noted.

"Immunization must, therefore, be completed before July 1 in order to anticipate a potential epidemic," Mr. Martin said.

The 1954 polio epidemic was in 1953 when more than 8,700 cases were reported, killing more than 400 and leaving almost 5,000 afflicted with some paralysis.

Mr. Martin said costs of providing vaccines usually are borne by the provincial and municipalities. But the federal government decided last year to share costs of the polio vaccine because it was new and experimental and large quantities were needed.

Mr. Martin said he hopes the decision to continue this 50-50 cost-sharing basis this year will provide the best way of encouraging an increase in Canadian supplies.

ESTABLISH PRIORITY

While distribution will be in the hands of the provinces, he emphasized the need for province-wide uniformity in the vaccine's use.

"Within this broad policy it will be given to children in selected age groups, with those in the age immediately before and below receiving priority, some 2½ million people than a half a million dollars more income. Increase in the retail trade in the municipality is now estimated at $380,000.

EXPRESSED VIEWS

Mr. Mundle expressed a number of views during his term as Chamber of Commerce. There is need to set up a civic betterment committee, a "get out the vote campaign, consideration of the Bridge Street area extending districts and activities designed to bring them in step with the community. He urged that the chamber should become associated with the "Better Business Bureau."

Another activity which Mr. Mundle suggested the chamber might foster is the sponsorship of co-operative sales, supported by co-operative advertising.

During the meeting Mr. Mundle's associate Jack Wilson claimed that the threat of Belleville's annual Santa Claus parade to Trenton trade and commerce should be met by a comparative project sponsored by the retail merchant body of the local chamber. Specifically he suggested that local merchants combining to keep business in town could stage retail campaigns. They could stage what Chicagoans and other activities of that type."

During the business portion of the meeting a motion to increase the directorate from 12 members to 15 was unanimously adopted.

Retiring President Jack Goldberg reviewed highlights of the year's activities. He reminded that fewer than 110 craft of various sizes and types had registered with Leo Auger maintained at the Trenton docks by the Chamber to provide aerial surveys for boatmen. Mr. Goldberg made mention of the chamber's new tourist information office at the foot of Farley's Hill and new beautification in the municipal building.

Mr. Mundle was introduced by James Parker.

Promote Community Betterment Purpose of Chamber of Commerce

TRENTON — (Special)—Robert A. Mundle, Ontario representative of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce told the annual meeting of the local Chamber attended by 25 business and professional men that the progress of any community depended on continued and constructive thinking. The meeting was held in the town hall.

Stressing that the purpose of a Chamber of Commerce was to promote community betterment on a broad scale Mr. Mundle pointed out that the prime importance in the operation of a Chamber is the extent of the country's industrial expansion. He cited Ontario's industrial expansion and interest of acquiring new industries since 1953. He drew attention to the fact that last year the county's payroll potential and half of the nation's federal industrial revenue are centred in this province. He indicated that 1955 will be a good year for Ontario locating new industries.

Mr. Mundle compared the job of acquiring new industries to a miner finding a mine. "The miner doesn't know whether he is five feet from the mother lode or a million feet from fire dollars," he explained. He urged his listeners that patience should be practised and that an attitude of never giving up should be adopted.

The speaker gave an illustration of what a new industry with 100 employees could do for a community. "Some 296 more people need 112 more houses and more than a half a million dollars more income. Increase in the retail trade in the municipality is now estimated at $380,000.

EXPRESSED VIEWS

Mr. Mundle expressed a number of views during his term as Chamber of Commerce. There is need to set up a civic betterment committee, a "get out the vote campaign, consideration of the Bridge Street area extending districts and activities designed to bring them in step with the community. Postman Right In Kicking Dog For Self Defence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil service commission board of appeals ruled Monday, in effect, that it is all right for a postman to kick a vicious dog in self defence.

This was in the case of Robert W. Milligan, a Bartlesville, Okla., letter carrier who had a lot of trouble with dogs on his route, and got fired for what he did about it. But R. Blaine Baker, chairman of the appeals board, overruled a regional civil service board which had approved Milligan's sacking by the post office department. The appeals board decision said he be restored to duty.

Blaze struck the post office department that the "preponderance of evidence" indicated that "the dogs mercenaries are known to have vicious habits."

THE GUARANTEED ANNUAL WAGE

The CIO United Auto Workers Union, at its annual convention held recently in Cleveland, decided that achievement of the guaranteed annual wage would be the union's prime objective in the year ahead. To finance its campaign on the horizon the union imposed a levy of $5 per member in order to amass a $25,000,000 "war chest" by mid-summer.

The idea of a guaranteed annual wage has been under study for many years. Almost year-round employment in the auto industry for the past 15 years, with the exception of prolonged periods of idleness caused by strikes, shunted talk of the guaranteed annual wage into the background. With prospects of unemployment looming on the horizon the desirability of insuring 52 pay cheques a year has moved the "annual wage" argument into the forefront of labor's demands.

The first of the guaranteed annual wage is not impossible. Provision of a guaranteed annual wage at present rates of pay, under present marketing practices and in the light of present labor-management thinking and in the light of present economic conditions would create problems of extraordinary difficulties.

There are certain fundamentals in the operation of any business that must be taken into account before the guaranteed annual wage can be understood intelligently.

First and foremost consideration in the operation of any business is the making of profit. Without profit business dies, unemployment, spreads, purchasing power declines and the standard of living slumps.

Profit is the difference between the price one gets for a product and the cost of production.

Profit, for many years, was considered a nasty word. It was mentioned with the same loathing one would expect from an Egyptian slave concerning his master's whip. Profit is not a lash flaying workers to the limit. Profit moves inventions into use, builds plants and gives companies the means and the confidence to expand.

Some have maintained that profits—high executive salaries, stock dividends, and company cars—have been too high. It need only be pointed out that if all executive salaries were limited to $10,000 per year and all dividends and all reserves were paid to workers, the whole sum could not meet labor's payroll for two months.

Where then is the money to come from to pay the guaranteed annual wage? In years of full employment payment of the guaranteed annual wage is no problem. In years when there is unemployment the guaranteed annual wage means that workers are being paid during periods of idleness. Increasing the cost of production is necessary to compensate for paying idle workers. In a competitive enterprise system raising prices means decreasing production because of the inability of persons to pay lower income brackets to pay for higher priced goods and services.

If labor is to have a guaranteed annual wage industry must have guaranteed annual work. At present labor is contracted on an hourly basis. Not knowing whether one will be jobless within the hour accounts for the high rates of pay in hourly-rated jobs. It is only consistent to expect that if labor is contracted on an annual basis then the "hourly" wage rate must come down because there is no longer the necessity to claim high pay because of job insecurity. Unfortunately, too little is said about the necessity of weeding out workers in the hourly-rated jobs if these jobs are to be reclassified on an annual basis.

Union practices in job classification and seniority, another means of giving guaranteed employment a measure of job security, have tied industry's hands in the distribution of workers in slack times. With a contract for guaranteed annual work industry must make the best use of its labor force for the duration of the contract if it is to maintain a competitive position.

Job classification and seniority impose a rigidity in the labor force that makes for inflexibility in the use of manpower under changing conditions a most inefficient procedure. Such inefficiency means higher production costs and inevitably a higher price for the product.

Guaranteed annual work or yearly labor force means that it must produce with a regularity that takes no account of current "seasonal" trends or buying habits. In the past a reserve labor force has met increased demand with increased production and then been discharged during the slumps. It is not a happy position but until a more even buying pattern can be established management is faced with no choice either production must follow the purchasing pattern; over-production during low periods must be stored to meet the demands of peak periods; or the buying pattern of "peak and slump" must be levelled.

It is not inconceivable that mass advertising in all media accompanied by certain seasonal price swings might effectively level off purchasing power so that demand would be fairly constant all year round.

There are many problems facing labor, management and the consumer in the forthcoming battle for the guaranteed annual wage. It is not to be denied, however, that many of them can be solved and some effective compromise reached. There is, however, no hope for solution, or even friendly negotiation, unless both labor and management are prepared to face a revolution in their present concepts of doing business. Both sides will have to insure the continuance of profit. The consumer is vitally concerned in the outcome of or any fruitless gains in the attempt to establish a guaranteed annual wage because in the end it will be the consumer who pays.

AWKWARD MAN

I read what social writers write,
My party manners are correct.
My table manners most polite.
I sit up straight and stand at ease,
But when it comes to cakes and tea
I am a creature of despair.
A helpless man I seem to be Without a table and a chair.

I bow to ladies when we meet.
"A lovely party, this," I say.
But asked to stand to drink and eat
I am confronted with dismay.
That little napkin, plate and cup
Are terrifying things to me.

For at the moment I look up
Upon the floor the cakes will be.
Of dainty tid-bits I'm afraid,
However tempting they may be.
I've never learned the juggling trade;
That's much too difficult for me.
The party napkin slides away,
The spoon goes flying from the cup.
No social graces I display
When I must eat while standing up.

The Y.M.C.A. officials have appointed for the football season, and Ralph Morden, physical director at the YMCA, announces that team managers may commence signing up their players now as the necessary forms are ready. Managers are cautioned to make sure that all players meet the age requirements, in part as some teams have lost out when it was learned that players were over age. Representatives of the Kiwanis Club, who will be in charge of the arrangements for the league this season are H. Clegg, F. Fulford, M. Wickett and T. McCann. The YMCA will be represented by R. L. HAVE FAITH

Macaulay tells of a poor apprentice who tended a cathedral window entirely out of pieces of glass that his master had condemned and threw away. When it was completed and the window won the admiration of all:

There is a legend that when the temple of Solomon was being built, the stones which were to be used by builders could find no place. As they went on with the building, however, they gradually awoke to the realization that it was this stone which would hold all the other stones together. This was the stone without which the building they were erecting would not be a temple at all. This was the stone which the builders had rejected, but as the psalmist said, it had become the head of the corner.

So often rejected things and persons have later had a glorious place in the human pageant. Rejected stones have a way of becoming the heads of corners. Think of the legends that have grown up about rejected children who became geniuses and great servants of their people.

Everyone at times has a feeling of rejection and is sorry for himself. Yet it is not rejection which is hard to endure; rather it is the lack of faith in one's self, or in the divine ordering of human events which lead to fear that this rejection will be permanent.

Have faith in yourself! Best of all, have faith in a God of love who sees to it that all things work together for good for them that love Him.

The Sea Storehouse

(Written for "UNESCO" by Gerald Wood)

Earth, air, sun and sea comprise the world's main material inheritance. He lives on the land where the air surrounds him and the sunlight falls above. But of the sea he normally sees only that small portion which is evaporated by the sun, transported by the air to fall as rain, and is returned to the ocean by the rivers. The sea itself is hostile terrain; man can neither walk upon it nor live within it. To acquire its riches he must embark upon it and face its hazards. Although most men and boys have shown touching the sea, most of human activity has occurred on ocean and few men know it well. Yet it is humanity's great unused resource, and, moreover, a truly international resource.

The land is divided among nations; the sea belongs to mankind. A few miles adjacent to the shores are under national control, but from a microscopic fraction of the 139 million square miles of the ocean surface—about two and a half times the entire land area of the earth.

And the sea is more than an expanse of water. Its last depth and unlike the rock underground, the deepest part of the sea floor is reached. Its average depth is 2.3 miles and the total volume of the sea is 317,000,000 cubic miles. This figure far surpasses the human imagination. It becomes, for instance, by the fact that the entire human race, more than 2,000 million persons, could be crowded into one tenth of a single cubic mile.

The land's mineral resources are vast, but many of mineral and food resources have hardly been tapped to meet man's needs. Man has extracted salt, used by from the sea, salt has been evaporated on shallow shores and basins and lone fishermen have hauled edible fish from the waters. Today, however, the catch is less than one percent of the world's total. As the population of the world and its needs increase the ocean will become ever more important as a source of sustenance. The understanding of its resources will be necessary. A world population of 400 million persons is foreseen by the end of this century, well within the lifetime of many children. Long before then the sea must be put to better use. Many privately financed and government institutes have developed instruments for exploring the ocean's mineral wealth and submerged mountains on the bottom, and revealed strange forms of life deeper still. Recently international organizations like the Pacific Science Congress and the Indo-Pacific Fisheries council have called attention to the research that is still needed, and especially to studies that will increase the world's food supply.

Now Unesco's Department of Natural Sciences is organizing a broader international attack on the problem of the sea, as it already has successfully done on the problems of the arid zones. At the General Conference which met in Montevideo last November, the Secretariat presented a programme of assistance to oceanographic research on a world scale, prepared in agreement with the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization and the World Meteorological Organization. The aims of this program are three-fold. They include the co-ordination of the efforts of national organizations with maritime phenomena; the study and exploration of the sea; and the scientific basis of all the resources of the sea; and the establishment of the most appropriate methods of utilities of higher research and unified international standards. Such an inventory could constitute an important element of the national wealth.

The possibilities of this research are great. They include, for example, the recovery of fresh water from the sea for the irrigation of the land. Water evaporates in the sun, far from the shore. This can easily be done by solar energy and simple distillation, but the cost is still too high for ordinary use. The minimum cost of fresh water from the sea is about fifty cents per a thousand gallons, with very expensive fuel. As this is at least ten times a practical price for irrigation water, new methods are being sought. There is a faint possibility that atomic fuels may eventually become cheap enough to serve the purpose.

Another possibility is that the salts that are separated from the water during the distillation will help to pay the cost. About three percent of all sea-water is ordinary salt, sodium chloride, but this is plentiful and would have little value. The sea also contains much else by all the globe's supply of soluble phosphates, which are necessary to the productivity of soils that have been exhausted. Every cubic mile of sea-water contains 750 tons of magnesium, 225 tons of phosphorous and 165 tons of iodine. Iron, potassium, the three major agricultural fertilizers. These plant foods could become valuable by-products of the distillation of fresh water from the sea, but there is little prospect that they could be cheaply separated from the 161 million tons of common salt that are also present in every cubic mile of sea-water.

Much more important is the rich plant-life in the sea which thrives on abundant sunshine, minerals, and, above all, on dissolved carbon dioxide and carbonates. The amount is at least 15 times, and perhaps as much as 30 times, all the carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere. The substance of all plants is built from carbon dioxide and water by the energy of sunshine. Thus life began in the sea and still thrives there at least as much as on land. It has been reliably estimated that a square mile of land supports about 2,000 tons of vegetation per year. It is not affected by weather, drought or any such reasons. But man and the area of the sea is so great that the annual production of ocean plant life is probably five times that of vegetation on land.

Most of the sea plants, however, are microscopic and grow far out from shore so that they serve no purpose but to feed the fishes. Even shore plants are little used as food for man or for domestic animals. Much more needs to be learned about these varieties, the conditions under which they grow best, and their nutritional value; experiments in cultivating and harvesting them etc. Dr. Gilbert Klugh, one of the divisions of the large science of oceanography. An example of what can be done is the recent domestication of the green algae, ulva, which was grown in tanks to yield 15 tons of high-protein food per acre per year.

But the major practical objective of oceanographic research is to find an increase in the availability of fish for human food. The FAO has estimated that the present annual total production of fish and all sea foods (including whales) is about twenty-six million metric tons per year. But this includes the weight of fish used for oil, meal, fish fertilizer, and the inedible parts of food fish. This is equivalent to the annual fish harvest amounts to about 22,000 million pounds, which is about 1 kilogram per person per year. This may be compared with the 1,000 pounds per person per year the world over. Thus fish and sea foods provide less than one per cent of the human diet.

The reason for this comparison is that the total production of fish and sea foods amounts to 100 pounds per square mile of ocean, while the annual production of land is 2,000 pounds per acre. If the fish feed, is 13,000 tons per square mile. Thus, although the total amount of food available in the ocean, the total fish population of deepest sea, is very small. Finally, the same thing is strikingly illustrated by the fact that the total fish caught per year is only 0.8 pounds per acre of ocean, i.e. a fraction of one per cent of the food production of most crops on the land.

Such facts give impetus to an expanded programme of research in oceanography.

It is true that the amount of fish in the sea may be increased by better fishing vessels, especially if they are larger and motorized. But modern fishing methods, equipment and marketing fish must also be developed. Fish are unpopular with people who do not now eat fish need to learn its nutritional value. Fish must be preserved and kept in primitive method of finding food, namely, by following the fish, ocean vessels, as the hunters of the forests, or herders of the plains. Sometimes expairing is made by the use of echo sounders. These early are called for almost constant replacement and repair. But even today though there are fewer replacements to be made, if they are made, trouble has to be faced!

The structure of character needs to be constantly renewed—bad habits dropped and good ones created to take their places. No matter how good any idea may be, there is always a better one, and this is what makes for progress, whether for individual or business!

gressive old Doctor Osler cited humorously in an address by the graduating class at Johns-Hopkins and the news became sent round the world as Osler's own recommendation? Probably never made it. He shoved off at 67. Osler did it better; he conked out at a respectable 70.

Old-timers may remember that the conductor of this personal column advocated compulsory retirement from work, profession, business at 65. Looking back, I think now that it my plan had been accepted—voluntary retirement at 60, compulsory retirement at 64, with a pension computed at half the individual's annual income or earnings since the age of 40—I could have done a lot more worthwhile in recent years.

Perhaps my opinion about the best way to retire was influenced by what I found when I examined the candidates for the presidency in the course of the 1948 campaign. On the one hand the Governor, who cheerfully went through every test I wished to make, said he might write what I pleased about his cardiovascular system, for there was in excellent health. On the other hand the Senator would not submit to any kind of examination unless and until he got a ruling from him my word not to reveal to the public what I might find . . . I kept my word. Privately I spoke to the that if elected he would not live out his term.

Ever since I have pondered the question: Why do we entrust the fate of our country to a human whose capacity to bear the burden we do not know or care to know? Think of this when you think of Trapoi Dome and Valley Forge. The armed services must pass a physical examination to qualify for promotion, or even to remain on active duty. Nobody cares whether the Commander-in-Chief is capable of doing his job, just so long as the politicians like him. In Yankee land, we are fanatics for pairing off. Why not a pair of Presidents, one of whom is a diovascular degeneration, C. V. D., arteriosclerosis, hardening of the arteries, Pair Number One, at 8

So a person's chronological age is not important. But what is important is whether the individual is anatomically and physiologically capable of fulfilling the requirements of the office to which we purpose to elect him.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It is sometimes highly profitable to be a disagreeable person. Not infrequently, an executive, a superintendent or foreman, a high grading officer or a shop steward has owed his rise to the fact that he was a thoroughly disagreeable person.

By being disagreeable, a man is spared many of the annoyances of being good-natured. Nobody imposes on him. His fellow workers keep their distance. At his career, do not include him in their pranks. He isn't invited out. He is not involved in any of the normal little swindles that are perpetrated by the boys, in the way of time wasted, jobs ducked, misdeeds covered up. Therefore, the disagreeable person gives the impression of being a harder worker than others, a more reliable, more conscientious type. So up he goes on the ladder. Sometimes he goes very high. Others choose to be disagreeable as a matter of policy. It is more or less.

So long as these disagreeable persons stay disagreeable to the end, I suppose we have no reason to complain. But they are very willing to live with the fruits their way of life. Occasionally, one of them will change his ways, far by being a proper heel . . . and then he is the object of derision of those he had to deal with in the past. Nothing is more amusingly despicable type, is the one who gains all he strives for on the strength of the need to be disagreeable, and of rides to ruin because of his friendly spirit. He wants it by ways. Maybe he merely wants to be where he is instead of cool.

There is something ludicrous about a disagreeable person trying desperately to be agreeable, gives the spectator, once the laughter fades, a sad sense of the many experiences on seeing a dancing bear.

Bears should be either bears or people.

REPLACEMENTS

No matter how strong a building or machine is built, constant replacements must be made. There is no forever in anything. One of the great buildings being torn down to make way for something more modern will be up-to-date, and in tune with the efficiency of the time.

We thought our first automobiles were very wonderful, but they look very crude and old-fashioned today. Those early care called for almost constant replacement and repair. But even today though there are fewer replacements to be made, if they are made, trouble has to be faced!

The structure of character needs to be constantly renewed—bad habits dropped and good ones created to take their places. No matter how good any idea may be, there is always a better one, and this is what makes for progress, whether for individual or business!

Weddings

SARGINSON — STAPLEY

On Saturday, April 2nd, at 2.30 p.m., a quiet, but pretty double ring wedding took place in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville, when Verna Doreen Stapley, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Stapley, of Belleville, became the bride of Royce William Sarginson, of Oshawa, R.R. 3, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sarginson. The Reverend Keith Hazlett, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. William Connor, church organist, rendered traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Wilfred Stapley, the bride wore a charming gown of white sylon net over taffeta, fashioned with strapless, fitted bodice, with jacket of Chantilly lace, having three-quarter length sleeves. The bouffant, ballerina-length skirt featured a chantilly lace yoke, with alternating frills of net and lace. She wore a finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, held by a coronet encrusted with pearls and carried a cascade of American Beauty roses, with streamers knotted with white ribbons.

Mrs. Roberta Newman, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride, wearing a ballerina-length gown of pale green net over taffeta, with strapless bodice and matching taffeta jacket having short sleeves. Her headdress was a golden colored sequins and tiny, yellow flowered band, shoulder length veil of matching net. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow tea roses.

Mr. Douglas Baumbour of Oshawa, R.R. 3, attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the church parlors, which were prettily adorned for the occasion with pink and white streamers, bride and silver bows; white wedding bells and baskets of pink and white spring flowers.

The bride's mother, wearing dusty rose crepe with navy accessories, and yellow rose corsage, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in brown nyion crepe with yellow and brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

For travelling to Detroit and Cleveland, Ohio, the bride chose pale green brocaded taffeta with pink and black accessories and shortie top coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Sarginson will reside in Oshawa.

Guests were present from Bancroft, Marmora, Painsdale, Toronto, Oshawa and Bowmanville.

O.R.M.T. Assoc. Meets At Academy

The recent O.R.M.T.A. meeting was held at St. Michael's Academy with Sister Mary Germaine in hostess. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was down somewhat, however, all who attended were well reward... for their effort.

A short business meeting was held and it was decided the branch should send two delegates to the convention at Nigara Falls in April. Sister Mary Germaine had already been named, so it was suggested that Mrs. Davidson, as president, should be the other delegate, this met with the approval of all.

The guest speaker, Sister Bibiana, of Gananoque, was introduced by Bessie Handley. Sister Bibiana spoke on the role of the musical teacher and gave an inspired address. She said the music teachers should at all times have a high standard of responsibility, ethics and pride, that teachers should encourage pupils to strive for high marks in examinations, also to enter music festivals. There are often disappointments to be met in the adjudications of festivals, but pupils should have courage to face them, and in this respect it is the responsibility of the teacher to be a real character builder.

Tea was served afterwards with Sister Mary Germaine and Sister Mary Joan of Arc from Tweed presiding at the tea table.

Prince of Wales H-S Holds Meeting

The April meeting of Prince of Wales Home and School Association was held last week in the school with the president, Mrs. Peter Murray in the chair.

Mrs. Earl Price gave the devotional on the Easter message. Mrs. Phillips read the resignation of Mrs. McLean the secretary and Mrs. Murray said that Mr. Bedford had consented to fill the position for the two remaining months.

A new tape recorder has been purchased through the joint resources of the Home and school association and the school board.

Mrs. E. Fairman, Regent of the Argyll Chapter of the I. O. D. E. and Mrs. F. Symons secretary of the chapter were present at the meeting. Mrs. Fairman outlined the work and aims of the I.O.D.E.

The ladies recently gave a party for new Canadians. It is their aim to place flags in schools from Yukon to Newfoundland. The school is the place to start to teach loyalty so the I.O.D.E. members do their part by presenting flags to the schools.

Mrs. Fairman presented a fine outdoor flag to the school. It was accepted by Mr. J. Sproule, chairman of the board.

Mr. Burch showed the film "Who Will Teach my Child"? The tape recorder was used to record the discussion led by Mr. Sproule and Mrs. Slack. Mrs. Murray gave a reading entitled "Jesus Paid My Fare" which was also recorded.

Mrs. Gray and her committee served lunch, concluding the meeting.

Argyll IODE Holds Meeting

The Argyll Chapter, I.O.D.E. held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Vaughan, Trent Road, with 20 members present.

Mrs. Everett Fairman, regent, read the meeting.

A letter of appreciation was received from Mrs. Alex. Breuls, who is now residing in Toronto, expressing her sincere thanks to the from the members and wishing the chapter success in its future I.O.D.E. work. The remains each is this month and members were reminded to bring or send their contributions to the armouries on the afternoon of the sale. The date will be announced in the paper later. Last year's draw for card table and chairs was so successful it was decided to hold a another draw. Tickets for which will be sold during the summer and fall.

Mrs. Harold Vaughan and Mrs. Lionel Blaker will represent the Argyll Chapter at the I.O.D.E. convention in Hamilton April 20-23.

Many favorable comments have been heard regarding the afternoon tea held in the Officers' Mess of the Armouries on March 29th to welcome the new Candidates, who received their citizenship papers on that day and became Canadians.

It was felt by all that this truly was a great day in the lives of these people and represented all pois should have courage to face them, and in this respect it is the responsibility of the teacher to be a real character builder.

Tea was served afterwards with Sister Mary Germaine and Sister Mary Joan of Arc from Tweed presiding at the tea table.

'Vision' Topic At Tabernacle W. Association

The April meeting of the Tabernacle United Church Woman's Association was held in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. R. L. Johnston, the president in the chair.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the hymn "Hope of the World," by Mrs. Hall Harbinson, which won her the Evanston prize at the World Council of Churches in Evanston last year.

Mrs. Phyllis Barclay sang the solo "Consecration" accompanied by Mrs. W. P. Dodd at the piano.

After reports were given and correspondence dealt with Mrs. R. Rowley gave a short talk on Christian Stewardship, "The Garden of Gethsemane," emphasizing the thought "what we share is important for the gift without the giver is bare."

The president announced that the Rev. K. Daniel would be the guest speaker at the May meeting and then introduced Mrs. Elliott, of Stirling, who gave the Easter message entitled "Vision," quoting from the Bible the pass-age: "Open Thou mine eyes that I may see glorious things," and "Where there is no vision a task is but a dream, a vision is a dream set to music and went on to give a great many beautiful and inspiring thoughts which made those present realize what the Ancestors missed a great treat.

Mrs. Elliott followed her talk with pictures thrown on the screen, which she had collected on a recent trip to California, which depicted the vision of Dr. Eaton who had turned a neglected piece of property, including a cemetery, into a thing of beauty which known as Forest Lawn Park.

Mrs. L. E. Gray moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Elliott for her interesting and inspiring message.

OTTAWA RIVER HYDRO

Another dream which has been realized was shown by pictures thrown on the screen of the Hydro Electric Power development on the Ottawa River, by Mr. H. Beach of the local Hydro Commission, and which gave an insight into the huge amount of work involved and the ability of the engineers who planned such a project.

Mr. E. S. Frost moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Beach for giving a glimpse of the work being undertaken by Hydro throughout the province of Ontario for the benefit of its citizens.

Refreshments were served by the Group 4 of the W.A., which brought to a close an interesting and inspiring meeting.

An impressive Memorial service for all who had passed away in the six sections of the Presbyterial. Eight members of Madoc Auxiliary attended the meetings.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ESCORT SHOULD HAVE ASKED FOR FIRST DANCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Your answer concerning the rule that the girl's escort always gets the first dance, was particularly interesting to me, for I had just gone through an embarrassing experience which proves the point. I had my escort and I arrived at a dance, he danced the first dance with the other woman in the party . . . my escort had invited her and her escort to dine with us before. I had a dance. So the other man asked me to dance the first dance with him. My escort's excuse was the fact that the other couple were his guests. That made no difference. My escort's excuse was the fact all the time, He wasn't corrected this time, was he, Mrs. Beeckman? —M.H.

No, your escort wasn't corrected this time! He should have asked you to dance the first dance with him.

THE GRANDCHILDREN ASSIST AT GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Very dear friends of mine are to celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary. There is to be an Open House party, and cake and coffee are to be served. The guests are three daughters and a number of grandchildren, and they would like to have the oldest daughter of each daughter to be a hostess. Would this be proper? What would their duties be?

2. The grandchildren are going together to buy their grandparents a present. They would like to know how they should sign the card to be enclosed. For instance, should they sign "Love from all the grandchildren," or should it be signed with each grandchild's name? If latter, may I have the first name or the family surname after? —A Friend

To have these three 'oldest daughters" as assistant hostesses would, I think, be a very nice idea and very appealing. What their duties would be would have to be very definitely worked out. They might be stationed at or near the entrance to direct guests to the room where the wraps are to be left; or they might direct the guests to the receiving-line; or they might assist in any way with the serving of the refreshments. If there is to be an Anniversary Cake (and most definitely there should be one, and as handsome a one as possible!) they might be assigned to serve the cake after the "bride and groom" have cut the first slice and shared it with each other. And if there is to be a Guest Book, as there sometimes is, they might "preside" over that.

2. Before they go to buy the present they should learn this important card all ready . . . each grandchild should sign her own name, her full name . . . that personal handwriting will be cherished by these loving grandparents!

WHEN YOU MUST INTERRUPT A CONVERSATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When I have to interrupt a conversation between two or even more people, because I have to speak to one of them, I am never quite sure what is the polite way to excuse myself. Please tell me. —Jo.

First, if possible, wait for a break in the conversation. Then go toward the person you wish to speak to, and say, graciously, "I beg your pardon. May I speak to you for a moment?" Then you stand aside to give him the opportunity to excuse himself from the other (or others) and come to join you.

"...Diagonally Hitched" A Miserable and Sorry State."

By Mary Moore

By MARY MOORE

The best laid plans, of mice and men and Mary went a-glay.

I tried to keep the whole thing cool-ordered but just the same we were swamped in a shower of showers. It was fun though, even if Marianne was nobly trying to study for her R. N. examinations in the midst of the excitement.

Her nursing school roommate Betty, and Pat, another boon pal, (bridesmaids both of them) gave her a miscellaneous shower. I want to tell you about the fun and games.

To slow things up somewhat I proposed that we walk to Betty's house. Even though it was a 40 minute hike she did not seem to think it was odd on being accustomed to lifelong oddness. When we arrived there was a living room full of her nursing friends and two of their mothers, and a surprise for me too for they had drawn place mats, illustrated cookbook, complete cups and saucers to mention only a few items.

While Marianne was opening the gifts a gay little verse book was passed around into which each guest inscribed her favorite recipe. By strange coincidence two of them brought by Jane was for a Salad Supreme. Cora without a reader requested only that sent, and which I did not have. Jane brought me several times and I hope Margaret H. sees it here.

SALAD DRESSING CAKE

One cup sugar, 1 cup commercial salad dressing (mayonnaise type), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup hot water, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup hot water, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Bake in 3 layers at 350 for 40 min. or more. (Female's note: Jane did not mention that the flour was sifted but I think it should be, and then sifted with the cocoa, salt and baking powder.) Would cream the sugar and salad dressing together first, then stir in dry ingredients alternately with the hot water. Sounds interesting doesn't it? I hope Herbie enjoys Marianne's first try at it!

The gifts were more miscellaneous than I had expected but the same old qualities needed in this VOLUPTUOUS affair. Our BEDRAGGLED investigation has been the following HARASSED facts. One is that she is a BLACK WOMAN and two, she bakes delicious cakes. . . . with them POCKMARKED qualities we are sure she will make a SOBBING success of her LIGHT - HEADED marriage . . .".

The "gigantic black woman" then took over and started the delightful business of unwrapping miscellaneous shower gifts which had been stacked under a bridge table (the minister's desk) which was dragged to the floor with a tablecloth. The gifts were more than wedding gifts than shower gifts. Besides the beautiful cut crystal, lovely colored pottery tableware, stainless steel utensils and rack for them, hand drawn place mats, illustrated cookbook, complete cups and saucers to mention only a few items.

"Dear Friends tonight my topic is blushing." It's a state — MISERABLE state. Adam and Eve first started this MARVELOUS state and it has been going on ever since! In this HORRIBLE condition two DELICIOUS people are required: one DEVASTATING man and one GIGANTIC woman, who, when DIAGONALLY hitched, live together in BLIJOUS bliss.

"Now it seems that we have a SHORT person here tonight who is going to enter this ANTIQUE state on April 3. This NAUGHTY-

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHO'S "TOO OLD AT 30"... NOBODY, SAYS SHE!

Remember that woman I told you about recently who, signing herself "Too Old at 30," was complaining that she couldn't get a job? She was writing in response to a column of mine in which I had expressed the opinion that mothers shouldn't live with their married children unless there is no other possible alternative. This woman said that she had two sons at home whom she would like to see married but, since she had no income, and no employer would hire her, they refused to leave her.

Well, now I have a letter from another woman of 50 who declares that when she read the first woman's letter it made her see red.

"It's time this woman quit feeling sorry for herself," she writes.

"I have yet to see the person who cannot find some kind job if she wants it enough. At first, it may not be the one she is looking for, but one job is a stepping stone to another."

Going on to cite her own experience, this second woman tells me that the death of her husband, five years ago, left her with the problem of supporting herself, since she had no children to take over that responsibility. At the present time, she had an accident which resulted in a hand and wrist injury that made it impossible for her to take up again the kind of work in which she had formerly excelled. Undaunted, she set to work to find something else she could do.

"My first job was in a dairy store, where handling the heavy containers of milk helped strengthen my hand.

"I then went to our employment bureau and took an aptitude test to find out what I was best fitted for, and I then tried to find that type of work. Several times I was almost hired, until the employer found out how old I was.

"In order to keep going during this period, I took whatever part-time work I could find—housework, sales work, telephone canvassing.

"Finally, during the Christmas holidays, I was working in one of our large department stores, the store manager began watching my work and, when the holidays were over, he offered me a full-time sales job. In the three years since then, I have risen from sales to department head and finally to section manager, a position I have held for four years.

"I might add that also working in our town is an 81-year-old seamstress and her 78-year-old sister, who are in charge of the alteration department of one of our largest stores."

In conclusion, she suggests that the woman who inspired her to write this letter of hers to this column "needs to take stock of herself and find out what's wrong."

"When she gets ready to have a job," she emphasizes, "she must be meticulously clean and neat in appearance. Trying to look young, be is not necessary. I myself use no make-up and wear long hair done in braids, but I always make sure that my hair is clean and neat, never straggly, and that my clothes are plain and neat."

Such a letter should certainly be a boost to the morale of any older woman who is discouraged about her chances of finding employment. I heartily thank the one who took the time and trouble to write it, and I sincerely hope the one in whose behalf it was written will see it, and that it will put such heart into her that she will go job-hunting with renewed courage and self-confidence—and with fine success!

YOU HAVE BETTER MANNERS THAN YOUR GIRL FRIEND

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Not long ago, I was invited to a dance and had a lot of fun. But when my girl friend took me home, she said she had heard me say, "Thank you" to every boy I danced with at the end of every dance. She said it was wrong to say that; that you just sit down when the dance is over without saying anything.

I think it's impolite not to say anything. After all, a boy usually doesn't have to dance with you. If "Thank you" is not the right thing to say in return for a boy asking you to dance with him, what should you say?

Please help me very soon because I'm invited to another dance, and since my girl friend said what she did, I feel very embarrassed and ashamed to face the boys I danced with. I feel I really very wrong in saying that? — P. Dear P.:

You certainly were not wrong, and you have far better manners than your girl friend has.

You did exactly right in saying "Thank you" to the boys at the dance, and there is no reason in the world why you should feel embarrassed or ashamed of having done so. I am sure that the boys who asked you to dance appreciate and respect your graciousness in being courteous and like you all the better for it. Don't let anybody talk you into being any different.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

TRANQUILLITY PAYS BEAUTY DIVIDENDS

Do you let small irritations upset you? Does your nervous system go jingle-jangle when things don't go right? If so, you'd better put a lighter rein on your reactions—for beauty's sake.

When you're in a dither you'll find that you are scowling; your lips are clamped together like a vise; your muscles are tense. All of which contributes to fatigue and is likely to contort your features in position. Yes, we know, life is hectic these days. But that's all the more reason to remain calm.

Don't clutch the telephone as if somebody were going to grab it away from you. Watch your voice, too. At the first sign of its becoming strident, you'll notice that your throat muscles are tense.

What if the grocery clerk does mess up your order and send the wrong things? An emotional binge will have a far worse effect on you than it will on him.

Will you be late for dinner and hasn't telephoned? When he does blow in, don't jump on him. Give him a chance to explain. In this way you have a reasonable excuse.

No life is free of irritations, disappointments, worries, big or little. You mustn't let them get you down. You mustn't let them interfere flying if you are going to be the pleasant, relaxed, sympathetic companion—the lady in the looking glass.

Uncontrolled emotions also have a distressing effect upon the health. The pulse beat quickens and the heart to thump. Worry slows up circulation and the processes of digestion, and elimination. The result? Well, you know what happens when you're nervous—everything affects one. may

PLEASE REMOVE YOUR OLD TELEPHONE NUMBER from the centre of your dial your new number is beneath it first — Make sure of the number you are calling by looking it up in your new Telephone Book.

then — Lift the receiver, hold it close to your ear — and LISTEN FOR THE HUM-M-M. That's your signal the line is ready, so when you hear it, begin to dial:

1 Place your finger through opening in dial where the first letter of number appears — the "W" in "WOodland".

2 Pull dial around evenly until your finger strikes the finger stop.

3 Remove finger and let dial spin back to rest. Do not interfere with its return.

Now dial the second letter — the BLACK "O" not the red zero — then the FIVE FIGURES shown, in their proper order.

The telephone you are calling will then ring, or you will get a buzz-buzz-buzz sound, the "busy" signal. If you find you have made a mistake before completing a call, just replace the receiver and start over again.

FLOOD CONTROL

This sketch shows the control structure and a portion of the dam for the suggested St. Agathe detention basin as a means of combatting future flooding of the Red River at Winnipeg. The basin would be formed by an earth-fill dike stretching across the prairie immediately upstream from the farming community of Ste. Agathe. Water flow would be controlled by a radial gate system. Estimated cost is $12,000,000. (CP Photo.)

1950 Winnipeg Flood Fourth In Size But Most Devastating

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — In 1826 the Red river washed over the southern Manitoba plains in the greatest recorded flood in the river's history.

If such a flood were to occur today, downtown Winnipeg would be under six feet of water.

In 1852 the second greatest flood created a 1,000-square-mile lake. In the 1861 Red river valley pioneers fled from the third greatest flood.

But the most devastating occurred in 1950. It rates only fourth in size. But it tops the list when it comes to human suffering and property loss.

TREMENDOUS COST

Just what the flood cost was never could be calculated. As far as money spent, the 1951 public accounts of Manitoba show $14,861,593.

But there is no yardstick on human suffering. And only a wild guess could be made at the economic losses.

This happened five years ago. Since then the Red has behaved itself. But everyone knows only too well that this muddy river slithering over the plain can strike out again.

Authorities have estimated that the probable frequency of a flood of the 1950 magnitude is one in 36 years; that of 1826 once in every 400 years.

Yet every year Manitoba keeps its fingers crossed. Since 1948, when the first damaging flood in recent years hit the city, greater Winnipeg and its 333,000 citizens have become flood conscious. The 1950 flood, which left the city near panic-stricken as it inundated thousands of homes and nearly forced the wholesale evacuation of Canada's fourth-largest community, turned the consciousness to a neurosis.

COMMITTEE SET UP

The neurosis is still here. For 3 years following the 1950 flood a three-man committee, set up with the blessing of the federal and provincial governments, worked on the cure.

In 1953 the committee—the Red River Basin Investigating Committee—handed in its report. It was a massive effort, taking 11 volumes to record the history, causes and possible cures of Red river floods.

The Manitoba government took one look at the curative costs which ranged from an estimated $12,000,000 to $82,000,000 and shook its head. Two years have since passed and the report is still gathering dust.

Premier D. L. Campbell said in the legislature recently that nothing had been done about the report. He said nothing could be decided upon until a cost-benefit survey was undertaken and he had no idea when the province would undertake this study.

A cost - benefit survey means simply what the province would get for money spent.

Mr. Campbell said the question of implementing some of the projects outlined in the report would be taken up with the federal government which had authorized the study and financed it.

TO CALL MEETING

The premier said Ottawa was the only one with "that kind of money." Mr. Campbell said he hoped to call a meeting soon with some of the municipalities in greater Winnipeg which had completed study of the investigation report and with Chamber of Commerce.

One of the first steps taken by the investigating committee was the establishment of the greater Winnipeg diking board in July, 1950. The board supervised construction of a system of elevated boulevards and dikes, at a final cost of $4,677,014, capable of holding back a flood the size of the 1948 disaster.

But still to be acted upon are the committee's suggested cures.

Two schemes were suggested as the most favorable: Construction of a 25-mile long dike to hold back the flood in a detention basin 30 miles south of Winnipeg or a 36-mile floodway skirting the eastern outskirts of the city, or a combination of both.

EFFECTIVE MEASURE

The committee said in its report that the Ste. Agathe basin would be the most effective means of reducing the flood hazard in greater Winnipeg because 95 per cent of the effective drainage area of the Red river above Winnipeg would be controlled.

The basin would be formed by an earth-fill dike stretching across the prairie immediately upstream from the farming community of Ste. Agathe. Water flow would be controlled by a radial gate system.

The committee estimated the cost of the detention basin at $12,000,000.

But, as one authority said in an interview, the detention basin is fraught with complications. Valuable farm lands would be lost. Many small communities and hundreds of persons would be displaced.

"There is a psychological hazard too," he said. "The people of Winnipeg would always know that dike was up there. If it should break, a wall of water would rush down on the city."

COULD DIVERT WATER

The committee said a diversion of the floodwaters around Winnipeg "would offer the most positive means of flood protection to that area because it would control the whole drainage basin of the Red river around Winnipeg."

Basically the floodway would be a gigantic ditch running south of the city of St. Nobert, around the eastern limits and entering the river again to the north.

The cost would depend on the floodway's capacity. One capable of handling 28,000 feet of water per second is estimated at $29,000,000. One capable of handling 141,000 feet per second was estimated at $76,000,000.

Those are huge sums of money for a province whose annual budget is only slightly higher.

But as W. D. Hurst, Winnipeg's engineer, said in an interview: "All we need is another flood like the 1950 one and we'll get our floodway."

MARMORA

Many Attend Easter Services

MARMORA — The lovely weather prevailing on Easter Day made it a veritable church going Sunday. At all churches there were good attendances. At the Sacred Heart Church, the Masses were at 8 and 9.30 a.m. The altar and sanctuary were decorated with white snapdragons and white hyacinths. The Rev. W. P. Healey officiated.

Services at St. Paul's Anglican consisted of a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and a Choral Celebration at 11.15. A duet by Mrs. Percy Gray and Mrs. Leslie Rundle, "He Lives," was sung just before the latter celebration.

Canon J. M. Brownlie officiated and at the latter service spoke on St. Peter's words regarding Christ, "Death could not hold Him." About 100 communicated altogether throughout the day.

Prior to the Choral Celebration, Sunday School scholars, bearing their Lenten mite boxes paraded from the Parish Hall to the church where a short service was conducted by the lay reader, W. J. Cottrell, and the mite boxes were presented. The total amount received thereby is being allocated to an M.S.C.C. project whereby equipment will be provided for a girls' school in India in which 180 girls are being educated in Christian lives.

Easter lilies and pink snapdragons beautifully decorated the altar at St. Paul's. At St. Andrew's at 11 a.m. a large congregation heard the Easter message from the pastor, Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.A. D. Mrs. H. C. Barlow was at the organ and as soloist Mrs. James Heath rendered "The Road to Calvary."

TRENTON (Special) — Last Thursday, Fred Dobson lost his wallet containing $15 in cash, a cheque for a sizeable sum and important papers. He figured it fell out of his pocket on Front St. as he walked from a photographic store to the bank last Thursday.

The person who picked it up removed the cash and returned the pocketbook including the cheque to the owner through the mail.

Obviously there was no return address on the envelope. However Mr. Dobson is thankful that the anonymous sender's conscience was pricked sufficiently to promote the return of needed car licence and missing business papers.

COMPLAINED TO POLICE

Josh Tym, a resident of Division street, complained to police that a window in the woodshed at rear of his home had been shattered by a pellet from an air gun or a missile from a sling-shot. Mr. Tym was in the shed when the pane splintered but he failed to locate the shooter responsible after a check of the neighborhood.

Local police have received several complaints about boys discharging air guns promiscuously in residential areas this spring.

SURE SIGN OF SPRING

A sure sign that Spring has finally arrived.

A grass fire in Murray township alongside the Wooler Road and an outbreak on the roadside yesterday climaxed a quiet holiday week-end for members of the Trenton Fire Department.

Both outbreaks were halted before they could cause any damage.

You can't go ALL-OUT

If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. The strain on body and brain reduces physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, sickly headaches, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—often much better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

OPP Administer Legislation For Five Million in Province Covering 412,500 Sq. Miles

TORONTO (CP) — The government of Ontario legislates for about 5,000,000 persons, administers some 412,500 square miles of territory and keeps a large part of it under control with 1,450 policemen.

The Ontario Provincial Police under Commissioner E. V. McNeil, work from general headquarters here and through 16 district headquarters. They are gems wardens, traffic cops, sports experts, detectives and legal advisers for rural and unorganized districts and about 80 municipalities.

Quebec has a provincial force of about 800 men. The RCMP handles policing in the other provinces of Canada, but in Ontario the Mounties face a similar set of problems. Other than those there is no comparative force in the world.

Crimes of a major nature in OPP territory, and many in municipalities, are handled by the 14 veteran inspectors of the criminal investigation branch.

OPERATES BOATS

The force operates boats on Lakes Nipissing, Simcoe and Lake of the Woods. Its frequency modification radio system is the largest and most efficient in the world. Inspectors may travel by plane, skis, dog sled, railroad jigger, snowmobile, train or car in the province-wide Elizabeth highway.

In Oakville detachment, under district headquarters here, traffic represents almost 100 per cent of the duty problem. About 20 men keep the highways under watch on about 48 miles of three highways between Oakville and Toronto and Hamilton. More than 90 per cent of patrol time is on the roads and highways.

TRAFFIC

At Mount Forest, a district headquarters perched on a Wellington county hill about 75 miles north of Oakville, Inspector Frank Scott, 60, supervises an altogether different district. Traffic still represents 90 per cent of the problem but criminal matters such as investigation and enforcement of the Liquor Control Act and Ontario Temperance Act get their share of attention.

COMMUNICATIONS

Inspector Scott estimates the 33 radio cars in his district send and receive between 6,000 and 7,000 messages a month.

The cars range the quiet backroads of rural central Ontario mainly on the lookout for drivers to watch for both offenders and chances to rescue people in trouble. Traffic is concentrated in the southern part of the district around Guelph and Kitchener, but cases are mostly of a minor nature.

"QUIET" DISTRICT

"Quiet but never reasonable," said inspector Scott, who has spent 28 years with the OPP. "We get about 4,000 (125 in 16 detachments) to handle them."

He estimated, after checking on worst, that there had not been a bank robbery since he arrived at Mount Forest in 1947.

Inspector J. L. Needham, 42, now heads criminal investigation branch, served most of his 18 years in northern Ontario.

NOT TRUE

"You wouldn't know you were on the same police force," said the inspector.

Sudbury district, with 63 men, covers some of the richest mining country in Ontario. Prosecutions appear light but constables have been busy on three 250 miles to take a drunk driver to jail and cover 1,000 miles to and from between court and jail with the same case.

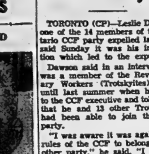
Inspector Needham estimates the northern duty is split evenly between traffic, liquor and criminal work. Major crimes are fairly common.

The influx of summer tourists presents more accidents but not necessarily more crime.

MORE PRESTIGE

The OPP constable in a northern community has more prestige than he has in the south, inspector Needham said. He is consulted on many legal matters when a lawyer is not available and even handles domestic disputes when they seriously arises.

At Confederation there were a number of rural police paid only by fee system. In 1877 the Constables Act put an end to that jurisdiction throughout the province. As the need for the modern police force was established by order in council in 1909.



It was reorganized in 1921 and officers administering the Highway Traffic Act were included in 1929. The Police Act of 1946 replaced all former legislation.

Constables must stand five feet, nine inches minimum and weigh about 150 pounds. They are recruited on a six-week training course at the police training school in Toronto.

THIRD SON FOR ACTOR

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The wife of actor Joel McCrea, the former Frances Dee, gave birth to a seven-pound, eight-ounce son Monday. The McCreas have been married 21 years and have two other sons.

106 YEARS OLD

Capt. Wellington Sphears enjoys a birthday cigar on his 106th birthday spent in a hospital at Windsor, Ont. Born in Gloucester, Mass., he ran away from home at 12, served with the Royal Navy and has been a diver and a captain of Great Lakes ships. He suffered a stroke a few years ago and has been in hospital since. (CP Photo).

Member Expelled Gave Information To CCF Party

TORONTO (CP)—Leslie Dawson, one of the 34 members of the Ontario CCF party expelled last fall, said Sunday he was his information which led to the expulsions.

Dawson said in an interview he was a member of the Revolutionary Workers (Trotskyites) party until last summer when he went to the CCF executive and told them that he and 13 other Trotskyites had been able to join the CCF party.

"I was aware it was against the rules of the CCF to belong to another party," he said. "I decided that party's revolutionary activities were wrong."

The expulsions became known Friday when they were confirmed at the annual convention of the Ontario CCF. The party's provincial council charged that those expelled were members of another political party with aims contrary to the CCF.

Ken Bryden, CCF provincial secretary, confirmed today that Dawson supplied the information. He said the executive knew all along that the Trotskyites were trying to infiltrate the party and took steps to keep them out.

SOME GOT IN

"Some of the people whom we'd never even heard of managed to get in, by one means or another," he said. "It was these people that Dawson told us about."

The expulsion report said the Trotskyist party, "in spite of its name, has nothing in common with Socialism or democracy, is nevertheless a Communist party with a revolutionary and authoritarian philosophy which is quite incompatible with the democratic, parliamentary socialism of the CCF."

Dawson did not appeal his expulsion and was given the right to apply again for membership in the coming next June. He said he intends to do so.

Evangelist Had Excellent Reception In Scotland

GLASGOW (Reuters) — American evangelist Billy Graham, now halfway through his six-week Scottish crusade, had a record audience for his Easter Monday service when 17,500 people jammed Kelvin Hall, Glasgow's largest auditorium.

Another 25,000 men and women, in 21 churches and village halls up and down Scotland, are also estimated to have heard his service. Monday night by means of the big-city gospel team system set up by the post office in Britain.

Loudspeakers were specially installed in the churches and halls.

So far, 350,040 persons have heard the blonde, North Carolina preacher in the Kelvin Hall.

Monday night 401 made a "decision for Christ, bringing the total to date to 8,385.

Graham announced that from next Monday the relay system would be in operation to towns and cities all over Britain and up to 1,500,000 persons in more than 2,000 auditoriums would hear the delayed service each evening during the final two weeks of his crusade.

Winning Dream House Causes Man Trouble

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—In 1948 Russell L. Brand won a $60,000 dream house. His address today is Los Angeles county jail.

Brand, 47, blames it on the dream house.

His lawyer explained in Santa Monica Superior Court how financial pressure developed after he won the home in a contest. He had to mortgage the house to pay.

Business losses put Brand deeper in debt and then into other difficulties and, the lawyer indicated, brought him into used car deals which netted him Brand's plea of guilty to a charge of theft.

The court dismissed three other theft counts and sentenced Brand to six months in jail Monday.

THE DEAL

Brand said he sold it — to pay his creditors.

Professor Deplores Secretive Help to Athletes in Universities

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian universities should move their aid-to-assistance programs into the open, a University of Western Ontario professor said Monday.

Prof. Earl F. Ziegler, head of UWO's physical education department, said "we must do away with secretive help to athletes."

"What's more important than a boy's education?" he asked a group of physical education instructors at the Ontario Education Association convention.

"Let's put the help to work-legal matters when a lawyer is not available and even handles domestic disputes when they seriously arises.

"Why not grants on the table, not under it. What are we running anyhow — an educational institution or a jail?"

A student who truly needs help, who isn't in school for a lark and who has a talent for passing a ball, shouldn't have to do subterfuge conversation for that matter, deserves the chance to get a university education at the public expense," he said.

Dr. Neil Bell, superintendent of secondary education for Ontario, called for more realistic and constructive approach to a teacher shortage in the province.

He told a group of high school principals that a constructive approach to the problem has been successfully and "I think we'll weather the storm again."

Dr. Beattie expressed confidence in the effectiveness of summer emergency courses for secondary-y teachers, to begin this summer. They would meet the demand where it occurs.

He said he knew the Ontario School Teachers' Federation would ask large schools to have the summer-course graduates so they can be supervised effectively, but to be realistic, who will select the schools where they'd like to go?

Small schools, by getting new graduates, would get better teachers than they now have. Big boards didn't need the best teachers.

Dr. Beattie criticized speculation on the extent to which teacher shortage is likely to go, saying he isn't sure how great it will be.

HE SAID

He said he "whether we like it or not" the ratio of students to teachers will increase.

The association was told Ontario can stay worrying about its schools-building program if it can find $60,000,000 a year for the next five years.

J. A. G. Easton, technical adviser with the education department of education, said Ontario's schools-building program is comparatively in good shape.

One person, a woman, came out of the teenager.

Mrs. Elenore Pounds of Chicago, author of a series of educational book publishers, said teenagers have become afraid to learn before successfully and "I think we'll weather the storm again."

CAMPBELLFORD

150 Delegates From Nine Counties Confer on Central Ont. Planning

CAMPBELLFORD — Approximately 150 delegates from nine Central Ontario counties met in Campbellford last week to discuss ways and means of encouraging industrial growth in the area represented.

The conference was organized by the Trade and Industry Branch of the Department of Planning and Development of the Ontario government. The nine-county area represented at the conference will be termed the "Lake Ontario Region."

The need for such an organization has been brought about by the tremendous growth taking place in the province during the past 15 years, Department heads, who are better able to see the general picture of development, have tried to devise some long range plan to ensure future development, and to organize the development which is now taking place.

Mayor Ralph J. Locke, Campbellford, welcomed the delegates. He said that while everyone does not think alike, and some of the smaller municipalities feel that they are not getting a fair deal as far as new industries are concerned, he believed the Department of Planning and Development deserved a great deal of credit for its efforts in helping those communities to help themselves through the proposed development association.

CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN

Chairman of the conference was A. McLean Haig, O.B.E., director of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, and ex-mayor of the city of Belleville.

He introduced the main speaker, A. V. Crate, assistant director of the trade and industry branch of the Department of Planning and Development.

Mr. Crate told of ways in which the development association, if one was formed in the region, would help the areas, not only in procuring industry, but also in many other ways.

He said that during the past 15 years the population of the province has increased by one-third, industrial production has increased 300 per cent and almost six billion dollars has been invested in new construction of all types. He said that Ontario was one of the world's fastest growing industrial areas,

GROWTH TO CONTINUE

This rate of growth, according to the speaker, was likely to continue, and possibly to increase for many years. The time has arrived, he said, to do something about it in an orderly and planned development of the province.

Mr. Crate said the job of the department was mainly promotional. No inducements are offered. Industries are sold on the idea that Ontario is a good province to invest in. The department is in a position to analyze gaps in industry in various sections of the province and is able to direct industries to areas which will be most suitable to everyone concerned.

He said that the provinces was definitely not seeking competition for firms operating at the present. "What we want are new products, and we are able to select the firms to manufacture them," said the speaker.

The department attempts to sell the province, not an individual municipality. Other provinces are attempting similar ventures, but none is operating on such a large scale as Ontario. Mr. Crate said that this province was far out in front in the development and expansion program and intends to stay there.

The proposed association would expose the maximum number of municipalities to those industries wanting to settle here. About 300 such municipalities are now participating in the scheme in other portions of the province.

SUGGESTED ORGANIZATION

Mr. Crate suggested an organizational structure that he believed would best suit the area. The Lake Ontario Development Association would comprise all area taking in the counties of Northumberland and Durham, Peterborough, Victoria, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Victoria.

The area, because of its size, would be broken down into three zones. The first zone would comprise the counties of Victoria, Haliburton and Peterborough. The second zone would embrace the counties of Northumberland and Durham, and Zone 3 would take in the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington.

Each of these zones would select 13 representatives. The 13 would likely be made up of six elected representatives, such as mayors and councillors, and six persons who are members of a Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, or other interested organizations. The number of members on the executive of each zone was only a suggestion. If and when the plan goes into operation it may be found necessary to increase the number on the executive.

The board itself will consist of a president, first and second vice-presidents, who will be elected by the directors of the regional board, and a manager and secretary-treasurer, who will be hired by the regional board and approved by the minister of the Department of Planning and Development. The headquarters of this board will be decided by the directors.

DIRECT LIAISON

With the establishment of such a board the area will have means of direct contact and liaison with the Ontario government. It was pointed out that the gaining of new industries was not the only concern of the government of the area. Problems relating to education, highways and other local developments could be worked out. The scheme will promote co-operation between the government and the area, as well as between municipalities within the area.

GREAT ADVANCES

Mr. Crate told how great advances had been made in the Eastern Ontario region, comprising seven counties. They have been able to advise the government as to what roads should be further developed to improve transportation facilities for industry and for tourists. Problems relating to school areas have been worked out and the entire area is progressing in an organized manner.

Three areas in the province have now been organized. Six more are in the process of organization.

R. D. Potts of the municipal division of the trade and industry branch, explained the mechanics of the organization. He said the government was prepared to contribute an amount of money equal to that raised by each area up to $10,000 each year for a three-year trial period.

At the rate of 7 cents per capita tax, the municipalities in the Lake Ontario region would be able to raise a total of $11,203, based on 1953 population figures. This, added to the $10,000 the government would contribute, could mean a fund of $21,203 with which the area could prepare material to attract new industry, cover any expenses involved in showing the area to prospective new industries and pay wages of its general manager and secretary-treasurer. The government has offered to pay all organizational expenses in connection with setting up a board to operate the area.

When inquiries come in to the department from industries, the department, after it knows the requirements of the industry, can direct it to the area which would suit it best.

Industrial officials would be introduced to the general manager of the particular area who could, in turn, arrange interviews for the officials in various municipalities.

Mr. Crate, Mr. Potts and James Turnbull answered many questions for the delegates.

It was decided by a vote of delegates to hold another conference in Campbellford on May 4th, at which time area organization will likely be put into operation. Although a bid was made by Jas. Fraser of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, to have the meeting held in Peterborough, the overwhelming majority of delegates favored holding the conference in Campbellford, because, geographically, the town is in the centre of the area.

MARMORA

St. Andrew's Holds Special Services

MARMORA — The special Army Day service was held this year on Easter Sunday afternoon at St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora. Boy Scouts and Cubs under Scoutmaster Robert Sweet; Cubmaster Mrs. Hulden under Capts. H. Sweet and M. MacClintock, and Brownies under Mrs. Vallaire, took part in the parade headed by the Legion and Ex Auxiliary from the Legion Hall to the church.

The parade in command was Sergt. Robert Gray. The color party comprised past president Clayton Bedore and Private Merle Gordon, representing the Legion, and Mrs. Clayton Bedore and Mrs. Frank Neal representing the Auxiliary.

The service at the church was taken by the chaplain of the Legion, the Rev. P. O. Miller, assisted by two former chaplains, Canon J. M. Brownlie and W. J. Cottrell.

Following the opening hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," the chaplain offered prayer. Next Canon Brownlie read a portion of Revelations upon which he next based his thinking thoughts of the sacrifices of the First World War and the vision of St. John of the warriors of the Cross and of Christ's great triumph over death through His resurrection.

At the close of his address Canon Brownlie offered prayer. Then came words of welcome to the organizations and review of the incidents of Army by the officiating minister from his personal knowledge as a combatant of those days.

The duet, "Christ Arose," having been sung by Comrade and Mrs. L. R. Rundle, Comrade W. J. Cottrell spoke under the title of "Forget Me Not," of those who remembered God in their service at the front.

Kenneth Snider sang an appropriate solo, "Precious Lord, Take My Hand."

The special Easter message was given by the officiating chaplain, using the incident of the empty tomb as narrated by St. Mark to point out salient points of the resurrection.

The closing hymn was "Lead On, O King Eternal," after which the Rev. P. Miller pronounced the benediction.

Miss Barbara Meiklejohn presided at the organ for this service.

The parade returned to the Legion Hall for dismissal.

BENTON PROTESTS

This department was informed yesterday that the Boston club has lodged an official protest with the OHA anent the eligibility of certain players for the Point Anne Club. Boston, it appears, has protested on the residence rules grounds which they claim affects the Or Point Club. The Point Anne club has defeated the Bostons twice by very decisive scores, and appear to be more powerful and better balanced than the Western Ontario team. The third game of the series was scheduled for Boston last night, but word was received of the protest minutes before the Point Anne team was ready to leave.

REMEMBER BILLIE HUGHES?

Bill, sportdom's mighty mite of training, coaching, playing and dashing, recently celebrated his 60th year in sport.

Right now Billie is living in Winnipeg, the home of his finest triumph when he saw his beloved Bisc Bombers race to a Grey Cup triumph in 1935. That was the day Fritzie Hanson raced to glory over a frost-covered field in Hamilton.

Billie is well known in Belleville and district, He coached a Belleville intermediate hockey club, the Picton journey mastered the Trenton RCAF football intermediates—ditto Belleville. He trained the Queen's senior football Dominion champions in 1922-23-24 with a record of 24 consecutive victories.

Billie lived in Belleville for some time. And some of the greatest "kicks" this department got out of sport was listening to Billie's colorful reminiscences; looking at his scrap books and viewing his hundreds of photographs.

He trained Dominion rugby, hockey, baseball and basketball champions; the highlights of lacrosse, track and field, boxing and wrestling champions. In fact he trained champions practically in every line of sport,

He is an ex-heavies and featherweight champion of Canada, retired in 1924, who in 130 contests in the United States and Canada, lost only nine bouts.

He is the only man in Canada to train eastern and western Canada senior rugby football champions.

Billie is now 68 years of age—and this mighty mite doesn't show it,

As Glenn Flynn wrote in the Winnipeg Free Press in tribute to his anniversary, "forgotten are his winning of two boxing championships away back in the 1910's, and in their place are unlimited citations as to his ability as a trainer and a conditioner of athletes."

But as Flynn wrote, the story of sincere, soft-spoken Billie Hughes really begins in his home town of Sault Ste, Marie, Ontario.

"It was here Billie made his bid for a berth in boxing world, although it was a rather strange event which brought it about.

"He had gone into a boiler-factory to learn a trade and as in the case in most plants, there was the usual number of gagsters on the payroll.

"One of them wanted to have a little fun with Billie. The gag was to see how close he could come to Billie's face with a hot rivet, Hughes didn't appreciate the joke, and challenged the fellow to step into the cool-shed—where all plant feeds were settled—unaware that his taunter was Billy Donald, a one-time boxing king from Nova Scotia.

"While employees scampered up the walls of the bin to get a peak at the slaughter of Hughes, Billie strolled out teh door. On the floor of the bin was Billy Donald, out cold.

"It was a solid indication of the boxing brilliance which was later to win him Canadian titles in bantam and feather ranks.

"One of his boxing bouts also cost him the loss of his sight for over a year, to say nothing of a shot at Johnny Kilbane for the world's featherweight championship.

"It happened in a fight in International Falls back in 1912.

"Billie was away ahead on points as the fighters moved for the ninth round. Rushing into a clinch, his opponent brushed his gloves across Billie's eyes, The fight for Hughes was over.

"An analysis of the gloves later revealed that both had been doctored with silver nitrate.

"Those gloves, leather and padding now eaten through by the nitrate, hold a prominent spot in Billie Hughes' little room of memories out of 668 Simcoe Street, Winnipeg.

"Watches, rings, miniature hockey sticks, footballs also adorn the walls, along with pictures of the many teams he had a hand in training and which went on to win championships as Billie smilingly sat on the sidelines."

His many friends in Belleville join this department in wishing Billie many years of life in the realm of recreation that lost nothing in his association.

SIGNS LOPEZ

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, announced Monday he had signed manager Al Lopez to a contract for the baseball season. No contract terms were made public. Lopez, who piloted the Indians to the American League championship last year, has been the club's manager since 1951.

Plans Two Changes for Club But Keeps One Top Secret; Detroit Confident, Not Cocky

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens had another mystery going today as his club prepared to meet Detroit in battle with Detroit Red Wings in a game they have to win to stay in the Stanley Cup hunt.

Irvin, who likes to tantalize reporters and sometimes the opposition with incomplete information, said Monday night he plans two changes" in his lineup for tonight's game, with Montreal trailing the best-of-seven series 3-2 in games.

The Canadiens coach said he will have Dick Gamble in the lineup at left wing. Gamble, a former Canadien player, was with Buffalo of the American League this season. The Bisons were eliminated from the Calder Cup playoffs by Pittsburgh Sunday night.

IT'S A SECRET

Irvin kept his other change secret but there was speculation that he planned to recall defenceman Bellard St. Laurent has been playing in the series with deep and painful cuts on the inside of his legs. He goes into hospital after each game and stays there somewhat before the next game.

If Irvin decides to put up a defenceman he would probably have to raid either Shawnigan Falls Cataracts or Montreal Royals now engaged in the Quebec Hockey League finals.

Red Wings, who took the same train here as Canadiens, reported everyone in top shape except Terry Sawchuk, who hits a touch of the flu. Dick Duff also played in bed on the train and was reported in better condition on arrival.

Ted Lindsay left a hockey shiner as well as Floyd Curry of Canadiens.

General manager Jack Adams figures Wings have a good chance of winding up their series tonight.

"We're a good road club and although this has been a home-ice series so far there's no reason we can't win a road game," he said.

Coach Jim Skinner made no predictions.

"You can quote me as saying I was reticent to talk about Tuesday's game," he said with a grin.

Irvin was bitter about a ruling by referee Bill Chadwick on a protested goal in Detroit. He contended that Alex Delvecchio of the Wings illegally knocked or dropped the puck into the net in front of Goal Howe's stick in front of the Canadiens' net in the big eight-sixer poked in what proved to be the winning goal.

Ezzard Charles Knocks Out Escoe in Third

EDMONTON (CP) — A stinging left hook by Ezzard Charles Monday night ended the brief career of hard knocks for Vern Escoe of Toronto, former Canadian heavyweight boxing champion.

The 34-year-old fighter, bleeding badly from a cut above the right eye, went down for the full count at 2:15 in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Escoe said later: "I didn't see the knockout punch. I couldn't see much of anything with all that blood in my eyes."

A last-minute stand-in for South African Johnny Arthur, who was taken ill one day before he was to fight Charles, Escoe gave a good account of himself until age and the better champion of the world caught up with him.

CROWD DWINDLED

Following the announcement of Arthur's illness and Escoe's substitution, the $15,000 pot from advance ticket sales melted. Between 3,000 and 4,000 ticket holders returned their ducats and the resulting crowd of 3,058 paid only $13,086 to see the fight.

Charles weighed in at 186 and Escoe was one pound heavier.

Charles took his time through the first two rounds and opened with a flurry in the third.

Aussies Raise Storm of Protest Over Criticism

CANBERRA (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, conferred for an hour today with Prime Minister Robert Menzies while a storm of protest swirled up over Brundage's criticism of preparations for next year's games in Melbourne.

Neither Brundage nor Menzies would disclose what was said at their discussion, but a reliable source reported the prime minister was deeply concerned over Brundage's dissatisfaction with the progress of the Aussie plans.

There was no secrecy involved, however, in Australian reaction to Brundage's blast. Counter - blasts were forthcoming almost immediately.

Reporter Robert Callender of the Sydney Sun said Brundage was "behaving outrageously like a bull in a china shop."

He called Brundage's statements "strangely incongruous from a man who had pleaded for years for better international press coverage of games preparations."

DENNIS RICKELING

Edgar Tanner, secretary of the Olympic organizing committee, decided that there had been "bickering and jealousies" as Brundage had alleged.

"Brundage came here to help us," Tanner added. "Instead he called a world press conference and severely and unfairly criticized us."

Brundage, a veteran of many disputes over the Olympics in his long career in athletics, remained oblivious about the prospects of the Australian plans being carried out successfully.

"I have looked over the preparations carefully and it is possible to do the job with credit to Australia, but judging from the record to date, it is a question whether it will be done," he said after conference with Menzies.

Brundage is scheduled to make a report on Australian preparations next month at a meeting of the international committee in Paris.

James, Stormy Petrel Junior Series Centres Quebec Frontenacs' Protest

TORONTO (CP)—Gerry James, probably will be remembered for eastern Canada junior hockey circles long after the Toronto Marlboros rightwinger gives up hockey for football. Now he's the subject of protest talk in the Memorial Cup eastern final.

Some fans picture the 20-year-old native of Winnipeg as a bashing, hard-playing forward. Others say he's a ruthless bodychecker who goes out of his way to start trouble.

Gerry, the subject of numerous arguments in his three-year career with Marlboros in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series, now is the centre of a squabble in the midst of the eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals.

Marlboros lead the best-of-seven series against Quebec Frontenacs 2-1 with one game tied.

The fifth game will be played here tonight and the series winner will meet either Regina Pats or Winnipeg Monarchs in the west for the Memorial Cup.

KNOCKED OVER GOALIE

James, who has announced he will desert hockey after this season to concentrate on football with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, bowled over Frontenac goalkeeper Jacques Marcotte in the fourth period of the series at Quebec Sunday. The incident occurred in the second period with the count 0-0. Marlboros scored six goals on the unnerved netminder to win 6-0.

Quebec coach Phil Watson, who protested the game to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said James deliberately tried to injure Marcotte and wasn't penalized enough for it. James received a minor penalty and Watson claimed that a major is called for when a player charges a goalkeeper in the crease. He said James deliberately went into the crease to bowl over Marcotte.

(At Toronto Monday, Turk Broda Marlies' coach, branded as ridiculous a charge by Watson that James was told to "get" Marcotte. Broda added: "We won't go out to get any player. If we're not good enough to beat Marcotte, we shouldn't be playing against them.")

Watson's protest was upheld by Lionel Fleury, vice-president of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, who said he also protested to W. B. (Baldy) George, president of the CAHA.

CLAIMS PREMEDITATED

Fleury said James launched a "premeditated attack" on Marcotte and also attacked Quebec forward Guy Rousseau early in the third period. Watson also referred to the Rousseau incident, claiming James kicked the Quebec player and received only a minor penalty. He said James should be barred or received a match penalty.

Fleury said "Referees Stan Pratt and Ching MacDonald should be asked to explain their failure to apply" rules governing both situations. "Action should be taken immediately to correct the situation."

George said from his office here, Ont., home Monday night he has received only a telegram of notification of the protest. A letter outlining details is expected in a day or two, he said, and a decision will be made after that.

Washington, Cubs Open 1955 Season With Wins Over Baltimore, Redlegs

Porterfield, "Ike" Combine To Throttle Orioles 12-5; All Clubs See Action Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Charlie Dressen is right back where he was when he left the place. He's in a new league and a new town, but the peppery little guy who quit the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1953 after leading them to two successive pennants, is still riding high.

After his first game as manager of Washington, he and his Senators find themselves right on top today by virtue of Monday's 12-5 opening day victory over Baltimore in the American League's only game. The rest of the circuit gets going today.

The National League, not to be outdone, also had an early opening, at Cincinnati. This was rained out in the home folks, however, when Chicago thrashed the Redlegs 7-6 for the Cubs' 47th successive opening day triumph.

FOR 11 HITS

A crowd of 27,186 saw the Cubs blast four Cincinnati hurlers for 11 hits including home runs by Gene Baker and Harry Chiti. Ted Kluszewski, the majors' 1954 home run king, hit one for the Redlegs.

In Washington, a crowd of 28,606 saw a pair of veteran righthanders —President Eight D. Eisenhower and the Senators' Bob Porterfield—combine their talents to throttle the Orioles with six hits.

The chief executive likened Washington's opposition for the second straight year, tossing out the first ball.

ALL IN ACTION

All 16 clubs swing into action today. Kansas City makes its American League debut at the refurbished Municipal Stadium against Detroit before an expected 25,000 crowd.

The city whooped it up for its new heroes Monday with a colorful parade through the downtown streets. It began to die down today after southpaw Alex Kellner takes the mound against the Tigers' Ned Garver.

Today's largest crowd is expected in Cleveland, where upwards of 30,000 fans may see the Indians make their second appearance of the American League title against Chicago White Sox. Bob Lemon, a 23-game winner, will oppose Virgil Trucks, who won 19.

The runner-up New York Yankees open at home against Washington with lefty Whitey Ford opposing the Senators' Maury McDermott. Some 25,000 are expected.

In another game, Baltimore faces the Boston Red Sox before a home turnout of about 40,000.

The National League Hues up with New York's champion Giants at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at Milwaukee, Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, and St. Louis at Chicago.

VICTORIA (CP) — Twenty-year-old Perwee Bradshaw, who played against Victoria in the Mann Cup lacrosse finals last year, has been signed by Victoria Shamrocks of the Inter-City Lacrosse League, Coach Ked McMillan said Monday. Bradshaw, one of the top 19 in the Ontario Lacrosse Association scoring last season, has been acquired from St. Catharines of that loop.

Peterborough Trafferman picked him up on a conditional basis for the Mann Cup finals in September. McMillan says Bradshaw will "give us some of the fight we will need this year."

Ennis, Ashburn May Join Team

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn may be in Philadelphia Phillies' starting lineup today despite injuries suffered in a collision during an exhibition game last Friday.

Original report had Ennis out for at least a month because of a broken leg. Later report is that the "broken fracture" of the knee won't keep him from playing. Ashburn is recovering from a pulled tendon in the knee.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings was suspended and Frank Calder, then president of the NHL, and Detroit players Eddie Wares and Tom Grosso were fined $100 each, 13 years ago to night following a fistic assault on Referee Mike Rodden in the fourth game of the Detroit-Toronto Stanley Cup series. That was the series won by Toronto with four straight victories after dropping the first three games.

Western Bowlers Lead East In Title Matches

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western bowlers took the lead in three of the four matches Monday night at the halfway mark in the 16-game Canadian five-pin bowling championships.

The first went to the front in the men's and women's singles and the men's team, but fell behind in the women's team event. Second blocks of five games in all competitions will be rolled off today.

The Winnipeg men's team took a commanding 867-pin lead over the eastern squad from Toronto, but the ladies were reversed in the women's event—67 on the strength of a gregation smashed the pins for 5,-580 and a solid lead of 209 pins.

Olson, Maxim Fight Wednesday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The "little man-big man" theory gets a thorough test here Wednesday night when "little" Carl (Bobo) Olson tangles with "big" Joey Maxim in the Cow Palace ring.

Olson, the world's middleweight boxing champion, was a 5-to-2 favorite to make short work of former light-heavyweight titlist, his 21st successive victim in ring and television audience (CBS—10 p.m. EST) and what could be a $150,000 gross turnout. The match is a non-title overweight 10-rounder.

Original report had Ennis out for at least a month because of a broken leg. Later report is that the "broken fracture" of the knee won't keep him from playing. Ashburn is recovering from a pulled tendon in the knee.

VERN GOYER KEITH MacDONALD

Keith MacDonald, of Lakeland, near Picton, has been awarded the "Belleville Athlete of the Year" trophy for 1954, which will be presented along with a miniature at the Canadian Legion Trade Fair here next Saturday.

Eric Nesterenko, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, will present the main trophy while Vern Goyer, first winner of the cup, will present his hockey and baseball mats with the miniature. The presentations are made at 8.15 p.m. on Saturday at the Bridge Street Armouries.

Moncton Owner Wants Maritimes East to Break Relations With CAHA

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Owner Mike Baig of Moncton Hawks, Maritime senior hockey champions, suggests the Maritimes, Quebec and Newfoundland form their own hockey governing body.

Blasting the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for handling of the eastern Allan Cup play, Baig said the three regions should break away from the CAHA.

"They always give the Maritime representative a raw deal in Allan Cup play," he said on his return from Montreal where Moncton Hawks lost 3-0 in the best-of-seven Allan Cup semi-final with Edmonton Waterloo Athletics.

Baig, a Moncton furniture dealer, took over the sagging fortunes of Hawks midway through the 1953-54 season and produced Moncton's first Maritime champion in nine years.

OFFERED GUARANTEE

He said Monday he had offered the CAHA a $10,000 guarantee to have two of the games played in Kitchener played in Moncton. The offer was turned down.

"We never officially notified of their decisions," he said. "We read it in the Toronto newspapers."

Baig said that when the offer was made to George Dudley, CAHA secretary-treasurer, before the second game in Kitchener, Dudley said it would not be fair to Kitchener Stadium as "we booked the auditorium two months ago."

When asked how he knew two months ago that Kitchener would be in the series, Dudley did not have a satisfactory answer, Baig said. The Hawks owner also criticized the CAHA for sending a weak Ottawa team to Moncton for the eastern Allan Cup semi-final. Moncton knocked out Ottawa RCAF in straight games in the best-of-seven affair.

CLAIMS HAMPERED

"Lack of competition from the Ontario team hampered the Hawks in the current battle with the Athletics," he said.

If a stronger team had been in that series, "it would be a different story now."

The Maritimes should join with Newfoundland and Quebec and form an organization of their own to "run hockey," he said.

In Kitchener where the Hawks meet the Dutchmen in the fourth game of the series tonight, Moncton coach Dugger McNeil is concerned that the Ontario Hockey Association senior A champions will probably take the eastern title.

But McNeil said he still thinks his team can push the series beyond the minimum number of games. He said Hawks looked much better in the third game than in the first two and they should go even better tonight.

The Moncton coach praised the netminding of Kitchener's Keith Woodall for holding the Hawks to check and blamed "the lack of strong opposition for five weeks for the poor showing of his club.

Cancelled Funeral Plans For Dinner, Golf Executive Is Very Much Alive

TORONTO (CP) — E. Harold Banks, who has helped to run major Canadian golf championships for years, fooled friends who got ready for his funeral last fall. They had to cancel their burial plans and turn their raid on a memorial dinner for Thursday April 14, in Toronto.

Moreover, the husky 74-year-old has no intention of giving up the golf occupation he took up after he retired nine years ago as a public relations man with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"People who retire and don't do anything seem to die, you know," says the man who is known affectionately as Hankie or the Bishop of Dixie. The bishop tag comes from his dignified appearance, because he is the son of a Church of England clergyman and lives on the Dixie road in a Toronto suburb.

SEVERE ILLNESS

Friends thought he would not recover when he was taken to hospital last fall with a severe heart ailment.

"There I was convinced that when I reached, they told me my funeral had been arranged . . . and I agreed with it," he said.

Now, he's recovered but the illness cost him 53 pounds. He's down to a gaunt 147 pounds and is very about it.

The testimonial dinner will honor him for his contribution to golf. He holds down two golf jobs, manager of the Ontario Golf Association and assistant to the manager of the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Born in England, he arrived in Canada after spending 17 years in Malaya.

Discuss New Hockey Schedule

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Council Monday night discussed the possibility of instituting an interlocking schedule with the Northern Ontario Hockey Association next season.

Because there were only three representatives from the OHA at the meeting—Stratford, Kitchener and Owen Sound — detailed discussion was postponed until a meeting could be called with all the clubs in the Senior A League represented.

If the proposal is recommended by the OHA, another meeting will be held with NOHA officials.

Winnipeg Dumps Regina Pats For First Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Monarchs, facing elimination, dumped Regina Pats 4-2 last Monday night for their first victory in the western Canada junior hockey finals. Monarchs now trail 2-1 in the best-of-seven series.

Fifth game will be played here Wednesday night. Pats won the first three games 7-4, 4-1 and 10-3. The winner of the series will play either Toronto Marlboros or Quebec Frontenacs for the Memorial Cup.

A crowd of about 1,300 saw centre Ron Farnfield lead the Monarchs with three goals. Curly Melancheck and Gary Starr had a goal and assist apiece.

Regina marksmen were Ken (Red) Hay, Harry Ottenbrit and Glen MacDonald.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The Olympics hose, Avery Brundage, has come away from Melbourne highly agitated at the lack of preparation for the 1956 games and talking out loud about the possibility of having to change the venue at this late date. He could have spared all he really needed to know merely by phoning this office.

From the moment the announcement came that Melbourne had been awarded the great sports festival, we have regarded the choice as the most impenetrable thing ever done by the athletic fraternity, and they have. done some dillies.

Second feeling is completely apart from the Aussies' failure to get cracking with the physical set-up which they've had since 1948, though the last time we were there, early in '53, the whole thing appeared to be trouble and delay were in the offing. Our feeling, hey cup series, that was the scene at the thought of Melbourne trying to absorb an Olympics crowd, or even the hundreds of newsmen who ordinarily report the event.

We spent a month in Melbourne on our maiden visit with a Davis Cup tennis team.

Though Melbourne has a million population, it can bed down no more transients than the average U.S. city of 100,000. Only one of its hotels — not a large one — boasts a private bath with each room.

Second only to the housing problem is the shortage of motor transportation.

Melborne is without doubt one of the world's loveliest cities. It had about as much business being the ding for the Olympics, though as would the Chamber of Commerce of, say St. Petersburg, Florida.

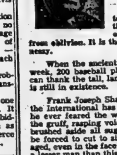
False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser

Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures. Eliminates Denture Breath. Just follow these easy rules.

1. Never use a brush to clean! Your denture has pores a lot much softer than enamel and brushing wears down fitting edges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They are much too harsh, scratch plastics and food particles, a major cause of dentures "slipping."



3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident cleans by soaking—actually by active chemistry than any other. No brushing, no breaking of springs (clasps). Polident gets where a brush can't reach.

Rest of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

THE SHAUGHNESSY STORY
Part 1

This is the story of resource, stubborn tenacity and business acumen that has saved the International Baseball League, second oldest of all governing baseball bodies on the continent, from extinction. It is the story of Frank Joseph Shaughnessy.

When the ancient international starts its 72nd season next week, 200 baseball players and a million fans in eight cities can thank the tall, lanky, red-headed Irishman that this league is still in existence.

Frank Joseph Shaughnessy, in his 19 years as president of the international has seen the cities come and go in his circuit. If he ever feared the end, only Shaughnessy himself knew. In the gruff, rasping voice which produces his rugged phrases, he brushed aside all suggestions the eight-club league might be forced to cut to six clubs. Shaughnessy was never discouraged, even at the face of adversity. He always managed to find a lesser man than this former Notre Dame football star, professional baseball player, major league pitcher, pilot, minor league baseball manager, football coach and Royal Canadian Artillery officer in World War I.

When Frank Shaughnessy became president of the International, the threat of television hadn't arrived. The league was solid, prosperous. All was well.

Then Newark, long a league stronghold, suddenly fell into an attendance slump. Then television cast its blight. That was in an attendance slump. Then television cast its blight. That was in 1950, and Shaughnessy went out on his first patrol to find a city. Chicago? Buffalo? Milo Southam's Hotel in Springfield, Mass. Again it was business as usual.

But only for a season. The spreading popularity of television struck again in 1951. The Jersey City Club, despite efforts of civic leaders, collapsed, withdrew. Once more, Shaughnessy went club-hunting. This time he turned to one of his own favorite haunts, Ottawa, where he had once pitched, briefly, a major league baseball game. Baseball heads listened to his persuasive voice. Major league backing was found for a team in the capital city, and Shaughnessy could breathe easily again — for a while.

The worst was yet to come. It wasn't long before the big Irish red-head was on the hunt again, scanning the baseball horizon for cities that might harbor a team for the International Baseball League.

Joan Crawford Best Possible Teacher Says Coming Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lucy Marlow, a brown - haired beauty who wants to be a movie star, has the best possible teacher — Joan Crawford.

As a matter of fact, Lucy started out her film career as a make-believe movie star. She was in a gushy actress who appeared at a premiere in early scenes of "A Star Is Born." Her brief performance made such an impression that she landed a contract at Columbia.

Now she is playing her biggest role thus far in "Queen Bee." She portrays a young girl who idolizes a southern matron (Crawford). The picture shows Lucy's disillusionment as she discovers her idol is really a wicked woman.

AN EXPERT CRITIC

Crawford, who has lasted longer than any star in Hollywood history, is a starlet's ideal. When "Queen Bee" started, Lucy said to the star: "I'm new at this, and you know so much. I wish you would criticize me."

"I'd be happy to," Crawford replied. "But I'm glad you asked. I never offer criticism unless it is requested, for it has had so many unfortunate experiences."

So Joan took Lucy under her wing. It's been quite an education.

"I've learned all kinds of things," the young actress remarked. "She knows everything there is about lighting. Marlene Dietrich is the same, I understand. Miss Crawford can stand in a whole bunch of lights and know which one of them is not focussed correctly.

"I've learned a world of things about wardrobe. She went with me to a fitting and showed me things I should know."

With Miss Crawford's tutoring and her own qualifications, Lucy has a better than average chance of making the grade. She has a wide, lovely face with inquiring brown eyes and a resemblance to Katharine Hepburn. Perhaps her most notable feature is a sultry voice.

Writers Discuss Joys of Writing A New TV Show Every 2 Weeks

By PAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—It's hilarious, sturdy hilarious, being a television comedy writer.

Just a few days ago the two writers of the Martha Ray show, which goes on tonight, were sitting in their elaborate cell high up in a Manhattan tower. They had been locked up together for more than two weeks. But now they were too stunned even to detest each other.

Said Ed Simmons to Norman Lear:

"If only we spent all our time watching television we wouldn't have time to write stuff that gets us into trouble."

Lear nodded numbly.

They had just been shattered.

A REAL SHOCKER

With rehearsals about to begin, with sets and costumes well along in production, with only a few score hours until actual performance, they had just finished, after two weeks of work, a script satirizing Jackie Gleason. Then someone gave them the word: Both Milton Berle and Red Skelton had done the same thing recently.

"I think maybe we ought to get to work," said Lear, and they did, frantically, for the next 48 hours.

Later the boys discussed the joys of writing a new show every month. Both are in their 30s and remarkably sane, considering.

On Monday, three weeks before show time, they begin. Simmons explained:

JUST TWO WORDS

"We start with just two words—Martha Raye. Then we study the lists of available guest stars. Then we get some ideas about a particular guest, work on it for four or five days and find he's in Acapulco or his studio won't let him do any TV or he won't work for even $15,000.

"Then it's just a question of sitting around, talking for two weeks, starting to write and learning to hate each other thoroughly."

"The things we laugh loudest about usually don't make the script," said Simmons. "The only time we really get excited is when one guy suggests something around 3 a. m. The other guy yells, 'That's it!' And we go to sleep. Of course, it isn't it. It's just wishful thinking. We just wanged to get to bed."

Rossmore

ROSSMORE — The Thursday afternoon banquet club held its semi-annual banquet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Wicky" Ross recently. All members were present and enjoyed a chicken supper.

Euchre formed the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. John Krupiak is able to be out again after a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Osterhout and family had supper Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Morram's, Frankford.

Miss Eleanor Boulter has returned from the Belleville General Hospital after a serious operation.

All wish her a complete return to health.

Mr. T. M. Jarvis of Toronto, is spending the Easter holidays with his sister, Mrs. Arthur Alves.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Anderson, Miss Betty and Master Wayne are holidaying with relatives near Hamilton.

Mrs. Allan Osterhout was among those who attended the inter-club dinner of the Kinsettes at the La Salle Hotel, Kingston, on Monday night.

Mr. Joe Brickman, of Trenton, was renewing acquaintances in the village on Tuesday.

Horse Sense Bridge

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

One of the deep pleasures of bridge is picturing what partner holds. But between you and me and a waiting world, you can dispense with the view if your bidding follows simple rules.

Along the tournament trail came a simple deal like this:

NORTH
♠A 9 7 3
♥J 6
♦K Q J 8
♣Q 10

WEST
♠Q 6
♥A K 9 5 4 2
♦10 7 3
♣A 7

EAST
♠K 10 8 4 3
♥Q 10 7
♦5 4 3
♣J 9 5 3

SOUTH
♠J 5 2
♦A K 9 6
♣K 8 6 4 2

This is an easy mess of cards with which to reach a game in the heart suit. Players must be very brilliant to take liberties over out of it. And it is surprising how often they do that very thing.

The bidding should move smoothly along like this:

South	West	North	East
1 Heart	Double	2 Clubs	Pass
2 Hearts	Pass	4 Hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

The two raises in number by north is a promise of four tricks and support for hearts. With his own six tricks, south can thus see the ten tricks needed for game in the agreed denomination.

Some of the bright stars in the match figured that hearts would be a common contract down the line. Hoping to get a higher score in match point play they decided to try three no-trump.

It made east the losing leader and his start of a spade gave this five trick defeat the safest contract fast. Perhaps a better fate was deserved. But it is the chance a rule-breaker takes.

Where south became the declarer at four hearts there was west's opening lead of the diamond king. A couple of the south players got careless and lost the contract by failing to look far enough ahead.

They took the first diamond lead with dummy's ace and pulled two or three rounds of trumps. By the time they woke up to their danger, it was too late. The two opponents from taking four tricks in the minors.

Give yourself the practice of playing it right.

AT THE McCARTHY

Cooper, Lancaster Star as Two Adventurers

Gary Cooper and Burt Lancaster two of the screen's most likeable he-men, have the roughest roles of their careers as two American free-booters on the loose in the tumultuous Mexico of 1866, in "Vera Cruz," Technicolor film which made its local debut yesterday at the Belleville McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release.

The picture, which was filmed on location in Mexico, is replete with awe-inspiring scenic backgrounds. This scenic splendor is brought to its fullest realization by a new wide-screen process called Superscope, and judging by "Vera Cruz," it is a magnificent new achievement for the screen.

Co-starring with Cooper and Lancaster are luscious Denise Darcel and handsome Cesar Romero. The picture introduces a sizzling specimen of sex a la South of the Border in the person of one Sarita Martiel. This vivacious miss makes her American film debut in "Vera Cruz" as a young lady who makes love and picks pockets with equal agility. Others in the cast, all of whom give impressive performances, include George Macready, Ernest Borgnine and Morris Ankrum.

The picture was produced by James Hill for Hecht-Lancaster.

Mrs. John Boe, of Belleville, was with her cousin, Mrs. A. C. Alyea, on Sunday.

The last of the ice in the bay is now making its departure.

Mrs. E. Anderson attended an afternoon birthday tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon, Bodnerville, on Sunday afternoon.

The Wednesday night euchre club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross.

Mrs. Jack McKay and son Jimmy, of Belleville, were with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Boulter on Tuesday evening.

All wish the complete recovery of Mr. Angus Hannah, Mr. Hannah is expected home from hospital this week.

Church service was held Easter Sunday evening at 8.30.

AT THE CAPITOL — The stars gather around. Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh, co-stars of Universal-International's Technicolor musical "Walking My Baby Back Home", harmonize with comedian Buddy Hackett, O'Connor's TV pal Sidney Miller, and Scat Man Crothers who are also featured in the lavish song, dance and romance extravaganza showing today and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program in Technicolor "The White Witch Doctor," starring Susan Hayward and Robert Mitchum.

Uganda Hunter Chewed Lion Which Bit Him

LONDON (AP)—The story about the man who bit a dog is old stuff —this guy chewed a lion.

The latest report of the Uganda game and fisheries department tells how a guard named Gabrielle Ogwok sank his teeth into the king of the beasts.

Ogwok was stalking a bushbuck, a small antelope, when he discovered a lion was stalking him. He wounded the lion, but had to run to a nearby farm for help and more ammunition.

With the manager of the farm, Ogwok trailed the lion for several hours. Then the lion turned, sprang on the guard and dug his teeth into Ogwok's thigh.

Not to be outdone, Ogwok dug his molars into the lion's flank. The farm manager finished off Leo and freed Ogwok. The government report added:

"The game ranger who later examined the animal's skin was surprised at the damage inflicted by Ogwok's teeth."

Judy Carter's Stepfather Will Take Lie Test

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says Judy Carter's stepfather, William MacLeod, will take a lie detector test in Buffalo, N.Y., today.

The paper says MacLeod has volunteered to take the test "in face of disturbing rumors facing him."

Toronto police will be present at the test, the story says.

The body of the little girl who disappeared six weeks ago was found Saturday in a creek bank near nearby Markham township. Police said she had been strangled with her scarf but was not sexually molested.

Rewards totalling $4,000 have been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of her slayer.

Karachi Women Demand Pakistan Outlaw Polygamy

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Ali's marriage to a Canadian as his second wife has provoked a demand from 20 of Karachi's most prominent women that his government outlaw polygamy.

They issued a joint statement Tuesday urging Pakistani women to "safeguard their rights." Although the Koran permits Moslem men to have as many as four wives under certain circumstances they asserted, it does not condone multiple marriage for all Moslem husbands.

Mohammed Ali married Aiya Saddy, his Canadian-born social secretary, April 2. He's 46 and she's 28. He already has a wife, Hamida, 40, the mother of his two sons. Both wives now are living in the same house in the capital of Karachi. The new wife, a former Edmonton resident, has been recognized and received by all her husband's government colleagues.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: A southerly circulation will maintain mainly above normal temperatures across most of Ontario today and Thursday. Cloudy skies, scattered showers and a few thunderstorms are associated with the warm air mass which covers the province.

ATTLEE WARNS RED CHINA NO MERE SATELLITE

Makes Strong Bid For China Recognition

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FORT WILLIAM Ont. (CP)—Clement Attlee, leader of Britain's Labor party, warned Tuesday night that the West must not regard Communist China as a "mere satellite" to Russia.

The former British prime minister, in his initial public address on a cross-country speaking tour under the auspices of the CCF party, told an audience of 1,200 that it was true China was being run by Russian-trained Communists but "it is very far from being in a position like Rumania, Bulgaria or other Soviet satellites".

"It is a mistake to consider China as a mere cat's paw to Russia."

Making a strong bid for Western recognition of Red China, Leader Attlee said he was "quite sure" that attacks China now will only more and more draw her people to that regime."

SEES SOME TACTICS

"If you attack China by trying to draw a sanitary corridor around her with bases, you will be using arms of Russia. That is thoroughly bad tactics."

He added Britain, when he was prime minister from 1945 to 1951 recognized the Communist government as the "effective government of China."

The handing of the China seat in the United Nations to the puppet government of Formosa was "ridiculous" he said.

"It is no good turning our resistance to aggression into an anti-Communist crusade. The sooner we can get contacts between the West and China the better . . .

"I don't think the relationship between Russia and China is one of love and affection. I think the Russians are afraid of China."

Mr. Attlee said the West must recognize the rapid rise of Asiatic ism, the result of education, association and the teachings of democracy.

CHINESE KEEN HONEST

Mr. Attlee said he realized there were great differences and deep intolerances in China. "But no matter what you think of them these people are not idealists and are not corrupt . . . there is no bribery or corruption in China today."

He said the Communist government is undertaking projects for the benefit of the ordinary people and "there can be no help like the difference between Russia and China."

Mr. Attlee left immediately after the meeting by train for Regina.

UNEXPECTED RESULT

NILES, Mich. (AP) — A .22-calibre rifle shot the head off a pipe cleaner. Paul Gobble, '9, tried it and suffered thumped wounds in several places. He fired a rifle shot into a well pipe to clean it and the shell pierced the pipe, hitting his foot.

Percy the Bartender Takes Dim View Of Daily Worker, London's Only Paper

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — A bartender friend of ours named Percy (with his face he can carry it) emerged from deep inside the Communist Daily Worker today and pronounced judgment:

"It'll never replace the old-fashioned newspaper."

He may be an old ground, but at the moment the Red party organ—all four pages of it—is striving to go so.

Because of Britain's newspaper strike, the Worker is the only daily publishing in the capital. It's selling avidly for people couldn't normally wouldn't touch it with a set of tongs.

It fetches premium prices on the black market.

Percy got an opportunity for converts!

Recognizing this, The Worker in a front-page editorial has deposed thusly:

"No new reader who comes again must find he cannot get The Daily Worker. All newly - won ground must be consolidated."

This led us to interview Percy—who might be described loosely as newly - won ground—to see whether he is in a condition of consolidation.

Well, we've got news for The Worker and it's not good.

"I want to be fair about this," said Percy. "But to tell you the truth I think I'd rather have my Daily Mirror."

He waved him what faults he had to find with The Worker.

"Look at this front page," said Percy, pointing to the headline: 'Bulgarians Cooper London'.

"Fair play to a start, that did. And you know what it's about! It's about people being hundredweights. What kind of a lark is that!"

He read off some other headlines:

"Experimentalise to cotton; human realities of slump in our oldest industry" — "Teachers bitter" — "Fight for peace, call unites".

"Couple of weeks of that and I'll be dead. Or they'll change they'll have to sink a shaft for me," Percy commented.

Then: "Don't they get happy people? And where's their comic strips?"

Any further remarks?

"Well, yes," said Percy, "I found out one thing here I never knew before. In their nature column Listen to this: 'Newts lay their eggs singly, wrapping each in a leaf of water weed.' A man goes to know things like that. Interesting and useful. Help me in my work, that will.

"You got any idea when the newspapers will be back?"

Men, Money, Angry Parents Give Knockout Blow to Polio

By ALTON G. BLAKESLEE
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Men, money and angry parents delivered the technical knockout to polio through the Salk vaccine.

The men: Many scientists making discoveries step by step paving the way to a vaccine.

The money: $10,000,000 or more in March of Dimes funds from the public to support this research. To this extent the vaccine is something the people created.

The parents: Angry at the stealthy invisible killer and the spoiler of children, determined to extinguish its nerve-destroying work.

Today the victory is within grasp with a successful vaccine, developed by quiet, dark - haired Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, a dedicated scientist with inclusive mind.

Today the first batches of an improved Salk vaccine are moving from pharmaceutical houses to public health officials and doctors' offices for begin inoculations of millions of children this spring and summer.

Within hours after Tuesday's official verdict that the vaccine is up to 90 per cent effective in pre-Salk vaccine.

venting paralysis, it was licensed in the United States and Canada for public use.

At last polio, the disease that puts the haunt of fear in human minds, is on the way to defeat, control, elimination.

The victory did not come easily, nor the answer spring forth full-born. As with most great achievements of medical science, it was won from the minds of many men since Dr. Karl Landsteiner discovered in 1908 that polio was due to a virus. The industrial chemical agent far smaller than bacteria.

A few years later, polio spread like a conflagration through New York City, striking hard with death and paralysis. Parents fled the cities with their children.

Polio had many faces then unknown. It came mysteriously, and still today science does not know exactly how.

Little and big facts and new techniques in a mosaic assembled from many men, by so means all engaged in polio research. They set the stage for the final finding coming in a rush between 1949 and 1953, present development of the Massive Retaliation Policy No Road to Peace—Pearson

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—"Hydrogen bombs are a bad milestone," Canadian External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday night as he hit at the defence doctrine of massive retaliation.

"The rattling of the hydrogen atom is an indication of rattling sabres, only far more dangerous," Pearson said.

Speaking in the first of three public lectures at Princeton University, he said massive retaliation, stockpiling bombs and threatening to annihilate an aggressor, was a short-term answer to gaining time rather than a long-term solution to peace.

Pearson said the doctrine of massive retaliation was effective only as long as the world was split into two blocs, otherwise picturing a "nightmare of many countries with atom bombs" aimed at other countries.

Pearson advocated instead a "long-term peaceful policy, what he termed a doctrine of proportion.

Speaking on democracy, Pearson said the political system can only be kept strong and healthy by honest and free public informed judgment and action.

"Democracy is not easy today," he said, "among all the confusion of voices which is pressed on us, by the world in which we live."

Property Owners Want Level Of Lake 246 Feet

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Property owners and the International Joint Commission were in disagreement Tuesday over water level regulations.

The IJC presented its plan, to be worked out in conjuction with the building of the St. Lawrence seaway, at a public hearing here.

The commission said its proposal would establish a maximum mean monthly level of 248 feet above sea level at a point near Cape Vincent, shipping season only, of 244 feet.

Cecil Hathaway, U.S. member of the commission, said this four-foot fluctuation contrasted favorably with a 6½ foot fluctuation reported by U.S. army engineers since 1860.

The Lake Ontario Land Development and Beach Protection Association, Inc. has prepared a brief calling for a maximum level of 246 feet. The association contends any level over 247 feet causes widespread damage.

ASK DREDGING

Property owners asked for dredging of the St. Lawrence river near Ogdensburg to assure lower water levels. The brief said the cost of such dredging "would be terrific."

Norman Atterby, president of the Property Owners Association, said members of Congress and the federal executive department are behind us to help them in the fight for better protection. He said his organization is seeking provision for damages and damage as well as the 246-foot minimum.

The present level of Lake Ontario is less than 247 feet. The all-time high of 249.3 was recorded in June 1952. U.S. property owners estimate their damage in the last three or four years as "in the millions."

CITY GOES ALL OUT

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The news of the success of the Salk anti-polio vaccine was announced to Syracusans Tuesday by a minute of sirens, church bells and red traffic lights. City officials published in advance the plan to sound sirens, ring bells and halt traffic at 10:20 a.m. If the vaccine was successful. A success. Failure would have been signified if the time passed in silence.

Have Identified Skeleton Found Near Collingwood

COLLINGWOOD (CP)—The skeleton of a woman found near here last November was identified today as that of Mrs. Hazel Kaminski, 36, wife of Joseph Kaminski of R. R. 1, Windham Centre, about 10 miles north of Simcoe.

Provincial Chief Lewis Elliott said positive identification was made by Dr. R. J. Wilkinson of Toronto who matched x-ray plates made of the nose of the skeleton and of one made of Mrs. Kaminski broke her nose in an automobile accident in 1951.

Chief Elliott said: "She definitely was not strangled. There was no scarf found near the body as some newspapers have reported. The cause of death was not used."

Mr. Kaminski said his wife left home in February, 1954. He did not report the matter to police until the skeleton was found.

He told police his wife also left him on another occasion.

Plans to Teach Teen-agers How To Handle Arms

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — The New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association's Moncton branch said Tuesday it plans to teach "teen-agers how to handle guns" before ignorance can turn them into woodland killers.

Cecil M. Johnson, chairman of a special committee set up to get the plan under way, said the aim of the plan is to "educate people in the finer points of using rifles and other sporting arms from the kiddies to the toll of hunting fatalities each year.

The first group to receive instruction will be on Friday with the boob boys and girls in the 14-18 bracket. Mr. Johnson said he was handed by the army's No. 5 military headquarters and eventually will take in features of several types of weapons.

Mr. Johnson said there are uncounted instances of youths being presented with 22-calibre rifles on their 15th birthdays without having the faintest idea of how to handle them properly.

The association said it hoped later to take the teen-agers into the woods for on-the-spot training.

ONT. CHILDREN TO GET VACCINE FREE OF CHARGE

Announcement Made By Premier Frost

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government will provide immunizing Salk polio vaccine injections to every school child in the province free of charge, as fast as the vaccine becomes available.

This was announced today by Premier Frost. It will be an extension of the immunization program now under way in many parts of Ontario.

"Moreover we intend to extend free immunization to adults beyond the school age, although it is known to be principally a disease of children," the premier said.

He said Ontario will join in the project announced Tuesday by Health Minister Martin in which the federal government will pay half the cost of further vaccine supplies.

"We are now giving the first injection to 260,000 of our pupils in grades 1 and 2, but just as soon as possible — right now, if we can get the vaccine — we'll extend the immunization to all of our 1,000,000 children in the primary and secondary schools — and we'll do it free of charge," Mr. Frost added.

WILL MOVE FAST

He said children in the high incidence age group will be vaccinated first but pregnant women also susceptible to polio would be high on the priority list.

"We'll move fast for the organizational part of inoculating children against polio," the premier said. "It will be up to the government to see that under the agreement no other atomic weapons will be exchanged.

He added in response to a question that under the agreement no other atomic weapons will be exchanged.

Viet Nam Army's Predicted Attack Fails to Occur

SAIGON (AP)—Saigon spent a quiet and uneventful night Tuesday despite alarmist predictions by the Binh Xuyen Society that the South Viet Nam government planned to attack its private army.

The clash, if ever was planned, did not take place. The Binh Xuyen communique, which painted a dark picture of bloodshed and destruction which would follow a new engagement between the two forces in the national army, served to keep most of the population at home.

Streets and more South Viet Nam is being exposed to a war of nerves between the Binh Xuyen, which does not hesitate to use frightening rumors, is creating near-panic in the population.

Several foreign correspondents here were struck by the fact that Tuesday night's Binh Xuyen communique, which spoke of battles being fought into a city in flames, was distributed by a French official. French authorities have denied any connection with the Binh Xuyen and the religious sect that is backing the American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

SOLDIER SLAYS TWO

PONTESTURRA, Italy (Reuters) — Two persons died in Madrid early night when an Italian soldier suddenly opened fire on passersby indiscriminately in this village. Several others were wounded. The soldier, aged 21, from a nearby army centre, fled when the magazine of his automatic rifle was empty.

Thinks Cold Front Feet in Ice Ages Turned Prehistoric Apes Into Men

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some experiments with chimpanzees have convinced a Virginia medical scientist that snow played a large part in the development of man from prehistoric monkeys.

The experiments involve a loosely constructed theory that a cold front moved many ancestors uncomfortable, caused them to walk upright to escape the bitter wetness; that the upright position made their adrenal glands work harder because of the unnatural stress involved, and that the erect position resulted in an increased demand by the brain for blood.

With the increased blood supply the brain developed and the creature became the upright progenitor of man.

This hypothesis was presented to the Federated American Societies for Experimental Biology today by Dr. Sydney Britton of the University of Virginia medical school.

Dr. Britton picked up two chimpanzees in Nigeria while helping to start a medical school there. Later he took them to England, where they got their first taste of cold weather, and then took one to Virginia, where it got more of the same.

Whenever it snowed, the chimpanzees walked in an upright position. After the snow melted they went back to walking on all fours.

Since the ninth week through several glacial cycles during the early development of man millions of years ago it is possible, Dr. Britton said today, that the primates got their uprightness by trying to avoid snow.

U.S. Will Exchange Atom Information With NATO Lands

Eisenhower Gives Approval To Sharing Atomic Data

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today approved a proposed international agreement on the exchange of information dealing with atomic weapons among the 14 north Atlantic treaty nations.

The agreement, still to be formally signed by the NATO nations, provides for exchange of data dealing with: Development of defense plans; training of personnel in the use of and defence against atomic weapon; and evaluation of the capabilities of potential enemies in the use of atomic weapons.

Announcement of the president's approval of the proposed agreement was made at his vacation headquarters here by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

NO BOMB EXCHANGE

The agreement is drafted in line with terms of the 1946 revision of the U.S. Atomic Energy Act.

Hagerty emphasized that the agreement "does not relate in any way to exchange of atomic bombs" in connection with secret data on which United States laboratories have exclusive by the Salk method for the first test in the U. S. It then manufactured the complete vaccine for the country and for inoculations for nearly 600,000 Canadian children.

Connaught Lab Ready to Produce Enough Vaccine

TORONTO (CP)—The Connaught Laboratories of the University of Toronto said in an official statement ahead to produce enough Salk vaccine for an all-out war against polio in Canada.

In recent months the committee of university governors and director Connaught has studied the possibility of the Salk polio vaccine being successful. Tuesday it was pronounced safe, effective and potent.

The committee anticipated a demand for large quantities of vaccine and made plans for meeting the demand.

On the basis of planning, officials of Connaught Laboratories say they can do all that is necessary this year to provide sufficient vaccine for a national program.

Connaught is the only one equipped with the Salk vaccine. It produced the first lot of the vaccine from which United States laboratories made vaccine by the Salk method for the first test in the U. S. It then manufactured the complete vaccine for the country and for inoculations for nearly 600,000 Canadian children.

Mental Disease Next Big Target Says Dr. Salk

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed the Salk vaccine against polio, agreed yesterday night that mental disease should be the next major target of prevention research.

Salk, interviewed by CBS commentator Edward R. Murrow over a coast-to-coast television program, said:

"We're sort of mental disease is one of the largest by far and particularly desperately in need of preventive measures that will not necessarily what we are dealing with, but that we can measure the dynamics of the process as we have tried to determine the dynamics of the infectious diseases."

McFarland Suit Against City Opens Here in Supreme Court

A suggestion that Alderman Bruce Smith, chairman of the Department of Public Works in 1954, had reversed his approval of a bill for street resurfacing done in the city last August by the E. J. McFarland Construction Company because of improper pressure put upon him by the mayor, was made Tuesday afternoon by Mr. Richard Lennox, K. C., Napanee, K.C., of Picton.

The suggestion was made at Mr. City Treasurer Bateman, E. J. McFarland Construction Company's agent for the City of Belleville for payment of approximately $25,000 for street resurfacing done last August. Hearing of the suit commenced at Tuesday afternoon's session of the Spring Assizes being held in the Hastings County court house before Hon. Mr. Justice Wright in the house of the Ontario Supreme Court.

The afternoon hearing was also marked by a suggestion from Mr. Nourse that an approval form attached to a statement of the materials used had been torn off the original document to conceal the signature of the chairman of public works.

CLERK-COMPTROLLER ON STAND

Mr. Nourse's presentation of McFarland's claim against the Estimation of city clerk-comptroller H. D. Bateman occupied the entire afternoon session. Prior to questioning Mr. Bateman, Mr. Nourse read copies of the minutes of council meetings pertaining to the McFarland case into the records.

The case, briefly, is that the city called for street resurfacing last June and awarded the contract to the H. J. McFarland Construction Company, which submitted the lowest tender. According to the terms of the contract called for payment on completion of the work subject to the approval of the city engineer and with the consent of the chairman of the department of public works.

McFarland claims the work was carried out according to specification and to the complete satisfaction of the engineer, while Farland also claims that payment of the bill was approved by public works chairman Bruce Bateman "but that some time later Smith withdrew his approval."

ENJOYING USE IS CLAIM

"The city has been enjoying the use of the materials used and a lot of $25,000 without settlement," said Mr. Nourse. "The city claims that the resurfacing of gravel was not used and that the work was poor."

"McFarland claims that water-washed pea gravel was used; that dust was not used on the pea gravel, including pea gravel, is free from dust."

He said that Alderman Smith's approval was needed for payment of the bill.

"Improper pressure was brought to bear on the alderman by public works by Mayor Both, who operates a company similar to McFarland's, and that this improper pressure Smith reversed his approval," said Mr. Nourse.

Mr. Nourse outlined the terms of the contract to be as follows: (1) cleaning of the road to be resurfaced with rotating brooms. (2) mechanical spreading of oil bitumols—the adhesive binder for gravel. (3) immediate spreading of agregate by mechanical means on the adhesive. The aggregate was to be of crushed water washed pea gravel of high grade.

"The plaintiff has complied in all respects with the contract, furnished the material and received the approval of the city engineer and chairman of the Public Works and says he should be paid," said Mr. Nourse.

Counsel also claimed that a deposit of $1,139 posted by McFarland at the commencement of the contract had not been returned as it should have been when the work was completed, and that the city has not paid a bill for $680 for 163.65 tons of surplus pea gravel, which has been stockpiled in the city's storage yard on instructions from the city engineer.

DEFENCE OUTLINED

The city's defence for non-payment, according to Mr. Nourse is that the city engineer was not authorized to purchase the surplus pea gravel and that approval of the resurfacing was withheld because: (1) the aggregate was not water washed and was therefore dusty; (3) too much aggregate was applied; (3) inafficient bituminol adhesive was applied to the street, and (4) the work created too much dust.

Mr. Nourse called city clerk-comptroller H. D. Bateman to the stand at his first witness. Numerous council minutes read into the record dated from June 7th after counsel for both parties agreed that Alderman Bruce Smith was chairman of public works for the period under discussion.

The meetings referred to, in order discussed, are: June 7th: Comptroller authorized to call for tenders for surface treating of certain streets in the city of Belleville.

June 21st. Tender awarded to H. J. McFarland Construction Co. for $22,780, it being lowest tender submitted.

Sept. 7th. A special meeting of council was held. A letter from the Chamber of Commerce was presented with letters about dust received from residents and merchants.

A resolution that the McFarland Construction Co. be not paid for street surfacing until the contract complied with the contract, was lost. The meeting decided to suggest to the engineers to survey the street surfacing.

Sept. 12th. H. J. McFarland account of $25,478.51 referred to Comptroller, works department Smith reported that Lee and Brooks, consulting engineers of Kingston, had been engaged to survey street surfacing and sidewalk construction by Tatham Construction Co.

Sept. 27th. McFarland account was returned back to council. The account was returned by council back to the public works department.

WEST ISSUED

Dec. 5th. The Board of Works recommended, concerning the city engineer ordered by the city engineer, that the city engineer advise McFarland's that the city objects to purchase of 163.65 tons of pea gravel.

A writ received from McFarland for payment was sent to the city solicitor. Mr. Lee, of Lee, Brooks, reported. Report of street surfacing. The report to council was that oiling was not done in accordance with specifications and that the engineer had no approval to purchase pea gravel.

A recommendation that the city engineer be asked for his resignation for failure to obtain supervision from his holidays.

Nov. 7th. The city conferred with the city solicitor concerning the defence of the action brought by McFarland Construction Company engineer C. A. Mott's resignation was accepted and a report from Lee and Brooks discussed.

A recommendation that "because of the fact that the engineer passed payment (of McFarland's bill) and the chairman of the Board of Works did not, and because A. Mott failed in his duties, that no fee be paid to the engineer" was presented to council. The matter was referred to a special committee.

Nov. 8th. No report on the city engineer from Bruce Bateman by the committee.

Nov. 22nd. Alderman Sale enquired about the status of the H. J. McFarland account. Mayor Both replied that the special committee's report on the city engineer.

Dec. 7th. Alderman Argue enquired on the status of the McFarland account.

Jan. 3rd, 1933. Alderman Sale was appointed chairman of the Board of Works.

ADVERTISEMENT ADMITTED

Mr. Nourse immediately calling, tenders was admitted as exhibit No. 1.

Mr. Nourse brought out that applications for specifications and tender forms were made to the city engineer and to the city clerk-comptroller.

Another original tender form is not now available for some reason or other," said Mr. Nourse, introducing a copy of a tender form with a copy of specifications for the work in question attached.

Before the tender forms and specifications the same as those used for years?" said Mr. Nourse.

"I have no knowledge," said Mr. Bateman.

Mr. Bateman said that all he saw of the street surfacing was certain city employees sweeping MacAdam roads.

"I advised them not to sweep," said Mr. Bateman, "as the surplus should have been done under the contract."

Mr. Bateman was with public works chairman Smith at the time he signed the application for payment, said Mr. Smith that "I was going to order the men off the street."

An account of the meeting of council meeting of September 7th, written by Ontario Intelligencer reporter Roy Peacock and published Sept. 8th provoked some controversy, when Mr. Nourse asked to have the account made an exhibit.

After a 40-minute recess, Mr. Pringle again objected to admitting the report on the ground that saying that the reporter's evidence would be inaccurate. He didn't feel that Mr. Bateman should be asked to testify about items in the report.

Mr. Justice Moorhouse ruled that admission of the report subject to objection.

"Is this a fair and accurate report of the meeting?" asked Mr. Nourse.

"I remember only my own statement," said Mr. Bateman.

SIGNED VOUCHER

"Do you know whether the work of the plaintiff was approved by the city engineer?" said Mr. Nourse.

"The city engineer signed a voucher for payment," said Mr. Bateman.

Mr. Nourse showed a tender and voucher signed by C. A. Mott and it was admitted as exhibit 3.

"Something has been cut off the bottom of page two," said Mr. Nourse. "What's been cut off?"

"I know of nothing on it. I wouldn't know what else would

Last night the members of the Belleville Council Knights of Columbus had the pleasure of listening to an address by Mr. Frank Follwell, Federal member of Parliament for South Hastings.

Ringling Brothers Will Show Here On June 27th

Kids of all ages in the Belleville district will have every opportunity of getting their fill of circusing this year.

During a ten day period in the latter part of June, less than a week, the circuses will visit the city, including Ringling Brothers, declared "the greatest show on earth."

Approval of city fathers for Ringling's coming was announced, as of their famed circus in Belleville on June 27th, was given at council last Tuesday night although the ante for the circus licence was raised by the city from $100 to $200. A circus representative attending council readily agreed to the increased fee.

The two other circuses to visit Belleville include an indoor show at the Belleville Arena which is being sponsored by the Belleville Police Association, and a few days later the Kinsmen Club are sponsoring an outdoor show.

Alderman Ben Sale questioned the amount of the licence fee paid by circuses and when told it was $100, suggested the fee be raised to $200 considering the amount of money taken out of the city. The increased fee was approved by council.

Council had no information as to whether the other two circuses had applied for a licence, although the Arena and the Ice floor circus might not require a licence as it was paying rental for the arena.

time traffic was allowed on it?"

"I don't know," said Mr. Bateman.

"Did you have knowledge of any complaint made to McFarland during work on the contract?" "No."

"Have you any knowledge of Smith being on the job?"

"No."

"Did the mayor of Belleville operate a contracting company in Belleville?" "Both Ltd. during the time of the contract?" "Yes."

"Did Smith criticize the work to your knowledge?"

"He may have stated that he returned to the city August 25th about the 28th and noticed that dust on the streets "was terrific." Next morning the president and secretary-manager of the Board of Commerce spoke to him in his office about the dust. Mr. Bateman said he called Alderman Smith suggesting the use of the sprinkler be kept down out and that Alderman Smith said he had been complaining about dust.

Mr. Nourse suggested that the dust might have been caused by the oil applied to the surface by a rotary broom prior to the laying of the surface.

"Do you think the deposit should have been returned on completion of work?"

"Yes," said Mr. Bateman.

"Why was it not done?"

"I don't know."

"The plaintiff was paid nothing for the work?" "No."

"Because council would not approve the accounts."

ENGINEER APPROVED PURCHASE

In speaking of the stockpiling of surplus pea gravel, Mr. Nourse said that Mr. Bateman signed the minutes that council undertook the engineer had approved purchase of the gravel, which in the past the engineer had the power to stockpile surplus gravel.

"For years Mr. Mott has done what he did at the time," said Mr. Nourse. "He bought the gravel left over and stockpiled it and the city paid for it until this year."

"As clerk-comptroller you oversee city business and don't you feel it be left in the past?" said Mr. Nourse.

"The engineer told me he had done so in the past. I don't know if he did except that he told me he did," said Mr. Bateman.

The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday morning.

Appearing with Mr. Nourse for McFarland's is R. A. Pringle, of Belleville. Bernard W. Hurley is appearing with Mr. Pringle for the city.

Keep Highways Safe Advice Given Kiwanians

Cpl. Harry Barker, Belleville OPP detachment, yesterday told those out for motoring uniform to remind the public of its duty in keeping the highways safe.

Speaking at the weekly Kiwanis luncheon here he drew a "humanistic" sketch of the essentials of efficient driving: "Share; Clear; Yield; Signal; Dim, Respect and Adjust."

Among his remarks were:

"Co-operation between different types of traffic is a must."

"Don't cut in too quickly . . . wait until the vehicle you have passed appears in your rear view mirror before turning back into line."

"Signal your intentions so that (another motorist) can adjust his driving to suit the situation."

"Respect traffic laws, signs, signals and road markings."

"Adjust your driving to road, traffic and weather conditions."

Most important traffic reminder of all, said Cpl. Barker in charge of the local OPP traffic division, is: "Watch for children when passing through communities, drop your speed to the posted limit and watch for pedestrians—especially children."

". . . the little child walking along the street, or beside the highway outside the populated areas represents the future citizens of a great country of ours."

Cpl. Barker was introduced by Ralph Graham and thanked by Dal Dalrymple.

On the occasion of the luncheon Kiwanian Harry Fuke announced that the club's annual "Travel and Adventure" series of film programs, presented in the SCIVS was an outstanding success.

Senior Official Stewart-Warner Corporation Dies

CHICAGO — Funeral services were held April 12 at the Fourth Presbyterian Church here for Frank A. Hiter, 63, senior vice president of Stewart-Warner Corporation since 1944 and head of the company's Alemite and Instrument Division. He died April 9 of cerebral hemorrhage at Wesley Memorial Hospital.

A native of Owensboro, Ky., Mr. Hiter would have completed 35 years with the Alemite lubrication products division of Stewart-Warner next December. He started as sastanal salesmanager of the Alemite Corporation in 1920, four years before that company was purchased by Stewart-Warner. He became a vice president of Stewart-Warner in 1933 and a director in 1942.

He is survived by Mrs. Hiter, the former Florence Dillon, whom he married in 1938, and his mother, Mrs. A. F. Hiter, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. Hiter was a director of United Wallpaper, Inc., and of the Williamson Candy Company. He was a trustee of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago and a member of the Glen View Country Club and the Tavern and Racquet clubs of Chicago. He had been a director of the Radio Manufacturers' Association and of the Chicago Boys' Clubs, and headed the automotive sections of several annual Red Cross and Community Fund drives in Chicago.

Mr. Hiter was nationally known in the automotive industry, which he started in the automobile distributor in Louisville, Ky., two years after his graduation from Tennessee Military Institute in 1910. He was in the automobile accessory business following his return from service in France as a first sergeant in the 312th Field Artillery, 79th Division, A.E.F., in World War I.

Concentrated primarily with sales throughout the long career in the lubrication field, for which he was one he joined Alemite in 1920, he has been credited with being largely responsible for the adoption of pressure lubrication systems by car and truck manufacturers in the early 20's. In addition to his original equipment pioneering, he built up a nation wide distributing organization for his company's lubrication products which markets lubrication pumps and guns used by service stations, car dealers, fleet operators and other automotive service establishments. He also headed the development and marketing of lubrication systems and specialties for machine tool, farm implement, marine, aviation and other industries.

Council Names Two Committees At Session

Formation of committees on estimates, equalization and conferring in a number of resolutions to other counties occupied the attention of the County Council at Tuesday afternoon.

The committee of estimates will be Earl Sager, Harry Morrow, Charles Long, Alfred Wickett, C. H. Bunkard, M. J. Hamm, Hilchie Hills, Byron Harder, R. K. West, Ray Hannah, George Montgomery, Lloyd Price, R. T. Adams, James Spry, H. Varty, the County Clerk and Warden Spinkett.

The committee on equalization will be T. C. Graham, James Kinlin, Theodore Cooney, T. H. Tryon, Cecil Ketcheson, V. Hughson, Elmer Wood, Leslie McLaren, Irwin McCoy, J. Horsepool, Thomas Scott, J. G. Wilson, W. J. Davis, C. Brennan, Murray Smith and the Warden.

The members heard the owner of a convalescent home requested the support in his application to have the home become a chartered hospital and this matter was referred to Ways and Means. Warden Spracklett informed the members that a number of councillors had visited the home and were agreeably surprised on the cleanliness and efficiency with which it was conducted.

CONCUR IN MOTION

The council concurred in a resolution from Grey County asking for banning of imported New Zealand cheese but did not support a motion respecting the United Livestock Sales claiming that the organization had been found wanting for the good of the hog producers. Reeve T. C. Graham stated that the organization had wasted two years of the industry and that it had not been too helpful in this section of the province. The council concurred in a resolution asking for equalized hydro rates. The new rules of procedure were discussed and some changes will be made before the rules are ratified.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township touched upon the estimates for the coming year, stating that the county had had an operating deficit of $18,000 during the past year.

He explained there were some repairs to be made in the engineer's office, a new micro film machine was needed in the Registry Office and it was expected there would be a mill raise in the road by-law. He also stated that the C.A.S. account would be greater in the coming year and asked the committee to be appointed to consider the estimates to be careful in their thinking. There being no further business, the council adjourned and the finance committee held a session.

No Reason For Relaxation

TORONTO (CP)—The medical officer of health for Toronto said Tuesday night advent of a Salk polio vaccine program was no reason for parents to "let the bars down" as far as precautions are concerned.

Dr. L. A. Pequegnat said parents should still take care children are not exposed to danger in peak polio periods. In the past they have been warned to keep children out of crowds and to stress cleanliness and rest.

GOOD NEWS FOR PARENTS

Millions of parents rejoiced on Tuesday when they learned that Dr. Jonas E. Salk's polio vaccine can greatly reduce the crippling toll of this dreaded disease and may, if its discoverer's hopes are realized, eventually make polio virtually unknown.

Some medical men have declared that the danger of polio has been greatly exaggerated, that there are other diseases, chemicals and forms of example, which take a much heavier toll of lives and more severely handicap those who escape death.

Figures released at Ann Arbor, Mich., on Tuesday tend to confirm this view. Among 1,400,000 children who did not receive the Salk vaccine there were only 750 cases of proven polio, or less than 54 per 100,000 children. Of the 750 children who contracted polio, 445 became paralyzed, or less than 32 per 100,000. There were only 15 deaths, an average of little more than one death in 100,000, so that polio can hardly be accurately described as a great child killer.

But the size of the toll never was the reason for the widespread dread of polio. Rather it was the nature of the disease, the manner in which in a few short hours it could transform a healthy, growing child into a cripple doomed to spend life in a wheel chair, which made it so universally feared.

How the Salk vaccine can lessen this fear is dramatically shown by the figures for the tests. Among 440,000 children who were vaccinated, only 113 developed polio, or 25 in 100,000, compared to 54 in 100,000 among the unvaccinated. Only three were only ill enough to be paralyzed, or 16 in 100,000 compared to 32 per 100,000 among the unvaccinated. Most impressive of all, there was only one among the children who received the Salk vaccine and this of a child who did not complete the treatment and who had a tonsillectomy during a polio epidemic.

It would thus appear that the danger of contracting the disease at all was halved by the use of the vaccine and that a similar reduction occurred in the risk of contracting paralysis, while the danger of death was almost eliminated.

The favorable results of the tests were announced by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan. Dr. Salk had been associate research professor there before he drafted by Dr. Francis. As the developer of the vaccine, Dr. Salk may be regarded as an interested party, but he is a man of integrity in the subject, and most of this impartial, certainly bear great weight. It is, therefore, extremely encouraging to learn that he believes that by delaying the third shot of vaccine for at least seven months a "booster effect will be produced, stimulating the production of antibodies in the blood stream and extending the child's immunity from the disease for a longer period, perhaps for years.

If we add Dr. Salk's confident prediction of improved results through this new technique to the proven results of last year's tests, we would appear justified in hoping that the toll of polio in this child-stricken land can be drastically eliminated, as soon as all children receive this vaccine.

Worthy of high praise was the prompt action of Hon. Paul Martin, Federal Minister of Health, in immediately announcing continued Federal aid to increase the production of the Salk vaccine this year.

One thing now remains to be done and that is to assure that, when the vaccine is available in sufficient quantity, all children receive this protection.

Some parents, for reasons which they believe valid, object to their children receiving this treatment. Such an attitude might have been justified prior to the announcement of the results of last year's tests. That is no longer true.

Parents bear the primary responsibility for the protection of their children's welfare. But the state has a duty, too, to see that this responsibility is discharged. No parent has the right to allow his child to suffer needlessly from disease, for any reason. Even where parents object on so-called religious grounds, the state would be justified in overriding such objections, because the child should not suffer for the idiosyncracies of its parents. Once the Salk vaccine is available in sufficient quantity, vaccination for children should be made compulsory.

A WELCOME DEVELOPMENT

Good news, for those who believe that competition is the life of trade, is the report in the Automotive News that the Chrysler Corp. scored a considerable gain over General Motors and the Ford Motor Co. in the production race in the U.S. during the first three months of 1953.

Chrysler, which obtained only 12.8 per cent of the car sales during the first quarter of 1954, snared 19.37 per cent of the total during the first three months this year.

Since both General Motors and Ford exceeded their last year sales, Chrysler's comeback hurt nobody but provides a welcome assurance that the automotive industry, in the nation which built a way of life on the automobile, will not eventually be divided exclusively between two big giants.

DETECTIVE STORY

If I wrote detective stories, and I wished to be deceiving,
To the mystery: "who done it?"
not a clue, would I be leaving.
Just to fool the bright-eyed reader, if the readers were willing,
I wouldn't have the butler be the one "who done the killing."

Since I've been a crime reporter,
I would make it my objective
To give credit for deduction to a homicide detective.
Of the one "who done the murder" I would let him be the captor,
And I think I'd let him do it long before the final chapter.

Having written tales of murder,
theft and battery and arson,
I might even throw suspicion on the gentle village parson.
I'd describe the killer's weapon and the bushes where "he'd thrun it."
But, it wouldn't be the servant or a chorus girl "who done it."

I'd try to have my villain one that ought to be arrested,
But he wouldn't be a nephew in a last will interested.
I'd have only pleasant people who had number or motive shun it,
And I'd let the town detective take to court the one "who done it."

"Collins, you're the most selfish man I've ever known."

Most Britons Love the Sea

(Isabel Quigly on The B.B.C.)

"We simply like the presence of the sea, and find ourselves in relaxation and pleasure simply in watching it. In no other country have I found that people will sit for hours, as I and most people here are perfectly happy to do, and simply watch its movement. To us this is one of the most satisfactory forms of entertainment, and one we never seem to tire of.

"In no other country have I found this universal interest in the sea, and in this country it is not only in people whose living depends on it, but those in the inland, not only in those who can sail expensively off the south coast, but in the average man whose knowledge of seamanship may not go much beyond the books of sailing adventure every English boy is brought upon and never quite forgets."

Strength for the Day

SHOULD WE GIVE CONSCIENCE A VACATION?

A young man who had been a participant in World War II and who is now doing a useful piece of work in his community, especially among young people, recently made the observation in public address that the 24-hour-pass prevalent in military circles during the war, has carried over into peacetime life and is, exercising a bad influence. In the military, men got into the habit of that 24-hours of relaxation in which all discipline was cast aside. How it has become a habit with many of them to look forward to such periods of relaxation and let-down, the speaker declared that a great many more persons are complaining about the present-day life are the hang-over of the 24-hour pass psychology and its operation in peacetime social life.

No one can deny the necessity for physical and mental relaxation. Without such relaxation we would soon break down. The heart is a good example of this need. It rests between beats, and the result is that it keeps up its steady onward pace by through the whole of one's life.

But although the heart rests, it does not suspend its function. It is stopped for a moment behaving as the heart, or not. Therefore it is therefore relax our moral standards once in a while to give ourselves a real from tension. It rests

Relaxation is necessary, and particularly in the fields of the physical and the mental, but relaxation is neither necessary nor desirable in the moral or spiritual life. We have to stand pat all the time, whether we wish to or not. The conscience cannot afford to take a vacation, even for a spill second.

Water Chestnut Is Real Menace

"Ontario Government Services"

With a warning that the Water Chestnut, if it spreads into Ontario, can and may ruin hunting, fishing, bathing and navigation areas," Minister of Lands and Forests Clare E. Magladery has sent out an alert to all Division Chiefs and field offices of the Department.

If any Water Chestnuts or plants of the aquatic weed are observed, "they should be pulled up and put on the land where they can be seen by the Minister advises. "Any known or suspected occurrences of Water Chestnut in Ontario should be reported."

The Water Chestnut (Trapa natans) is an aquatic annual plant which reproduces only by seed, the barbed, nut-like seeds produced the previous year. Each viable seed is capable of producing a cord-like stem from six inches to 15 feet long. The stem may produce one or more rosettes of leaves which float on the surface of the water, being loosely held by the bladder-like growth in the stems of the outer leaves.

The rosettes generally appear on the water surface during May or early June and die in mid dirty in the autumn of the same year. Water Chestnut plants are a glossy green on the upper surface and a hairy light green on the lower surface. Small flowers appear spread generally during July and each flower may produce a barbed nut which changes from green to black in colour and is capable of germinating the following year.

This plant is not native to Canada or the United States, reported by having been introduced from Europe. It first made its appearance in Canada in 1916 in Lake Lake, Scotia, in 1884. Since then it has spread to other localities and is firmly established in the Mohawk and Hudson Rivers from Scotia to Albany. Single plants or small clumps acres are covered with this growth. Its presence means, of course, that the plant pest far outweighs any value it may possess. The nature of its dense, tangled growth is the chief factor contributing to its undesirability. In areas where this plant is established, fishing, boating and swimming are impossible; water fowl shooting is spoiled, muskrat killing, stagnation and the breeding of mosquitoes. At the same time valuable food plants for waterfowl and other wildlife are crowded out

More Realistic Today About Farm-City Link

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

It is mighty good to read that story from the Prairies in your issue of April 9th, that the commercial contemporary (Post) gives a heartening report from the experience of two manufacturers' agents who have been using their spring tours saying that both men (on separate trips) "found customers eager to see them, ready to order, and pressing for more than they expected."

This above is an encouraging picture, and its source is sufficiently authoritative to make me think that there are others who wish is not father of the thought."

I was especially struck by the following lines in the above survey: "In spite of the fact that a letter from wheat which affected many dairy districts, the income of the whole has found that its resources are broader and its financial position more favorable than in the years of the "dirty thirties." This is good news for Canada, indeed.

I've seen the aforesaid decade referred to as "the hungry thirties" but not "the dirty thirties" heretofore ground for thought. My reaction is that the latter term is quite within this favored land) is less colorful but, also, more factual. I feel that, indeed, the predominant of most of the world—and all of the modern nations—have entered into a more realistic level concerning the link between farm prices and city wages. Schedules in city towns and cities. I don't know whether Sweden is the first to be economically described as a "dirty" price; but am satisfied that it was neither among the belligent. With all current problems, these are better days.

Large quantities of the barbed, nut-like seeds are also produced annually which tend to wash up on shorelines. At the same time these barbed nuts usually results in a very painful wound.

DOCTOR, PLEASE TELL ME MORE

Dr. Brady

According to Aunt Polly, the president of the American Dental Assn. says a person is just as well off brushing his teeth with water as with any toothpaste or powder. As far as he knows there is no adequate evidence that any dentifrice is useful in preventing decay except as it assists the toothbrush in cleaning the teeth." The president, Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, of Washington, D.C., added that "The American Dental Association will stand back of that."

Maybe that was so when Dr. Lynch said it, but will the Association stand back of it now that I have elbowed my way into the discussion? If it is possible, my views and teaching concerning hygiene and health are almost as unpopular with the A.D.A. as they are with the A.M.A.

"It's about time," I thought, when Aunt Polly began to buy soap — but my station was momentary. The toothbrush it seems, is still in vogue in Yankeeland.

Besides, like medicine's making strides nowadays. Half a century ago a crack at glorified soap as Dr. Lynch's would have ...

Any dentist can tell you, a plodding practitioner of medicine is not qualified to have an opinion of value concerning the preservation of the teeth.

As I tell you, no dentist has as yet explained why or how brushing teeth, with or without the magic nostrum flavored with peppermint or wintergreen, prevents decay.

It may be so sensible to brush one's tonsils before or after each meal as it is to brush one's teeth in my opinion.

I have nothing against soap and water cleanliness. Believe it or not I sometimes rinse my mouth with soapy water after eating. But when I'm too lazy to mess with such mouth washing, or when the kind of soap I prefer is not available, I don't mind neglecting my teeth, if it is neglect.

I get no return from dentistry — the tooth and gum troubles I've had have not been due to neglect. Prior to '49 the people there had no use for tooth brushes and the natives by them had no dental caries. But about that time the refinements of living began to creep into the islanders, the residents even boasted they could get such sugary, white flour, candy etc. at the store lately opened by the Capetown-London company. And established a cannery on the island to market the fish products that abound in the waters there. This refinement in diet probably marks the end of a period of good nutrition, dental hygiene and health.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The idea that you can spot a crook by his ugly mug and bad manners has been spread and encouraged by the movies, TV and fiction generally. The truth is, however, often the most affable of men. On the screen, you can tell who the criminal is the minute he appears. He's usually the sinister secretary to the art of the drama. He is either a villainous pug-ugly, or a lean, sporty-dressed scoundrel with a cold evil eye. But in real life, the worst crooks, like the penitentiaries will demonstrate, are a very engaging citizens — the most friendly, sociable, often courteous manners, urbane, even cultivated. These are the murderers, commerce men, rapists, bank robbers, the truly dangerous criminals.

We should not look at police photographs of convicts in our attempts to form an opinion of the appearance of criminals. When these pictures are taken the felons are far from normal. They are suffering from shock, or sick with bitterness. Under normal circumstances, these criminals would be far better looking men, more encouraged by appearance than many a church warden, many a deacon and most members of the legal profession.

True, the petty gangster type of criminal who occasionally brawls, is not a pretty sight, but he is as bank robbery and even murder, as either a villainous pug-ugly, or a lean, sportily-dressed scoundrel with a cold evil eye. TODAY'S TALK

ON GIVING ENCOURAGEMENT

The greatest service that any of us can give to another is encouragement. And it costs nothing to do it. Recently I read in the Reader's Digest I read a most interesting article on how to get Americans—Walter Eugene Packard—brought hope and life back to Greece through their spring tours by treating the soil and thus feeding a nation. He created the "known-you" and the encouragement followed.

At some period, in most lives, there comes when a little encouragement goes a long way. And it's such an easy thing to give encouragement to another. I once read it was the encouragement literally given to Meredith, during an evening of talk, that decided Meredith to devote his life to literature.

Scores of writers owe to the late "Bob" Davis an eternal debt of gratitude for all he did for them. He was forever giving encouragement, and even buying much material he really didn't want, or could not use, but which gave encouragement to many who later became famous.

Sir W. Robertson Nicoll, famous editor of the British Weekly was forever giving encouragement to writers, especially young ones, by sincere showing promise. He went out of his way to do this, thus giving the reward of self-confidence, he did it kindly and constructively. It was the encouragement Rhodia Hawkins gave to Stephen Crane, the author of "The Red Badge of Courage." That helped him to get this classic into permanent form. I believe every one of us is indebted to someone—in fact, to many—for the encouragement we have received from time to time over the years. It is interesting to note that the greatest benefactor of all always gets applause and encouragement. I believe this is as it should be.

Council Manager Form of Govt. To Be Investigated by Special Committee Ruling of Members

For the third time in as many years a special committee of city council will be named to investigate the council manager form of municipal government, it was decided by council.

This was decided Tuesday night when council referred back for two weeks a recommendation calling for the city solicitor to prepare the necessary by-law to reduce the size of council to eight members and a mayor.

An amendment from Alderman Wm. Argue called for such a reduced council to be combined with the city manager type of government. The vote on the question of the reduced council was deferred for two weeks while council approved a later motion from Alderman Ross David for a committee to be appointed to investigate the council manager form of government in Ontario cities.

It was pointed out that on two previous occasions in recent years special committees of council had investigated the same matter and in their report had recommended the present system of council be retained.

Alderman Tice noted that the clerk-comptroller already had the power of a city manager if council allowed him to exercise the authority laid down in the by-law. He also claimed that council was well constituted at present. Representation was all right as it was and it would be a mistake to make a change, he said.

Alderman Hyde objected to the two-year term for mayor suggested under the reduced council idea.

He said an election without a contest for the mayoralty might just as well not be held.

AMENDMENT TABLED

He tabled an amendment calling for a one-year term for the mayor under the suggested reduced council and also a one-year term for the aldermen.

Alderman Moxam felt the present system of council was satisfactory and said the present two-year term for aldermen was a good thing. He felt that with an eight-man council serving the city would be a full time job for aldermen.

Alderman David said in his opinion council manager form of government was a step in the right direction but at the same time he advised that council should go slowly. He suggested a investigating committee to see how it operated in other Ontario centres.

It was Mayor C. Bush who suggested the matter be laid over for another council meeting and his motion was carried. Mayor Bush noted the taxpayers should be given the opportunity of expressing their desire in the matter.

When it was pointed out that previous reports on city management were available Alderman Grandame suggested copies be provided for new council members.

On a recorded vote on the matter of appointing a committee to investigate council manager form of government Alderman Parker polled the only negative vote. Thirteen other aldermen and the Mayor approved.

A complaint from H. Cain, Victoria Ave., that motorists were disregarding the "stop" sign on MacDonald Ave. and were crossing Victoria without stopping was referred to the traffic committee. Mr. Cain noted that a girl knocked by himself revealed that less than 10 per cent of the motorists came to a full stop before crossing Victoria Ave.

ADVISES USE OF SCOTCHLITE

Mr. Cain also suggested that scotchlite be used to make stop signs more visible at night.

The Minister of Education for Ontario, Hon. W. J. Dunlop, in a letter to council advised that although the province administered education there was no legislative provision calling for the government to finance education.

The letter was in reply to a resolution passed by council some weeks ago which called on the provincial government to increase its rightful proportion of education costs as laid down under the B.N.A. act.

Two letters were received from city solicitor R. A. Pringle giving legal opinion on council matters.

One of the letters referred to a request from council as to whether an alderman who was not a member of a special committee could attend a meeting of such a committee. Mayor Bush had previously ruled such members could not attend and the opinion of the solicitor was asked.

Mr. Pringle said his interpretation of the procedure by-laws was that an alderman could attend any council committee meeting although if he were not a member of that committee he could not enter into the discussion without permission.

He said as the matter stood he was of the opinion that Aldermen could attend special committees "even if they are not welcome."

OPINION ON LEGALITY

In the second letter the solicitor gave his opinion on the legality of the request by the city for the public utilities commission to take over operation of the city sanitary sewers.

He noted that the only authority for such action was when the municipality's sewer system included a plant for the artificial treatment of sewage. A vote of the people and a private bill would be required, it was stated.

Mr. Pringle noted that if the city really intended applying for private legislation a committee should be appointed to draft the question to go to the people and also to draft the private bill.

Parking of trailers in the city which do not have sanitary facilities will be prohibited in the future according to a recommendation requested by the medical officer of health and approved by council.

Alderman Bruce Smith wanted to know if the recommendation would apply to boarded camping overnight. He was told by Alderman Hyde and Alderman McCabe the recommendation referred to permanent trailers and not tourists stopping in the city overnight.

A Public Works Committee recommendation authorizing that the services of Messrs. Redfern and Laughlin, civil engineering consultants to report on plans for storm sewers in the east end of the city, was referred back to the committee. Chairman of the committee, Ald. Ben Safa, noted that council should have some idea as to what the firm's services were going to cost the city.

REQUEST REFERRED BACK

A request from Mr. Mrs. Lantz, Hastings Drive, for permission to plant a hedge on city property on Clarke Ave. was referred to the public works committee.

If the enquiries Alderman Smith wanted to know when the traffic department's electrical speed timer was to go into operation. He was told that the equipment was on order but had not been delivered.

Alderman Hyde wanted to know what was to be done about the request of natural gas firms for gas franchises in the city. He noted that a special meeting had been called to hear representatives of the gas firms.

To a question from Alderman David regarding the report of the special committee on veterans' housing, Alderman Hyde replied the report would be given at the next meeting of council.

The by-law authorizing daylight saving to go into effect on April 24th was approved.

Alderman Arthur Keegan gave notice that he would introduce a motion calling for a question to be placed before the electors at the next election asking whether the taxpayers favored of aldermen being elected by the ward system, two from each ward and the mayor be named from among the chosen aldermen.

Under general business Alderman Hyde noted that the city solicitor had been authorized by the finance committee to take the necessary action with respect to the Cohen case and the Transient Traders' By-Law.

Alderman Keegan referred briefly to the Campbellford meeting regarding organization of the Eastern Ontario Development Board. A complete report on the meeting will be heard at a later date.

RESTAURANT CLOSED

A letter from Medical Health Officer Dr. M. Metcalfe informed council that Pete's Place, Front Street restaurant, had been closed in the interest of the public until sanitary requirements of the board of health had been complied with. The M.O.H. stated in his letter that the restaurant had been inspected some weeks ago. A second inspection this week revealed more progress had been made in conditions but in the interests of the public the restaurant had been closed until board of health requirements were met.

Kiwanis to Conduct 'Courteous And Safe Driving' Campaign

BY HARRY MULHALL

Next to a rebate on your income tax about the most uncertain thing in this world is a parking spot where you can dail the car as long as you want without having to worry about a time limit on the amount of space you've bought.

Well, starting this week the city of Belleville will be such a place — thanks to the active community interest of the Kiwanis Club.

Right about here there are bound to be the inevitable cynics saying about the most uncertain thing today is a parking spot — period, but at least if they fall in line with what the Kiwanis are bent on doing it may remove a lot of their acidity.

Here's the gist of it:

The Kiwanis have instituted a "Courteous and Safe Driving Campaign" for Belleville and district, hoping to aid somewhat in reducing the number of traffic accidents in city and district streets and highways.

Spotters, made up of club members, city police and OPP officers, and ultimately, the club hopes, the general public itself, will be on the alert for some act of courtesy or safe driving performed by motorists in the area. All such incidents will be carefully reported and at the end of each month a winner will be chosen from among the heap of report forms.

The lucky driver then will be awarded free parking for one month in the city.

Cpl. Harry Barker of the local OPP detachment traffic division told the club yesterday at the inauguration of the campaign: "No one deliberately gets into an accident, but thoughtlessness and discourtesy trap motorists into hazardous actions, which produce accidents.

"Discourtesy is at the root of most traffic violations and traffic violations are at the root of more than 80 per cent of fatal motor vehicle accidents."

The essence of the Kiwanis idea in sponsoring the campaign is to put safety consciousness and parlor manners into motoring. As in any phase of living there's a lot of room for parlor manners in an automobile, even a pint-sized sports model. Safety consciousness is a necessary, imperative part of the highway code.

For several months the organization of the campaign has been the responsibility of a Kiwanis committee which yesterday unveiled the details of the organizational machinery.

Printed forms, where the details of any incidents witnessed, will be turned in, together with the licence number of the car, will be available to the public at three main city locations: city hall, the post office and the public utilities office on Front St.

If a member of the public wishes to report an incident of courtesy or safe-driving on the part of any motorist, he should enter all information on one of the forms, returning it completed to either of the above locations or police headquarters.

Final arbiters on the awarding of the prize will be city police chief Walter Probert and Kiwanian Ralph Graham.

WILL BE GIVEN STICKER

The lucky, or conscientious driver then will be given a sticker for his windscreen, which will be his badge of authority in claiming a month's free parking in the city.

Ultimate success of the project, however, rests in the main with the general public and the amount of co-operation it is prepared to give the campaign. There is little sense in giving an award on just one report in the month, Ralph Graham points out.

City hall already has co-operated with the project by awarding its parking times while both police forces in the city have aligned themselves with it.

Cpl. Barker yesterday told the club the OPP detachment will place itself beside "all the other authorities interested in bringing permanent success to this program."

City police chief Walter Probert had this to say: "We are giving the Kiwanis campaign our wholehearted support. It has a lot of merit and should gather momentum. Safe and courteous driving cannot be overly stressed.

Presentation Bible Dedicated At Easter Service

Services on the Camilton Charge on Easter Sunday were in keeping with the spirit of Easter, which began in the morning with a Sunrise Service at Camilton United Church, conducted by the C.G.I.T. group, and their leaders, of the Camilton and Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, of Belleville.

Large congregations assembled at each appointment, including Bethany, Carmel, and Camilton. Special Easter music was rendered by their respective choirs making an impressive contribution to the helpfulness and enrichment of the services.

DEDICATION OF PULPIT BIBLE

A special part in the evening service at Camilton was the presentation and dedication of a large and beautifully bound pulpit Bible, suitably inscribed, to the new revised standard version, given by a former member of the Camilton congregation, who in the past was active in the Young People's Society, and Sunday School, namely Mr. Gerald Hogg, now of Regina, Sask., in memory of his Beloved Mother.

Mr. Douglas Brenton, who had previously received the gift from Mr. Pope, spoke appreciatively of Mr. Pope's remembrance of his boyhood church and his generous gift to the church.

The Pastor, Rev. W. R. Merrick on behalf of the congregation expressed most sincere thanks for this appropriate gift to the church.

The congregation was asked to rise and thereby participate in the act of dedication of the Bible. The dedicatory service was prescribed by an appropriate number by the choir entitled, "God's Holy Word". Mrs. Farnham presided at the organ. The service was continued with an Easter message from St. John 20:3-20. "Then were the Disciples glad when they saw the Lord" emphasizing especially the reality of Christ's Living presence today with His Church.

The recessional hymn by the choir entitled "He Lives, Christ Jesus Lives Today" was much appreciated by the congregation. .

The Floral decorations on the altar and pulpit were centred with a fine hand painted picture of Christ, painted by one of the choir members.

Appreciation is due to the flower committee for all the decorating arrangements.

'Adoption' Topic At Kinette Club

On Monday evening in St. Thomas' parish house, the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Kinette Club was held with the president, Mary Lang, presiding.

Following the dinner, a singsong took place after which Monica McDonald introduced her guest, Marjorie Hemsley, former Belleville girl, who has recently returned from England

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Bruce Kerr, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, was introduced by the past president, Ruth Follwell. Mr. Kerr spoke in a most interesting and understanding way concerning a subject close to everyone's heart, "adoption."

He outlined in detail the changes in methods that have been used by the Children's Aid Society over the past 50 years and the examples showed how the present system is working out almost to perfection.

Mr. Kerr commended the staff of the Children's Aid Society, in the months as they carry out the unfortunate child of today is more carefully looked after than has ever been before. He painted a clear word picture of the different steps in the proceedings of adoption of a child, and showed the members with what extreme care details are considered before adoption can be legalized. The speaker also noted the increased number of adoptions which is taking place yearly.

TOUCHING STORY

In his closing remarks, Mr. Kerr told a touching story of a father who had bemoaned all his life as much his son had cost him for clothes, and education, when at an early age the boy had died, after which he had no more cause for complaint.

Mr. Kerr was thanked by Mary Colling.

During the business session president Mary Lang announced that Mrs. Kaye O'Shaunessy of Bleecker Avenue, had been the winner of the $100 bill which was drawn for on Saturday night.

The Kinette Club will also hold a rummage sale in May, and a tag day in June.

Eva Eriksson had charge of fines for the evening and Margaret Bokay was an amiable song leader.

Life Membership Conferred On E.B. Member

The monthly business meeting of the Evening Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church was held in the parish hall on Monday evening with the president, Mrs. A. Cooper, presiding.

The Bible reading of the Easter story was given by Mrs. W. Lawrence, following by reports by Mrs. W. Edwards, Mrs. H. Hill and Mrs. J. Spencer.

Correspondence was dealt with and matters of business completed.

Mrs. L. Mason, as convener of the tea next week, discussed details and made final plans.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP CONFERRED

Archdeacon J. R. Creggan was called on to conduct an impressive service in which Miss Frances Reid was honored by being made a life member of the W.A., and Mrs. Cooper presented her with her gold membership card. Miss Reid was completely surprised.

Hostesses for refreshments were: Mrs. L. Shambo, Mrs. J. Fleming and Mrs. L. Blaker.

Mrs. H. Ingram closed the meeting with prayer.

Queen Mary School Pupils Display Attractive Art Exhibit

An interesting and attractive art exhibit by the pupils of Queen Mary School is now on display at the McCarthy Theatre, and will continue until the 22rd of this present month.

This display, comprising the work of the various grades, includes colored work; pencil drawings; crayon colorings, scenery, both in pencil and in color; and a delightful assortment of silhouettes.

Among the cutouts were simulated wicker baskets in paper containing tulips, daisies, and roses, pretty and colorful, emblematic of spring with all its glorious pastel tints. Others included an Indian maid on a black plate; a little girl artist and a little boy artist at their easels; pinwheels in colors and numerous kites, denoting "March Winds."

DELICATE SILHOUETTES

The silhouettes were both intricate and most delicately designed, and showed ballet dancers; the Indian bugler; the Easter boy and his dog which showed a deal of intentness seldom seen in a cutout piece of work; the Lone Star Ranger on his mustang; wild horses; the organist; ducks in flight against a red background; a man and his dog; and several others, all of which deserve honorable mention.

There were several wall plaques, one of which was splendidly achieved in copper depicting a little child sitting down on a bear; others were made from plastic plates having rabbit heads with long, pink ears, and baskets of colorful Easter eggs.

GOOD COMPOSITION

The scenery showed good composition, and a love of subdued colors as well as the simple black and white. Others were splendid water, hills, and trees, with a fine appreciation of perspective in artists of much younger years. The black and white scenery showed a real artistry with a little bridge over a winding creek, scudding clouds, and nestling in their hollow of the snow was among little homes, about which numerous trees added a pleasing touch.

The head of the little girl, and that of the little girl with the ferchief was painstakingly executed.

Other designs and pictures were of St. Patrick; boy irons showing a potato man with shamrock ears and tall, green top hat; others were of Easter eggs and bunnies.

FUSSY WILLOWS

The simulated fussy willow sprays were as real one had to have a second glance. The animal picture of the bear, a horse, a dog, and a cow were nicely done in yellow on a brownish background.

St. Valentine was also honored by little men and women who were the various card designs with yellow frills.

The imaginative art included a colorful sea serpent; a flying fish; a plant with a girl's head, and a duck with a cat's head, and four legs.

A group of fine pencil drawings showed a carrier pigeon; a collie dog with a smile; Roy Rogers; a horse's head; the wise, old owl; Peter Cottontail in flight; a surly looking pirate; mountain goats; a fine automobile, and the Queen in Brooks, of fairy tale fame.

There were colorful maps; redcoated soldiers, harking back to Northwest Rebellion, and scrolls of flowers and geometric designs.

AUTUMN SCENE

A scene portraying autumn in all its lovely garb showed a winding river bordered by flaming maples, evergreens, and poplars, was both eye-arresting and pleasing.

The Easter cards included floral arrangements; a cross; a rabbit, and Donald Duck.

The black background pictures, which are gaining in popularity, included colorful parakeets and parrots in all their gay plumage; two love birds in greyish green and "Sunbonnet Sue."

Some writing and number puzzles completed a most attractive and splendidly arranged exhibit, which showed considerable talent in several instances. The art teacher or teachers are to be commended for this display.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By HEATHCOTE FAIRFAX

SHOW SOME SPUNK, SISTER!—LET THIS CHAP GO

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a man with whom I have been very much interested in his wife, but he has always been very careful to keep me from any serious thoughts of marriage. He has told me he is not happy with his wife, but that he will not divorce her. He has also told me that he has been separated from her for a number of years, but that they have never been divorced. I have been going with him for about two years, and I am very much in love with him. I am sure he is in love with me, but he has never asked me to marry him. Do you think I should continue to go with him, or should I break off with him entirely? — Miss Y.

Miss Y.: Your man is not going to get a divorce, so you are wasting your time with him. Let him go.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young man who has been going with a girl for about two years. We have been very much in love with each other, and have been talking of marriage. Recently she has been acting very strangely, and I have found out that she has been going with another man. I have asked her to stop seeing him, but she refuses to do so. I am very much in love with her, and I don't want to lose her. What should I do? — Worried.

Worried: Tell her that you will not see her again unless she stops seeing the other man. Then stick to your word.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

BE KIND TO YOUR HANDS

It is difficult to imagine a woman as being really beautiful who has not lovely hands along with her other attractive qualities. Hands can be so wonderfully expressive.

In graceful motion they may attract more attention than the feminine face in repose. Unfortunately, many women have hands that are neglected, that lack grace, that are restless and suggestive of nervous tension.

A woman will register a wide range of emotions with her eyes, her lips, the pose of her head. But she should remember that her hands tell the world, in many ways, what kind of a person she is. Whether they are a scarlet, put flowers in a vase, wield the lipstick, shuffle a bridge deck, they are talking about her. And if they do not say flattering things, something should be done about it.

Neglected hands will make a woman self-conscious. Defects cannot be camouflaged by makeup, like the complexion. There they are, right in everybody's eye. By making them lovely, keeping the skin white, soft and smooth, they will behave prettily.

The busy homemaker is the one who is up against difficulties. With her hands in hot or cold water many times a day, the natural oil in permanent skin dries out quickly. Creaming and massaging at least twice a week will help to counteract this deficiency.

Cleaning agents, used in the daily routine of housework, should be bland. If it is necessary to use a harsh one, rubber gloves should be worn. When cleaning silver or polishing furniture, the base of the hands and wrists should slip on cotton work gloves.

Several bottles of hand lotion, placed strategically about the house, will serve as reminders that hand beauty is possible.

ROCK FALLS, SHOOTS BOY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A boy was shot in the stomach Sunday by a 22-calibre cartridge discharged when a rock fell on it. The injured boy, James Della Croce, 13, is in good condition. Two companions told detectives they had found the cartridge and placed it on a rock when another rock fell from above and struck the cap dead in the centre.

Easy, Economical, Different and Delicious

By Mary Moore

If you become a little bored with the appearance of the same old thing in the refrigerator, try some familiar foods in the same familiar pots on the stove, and you'll have a different meal on your dinner plate at the table—change your ways for Tuesday's lunch.

If you are using white tablecloths change to a coloured one or to place mats. If you have two or more different patterns in dinner plates switch to the other set. If you do not have more than one pattern in dinnerware serve a smaller meal (as below), on breakfast size plates and serve a generous salad on small plates or do what my sister did. She bought individual wooden salad bowls. They are highly polished little beauties and they serve several purposes. The best one is that everyone wants to eat every last nibble of the salad, because they are such pretty little containers.

When the table is set and these bowls are in place it is always attractive. The other night she had no lettuce to use for a base. An individual salad with cottage cheese beat is superfluous. Another time Pete popped corn and when he went at their house and he used the salad bowls to pass it in.

When that wonderful season arrives I am just one Peaty passing them filled with huge Bing cherries.

This meal that I am leading up to is different too. Chicken wings and rice with curry powder, individual salads, oatsize grapefruit halves, rye wafers and Danish blue cheese. Sounds good?

CHICKEN WINGS WITH RICE AND CURRY SAUCE

You may not want to use a pressure cooker but I was short of time and the chicken wings were frozen solid. Only two of my home for dinner so I put 1 cup water in my small 2½-quart pressure cooker with the trivet, added 8 chicken wings, brought pressure to 15 lbs. for 20 minutes, and presto! they were done.

Meanwhile I cooked 2/ cup rice in top of double boiler with 1 cup boiling water and 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon butter until water was absorbed and rice was tender.

I made a rather thick white sauce using 3½ tablespoons flour and 3 tablespoons butter and when they were blended I stirred in 1 cup whole milk until thick. (I always preheat the milk for a white sauce to hasten the whole operation. I'm too impatient to sit and stir and stir for 5 minutes until cold milk heats up enough to thicken.) I added 1 teaspoon curry powder and ½ teaspoon salt. If you have potatoes in India you may want more curry powder. If you are the rocking-chair type of traveller you may want only ½ teaspoon curry powder.

The salad in the individual bowls was lettuce in bite-size chunks, finely sliced celery and little crescents of avocado tossed together with some French Dressing.

I should add that I put the chicken wings and rice directly upon my heated oval platter and spooned curry sauce over both of them.

It was delicious and it did not hurt my feelings one bit that Peter chicken wings cost me only 49 cents.

"Five times one is one, Mr. Chase!" Mr. Sanborn insisted

"Add 'em up for yourself," he went on. "All these top-flavor coffee beans — five jars full — make just one jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn! Clever?"

"True," allowed Mr. Chase. "It takes a lot of fine beans to make our coffee so gloriously rich. But the important thing is the brewing — the way we extract the rich coffee essences from all those beans! My unique brewing method is the secret!"

"I still say," Mr. Sanborn growled, "it's great beans that make our Instant coffee great!"

"We do make great coffee, don't we!" Mr. Chase beamed. "In our nation's finest hotels, Chase & Sanborn is the coffee they serve. And at home — more and more people are enjoying the same superb coffee — in an Instant! We owe it to the brewing . . . and the beans!"

Right, gentlemen! It takes real coffee people, with nearly 100 years' experience, to make a great Instant Coffee like Instant Chase & Sanborn. It's 100% pure coffee . . . rich-flavored and delicious. Try a jar today!

SHOULDN'T GIVE SHOWER FOR BROTHER'S BRIDE-TO-BE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My brother is to be married in June. Is it proper for me to give a shower for his bride-to-be? — J.S.

It is not considered proper, not is good taste, for a member of the bride's family or a member of the groom's family to give a bridal shower. A shower given under such "auspices" gives the unattractive impression of being a planned "promotion" for gifts.

Making of Greek Communists Detailed in Writer's Dispatch

Editor's note: The making of a young Communist is detailed in this dispatch, second of a series by William L. Ryan, Associated Press news analyst, surveying on the scene the problems created in the repatriation of Greek villagers abducted by Red guerrillas in Greece's 1947-48 civil war.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

KASTORIA, Greece (AP)—"Perhaps we would have more caramels," said the Romanian Communist teacher.

The Greek children, sitting in the courtyard of a school in Bucharest, chorused eager assent.

"All right," said the teacher, "why don't you try praying to God for your caramels?"

Under her direction, the children prayed. Nothing happened.

"Now," said the teacher, "we shall pray to Lenin for caramels."

The children did as they were told. As if by magic, caramels showered on them from the windows of the school.

That was the beginning of Communist indoctrination for this group of children, then newly-abducted from their homeland during the Greek civil war of 1948.

These children, like thousands like them, were selected for special pampering, for treatment far beyond what a Romanian child might expect. They or many like them, one day might have a Red mission in their homeland.

Gradually they were told they need not believe "all that silly stuff about God," that there was only one god and his name was Lenin, his prophet Stalin. All the rest was legend.

Adult repatriates newly-arrived to this northern Greek town recount such things with fierce anger.

In all, possibly 50,000 persons either were driven or fled voluntarily across the borders in the civil war. Of them, 28,000 by official Greek estimate were children. In virtually all cases children were separated from parents and placed in special schools for training.

Alkeos Koranis, now 17, was one who did not get the special treatment.

Her eyes blazing, Athena said she was taken from Greece to Albania, then to Romania, where the Communists placed her in a school set aside for certain of the Greek children.

"I remember when Stalin died," she recalled. "All the children in my class were lined up and ordered to cry. In the classroom they put a picture of Stalin, draped in black. One boy and one girl had to stand without moving as a guard of honor. For four hours, before they were relieved by another two, they were not allowed to move. Some of them collapsed."

But harsh treatment was the exception rather than the rule.

As the children advanced to use modern tools they were subjected to endless "political enlightenment" that only in a Communist country could they achieve a full life. In many cases the indoctrination was effective. Many will not return loyal to Western-style democracy.

Many may return as a nucleus for the Greek Communist party—citizens free to move about Greece while the party now is illegal. Its leadership is Romanian, and its strength is among the guerrillas who fled in defeat at the end of the civil war.

Infused gradually into the Greek body politic, even a small number of indoctrinated and convinced repatriates could represent an internal threat. Many Greek officials are seriously concerned.

Greeks Afraid Repatriates Include Many Communists

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SALONIKA, Greece (AP)—"Why did they not send us back our children when we asked for them for seven years ago?" the Greek official said. "Why are they so shocked now?

"Perhaps it is because now many of the children are grown up and ready. Perhaps, from the Communist way of thinking, the time has arrived."

The official was discussing with me the problem of Greek repatriates from Communist countries, where anywhere from 15,000 to 18,000 Greeks—the majority young people—have been kept since the 1946 civil war. The Communists not only have agreed to repatriate some now. They seem anxious to send them in large numbers.

SUSPECT NUCLEUS EXISTS

"To do the work of the Communist party in Greece, they would require only a relative few," this official continued. "Most of the repatriated people probably still are loyal Greeks. But surely among the young people now there must be many who have been trained into convinced Communists."

Young boys, snatched from their peasant villages, given special treatment in a city under ceaseless indoctrination, might well have become convinced in seven years.

Among them also must be many who will be unable to find work in their villages, unable to find work for which they have been trained, in the overwhelmingly agricultural economy of a modern city.

LOYAL BUT UNHAPPY

Some repatriates in Kastoria, near the Albanian border, are equallhy housed in two-storey stone schoolhouses. Unanimously they seem to hate the Communists. They hotly deny there are sufferers among them, that any among them ever expressed the wish to go back to the Communist lands. But even they do not want to go back to the villages.

They represent the first trickle, 2,100 repatriates. Many have been resettled in villages. They are not the people who cause authorities the greatest concern. They are rather ones who wonder about those to come—those grown to maturity under the return is a shock.

Some return with small radios or electric kitchen utensils. But their villages do not yet know electricity.

MAY BECOME GUERRILLAS

Northern Greece is a hard, stony land where scratching out a living is difficult. For youth not given special treatment abroad, possibility of a future guerrilla nucleus in Greece. After the civil war 15,000 Red Greek guerrillas fled to Communist countries. To them, any Macedonian officials add a fair number of young men trained in communism and the possibility arises of a hard nucleus for a future Greek Communist movement.

Minister-Governor George Kosmas has warned Europe, quoting secret security forces in northern Greece to be on the lookout for Communist agents infiltrating across the Bulgarian and Albanian borders.

HOPE DREADED POLIO WIPED OUT IN ONE GENERATION

Definite hope of a new polio-free world is opened by the announcement of the startling success of the Salk vaccine with which 2,000,000 children have already been inoculated in Canada, the U.S. and Finland. Records of the children inoculated show the vaccine to be 80 to 90 per cent effective, and doctors are optimistic that in one generation polio may be wiped out. These photos show the steps in the production of the vaccine which will now be distributed so that children throughout the North American continent may all be vaccinated. Unsung helpers in the big job of stamping out polio are Rhesus monkeys, like the ones (top, left) at the biological division of Wyeth Laboratories, Marietta, Pa. Editor Says School Boards Suppress Teachers' Rights To Freely Express Opinions

TORONTO (CP)—A newspaper man says Canadian boards of education have suppressed free expression on the part of their teachers.

W. H. Cranston, editor and publisher of the Midland Free Press, said Tuesday night the suppression causes the profession to suffer.

He told the Ontario Educational Association convention that teachers have fallen victim to the same "deification of the mass" as industrial workers and farmers. A lack of initiative resulting from "excessive state control" had developed in recent years in school boards and town councils.

"For many years and even in many places boards, leaders have been considered a sort of community chattels whose job it is to conform 100 per cent to the common mould," Mr. Cranston said.

Just as industrial workers have surrendered to union leaders their right to select jobs and fix their hours of work so teachers had surrendered their organizations to penalize the better instructors by placing them with the mass.

"We have knuckled down to the 'almighty average,'" Mr. Cranston said.

At a meeting of science teachers, C. M. Booth, assistant superintendent of secondary education in Ontario, said Canada is facing a serious shortage of science instructors.

Ironically "the industrial prosperity we now enjoy is culling off its basic source of support by attracting science graduates in the field of practical industry and industrial research thus depleting the supply of instructors in the classrooms."

"To maintain even the present percentage of pupils over 120 will be required in the next five years," he said. "Yet in 1953 only five typical science classes were registered in the Ontario College of Education, the source of supply."

"The possible effect of this growing shortage upon the standards of instruction in science presents an alarming prospect."

Dr. H. H. Speakman, chairman and director of the Ontario Research Foundation, said for two years he has been unable to appoint a Canadian to his research staff.

"They are not available," he added.

There was no interest in scholarship as such. The desire to do something was taking away any interest in the subject for itself, yet radar and penicillin were developed by thinkers, not by practical men.

At other group meetings:

F. A. F. Ketchum, headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope, said upper school students are frustrated as they are performing seals.

He suggested upper school examinations for university admission be reduced to three or four papers so the student can concentrate on fewer subjects. He said pupils should be more independent in searching and reading.

"At present, requirements are squeezing many students into unnatural and unprofitable channels for the sole purpose of memorizing enough to pass a test to open a door—and then it is all forgotten."

A. E. O'Neill, an Oshawa principal, told a group of classic students modern education is undermining acceptance of the classics as an essential part of education. It was a "brash, blatant drive to make education usefully lively, immediately, completely."

The battle of the classics must go on.

"It may be a losing one," he said. "At the moment it may be expecting too much to ask people to sacrifice present and their careers in a world where success and material well-being mean so much."

Thomas E. Jackson of Ingersoll, a teacher of history long associated with Ontario education, was elected president of the OEA.

CCF President Says Government Is 'Cracking'

OSHAWA (CP) — Eamon Park, president of the Ontario CCF Association, said Tuesday night the provincial government is "lethargic" to the problem of unemployment.

Addressing the Oshawa and District Labor Council, Mr. Park said the province is going into an era of public works that gives maximum political patronage, and an era where more jobs can be created.

The government of Premier Frost "is cracking under the highways scandal," said Mr. Park. "Mr. Frost's integrity as an individual is not involved. The government has been there so long they have become lethargic to the problem of the unemployed."

40-Year-Old Virus Expert Giant in Energy, Purpose; Takes Enjoyment in Work

By WILLIAM SWARTWORTH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Six years ago a mild-mannered young scientist was devoting a seeming fight to conquer one of mankind's greatest scourges—polio.

Tuesday the world learned how well Dr. Jonas Edward Salk succeeded.

Slender and of medium height, the 40-year-old virus expert is a giant in energy and purpose. He enjoys his work and has a deep sense of social obligation.

These are the things which have enabled him to toil constantly at the University of Pittsburgh the last few years in search of an effective polio vaccine.

Word that Dr. Salk had developed a polio vaccine caused a great stir in the, spring of 1954. Reporters by the dozens came to his doorstep seeking details.

FRIENDS CUT OFF

Always gracious, Dr. Salk managed to fend off most of them by saying:

"Every minute I talk to you is time spent away from the laboratory, time I cannot afford to spend this way."

Before the vaccine could be mass-produced, it had to be perfected. That took time.

But children would die of polio that summer of 1954. Public pressure mounted. Couldn't the vaccine be put on the market right away?

As a father himself, Dr. Salk was inclined to hurry.

But as a scientist he was forced to move slowly.

RIGOROUS SCHEDULE

His working schedule was rigorous—18, sometimes 24 hours a day. He had to be careful, methodical, deliberate.

Testing animals in a laboratory is hardly the same thing as to test the vaccine on children, a long, long bridge had to be crossed.

The vaccine had to be effective and safe beyond any doubt. Possible harmful side effects had to be studied and rechecked.

It was scientific checking. There couldn't be any shortcuts. One step had to follow another.

Dr. Salk's friends know the brilliant researcher can't be hurried. One of them says:

"He is one of the clearest, most deliberate thinkers I have ever known. He has great emotional depth, but he never lets emotion push his work one second faster than it is absolutely safe to do."

FELT STRAIN

Most of the time Dr. Salk is cool and unemotional. But he isn't immune to emotion. During the early testing of his vaccine on humans, Dr. Salk observed:

"When you inoculate children with a polio vaccine you don't sleep well for two or three weeks."

A striking characteristic is his kindness and gentleness in dealing with children. When he conducted field tests with youngsters in Pittsburgh district schools before the country-wide test, Dr. Salk spent considerable time personally reassuring frightened first and second graders.

Asked by a reporter whether it took a certain amount of daring to progress from monkeys to children in his experiments, Dr. Salk replied:

"I have the courage of my convictions. I couldn't do it unless I was more critical of myself than others are of me. It is courage based on knowledge, not daring, and it's confidence based on experience."

In the experimental stages of the vaccine, doubt was expressed in some quarters as to the vaccine, doubt was expressed in other quarters as to the vaccine's safety. Dr. Salk never doubted. His three sons were among the first to be inoculated.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Nathan N. Pusey, president of Harvard University, announced Monday the appointment of Rev. Douglas Horton, minister of the First Council of Congregational Christian Churches, as the new dean of the Harvard divinity school. Dr. Horton, a leader in world Protestant councils, will head development of the divinity school as a world centre of religious learning.

Divorce Granted In Israel Legal Court Ruling

MONTREAL (CP) — A divorce granted in Israel by a religious tribunal is legal in Canada despite differences in procedure, a Superior Court justice ruled Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Arthur I. Smith rejected a request for annulment of Victor Fitter's second marriage brought by his first wife, Mesnia Goldenberg.

Trifton married Miss Goldenberg in Haifa seven years ago and in 1950 an Israeli religious court accepted an application for divorce proceedings.

During the court hearing they both emigrated to Canada and a Montreal rabbi completed the divorce arrangements in accordance with rabbinical and Israeli law.

While in Montreal Trifton married Bettie Mae Vaughan and his first wife, contended the marriage was illegal because the divorce granted in Haifa is not recognized in Canada.

Mr. Justice Smith said the second marriage was valid.

Daily News Says Truman May Run For Vice-Pres.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily News says former president Harry S. Truman wants to gun for vice-president next year with Adlai E. Stevenson as the Democratic presidential candidate.

In a copyrighted Washington dispatch by Ruth Montgomery, the newspaper says Truman has "quietly tipped a group of key Democratic kingmakers that he is available for the vice-presidency."

At the Truman home in Independence, Mo., Mrs. Truman laughed and declined to call her husband to the telephone when asked about the daily News story.

"The story is ridiculous," Mrs. Truman said. "I know it isn't true, and there's no use wasting his time and your time talking about it."

The story says the news "has electrified top Democrats who are gathering (in Washington) this weekend for the $100-a-plate dinner honoring Speaker Sam Rayburn."

"Democratic spirits soared overnight," the story says, adding:

"Many felt that this (Stevenson-Truman ticket) would help to heal the breaches within the party and provide the strongest possible ticket to score Ike (President Eisenhower) out of the running."

Truman, 70, retired to his home in Independence after he completed his second term in 1952. President Eisenhower defeated Stevenson in the election that year.

Brooklyn Eagle Put Up for Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—The 113-year-old Brooklyn Eagle, closed Jan. 28 by a strike, was put on sale today.

Publication will be suspended Sept. May 2 as a deadline for the sale of the newspaper as a complete unit.

The newspaper, which had never before missed an issue, was closed by a strike for higher wages by the American Newspaper Guild (CIO), which represented 315 editorial and commercial employees. Management said it couldn't afford to give the union a $5.80 weekly wage increase over a two year period. But a union at the newspaper had been granted the same raise.

Hong Kong Plans Full Probe Of Crash of Indian Airliner But Doubts Plane Sabotaged

By DAVID J. ROADS

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong's government today ordered a full police investigation into the crash of an Indian airliner chartered by Red China. But British colonial authorities said the possibility that the plane was sabotaged here—as Peiping radio charged—was "extremely remote."

United States officials, both in Washington and Hong Kong, dismissed the Communist charges as "ridiculous" and "utter nonsense." The plane's owners, Air India International, confirmed that mechanical trouble had delayed its departure from Bombay for Hong Kong for several hours.

The four-engined Constellation went down Monday night in the China sea between Borneo and Malaya. Nineteen persons were aboard, including eight Chinese Communists en route to the African-Asian conference in Indonesia next week.

Only three Indian crew members have so far been reported rescued.

A Peiping broadcast Tuesday night charged that the crash was "prearranged by secret agents" of the U.S. and Nationalist China.

The airliner came here on a regular flight Monday with passengers from India. After refueling there it refuelled during an hour's stop and then took off.

One of the passengers from India, Luigi Pirola di Milan, Italy, said in Tokyo today that the plane's captain had complained heatedly in Bombay that the craft was not airworthy.

The aircraft pilot, D. K. Jatar, is still missing. There was no immediate comment from Air India on Pirola's report.

India's Prime Minister Nehru has a sympathy message to the Communist Chinese government today—before he heard of the Peiping sabotage charge—saying the crash had "some very unusual features."

The message continued: "Too many minutes before the aircraft fell into the sea, we had a normal message from it. Something must have happened suddenly soon after. There must be a full inquiry into all this."

Reports from Singapore said the last message from the Constellation was a distress signal and that it was then overdue at its first stop—Singapore, Sarawak.

The Hong Kong government statement, issued after an emergency meeting, said Britain's charge d'affaires in Peiping, Humphrey Trevelyan, last weekend had relayed a warning that Chinese Nationalist sympathizers might make trouble for the communist delegation at Hong Kong.

Because of this message, the statement continued, extra security measures were provided here.

Steel Boom In United States Going Full Blast

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel boom in the United States is going full blast, Iron Age, the national metalworking weekly, says.

Some major producers are operating far in excess of capacity originally being able to declare force order backlogs, it reports, while the remaining laggers is running as much as 50 per cent above capacity among the larger mills.

Total steel production may break the all-time record of over 2,300,000 tons this week. The previous record was set during the week of March 23, 1953.

This year's production, the publication says, may reach a peak of 97 to 98 per cent of capacity. Individual rolling-mill records in many companies have been shattered, and more will be bagged before the mushrooming boom has run its course.

Wins Acquittal

TORONTO (CP) — A Sarnia steamfitter won an acquittal Tuesday on a conviction by a Sarnia magistrate on a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm.

Sydney Smith will have his $75 fine returned to him.

Constable Robert Young of Sarnia suffered a broken leg in a fracas which started when Smith passed Young's cruiser on the wrong side. Constable Young followed Smith home, where scuffle took place.

Fourth Ottawa Church Fire Seen as Proof Firebug Loose

OTTAWA (CP)—Police and fire officials are convinced there is a firebug loose in Ottawa following discovery Tuesday night of an apparent attempt to set fire to Christ Church Cathedral.

Fires have occurred in three other churches in recent days, one of them, at Chalmers United, leaving $300,000 damage in its wake. Three hours after the blaze the cathedral was locked up Tuesday night the resident watchman smelled smoke in a hall adjoining the church proper. He found oil-soaked rags and papers piled in a closet in the hall. The closet door had been closed after the pile was ignited, however, apparently smothering the blaze.

The fire had burned itself out when the watchman found it. Police and fire department investigators are still trying to learn how the intruder entered the locked cathedral.

Halifax Doctor Not Allowed To Attend Meeting

HALIFAX (CP)—The 51-year-old physician who answered the public use of anti-polio vaccine in Canada was kept from Tuesday's historic Salk vaccine conference in this city spending cutbacks.

Dr. Allan E. Morton, Halifax health commissioner, spent part of the morning bent over a radio station news teleprinter eagerly following developments at the Ann Arbor, Mich., conference of scientists who heard that Dr. Jonas E. Salk's vaccine has proven 80 to 90 per cent effective.

In the afternoon, he arrived at The Canadian Press bureau to pour over texts of the findings. The commissioner said the city's "restrictive budget" made it impossible for him to make the trip to discuss the rare instances of the 2,014 school children he vaccinated last June.

PRESIDENT ELECTED

GALT (CP)—Mrs. A. S. Carr of Toronto was elected president of the synodical society of Toronto and Kingston Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada here Tuesday.

Six Newsmen, And Photographer Found Guilty

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Six newspaper men and a free-lance photographer Tuesday were found guilty by the three-country judge of direct criminal contempt of court for defying a court ban against taking pictures.

The four others cited received fines of $100 each, and also five day jail sentences.

The jail sentences and fines were held in abeyance pending an appeal to the state Supreme Court.

CRANES BEGIN FLIGHT

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Thousands of whooping cranes started Tuesday began their 2,000-mile flight to summer nesting grounds in Canada. Only 21 of the five-foot tall birds have survived.

New or Rewired Homes Must Have Safety Plugs

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hydro Commission announced Tuesday that, effective June 1, all new or rewired homes must be equipped with a grounded, three-pronged wall plug in the kitchen, laundry room, breakfast room and utility room.

The plugs must be installed in all locations in the basement unless the floors, walls and ceiling are of insulating, non-conducting material.

The commission's announcement is the start of a safety move which, Hydro officials hope, will eventually have houses completely equipped with the grounded outlets and all appliances equipped with the three-pronged plugs. In addition, equipment with the grounded plugs there is practically no danger of electrical shock because of defective wiring in appliances.

Priest Refuses To Tell How He Got Money

DENVER (AP)—An unidentified Roman Catholic priest, whose life was saved by his vow of silence, several anything heard in the confessional, Tuesday turned over to Federal Bureau of Investigation agents $6,850 he said was part of the loot taken in a Denver bank holdup last February.

Donald E. Kelley, United States district attorney, said the priest "asked that he the priest) not be required to reveal the source of the money."

Officials of the Colorado State Bank said the priest had come to them earlier in the day, saying he had found the money in a box in the dairies daylight robbery. They notified FBI agents and had the priest to them.

The priest, described as a dark haired man in his middle 30s, was interrogated and whisked away by FBI agents.

Kelley would not disclose how the priest got the money. From other sources, however, it was learned the seal of the confessional, it was understood, had been broken to tell the robber after hearing his confession.

The bank was robbed of $7,780 in currency Feb. 17 by a short, stocky man who escaped in a woman clerk what he said was a bottle of nitroglycerin and threatened to blow up the building if she did not obey his orders.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The formation of the American Plain Talk party was announced Tuesday. Its backers, mostly retired California businessmen and Texas oilmen, named Arthur Lee Williamson, 61, a retired public accountant, as the party's candidate for president in 1956. The party stated its purpose is to promote enlightened self-interest, and "give-away" foreign programs, cut the budget and get government out of business.

Three Injured In Head-on Crash Near Brighton

TRENTON — (Special) — A head-on crash on the fourth concession of Brighton township at dusk last night sent a mother and her two-year-old son to Trenton Memorial Hospital and another person to the Brighton Medical Centre for treatment. The accident occurred at a point three miles west and north of Brighton at 7.00 p.m.

Dr. W. Wilson of Brighton gave first aid to the victims at the scene.

Cpl. L. G. Lyle, head of the Brighton O.P.P. detachment reported Mrs. Maxine Macklin, R.R. 3 Brighton, suffered a fractured leg and arm and lacerations. Her little boy was not so badly hurt. A nurse at the hospital this morning said the condition of mother and son appeared to be satisfactory.

George Thompson driving alone in the other car was treated at the medical centre and permitted to return to his home north of Brighton.

Police said both of the cars were extensively damaged.

Halifax Happy As Navy Plans Construction

HALIFAX (CP) — The federal government boosted summer construction estimates in Halifax to $70,000,000 Thursday by announcing that $3,300,000 worth of new naval buildings will be put up here.

Included in the Defence Construction Limited announcement were quarters for unmarried officers, a recreation building at Shearwater naval air station across the harbor from Halifax and a $30,000 addition to the Stadacona shore base anti-submarine school.

But the naval building will be dwarfed by civilian spending for buildings, industries and facilities.

Topping the list of proposed work is a $25,000,000 expansion of the Imperial Oil refinery at the company village of Imperoyal, near Eastern Passage across the harbor from here. The project is expected to employ a peak of 800 men during the first of the total unemployed in Halifax.

Building list are a $5,000,000 pier, a new $2,000,000 federal building, and a $1,000,000 addition to the present federal building.

WELCOMES ADDITION

Secretary Kenneth Ross of the Halifax Board of Trade calls the naval construction "a very welcome addition to our economy. Everything adds to it."

"Navy installations don't mean new industry," Mr. Ross says, "but besides the workers' payrolls it might mean more naval personnel for Halifax."

John K. Macdonald, executive of the Halifax branch of the national unemployment commission, says "things look pretty good. We've noticed definitely the slack is being taken in more all the time. We seem to be referring more men to jobs every day."

Among the out-of-town displays is one being presented by the Aluminum Company of Canada. Of particular interest to Bellevillians will be the Bell Telephone stand, showing the operation of the dial telephone system. Instructors will be on hand to give last-minute demonstrations on the working of the system.

STABILIZERS' VALUE PROVED

SOUTHAMPTON (Reuters)—The 23,000-ton liner Queen Elizabeth remained "steady as a rock" in a strong mid-Atlantic storm thanks to her fitted anti-rolling stabilizers, her captain reported Tuesday. Stewards carried trays of food with ease during the worst of the gale.

Salk Vaccine Answers Prayers Of Mother

HALIFAX (CP)—Success of the Salk vaccine answers the prayers of a crippled mother who asked that her children might be spared the horrors of polio.

Mrs. Robert Noble, 34, smiled cheerfully as she read reports that the vaccine had been found an effective deterrent to the children's scourge in tests conducted last year.

Had the vaccine been perfected in 1953, when 400 Canadians died and 8,000 were paralyzed, pretty Doreen Noble would have been spared living two years in a wheelchair.

But Tuesday's history - making pronouncement was greeted with unreserved enthusiasm by the paralyzed mother of two daughters, aged three and 1½.

"I'm greatly relieved," she said quietly. "I plan to have my children immunized as soon as possible."

Mrs. Noble's youngest daughter was born only three weeks before she was taken to hospital with paralysis of one arm, her lungs and legs.

When she went home four months later, doctors had succeeded in their fight to save use of her arm and keep her from the iron lung. But she was unable to walk.

Today, almost two years later, Mrs. Noble does all her own housework from the chair she wheels through her apartment.

"I can do anything from sweeping to scrubbing," she said proudly.

Doctors have predicted she will be able to walk again. They don't know when.

BIRTHDAY SALUTE JUNE 9

Says Education Primarily Parents' Responsibility

TORONTO (CP)—Most Rev. William J. Smith, Roman Catholic bishop of Pembroke, said Tuesday education is primarily the obligation of parents.

He told a convention of the Federation of Catholic Parent-Teacher Associations the teacher's role is to continue, develop and perfect work started in the home.

"Every attempt at state domination of education must be vigorously opposed no matter what the circumstances may be or how well-meaning the motives," he said.

"Too many parents in these lazy days try to train children by yielding to them. Yet parents and teachers must realize that the world into which these youngsters will soon be turned is emphatically a school of hard knocks."

CANADIANS

G. B. Hembley, manager of Canadian sales for Parke, Davis and Company, said in Detroit Oct., that immunization doses have already been packaged and will be shipped across the country by air express.

The serum will be available to private physicians for their patients on a discretion basis until the commercial supply can meet the demand, possibly sometime in July.

The serum will cost the patient about the equivalent of three shots. The cost may be higher if the federal government imposes a sales tax, said Mr. Hambley, The doctor's fee is extra.

The vaccine also will be produced commercially by the Eli Lilly Corporation in Toronto. Both companies have already launched large-scale production in the U.S. MILLION BY JULY

Federal health officials in Ottawa estimated enough serum to inoculate perhaps 1,000,000 youngsters will be produced by July when the polio season starts rising to the August peak.

The University of Toronto's Connaught Laboratories, which turned out 90 per cent of the virus for the vaccine used in the 1954 trials, is Canada's main producer. Connaught officials said they have enough doses for 600,000 persons and are able to handle future demand.

The University of Montreal's Institute of Microbiology will be another big producer when it starts mass production, probably in September. It announced it expects to produce 300,000 doses, in the first year.

All provinces have indicated they either have started or are starting the vital inoculations. Among the first to get the free vaccine this year will be children in Manitoba. Alberta and Nova Scotia who received emirl unsafe shots in the 1954 field trials. About half the youngsters participating got the real vaccine, the others the dummy, or placebo, shots.

DROP ONE INJECTION

Previously it had been felt there should be three injections, over a five-weeks period. But Dr. Salk urged Tuesday that only two shots be given during four weeks and the final, or booster, shot be injected seven months later. That would provide greater effectiveness, he said.

Ontario which already has started its mass injection program, will inoculate about 200,000 school children this year with three shots in five weeks.

STUCK WITH FLAME

ATSUGI, Japan (AP)—A United States Marine pilot sacrificed his life today rather than let his F-3J Fury jet crash in Yokohama's crowded streets. Nerve Weakness

How common is it among men and women over a certain age?

Nerve Weakness—Nervous Nervous Exhaustion. There are many words for it, including the Greek word Neurasthenia, meaning nerve weakness. Neurasthenia is often used to describe a condition that can affect many people over forty—when you may complain of being easily tired, with no energy or inclination for your daily tasks.

Yet your symptoms are vague, hard to trace to any definite physical cause.

LIFE AFTER FORTY

It is often after forty that the wear and tear of modern living may take a lot out of you. Day after day, the same old things to do, the eternal rush with the clock.

Although you consider yourself physically fit, from time to time you may run into a spell when you feel "all in"—irritable, moody, poor appetite. Such a spell may last for weeks—or for months. At such times many people wisely turn to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for dependable help.

How long should you take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

It's important to remember this: it may have taken many months for your body to become gradually "run down", finally sending out distress signals that many people call "nerves".

Although Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helps to build up nerve energy quickly, for best results you should continue for at least six weeks. This gives your body a chance to get the full benefit of the iron, Vitamin B1 and other valuable medical ingredients in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. They work together to help build you up and strengthen your nerves—improves your general health.

At the end of 6 weeks you must be able to say to yourself: "I feel like a new person"... or we'll refund every penny you paid for the entire Plan. Why not get started today? 85c

It is the first aircraft using a ducted fan for lift and propulsion to attain free flight. It was built by the Hiller Helicopters plant in California and is one of a series of radical aeronautical developments sponsored there. Purpose of the craft is "private air transportation" of the future. It weighs a little over 300 pounds. (Central Press Canadian).

Wellington on the Lake

HOMESICK

I am homesick for the country
when the sap begins to flow,
And the snow lies but in patches on the lea,
When the ice is slowly breaking from the lake's encrusted shore
Where the red-winged blackbird sings his "O-ka-lee."

I am homesick for the country
when in March the sunset gold
Paints the western sky with fairy flags of flame,
When the robin in the dawning sings his happy song once more,
And the killdeer, o'er and o'er repeats his name.

I am lonesome for the country when the Spring its spirit flings
Over all the weary, wintry countryside,
When the robin and the bluebird take their flight on flashing wings.
It is then I would in rural joy abide.

EASTER

"Because I live ye shall live also."
Life, life renewed we see in all
The grass grows green, the maple buds burst forth,
Hepatics are blooming in the wild-wood,
The world of nature is no longer dead.

And down across the years we catch the message,
The words of that far distant
Easter day,
"He is not here, the Lord indeed is risen,
Come, see the place where Christ
the Saviour lay."

O weary heart, we, too, may catch the message,
The word that Death no longer
holds a sting,
For lo! He burst the bonds of Death forever,
And lives for aye, our risen Lord and King.

"Because I live, He said, "ye shall live also,"
O blessed words to soothe life's pain and strife.
We need not fear to pass Death's dreaded portal,
Silver with Him, we'll enter into life.

— Helen B. Anderson.

In 1752, men and women in Halifax were reading the first Canadian newspaper, The Halifax Gazette. Anthony Henry was its publisher from 1761 on.

The Gazette had depended on government support. When this patronage shifted, The Gazette died. But Henry was determined. In 1769 he launched The Nova Scotia Chronicle and Weekly Advertiser, first Canadian newspaper entirely dependent on the support of the general public.

Meanwhile, other newspapers were rising—meeting the growing public demand for news, opinion, entertainment.

Soon, newspapers were everywhere. Government support was no longer necessary, for newspapers attracted private financial backing.

A modern newspaper is a costly enterprise, but as Henry attempted to prove, it can exist independent of government financing.

Today there are over 1,000 newspapers in Canada—in English, French, and many other languages! Free, strong, serving Canadians well, they owe much to pioneers like Anthony Henry.

STIRLING

River Valley W.I. Holds Annual Meeting, Elects Officers

STIRLING — Mrs. Ed. Heasman and her mother, Mrs. Lea Free, were hostesses on Thursday for the annual meeting of River Valley Women's Institute with 18 members in attendance.

Mrs. Phil Conley officiated at the piano with the president, Mrs. Ross Bush in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. J. L. Donohoe presented her monthly report and read the correspondence which consisted of several thank you notes. It was regretted that a life member, Mrs. Jennie Donohoe was ill in Belleville hospital. Several items of business were discussed and tabled.

Mrs. Percy McMullen, link secretary, read two letters from Abbots Leigh W. I., in Bristol, England. Their president, Mrs. Constance Cottrell read the Canadian W. I. Ode at their February meeting in England, and the ladies were pleased.

Their secretary found in the minutes where Mrs. Mallard had written to Toronto in 1947 sending congratulations on the 50 years of Institute work, and incidentally from that gesture came the Friendship Link with River Valley. Several of the women have had to new bags for fuel as England is still on a coal ration with a quota for each month. In an airmail letter written on April 3rd, Mrs. Williams said they had dreadful weather. Snow, gales and rain and also no London papers for ten days. The group are greatly interested in the Canadian letters and clippings. The daffodils are in bloom in the gardens, while the snowdrops, crocus, and lavender hedges are about finished for this season.

Four ladies gave their names to be forwarded to Abbots Leigh for pen pals.

A letter from provincial president, Mrs. Gordon MacPhatter was read and it was decided on motion that each member contribute 25 cents for the A. C. W. A. trip to Ceylon. The directors will collect from those who were not in attendance at the meeting.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, retiring secretary treasurer, who has served for six consecutive years, gave a full financial report. In the six years the Institute has had $3,281 in receipts and spent $2,904 and they have $650 in bonds.

The receipts for the year now closed were $565. There were 49 members with $24.50 in fees, and the social evenings netted $442.42 and this included the various card parties.

MONEY USED

The money was used as follows: fruit boxes and funeral flowers for folks in River Valley community, $100; donations to several charities outside the community $171.39, gifts $28.57. Delegates' expenses to meetings $17.50 and miscellaneous expenses of about $300. There is a small bank balance to carry on the work during the Summer months.

At this juncture, Mrs. Ross Bush read an appreciative address to Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, on behalf of the seven presidents, and Mrs. Fred McDonell made the presentation of a life membership and badge and the recipient graciously expressed thanks: Mrs. Donohoe was secretary for Mrs. McDonell in 1944-45 one year; for Mrs. George Heasman 1945-46, one year; for Mrs. Hugh Jones 1946-47 one year, completing a three-year term and now she completes six years of service as secretary-to Mrs. Harold Morgan, 1948-50, one year; Mrs. Don Donohoe, 1950-52, 2 years; Mrs. Ed. Heasman, 1952-54, 2 years; Mrs. Ross Bush, 1954-55, 1 year.

These seven ladies provided the special gift.

Mrs. Percy Ulman, charter and life member, presided over the election and later used the installation ceremony as found on page 46 of the hand book.

The report of the nominating committee was read by Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh as prepared by her self and Mrs. Ernest Cole.

INSTITUTE PLEDGE

The installation service was closed as a pledge to the aims and objectives of the Institute with its motto: "For Home and Country." The officers and membership shall work as a unit in the community as well as in the larger sphere of Institute activity, accepting such responsibilities as come within its scope, in the district area, provincial, national and international fields of endeavor.

At this juncture, the newly-elected officers took over and Mrs. Roy Bush spoke briefly and illustrated a wheel. The tire was the whole membership, the rim the standing committees, the spokes were the directors; inside the wheel the executive. The axle was the district director, who connected this branch with the others in the district. Holding all this group together was the president. In order to have a good functioning society everyone was needed. Then, too, the axle was joined through the district to the provincial board and on to A.C.W.W.

Various items of business were completed with thanks expressed to retiring officers, hostess and lunch committee.

Eighteen ladies paid their fees.

Sandwiches, sliced cake and ice cream were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was doing my arithmetic homework on the living room floor, and I said to pop, Heck, pop, this problem won't come out right.

I've noticed that about problems, they never seem to come out right by themselves, pop said, and I said, Well jimminies, pop, I helped it all I could.

Arithmetic helps those who help themselves, pop said. Put your hand to the plough and your shoulder to the wheel and your mind to the work. If Edison had waited for the electric life to invent itself, he'd be sitting in the dark right now, if it wasn't for gas and candles. If Dr. Stetho hadn't kept his nose to the labotory until he produced the stethoscope, the medical profession would still labor under the delusion that the heart is stationary, instead of pumping around the liver every fifth generation, he said.

But G, pop, how could I do better than going to an expert like you and asking for help? I said, and pop said, That's a good point and I'll sharpen it up for you. You can come back to this expert after you get the problem worked out on paper so you can point out the exact places where it's stronger than you are, he said.

Aw, okay, I said.

And I started the problem all over again, and pop sat and took pop said. Well, how's it coming?

Jimminies pop, I got half way, and it was going so well I went on all the ways, and it came out perfect, I said, and pop said, By golies, that shows you cant beat an expert.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

WHAT, NO BASEBALL?

With the dew worms ready to poke their soft snouts through a warm mother earth; anglers getting the rod and reel itch; the suckers, pickerel and smelt running, and moppets playing corners—but softball and baseball, the athletes' fancy turns to thought of the diamond.

To sum the baseball situation here up in very few words, all present indications point to the fact that, like two years ago, Belleville has a baseball berth with no league pasture in which it can gallop.

Whether last season's disappointing sequence of events that was anything but conducive to a follow-up season has anything to do with the situation this spring, is not definite, but apparently the unfortunate situations that started at the beginning of the season and continued throughout have had some bearing on it.

Oshawa has entered the Intercounty League—and will not field a squad in a lower bracket unless there is a change of mind and those players under the I.C. squad may enter a team in the Intermediate Lakeshore group.

Kingston, as in the past two seasons, has confined its baseball activities to a city senior sand-lot group—and we learned from a responsible source while attending the softball convention in Peterborough last week-end, that the Peterborough ears are thinking seriously of doing likewise.

Brockville, Smith's Falls and Watertown, who were approached some time ago and gave fairly favorable answers, have decided that baseball is not for them—at least in this neck of the woods—and that leaves Belleville still standing strictly alone—with no opposition as a senior club.

Of course there could be a change of mind, but it is extremely doubtful as teams readying to play baseball show at least some signs of organization by this time of the year.

GETS APPOINTMENT

Ontario Baseball Association president, Clarence Riddell, announced yesterday that Jack Carew, manager of the Belleville Batas, has been appointed a member of the association executive. Jack is the first Belleville representative on the body since the late Ken Ceilhig, former sports editor of this newspaper.

The OBA could not have selected a more capable executive member than Carew, in fact he is one of the best, if not the best, in this district qualified for the post. He is a stickler for fair play and will "fight" at the drop of the hat for what he thinks is right for all concerned.

'Boom-Boom', Beliveau Spark Canadiens' All-Out Offence; Detroit Favored to Take Cup

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The Stanley Cup series came full cycle again today, with Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings headed for Detroit and the deciding game of the world's hockey classic.

From somewhere Tuesday night Canadiens called on some hidden reserve built around the two series-favorite Red Wings with a surprising 6-3 trouncing. It was no fluke victory. Coach Jimmy Skinner of Red Wings said nonchalantly and a bit grimly: "We were beaten; we played lousy hockey."

So the cycle comes around again. Just a year ago the same teams tied then as now at three games each, travelled to Detroit for the seventh game, Red Wings won in overtime 2-1. The one difference this year is that each team has won all its games on home ice. Last year each won twice on foreign ice.

CANUCKS HEARTENED

Coming from behind twice in this series, Canadiens believed Thursday's game at Detroit with buoyed confidence. The one other time this year in which to stop Red Wings on Detroit ice. The Detroiters haven't been beaten on Olympia ice this season since Dec. 19. They don't intend to start when it means a difference of $500 to each player.

Canadiens will look to Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion to keep up his scoring pace. He bagged two of his team's three goals Tuesday night and ran his total for semi-final and final to eight, putting him in a tie for the all-time scoring Gordie Howe of Detroit.

Geoffrion had lots of help in the Montreal uprising. Jean Beliveau, Jackie Leclair, Floyd Curry and Calum (Bill) MacKay also boosted the Montreal total. Alex Delvecchio outdone his more illustrious scoring mates by swiping two of Detroit's goals. Defenceman Red Kelly bagged the other.

HAS COUNTED

Curry has been the surprise package of Canadiens so far in playoffs. The workaday rightwinger who took over the spot left vacant by the suspended Maurice (Rocket) Richard, has counted seven goals in all.

Beliveau put Montreal ahead at 7:30 of the opening period with a terrific 30 - foot slapshot that whizzed past goalie Terry Sawchuk whose view was partly blocked by defenceman Bob Goldham. Delvecchio, a puck hound all night, neared in fast to score on Wilf Stasiuk's rebound at 13:36 to put Detroit into a tie for the only time in the game.

Canadiens jumped in with lots of drive when Wings went short-handed early in the second period. Leclair tipped in Geoffrion's pass at 5:21 and Curry was lifted in a backhander at 5:21 when Beliveau's deadpan shot dropped to the ice off Boom Boom's chest.

Wings closed the gap at 15:34 when Ted Lindsay's goalmouth pass skidded into the net off the skate of Delvecchio, who was parked all set in front of goalie Jacques Plante.

PROTECTED GOAL

Geoffrion's second goal—the puck going in off his arm when Beliveau shot—sent the whole Detroit team charging up to protest Red Stuney to protest. They claimed Geoffrion kicked the puck in. Stuney said no. Sawchuk came sprinting from his net to join his protesting mates and was given a misconduct penalty. It was served by Glen Skov. The goal, at 18:18, gave Canadiens a 4-2 lead going into the final period.

Before Red Wings could get going Curry just about ended their hopes when he took MacKay's perfect pass and rifled in a slapshot with only 19 seconds of the third period gone. Wings went all hands up and Kelly blasted in a partly screened shot at 16:23. Then at 18:35, with defence parting back at the lone defender in front of Sawchuk, MacKay took Ken Mosdell's pass and galloped in on the goalie to score with a backhander.

Lindsay, with an assist on one of Delvecchio's goals, tied a playoff record by running his total assists in 10 games to 12. This equals the mark set by Elmer Lach of Montreal in the 1944 playoffs in nine games. Lindsay's point total, now 13, ties Howe's, a new mark Howe the puck slid under his last leg into the goal.

Harris' counter, which clinched the victory at 1:05 of the third period, was the picture goal of the game. The 154-pound centre took a pass at centre ice, went around Detroit defenceman Red Kelly and with a drive that squeezed between Marcotte and the goal post.

Olson, Maxim Fight Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The boxing future of both Carl (Bobo) Olson and Joe Maxim is at stake tonight in their scheduled 10-round bout before a near-capacity Cow Palace crowd and a national television (CBS) audience at 10 p.m. (EST).

Olson's world middleweight championship is not on the block, but the star of Sid Flaherty's stable is anxious to whip Maxim decisively and put himself into a position to challenge Archie Moore for the light-heavyweight title.

The situation is even more crucial for the 33-year-old Maxim. A loss to the smaller Olson, and the former light-heavyweight champion will be shunted into a sidelines as far as any future big money matches are concerned.

The word from Jack (Doc) Kearns, Maxim's manager, is that Maxim is in "the best shape of his life."

"We'll have no excuses," said Kearns. "He's ready to go and I think he can win. If he does we'll keep on going, probably in the heavyweight because there's more variety and more money there.

Selke Predicts Win for Habs In Detroit

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens' dressing room Tuesday night was like a happy going-away party as the winners beat Detroit Red Wings prepared to entrain for Detroit and the seventh game of the Stanley Cup final. Canadiens walloped off with the sixth game 6-3 to even the series at 3-3.

Managing director Frank Selke predicted a cup win for the team. "Now we can play Detroit on our own way, the same as we have been doing here at the Forum," he said. "People wonder why we took bad in Detroit and so good here. We just haven't had the manpower to play so many games in Detroit. Lots of time and travel force Detroit to our style of hockey.

"Both coach Dick Irvin and I were content to win on home ice and take our chances in Detroit. Here we can forecheck the Wings and keep them bottled up in their own end. Once you let those potent scorers get loose in your end it's dangerous."

READY FOR BIG ONE

"We haven't got the scoring depth to check the Wings all the time like that in Detroit. We have been conserving our strength for the big ones and now we are ready for Thursday."

Boom Boom Geoffrion said the goal that went through his leg was perfectly okay, despite the Detroit protest. "I made no motion to kick it in or deflect it, he said.

In the Detroit dressing room, goalie Terry Sawchuk was still bitter about the goal, which made the score 4-2 for Montreal at that point.

"Trying to beat Canadiens on Forum ice is hard enough but with Stuney (referee Red Storey) out there it's impossible," he said.

Coach Jimmy Skinner didn't blame the refereeing for the loss. "We were beaten. We played lousy hockey and the boys just weren't hungry," he said.

Western Bowlers Sweep Tourney

WINNIPEG (CP)—Western bowlers swept all four events Tuesday in the two-day Canadian five-pin bowling championships.

Ollie Hynduk, 26-year-old Winnipeg pin smasher, scored the only double win when she captured the women's singles title and then anchored the Winnipeg women's team to victory.

Dick Thompson of Fort William gave the West the men's singles crown, then the Winnipeg men's team made it a complete rout by swamping the eastern representatives, 12,413 to 11,203.

Miss Hynduk, who won by 73 pins over Vera Ward of Hamilton, totalled 2,288 for her 10 games. Mrs. Ward hit for 2,215.

Thompson's bowl of his fourth season, lost the lead only once—after the sixth game by 13 pins—during his 10-game match with Joe Baird of Hamilton. The 25-year-old western champion totalled 2,440 on the round to Baird's 2,348—an 86-pin edge.

Moncton Hawks Cling to Faint Hopes Crush Dutchies 6-0 for First Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Moncton Hawks and Vernon Canadians still have some hope, although faint, in their bid to break into the Allan Cup final playoffs. Both produced upset victories Tuesday night.

Hawks, down 3-0 in their best-of-seven semi-final set against Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, crushed Dutchmen 6-0 in Kitchener. Meanwhile, Canadians defeated Fort William, Beavers 7-3 in the other semi-final and trail that best-of-seven series 3-2.

The next games in both series will be played Thursday.

The Moncton win was startling. The Dutchmen were hot favorites to end the series Tuesday night but Hawks had other ideas.

Hawks, who lost the first three games by 6-2, 8-4 and 5-3 scores, were inspired by some sensational goaltending by Nick Pidsodney and scored two goals in every period. Pidsodney was great in the Moncton cage, stopping 44 Kitchener shots.

Marlies Defeat Quebec Frontenacs, Grab 3-1 Margin in Junior Series

By BILL SENYK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Unless Quebec Frontenacs can make a three-game comeback, Toronto Marlboros will have their first crack at the Memorial Cup since 1929.

Marlboros, who defeated the Frontenacs 3-1 here Tuesday night, can earn the trip west for the Canadian junior hockey championship final with a victory in the sixth game of the eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals at Quebec Thursday. They have not lost on Quebec ice in the only three games of the series played in that city.

If Marlboros win Thursday's game, they will meet either Regina Pats or Winnipeg Monarchs for the Canadian title. Pats lead the best-of-seven western final 3-1.

Marlboros dropped the first game of the best-of-seven eastern final in Toronto, then bounced back for three victories and a tie.

Bobby Pulford, 18-year-old right-winger in Toronto's top playoff line scored two goals to pave the way for Tuesday night's win, watched by 4,000 fans. They were the first goals for the Red Deck Winger in five consecutive Toronto tilts in the series. Billy Harris, the centre on Pulford's line, got the third Toronto goal, his first of the set.

Michel Legace, 16-year-old rightwinger, fired Quebec's only goal. The youngest member of the Frontenacs, he now has scored three of Quebec's seven goals in the series.

Only Jacques Marcotte, hot-tempered netminder for the Frontenacs, kept the score as close as it was Tuesday night. The star of the series as far as Quebec is concerned, Marcotte blocked 43 shots. Toronto hit Toronto netminder Johnny Albani with only 22.

Defensive errors accounted for a goal by each team. Pulford's first goal at 8:48 of the opening period came when a Quebec defenceman failed to clear a rebound off the backhander. Legace's goal at 15:51, which tied the score 1-1 two minutes later, resulted from sloppy clearing by Marlboros in front of their net.

A move by Marcotte, a split second too soon, permitted Pulford's winning marker at 16:01 of the second.

Pulford drove a 25-footer which Marcotte stifled and threw Marcotte's timing off. The Quebec netminder kicked at the shot too soon and

Braves, Indians, Cubs, Kansas City, Bosox Win Major Leagues Openers

Tribe's Lemon Unravels Sox As Kansas Trounces Detroit; Raw Rookie Hits Pinch Homer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Could be that of major league baseball set what may be the pattern this season. Milwaukee and Cleveland were off and winning and the New York Giants; Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees couldn't do a thing about it.

Milwaukee and Cleveland made hay Tuesday...while the other three contenders for the two pennants were stopped by rain. The Braves uncovered rookie Chuck Tanner, who awaited a first-pitch, pinch home run to get a 4-2 National League victory going against Cincinnati. And Cleveland, mixing power with its pitching, knocked off the Chicago White Sox, a dark horse American League threat, 5-1.

The Chicago Cubs was their second 1955 decision, taking enormous liberties with the St. Louis Redbirds to beat the Cardinals 14-4 in the only other National League game played.

In the America, the Kansas City Athletics broke into their new surroundings with a 6-2 victory over Detroit, and the Boston Red Sox gave the Baltimore Orioles their second setback 7-1.

IN THE BRAVES TRADITION

Tanner, a 25-year-old prospect up from Omaha, carried on the Braves' rookie-is-spring program. Mayer Chuck Grimm, who sprung loose Billy Bruton in '52, and Hank Aaron in '54, tapped Tanner for a Texas League Spahn with the Braves trailing 2-1 in the eighth. The ninth homer on the first major league pitch he saw put Tanner in the book with the Cards' Del Ennis, who performed the same accomplishment in 1939.

That tied the score, and after Bruton singled, Aaron clipped Gerry Staley's next pitch for a triple and the lead that Ted Pawlowski had given the Redlegs their 2-1 edge in the top of the eighth, hitting his second homer of the season.

Like Spahn, Cleveland's Bob Lemon got off toward another 20 victory season, handing the White Sox on four singles and a double. The Indians got to Virgil Trucks for two runs in the first as Vic Wertz singled with the bases loaded.

TWO HOMERS

Al Smith and Ralph Kiner homered.

The game at Cleveland hauled in 20,220 fans—tops for the day as the majors drew 189,951. Milwaukee was second with 43,640.

Kansas City yelled on a three-run sixth to beat Jim Bunning and the Tigers as a capacity crowd of 9,243, plus fourteen baseball dignitaries and Connie Mack, watched. The A's got nine hits, including a single, double and triple by Hank Bill Wilson.

The Cubs repeated the hitting success of their first 1954 taste of St. Louis pitching, knocking out Brooks Lawrence in a five-run outburst and going on to total 18 hits off four Cardinal pitchers. Dee Fondy drove in five runs with a bases-loaded double in the big first and a full house single in a six-run second. That gave him seven RBIs for the Cubs' two games. Hank Sauer had four hits with 26,135 in the stands—largest Chicago opening crowd since 1929.

Boston and new manager Pinky Higgins kicked off their bouts as Ted Lepcio smacked two home runs in the rout of Baltimore.

JANSEN LEAVES GIANTS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Larry Jansen, who spent his entire eight-year major league career with the New York Giants, quit the club Tuesday and announced he will pitch for Seattle of the Pacific Coast League. The 34-year-old father of seven children was attempting a comeback this year after being dropped from the pitching corps and made a coach last July.

Bannister Predicts Santee Will Break 4-Minute Mark

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Roger Bannister, first man to run the four-minute mile, predicted Tuesday that Wes Santee of the United States will become the third man to join the super-milers in the near future.

Bannister's 3:59.4 mile, run at Oxford on May 6, 1954, was bettered shortly afterward by Australia's John Landy, who ran 3:58 at Turku.

In his acceptance speech after receiving the Sir Halley Stewart Foundation of America, Bannister said:

"Landy, I think, will run a four-minute mile in the near future. He has perhaps the potential to run two times of any middle distance runner today, but has yet to get into the stiff competition which will enable him to join Landy and myself. I think he can do it."

REAL COMPETITION

Bannister said Landy more than any other athlete had taught him what real competition could mean. Bannister defeated Landy in the British Empire Games at Vancouver in a mile which saw both great runners finish under four minutes.

While Bannister was picking the American as the next four-minute miler, the British track world was excited by the news of an exceptional effort by Brian Hewson, an English army gunner who is British half mile champion.

Hewson ran in Cambridge Monday at a tryout meet between a picked team and Cambridge University. He was clocked by three timers in 2:56 for the three-quarters mile—the best ever in competition for this odd distance.

Hewson will run his first mile of the year next month at Oxford. Racing with him will be Chris Chataway, the 3,000-metre man who paced Bannister for his historic mile at Oxford.

OMHA Completes Record-Breaking 1954-55 Season

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association has completed another record breaking and successful season, with the final championships of the fifteen series being decided on April 2nd, as Marlboro Midget A, St. Catharines Juvenile A and Owen Sound Midget A-Minors won championships last Saturday.

A complete report of the registrations, suspensions, etc., will be issued soon. The fifteen championship and runners-up for the 1954-55 season are as follows:

Juvenile A — Champions, St. Catharines (Hon. Mitchell Hepburn trophy). Runners-up, Toronto St. Michaels (Syl Apps Trophy).

Juvenile A-Minor— Champions, Barrie (O. M. Weichel Trophy). Runners-up, Port Colborne.

Juvenile B — Champions, Newmarket (Lionel Conacher Trophy). Runners-up, Thorold (Henry Birks Trophy).

Juvenile C — Champions, Cannington (Jack Roxburgh Trophy). Runners-up, Port Dover.

Juvenile D—Champions, Brooklin (O. J. Eastwick Memorial Trophy). Runners-up, Lucknow (J. J. Christie Trophy).

Midget A — Champions, Toronto Marlboros (J. H. Stafford Trophy). Runners-up, St. Catharines (John Lauman Trophy).

Midget B — Champions, Thorold (Dr. Leon Hipwell Trophy). Runners-up, Collingwood.

Midget C — Champions, Cannington (Dr. Roger Matchett Trophy). Runners-up, Seaforth.

Midget D — Champions, King City (A. P. McAvoy Trophy) — Runners-up, Brooklin.

Bantam A — Champions, St. Catharines (Hon. Harry Nixon Trophy). Runners-up, Toronto Marlboros.

Bantam A-Minor — Champions, Owen Sound (President's Trophy) Runners-up, Port Colborne.

Bantam B— Champions, Simcoe (A. A. Morrison Trophy). Runners-up, Goderich (W. A. Hewitt Trophy).

Bantam C — Champions, Bracebridge (Fred Waghorne Trophy). Runners-up, Forest (Vice-President's Trophy).

Bantam D — Champions, Midmay (Ken G. Waters Trophy). Runners-up, South River (Harold Dunk Trophy).

St. Catharines Juvenile A. Toronto Marlboros Midget A, and St. Catharines Bantam A were the only repeating champions. Not one defending champion of the A-Minor, B, C, or D series managed to successfully defend its crown. St. Catharines, Owen Sound and Cannington were the only centres able to capture two championships, and Port Colborne, a perennial O. M. H. A. trophy winner, had three teams in the finals but failed to capture a championship. This was the first season since 1946-47 that Port Colborne failed to capture at least one championship.

OMHA Starts 'World Series'

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association today announced that minor hockey's "World Series" the all-Ontario Juvenile A. finals would take place in St. Catharines Easter Holiday week.

St. Catharines, O.M.H.A. champions, will play host in a series with either Sault Ste. Marie, or South Porcupine Lions. Sault Ste. Marie defending all-Ontario champions are playing in Timmins this week-end, and the victors will journey directly to St. Catharines to start the Victory Trophy series Wednesday night.

Although definite arrangements have not been completed, it is likely that Ontario's two crack juvenile squads will play a five-point series — that is, first team to secure five points, to win the minor hockey crown and the coveted Victory Trophy. Two wins and a tie or three wins, will take down the honors.

The teams will play Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and if a fourth game is necessary, Saturday afternoon.

DEVELOP YOUNG PLAYERS

TORONTO (CP) — Six-week junior player development courses will be held this summer by the Ontario Lawn Tennis Association.

The courses will be held in Toronto and Ottawa for players 20 years old and younger whether members of registered clubs or not affiliated. Cost to the pupils will be $30.

Youngsters 'Hot' Over Peewee Hockey Tourney

GODERICH (CP) — Youngsters from 18 Ontario peewee teams in the B and C series Tuesday stickhandled their way toward the halfway mark in the sixth annual Young Canada Hockey Week tournament.

Observers said there's more excitement among the lads over the outcome Saturday, than there was over Canada's entry in the world hockey championship this year. That goes for the Stanley Cup finals, too.

The tourney winds up Saturday with a grand-championship playoff featuring winners of the five series and an East-West challenge cup match between Winnipeg and Goderich.

In class B games Tuesday, Seaforth blanked Palmerston 11-0 and shaded Clinton 4-3. Seaforth and Exeter fought to a 4-4 tie but Exeter was awarded the game because they outshot Seaforth 11-8.

SCORED FOUR GOALS

Love paced Seaforth in the first tilt with four goals and four assists. Dale counted four more markers. Dick notched two and Pinder got the other.

Temiskaming swamped Markham 16-5 and Exeter downed Wingham 6-4. Fergus clipped Port Dover 8-3 and Port Perry dropped Stouffville 6-2.

In class C play, Milverton overpowered Lucan 6-1 while Lucknow trounced Lambeth 5-1.

The tournament today features the D series finals and class B, C, A and B series. The AA series starts Thursday.

Wants to Extend Peewee Tourney

GODERICH (CP) — Nip Whetstone, originator of the Young Canada Week peewee hockey tournament, said Tuesday he wants to make the annual tourney North American in scope.

"Having talked to various people about the idea, I wouldn't be surprised to see entries next year from Newfoundland, British Columbia and possibly the United States. The idea has spread much faster than we ever had hoped."

Majority of the teams in this year's tourney are from Ontario. There is a Winnipeg entry in the AA series.

The country's biggest little hockey series started six years ago. It sprouted from a first-year entry list of 12 teams to this year's 60. The seventh took place in one day five years ago. Now it requires a week.

"This year's event will be on a first-come, first - served basis," Whetstone said. "The first 60 teams to enter will be the ones that play."

Woodbridge Trims Woodstock 11-1

WOODBRIDGE (CP) — Woodbridge Thistles Tuesday night to take the first game in the Ontario Hockey Association junior B finals.

Second game of the best-of-seven series is at Woodstock Thursday.

Woodstock scored the first goal at :10 of the first period but were knotted at a strong Woodbridge defence the rest of the game.

Chuck Smart led the home team with four goals. Gary Kellaugh scored three and Doug Falby two. Bob Cherry and Harvey Wallace added singles. Jim Armour scored the lone Woodstock goal.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Some bridge players waste time on the wrong kind of pictures. They are intent on picturing the hand partner is bidding and forget to picture the hand he spreads as the dummy.

A single illustration is found in this deal:

NORTH
♠ J 5
♥ Q 4 3
♦ A 9 6
♣ K 9 8 4 2

WEST
♠ A 9 7 2
♥ 8 7 6
♦ K 4 3
♣ Q 10

EAST
♠ K 10 8 4 3
♥ 10
♦ Q J 8 5
♣ J 9 5 3

SOUTH
♠ Q 6
♥ K 9 5 4 2
♦ 10 7 2
♣ A 7

South becomes the declarer at a contract of four hearts and gets from west the opening lead of the diamond king. As soon as dummy's hand goes down on the table, south should take a composite view.

A study of what he sees will tell him there is danger of losing two tricks in diamonds and two tricks in spades. To save the contract it will be necessary to prevent the loss of one of the four.

Carefully pulling trumps at once will later kill the chances of saving a seeming loser. This will result from lack of entries to dummy when an attempt is made to establish clubs.

The hope of saving at least one loser rests with dumping it on a long dummy club. Before this can be done, however, the long dummy club must become established and must be led.

To help this plan there is need for using dummy's trumps as entry cards. So, declarer wins the diamond lead with dummy's ace and ruffs one trump small only with a high south trump.

Two tricks are cashed with ace and king of clubs in that order. A club from dummy is safely ruffed with a top trump in south. Now a small south trump enters dummy with one of the top hearts there.

Another dummy club is safely ruffed with a top south trump and dummy is again entered with a trump. By this time all the opponent trumps are pulled and dummy is in the lead with a good fifth club.

On this fifth dummy club is plunked a south diamond or spade. The opponents later get three tricks in the minors. But no more. The operation is easy. Picture yourself doing it.

AT THE McCARTHY THEATRE
"Cruz" Shot in Mexico

"Vera Cruz" Technicolor-Superscope film now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, was before the cameras for three months. During this period, the top American and Mexican production and acting personnel covered a good deal of terrain in a convoy of special cars. The selected locations were principally the Cuernavaca Valley, although some were just outside of Mexico City, including the area off the highway to Toluca and the historic El Molino de Las Flores, where the climactic battle scenes of the film were photographed.

More than $150,000 was spent on one set alone — a massive reproduction of the interior of Maximilian's fabulous Palace, in addition to the construction costs of the sequence — which took two days to film — employed five hundred Mexican extras, wearing court garb, evening dress and the elaborate military uniform of the period; a 140-piece, orchestra to provide music for the glittering ballroom sequence; priceless furnishings of the Maximilian era, some of them borrowed, others hired from dealers in antiques.

On April 14th and 15th at the Belleville Collegiate, the YY Men's Club of Belleville are presenting the Bandeaunettes and the Diment School of Dance in their 1955 version of "Can't Help Singing." This is a musical variety show and is their fourth annual presentation. It was presented recently in Trenton, Peterborough, Newcastle, Brighton — playing to capacity houses.

The show consists of a number of scenes including "College Daze 1928," Barn Dance Scene and a selection of choral numbers including "Zing Zing-Zoom and a "Bless This House", and "The Lord's Prayer" by the Choir. Also in the program are different tap and ballet numbers by the Diment School of Dance.

The show begins at 8.30 p.m. and runs for a little over two hours.

Barry Sullivan Getting More Than His Share of Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's lucky Barry Sullivan isn't allergic to work, because he's getting more than his share these days.

Sullivan spends his days at Columbia Studios in "Queen Bee." His nights are devoted to acting in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" at Hollywood. When does he find time for sleep? That's a good question.

The actor, looking none the worse for his gruelling schedule, describes his current life during a brief rest on the movie set.

"The day starts at 6:30 in the morning," he related. "I have to be at the studio early because they must apply a scar to my face for this role. I work all day, then at six o'clock grab a steak.

"After dinner, I walk across the street to the theatre and take a 45-minute nap. Then I go on and do the play.

"The show's over at 11:15, but there's just time to get home. People come backstage to chat. I thought that would be all over after opening night, but every night is like opening night.

HOME BY MIDNIGHT

What with changing from his costume and greeting the well-wishers, Barry is lucky to get home by midnight. He must arise at 6:00.

Sullivan was asked if his family objected to the routine. He has a wife and two children, Johnny, 12, and Jenny, 8.

He replied that he met his daughter in the hall the other early morning. Her only comment was: "Oh—it's you."

AT THE BELLE

Spencer Tracy, Robert Ryan Top Ace Cast in "Bad Day at Black Rock", M.G.M. Suspense-Thriller in CinemaScope

"Bad Day at Black Rock", an M.G.M. picture in CinemaScope and color, opens Today at the Belle Theatre, with an outstanding cast headed by Spencer Tracy and Robert Ryan, and co-starring Ann Francis, Dean Jagger, Walter Brennan, John Ericson, Lee Marvin and Russell Collins. Of these stars, three — Tracy, Jagger, and Brennan — are Academy Award winners.

Gripping drama of a community grown decadent through guilty fear, the story tells what happens when a man arrives unannounced in a desolate desert town and finds a small thrust into a suspicious and murderous crisis not of, his own making. How he turns to meet it squarely makes for one of the year's most unusual and most exciting motion pictures, one completely off the beaten track on wielding an unforgettable dramatic punch.

The picture was filmed almost entirely out of doors against some of the most colorful backgrounds of the West near Mt. Whitney and Lone Pine, Calif., with the location sequences requiring the building of an entire town in the desert.

Spencer Tracy plays the central figure of the man who comes to Black Rock and becomes the victim of a web of murderous intrigue. It is his first appearance since his recent hit in "Broken Lance".

Robert Ryan contrasts his sympathetic characterization in "About Mrs. Leslie" with the role of the tyrant who runs an entire town single-handed. Anne Francis, who recently scored with Robert Taylor in "Rogue Cop", plays another intensely dramatic role as the picture's sexy heroine.

"Bad Day at Black Rock" was produced by Dore Schary.

Tom and Jerry in CinemaScope

"Touche' Pussycat", a funny Tom and Jerry CinemaScope Cartoon, in color and on the same program, M.G.M.'s Celebration in CinemaScope and color, the popular News of the World, and an outdoor Novelette.

AT THE CAPITOL — Johnny Weissmuller in "Cannibal Attack", new Columbia jungle adventure opening Thursday at the Capitol Theatre, battles animal and human man-eaters and, as the scene above shows, an eagle which challenges him on a mountain top. On the same program in Technicolor "Ten Wanted Men", starring Randolph Scott and Jocelyn Brando. Special matinee Thursday at 2.00 p.m.

Some Television Commercials We Could Get Along Without

By SAUL PETT
(For Wayne Oliver)

NEW YORK (AP)—Some irreverent thoughts about certain television commercials (quotes are approximate):

1. When are the child labor laws people going to get after that little girl who keeps pulling out all those convertible coaches? She's made enough beds to accommodate a regiment.

2. Ears ringing? Eyes bouncing? Stomach jumping? Turn off your TV set.

3. Listen, doc, what is K-28 for food teeth and Formula 9 for good hair grooming? And is it U-235 that breaks the laxative habit?

4. Camera shows construction worker hanging from girder, eating his lunch 84 storeys above the street. Then a shot of a secretary munching a sandwich next to her typewriter. Finally, a family at dinner. Then: "Americans are such busy people they don't have time to brush their teeth after every meal." Who does—the Arabs? The Italians? The lazy slobs of upper Slobovia?

FOLLOW THROUGH

5. Camera shows dame holding dress. "Has this ever happened to you? This ugly circle of vicious perspiration?" Camera shows black crayon circle under armpit. Then: "You might just as well tear up the dress and throw it away." And she does.

6. Maybe you can persuade me that one detergent is capable of performing absolute grade-A miracles, but you'll never convince me any wife will sit casually by and smile when the husband, in the big idiot, wears his best clothes to work on the car motor and gets grease all over his freshly laundered shirt. Never!

7. And I'll welcome the — representative when she comes calling at my home to discuss "family cosmetic problems?" Will I? Say, kid, will she be as pretty as advertised? But what will my wife be doing while the lady and I discuss cosmetic problems? Maybe it'd be better if we just met downtown somewhere.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, April 14, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)— As for planetary configurations, it seems you have drawn a mediocre set today. This means that added zest and a buoyant willingness to win despite lack of outside assistance will be the answer.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Can't say "pack up your troubles", because there shouldn't be that many. Those of you who are willing to put forth extra effort and eliminate some pleasure time can gain considerably.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Some unpredictable changes possible. Proceed sensibly in all matters and treat competition with deference, but don't be timid. You can produce creditable results.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — The aspects are beneficent for you sensitive, versatile folks. With practical and astute use of opportunities you can shoot high and win much. Domestic affairs highly rated.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Those of you who exercise your splendid talents and develop things beyond the everyday gage, will be enormously repaid. Act honestly and discreetly and the answer will be success.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo).— Don't be thoughtless and don't lose interest because of personal reasons or disappointments. Errors are inevitable but if you are not to blame for them, be grateful.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) —. Planetary vibrations indicate several attractive possibilities during this stimulating period. But do be especially cautious in money and business matters. Your best work can achieve.

October 24 to November 23 — (Scorpio) — Give ample time to the significant things. And available well; some seemingly "little" situations could be real keys in disguise. Consistency in cultivating good traits reaps high reward.

November 24 to December 22— (Sagittarius) — Be most careful of what you say and how you react to other people's opinions and to obstacles. Be avid in your desire to accomplish and the advantages will be many-fold. Heart interests ask care.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — An encouraging outlook in many ways. Put maximum emphasis on essentials and follow matters through ably. You can make desirable headway. Don't ridicule or bypass hints or clues; study them.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — You may have to revise your program and forget certain personal desires. Act wisely (but not fearfully) toward the cautious side; be consistent and learn the facts about interests you espouse.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — To dwell too much upon personalities interferes with sound judgment. Don't let appearances mislead you. A thin line often divides the good and bad; use your conscience. Protect family matters.

You born today have fine mentality, quick perception and, if you are more consistently persistent, you will gain credits, profits, new advantages. Learn to know when that natural dynamic aggressiveness can be best used. You have inborn mechanical ability, make congenial interesting hosts, associates, business partners, (a rare gift; use it properly). June, July, August and September of 1955 could be unusually progressive point for this. Avoid quick temper; jealousy. Pray for guidance and give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt. Birthdate of James Branch Cabell, Amer. novelist.

Special Plantings Add to Garden's Beauty Spots

By GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

An interesting garden is also a rewarding one. It should interest the visitor gradually. Even if space is limited to the standard urban lot-size, it is possible, and perhaps a curving path, changes of tall annuals or shrubbery to hide some interesting and intriguing corners and shady spots. Here and there a bench or chairs or a bench or a bit or wall or hedge. Not all these will be necessary each season at all for the curve looks artificial. So we make that path wind around a tree, or a big clump of shrubbery. And every yard we proceed down that path there should be a different view, a flower bed or some other feature that would not completely seen from the back porch or the garage. So we can diversify and fill to add a bit of mystery, to keep some special corners almost hidden and in the amount of planting materials we have available in the garden. Some of the wonders in creating a garden that is different from any other and reflects one's individuality.

ATTRACT THE BIRDS

Almost everyone in the gardener's friend, and we would do well to attract them not only as protection against insects but for their own beauty. Invitations are to be had by Shrubs and trees, bird houses, feeding stations and watering or bathing pools, all will help to attract robins and orioles and robins. But we can do more than this. There are certain bright flowers that have a special appeal for humming birds. Then a planting or two of shrubs with bright, and edible fruit are attractive to robins and cardinals. It pays well to study the special likes of the birds, to plant things that will provide food and shelter in winter, as well as in summer.

MAKE IT LAST

There is no reason at all why the vegetable garden should not be producing from the middle of early June right through until hard frost in the fall. The main thing is to spread out the planting. Instead of sowing the whole packet of seeds at one time, sow beans at one time, we put in a few rows of peas at a later date than usual, another third about the regular time and then save a third for from two to three weeks later than normal. To further spread the harvest, experienced gardeners will often use early, medium and late varieties of the same vegetable. In this way there is always something just reaching the peak of ripeness. One of the greatest mistakes any home gardener can make is to sow the whole packet of seeds in the first fine afternoon. If he does he will have more than he can use for a few weeks then a regular famine.

RIGHT THING—RIGHT PLACE

A popular pastime for the amateur gardener at this time of year is studying catalogues, says a bulletin from Ottawa. Humorists suggest that the pictures in the catalogues are the best results in the garden. It this is so, the blame can not be laid at the door of the gardener, because he didn't study the catalogues very closely.

Practically all catalogues, in addition to their specific ordering instructions, indicate whether a particular plant or shrub is suitable for sunny locality in different geographic areas, whether it grows best in sun or shade, whether it likes heavy or light soil, or has a preference for wet or dry soil, and the quality.

With this information available there is no reason why the amateur gardener cannot arrange his plantings in such a way that there will prove to be an advantage. He knows that he has put the right plant in the right place, given it proper attention and care that, out of the growing season will bring satisfactory results.

Lands Flooded By Assiniboine

WINNIPEG (CP)—The swollen Assiniboine river and scores of its tributaries today continued to cause flooding as far west as Kamsack, Sask., about 230 miles southwest of here, but waters of the Red river were expected to stay within banks.

The Red river was 18.3 feet above average winter ice level here at 9 a.m. EST compared with the 1950 peak of 20.3. Earlier it was predicted the river would crest at 18 feet.

Meantime, residents of Starbuck, Man., about 18 miles southwest of here, worked desperately Tuesday night bolting dikes they hope will withstand a flood crest on the La Salle river which has already inundated Zelie, about 12 miles north. The crest was expected to reach Starbuck early today.

So far, 2,000 acres of farm land have been flooded in the Assiniboine valley.

The latest crest was expected in Brandon Thursday or Friday, and officials said it would probably reach water over Canada Street on the low-lying Brandon flats. The Canada Street Brandon is on much higher ground and safe from even the worst flood conditions.

HoweSays Canada And Australia Travel Same Road

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters) Canada's Trade Minister C. D. Howe says his country and Australia can and should help and encourage each other much more.

Mr. Howe, who arrived in Brisbane Tuesday on his goodwill tour of Australia, Tuesday night told a civic reception that Australia and Canada "are travelling along much the same road in industrial development."

"We look to the day when Canadian goods can enter Commonwealth markets free of quantitative restrictions."

An editorial in the Sydney Morning Herald on Howe's visit to New suggested there Monday that each Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting should be held in a different Commonwealth capital. This would have serious attention, the paper says.

In the light of the conception of the Commonwealth as an equal partnership, it had long seemed incongruous that conferences at the prime ministers' level should automatically be held in London.

"It is surely time to take at this attitude should be changed more particularly now that the centre of strategic interest has shifted from Europe," The Herald says.

Howe told reporters he was today that Queensland's exports of canned fruit to Canada will be increased soon. Queensland prices were competitive with those of other exporters.

He visited a cannery near here where he was shown a new fruit salad pack containing pineapple, pawpaw, banana and passion fruit.

Molotov Thinks Talks With Raab Facilitate Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said today he believes his current talks with Australian Chancellor Julius Raab will facilitate the conclusion of an Austrian state treaty.

This would end the 10-year occupation of that country by Russia, the United States, Britain and France.

Asked whether the talks will definitely lead to negotiations in signing a treaty, Molotov replied:

"You can say that depends on us."

"We would like something agreed among the three powers and Austria and we believe that what will be agreed on here with Austria will facilitate that ultimate objective."

MARSH HILL

Harmony Club Hears Talk On "Success"

MARSH HILL — The members of Marsh Hill Harmony Club met for their March meeting at the Marsh Hill School with Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Reid as host and hostess. The president, Mr. Herson Mitts, presided.

During the business, it was decided to meet with the members of the Holloway Kum-Double Club on Wednesday, April 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Detlor were program conveners and opened the program with the Easter hymn, "He Lives," after which Mrs. Detlor led in prayer.

Miss Elaine Linderfield read the Scripture from John 20:11-18, followed by a reading and a piano solo by Mary Lou Reid.

Mrs. Detlor gave a paper "Success." "What is success? Each "Success." What is success? Each person would have a different answer. Success means different things to different people. In all life there is a certain distance we must go. In every activity of man there is a certain limit we must reach.

"It is the same with Christianity. We must go a little beyond what is demanded if we would know the joy of Jesus Christ.

"You want success. Are you willing to pay the price for it?

"The reason some do not succeed is because their telephone is not where their backbone ought to be.

"Success is often due, not so much to natural ability as it is to keeping everlastingly at it. If you fail, lift your head and try again. There is no failure save in giving up. Our greatest glory lies not in never falling but in rising after we fall.

"Happiness is a habit — a by-product of right living. It is not living. Keep close to God. True and enduring happiness depends primarily upon cultivation of fellowship with Him.

"Success is the sum total of small efforts
Repeated day in and day out,
With never a thought of frustration
With never a moment of doubt.
Whatever your cherished ambition
Begin now to make it come true,
Through efforts repeated, unstinting,
Plus faith in the things that you do."

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown were in charge of recreation.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and lunch committee.

Neighbors Take Squabble Over Toads to Court

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Neighbors in George street, Richmond, a suburb of Melbourne, have taken their squabble over croaking frogs and toads to the Supreme Court of Victoria.

Miss Eileen Maud Steenson and her brother, Joseph, last year lodged a writ seeking damages and an injunction to restrain their neighbors from having croaking frogs or toads in their garden at night.

The dispute went a stage further this month when counsel for the neighbors, Francis Edmund Winston and his wife, unsuccessfully applied to Mr. Justice Martin for a trial by jury.

Counsel for the Winstons said the Steensons claimed that the frogs and toads had croaked loudly and frequently. His client said in defence that if the frogs and toads croaked, they croaked only softly and rarely.

The action will be heard by a Judge alone.

The eastern Canada regional office here said Tuesday the four include Rev. John McHardy of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Elton Hedley of Brantford, eastern Canada director of the movement.

Bringing Up Baby

In the daily hustle - bustle of doing things for baby, few of us stop to think what baby does for us. A young friend of mine put it very well indeed when he said: "The most wonderful thing about babies is that they open your heart and expand your horizon without exacting any fee whatever." Nice thought.

Assorted values. No one food can provide adequate amounts of all vitamins, minerals and other vital food values. That's why variety of foods for baby is so important. Because a daily balanced diet offers a dependable source of the nutritional elements needed for strength, growth and energy.

To further the cause of a well-balanced infant diet, Gerber gives you a choice of 31 Strained Fruits, Vegetables, Meats, Dinners and Desserts—all specially processed to preserve a higher degree of nutritive values than is possible in the usual methods of home cooking. All are noted for natural flavorful goodness and appetizing true-to-nature colors. Made by the people who specialize in baby foods—and nothing else.

Rosebud bonus. "No more boobs ribbons to trace or fuss with," claims this clever mother. "I simply run elastic thread through the tops of baby's booties. They cling like magic."

Fruit-ful idea. Ideal end-of-a-meal treat for your sugar-conscious darling is new Strained Fruit Dessert—a beautifully balanced blend of apricot, orange and pineapple—textured to a velvet smoothness with a touch of tapioca. Seconds, anyone?

Keeping posted. Many of the best ideas in this column come from mothers just like you. Why not share your short cuts? Send to me, Gerber Baby Food Limited, Box 68, Toronto 16, Canada.

Britain and U.S. Insist on Delay In Parley Plans

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain have turned down a French proposal that a three-power study group begin immediately to prepare for a conference with the Soviet Union, authoritative informants said today.

France proposes recently that the study group of American, British and French experts—already agreed upon by the three powers—start preparing for a Big Four meeting in June.

But the U.S. and Britain were reported insisted that the proposed study group's first meeting be deferred until after ratification of the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany is completed.

The informants said the American and British leaders fear there may yet be a hitch in completing the Paris treaties.

SAAR STUMBLING BLOCK

France's Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay has said his country will not complete the ratification procedure until differences with West Germany over the future of the Saar territory are settled. Pinay is to meet Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bad Godesberg, Germany, April 29-30 in an attempt to work out the final details for implementation of the French-German agreement on the disputed coal valley.

Both Pinay and Premier Edgar Faure have promised the French parliament to press France's allies for an early conference with the Russians. Britain and the U.S. have indicated their approval of a Big Four meeting after West German rearmament is ratified.

If there is no unexpected hitch, the ratification is expected to be completed in early May.

Say 30 Horses Crowded Into One Freight Car

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-seven of 30 horses which have journeyed North Bay Tuesday in poor condition and crowded into one freight car arrived in Toronto today in two boxcars. They were reported in fair condition.

Col. George Reid, chief investigator for the Toronto Humane Society, said the animals were placed in the two cars by the North Bay Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals after they had been fed and cared for.

When the 30 horses arrived in North Bay, one was dead and two others had to be destroyed.

The horses were being transported from Shoal Rock Falls to Toronto for slaughter.

TRANS-CANADA PIPELINE MAY YET START THIS YEAR

Private Capital May Bring Gas Eastward

OTTAWA (CP)—Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., is reported to have evolved a revised plan which it hopes may permit a start this year, with private capital, on the piping of Alberta natural gas eastward. But there are a number of ifs.

The company recently failed to convince the government of the federal government for the public financing of a $350,000,000 project to build an all-Canada pipeline from the Alberta border to the eastern Canadian market.

After that Trans - Canada announced it was deferring construction until next year.

However, informants said Wednesday the company now is looking to the possibility of building a line to Winnipeg to pipe gas into the United States Midwest this year while simultaneously building up as an eastern Canadian market with gas from the eastern U.S.

WOULD DELAY ONT. LEG

Under the plan, the expensive Winnipeg - Toronto leg of the proposed line north of the Great Lakes would be given to speed to feed the Canadian gas to eastern Canada.

It was understood here that the new plan was discussed at a conference Tuesday in Edmonton attended by officers of the Alberta and federal governments and officials of Trans-Canada.

Main obstacle is that the plan would need federal approval and Trade Minister Howe already has emphasized the government's policy is not to authorize piping of Canadian gas into the U.S. Midwest until construction of the all-Canadian line north of the lakes is assured.

Now Duchesses Have to Wash Dishes, Making Attlee Hopeful About Future

By WILF CHESLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP) — His heart warmed by the kind of audience he likes, Clement Richard Attlee continues his Canadian speaking tour in Calgary today after a one-day visit in the capital of the Socialist government of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Attlee, British Labor party leader and former prime minister, addressed more than 1,800 persons who crowded into the Exhibition Stadium Wednesday night. Strongly partisan, the audience cheered every Socialist thrust and dug deep into pockets to help finance his CCF-sponsored trip.

It was a memorable occasion for all, bringing together three top-ranking Socialists — Mr. Attlee, M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF, and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Attlee arrived by plane from private dinner held in his honor by CCF members of the legislature.

Mr. Attlee said socialism is a cure for world ills and is winning its fight.

All political parties had adopted Socialist principles, he declared in another although the Socialist answer often was not admitted as such.

"We have progressed slowly and not by violence," he said. "Rather than having a revolution and bumping off everybody," Mr. Attlee said.

Noting a growth in equality, he said: "Even duchesses have to wash dishes now." He also noted what he termed a growing "political consciousness" in the world which made him "quite hopeful" for its future. But he warned of grave dangers and a lack of common and fair standards. "We must have fairs recently which he said might lead to the destruction of civilization."

Economic Co-operation Seen Essential to Preserve NATO

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRINCETON, N.J. (CP) — Canada's external affairs minister, Lester Pearson says economic co-operation and a co-ordinated foreign policy are proven essential to the preservation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In this connection he feels that Canada may not for long tolerate a situation where its border with the United States is "non-existent for purposes of defence but very much in evidence for tariff and trade purposes."

Pearson gave his views Wednesday night in the second of three addresses he is delivering in Princeton University's Stafford Little Lecture series. He will finish the series tonight.

The Canadian minister also:

1. Said absence of Red China from international meetings "makes impossible the effective settlement of disputes near that country's borders."

2. Advised against reliance on a meeting of heads of government to settle international disputes.

3. Pleaded for consultation among the Allies as an essential part of policy.

Pearson said NATO provides "collective and co-operative defence arrangements which are becoming stronger and more effective."

"Nevertheless, it is desirable, and even in this time of tension, essential, that this common defence policy become the expression of a common foreign policy, and be backed up by complementary policies in the economic and social fields.

"These things cannot be kept in watertight compartments if a coalition, or if co-operation, is to be strong and enduring. The present relations between the United States and Canada are an illustration of this. Friends and neighbors as these are, it... may soon become impossible to accept a situation where our border ... is to be non-existent for purposes of defence; but very much in evidence for tariff and trade purposes."

Pearson said Red China's absence from negotiations—"at the United Nations or elsewhere"—makes impossible, "without the consent of the regime, the effective settlement of disputed matters around that country's periphery: Korea, Formosa, Indochina."

"But such problems as these are to be dealt with through the world organization ... then either the communist powers must come to the United Nations, or the United Nations must go to them. There is no third course except the use of force."

He suggested that such membership questions might be settled through a "package deal, recognizing perhaps that, for the time being, it is better to have two undesirables dividing states in certain parts of the world."

The minister said "an atmosphere of drama is inevitably generated when the spotlight of the free world is focused on a single 'parley at the summit.' Such an atmosphere is the very worst proving ground for the conference's dream; but a negotiation, in which the parties compromise with capitulation."

Jap Says West Must Invest More in Asia to Defeat Reds

TORONTO (CP)—The Japanese ambassador to Canada took a hard look at Asia today, summed up its problems in one word—population.

And suggested western nations must provide 10 times more capital investment for Asian countries if capitalism is to defeat communism there. He gave detailed reasons for his opinions.

Dr. Koto Matsudaira said the fundamental problem of Asia's underdeveloped, still-growing population—"how to achieve a better standard of living for them, due to a rising labor force"—is being attacked by two methods: communism and capitalism.

"The fate of Asia will be decided by whichever of these two methods proves already among the Asian countries," he told the Empire Club. His statements were contained in a text of his speech issued to the press before delivery.

Dr. Matsudaira said:

"In the southeast Asia area, to achieve a level of economic development at least equal to that of Communist China, it is my view estimated that a supply of capital amounting to $4,000,000,000 annually will be necessary.

"However, the recent flow of capital into Asia from outside has not been more than $400,000,000 annually.

"Private almost all investment in Red China was governmental, whereas 90 per cent of private investment in southeast Asia. But even including private investments, the flow of capital now per capita investment to $5, it would still be only about 50 per cent of Communist China's.

He added:

"If the difference in investment level now existing between the two areas is to be wiped out in the course of the future, the per capita national income in Communist China in the same time will be higher than that of southeast Asian countries by 20 to 30 per cent.

Chief of Staff In First War Dies in States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Peyton C. March, 90, who became army chief of staff in the most critical hour of the First World War, died Wednesday.

Commander in public acclaim by Gen. John J. Pershing with his Allied Expeditionary Force March retired from the army three years after the First World War ended and had lived in the shadow of history's almost forgotten men.

March became a top chief of staff in March, 1918, when the last great German thrust for victory was getting under way.

The need for American manpower bolstered the battered British and French lines was desperate. March was credited with probably the greatest single feat in the almost incredible accomplishment of transporting a total of 2,000,000 American soldiers to European battlefields in a few months.

JAIL INMATES MAKE THREATS TO MAIM SELVES

No Break in Sight In Tense Waiting Game

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A band of extra-tough convicts, yelling for "freedom" against meals a day, instead of two," squatted stubbornly in a state prison play yard this morning.

They played softball Wednesday night, and threatened to maim themselves as guards trained machine-guns on them.

No break is in sight in a tense waiting game between the 19 convicts who won't return to their maximum security cells and the guards who pace 30-foot concrete-and-steel walls that ring the rebels.

The striking prisoners, who are serving from 25 years to life sentences, say they want their grievances settled because they do no prison work, say they want "freedom." Prison officials consider the maximum security section got three.

The convicts apparently can't hope to escape or grab a hostage. They spent a chilly night in the open, but refused to give in.

BLUFF CALLED

The burly self-appointed spokesman for the rebels, dope addict Charles Pierce, threatened Wednesday night to throw a bat at camera men if they didn't quit shining klieg lights into his cell. They called his bluff, and he didn't throw the bat.

Prison officials decided to wall the men out instead of trying to force them into their respective cell block at one side of the exercise yard.

The section is called "Little Shamrock." It housed the toughest prisoners in the Texas prison system, and is reputed to be escape-proof.

Warden O. B. Ellis told the strikers, "I will not give in to your demands. But I'll be glad to listen to any just complaints."

Ellis said that these men, who confine gets the trusted enough to be put on work details, do nothing like around. He said they get plenty to eat at their two meals, at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

RCAF Lancaster Spots Disabled Boat in Pacific

VANCOUVER (CP)—A disabled 40-foot sailboat with three men aboard was under tow by a U. S. Coast Guard cutter today, rescued by a chance decision of the crew of an RCAF Lancaster bomber on routine patrol.

The sailboat Aute, from Honolulu, was 300 miles to the south of the northern Washington coast after the occupants signalled they had run out of food, water and fuel.

Pilot of the plane, FO Douglas McGrath, said he first noticed the Aute heading in a northerly direction about 150 miles southwest of Victoria, B. C.

"That was about noon. We talked about it and suspected what a sailboat was doing so far from land at this time of the year, so decided to return to the scene.

HELP SUMMONED

"It had changed course and was being driven northward in a heavy swell. The occupants attracted our attention with a shiny object, and so we dropped to about 100 feet and flew over the boat."

There was waving frantically and unfurled a small sheet with the word "food" printed on it in heavy black letters.

Lancasters are equipped for air-sea search and rescue so crew members decided to drop their own rations.

The radio operators aboard FO McGrath's aircraft sent a message to the freighter Pat Explorer, which was a few miles from the Aute. The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Port Angeles, Wash., was informed.

Burmese premier U Nu and Foreign Minister Sao Hkun Hkio Hkio Hkio as he descended from the plane.

The Chinese premier, originally scheduled to arrive Wednesday, declared in a statement on his departure for 24 hours.

The unexplained delay came after conflicting radio accused "agents" of the United States and Nationalist China of attempting to sabotage the planeload of Red Chinese delegates headed for Bandung. The plane touched down in the South China Sea Monday with 19 aboard. Three Indonesians were rescued.

Austrian Is Sure West Will Accept Moscow Treaty

Russia and Austria Agree On Pact to End Occupation

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia and Austria agreed today on an Austrian state treaty which would be "in the west's interest," Austrian Ambassador Norbert Bischoff announced here.

Bischoff said after the final session this morning of the three-day negotiations: "I am absolutely sure the West will have nothing against the agreement."

The three Western powers, who must agree with Russia on final terms of an Austrian treaty to end the 10-year occupation, have been kept informed on the talks here through the Austrian embassy.

It was understood that through-out the negotiations, Austria insisted that a four-power meeting to discuss the state treaty should confine itself to the Austrian question. That would preclude the possibility of Russia's making the Austrian treaty dependent on the settlement of the German problem.

When Russia's Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov asked about the next step, he replied he would like to see "something agreed between the four powers."

Spokesman Terms Hanoi Report Exaggerated

OTTAWA (CP)—An external affairs department spokesman Wednesday night termed a Hanoi report that Canada is ready to blow the lid off the Indochina war as "an exaggeration" and said he "wouldn't give any support to that statement at all."

The report, published in Hanoi, said Canadian members of the joint control teams are now totally fed up with the war in the north.

Canadian and Polish members are leaving the Reds get away with violations of the truce agreement in the north."

Statements made at an Ottawa press conference last week by Canadian Indochina truce commissioner Maj.-Gen. E. L. Drysdale and say suggestion of that kind," said the spokesman.

Mr. Lett, here to report on progress of the commission's work in Viet Nam, said at the press conference the commission so far "has earned its salt." He said Canada has no present intention of withdrawing from the truce commission.

The external affairs spokesman said the Hanoi report, published in the United States news magazine, seemed to indicate "they have no knowledge of the situation."

LOW-RENTAL PROJECT

U.S. to Give Even Communist Lands Full Information on Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest data on the Salk polio vaccine will be distributed by the United States government as a matter of routine to countries around the world, including those behind the Iron Curtain.

Findings on the effectiveness of the Communist vaccine have been widely published, and the plug was pulled yesterday on any hint of a direction of President Eisenhower.

There is no plan to send any of the vaccine itself abroad, although State Secretary Dulles has announced he will explore the possibilities with other government officials.

The commerce department Wednesday clamped an export embargo on the product, except to Canada, and officials hold no hope that supplies in the large enough quantity to sending any abroad before 1957.

The state department said Dulles plans to send copies of Tuesday's report giving a successful test of the Salk vaccine to the 75 American missions abroad.

The report is said to include embassies in Poland and Russia, which presumably would forward it to Communist satellite countries like Red China which the U.S. does not recognize.

There was no immediate word on whether this country would provide technical aid to countries which lack the facilities for developing the vaccine.

Several members of Congress, meanwhile, have advocated action by the government to assure that supplies of the vaccine will be used to best advantage at home. They say that domestic demand will not be fully met before next year.

Demonstrate Art Of Block Printing At Meeting

The Belleville Arts and Crafts Club, under the sponsorship of the Recreation Committee held its monthly meeting in the club rooms, at King George School, last Monday.

After the business meeting, Mr. Michael Snykaluk, teacher at the Bay of Quinte District High School, was introduced by Mrs. R. Williamson, program convener. Mr. Snykaluk gave a very interesting demonstration on the art of block printing, showing various methods that could be used in cutting stencils to make the patterns on materials to be used in the home. It was evident after seeing stencils cut from ordinary paper, potatoes, lino-blocks, that the silk-screening method proved the best.

A great deal of interest was shown in the fabric painting, so it was decided to have silk-screens made up for the use of the club members.

Mr. Snykaluk also had a display of literature showing eminent Canadian artists working on designs for the province. Morgan's in Montreal is a firm keenly interested in the development of Canadian art in this field of endeavor. Mr. Snykaluk also had samples of designs made up by students and himself, showing designs for wallpaper and Christmas cards. Mr. Snykaluk's demonstration was very enlightening and entertaining.

The Belleville Arts and Crafts agreed to have a display at the Trade Fair, being held in the Belleville Armouries on April 14-15-16. The Crafts display will be under the direction of the convenors, namely: Arts, Mrs. J. Whaley; ceramics, Mrs. R. Lalonde; weaving, Mrs. Watson; leather, Mrs. Eagle. The purpose of this display is to introduce people to the work being carried on by the group.

Plans are being drawn up for the opening of the East Central Ontario Amateur Art Exhibit, which will be held in Sir Winston Churchill School.

Classes now being held, under instruction are: art, Mr. J. A. McCaffrey; ceramics, Mr. E. Tindale; leather, Miss Barbara Shackleton; metalcraft, Mrs. L. Shepherd.

Anyone interested in these arts and crafts may contact the Recreation Office, 8019, for further information.

43 Students Taking Red Cross Water Safety Course at Albert

The annual Easter begins of Albert College students to their home districts has not strictly resulted in an atmosphere of tranquility descending on the halls of that institution.

Although the bustle of everyday college activity is subdued, there still is plenty of sound echoing in a section of the building, most of the afternoon, from the college swimming pool behind the gym.

A number of students, wandering in from the sun-splashed grounds of the college to the water-splashed atmosphere of the pool room, (which is one of an aquatic nature) gives the impression that a fishbowl of Albert students are spending their Easter holidays disporting by the pool-side.

However, further inspection shows the sun-tanned, wet-as boys and girls behaving in a more orderly and serious fashion — and with good reason for it.

-Cause of the marshalled rumpus is 43 students taking the Red Cross Water Safety instructors' plus at the Red Cross Water Safety instructors course, in session for the past four days ending Friday.

The group is made up of high school students from points as far north of here as Kirkland Lake and Timmins, and from as far south-ie, including in between; Peterborough, Port Hope, Whitby, Bath, Napanee, and a smattering from Belleville.

The seven different Red Cross Instructors have supervised the course since it started here last Tuesday. Instructor in charge is Warren F. Clayson, Toronto, district supervisor of water safety for Safety Branch of the Ontario division of the Canadian Red Cross. Douglas Hamilton assisting.

Warren, for whom the Red Cross' water safety campaign is a way of life, has worked out the novel idea behind the courses is to train swimming instructors in the heart of the swimming community, basically to form a succinct out of which to inaugurate swimming for swimmers in the province.

"It is a service we give to the community," he said.

"We are training these people to swim—who wants them."

"Anyone" means community swimming pools, summer camps, beach and other water installations and other organizations who have swimming programs of their own and are in need of instructors.

"Anyone who has a program of water safety; we will train their instructors free," he said.

The current course at Albert is only one of four being held this month throughout the province at Windsor, Guelph and St. Catharines.

It is Warren's job to visit them all and tomorrow he will be replaced by Tony Gray, Ottawa, supervisor of the program.

Actuality this is the consecutive second year that the course has been held at Albert and from all intents it will probably be the location of a similar program next year.

"Belleville is the ideal situation because Albert also provides a ready residence for students, who otherwise would have to put up at separate locations in town."

All students wishing to graduate the course must be 18 years of age and also have to pass a life-saving award from their own community.

The students, besides using the holiday-vacated quarters and dining-hall for their meals, also will use the pool in the course of their study and have their work area in the pool. For in the course one doesn't qualify as a swimming instructor without it.

LARGE REGISTRATION

In four days the students have had 32 hours through a series of lectures and paper work. Much material on the course is dished out to them for their studies.

This year, the registration for the course was unprecedented. Mr. Warren F. Clayson, Toronto, district supervisor of water safety for Safety Branch of the Ontario division of the Canadian Red Cross. Douglas Hamilton assisting.

Chamber of Commerce Folder Brings Several Admiring Comments

Belleville Chamber of Commerce this year is following up on its prize-winning 1954 tourist folder with another of similar but more informative guide to Belleville and Hastings County.

The folder for 1956 now is in the process of being designed and laid out, Alderman Ted Gillis told reports, sufficient material is not yet available to make the guide complete.

Last year the folder, "Highlands of Hastings" won third prize among entries by Canadian Chambers of Commerce across the nation. This year it is intended to all border points and also to visitors in the U.S. and Great Britain.

Favorable comment still is being heard about the 1954 folder, some of the more recent from federal members of Parliament.

Writing to Frank Follwell, M.P. for Hastings South, several members praised the booklet and requested that Mr. Follwell extend congratulations to the chamber.

Here are some of the comments:

J. Ralph Kirk (Antigonish-Guysborough): "Other publications of Canada would follow the example of Belleville and publish such accounts of their points of interest it would certainly help in a big way to induce tourists from other countries to visit Canadian centres, and would interest Canadians in getting to know more intimately the areas of our country revealed in their booklets."

T. H. Goode (Burnaby-Richmond): "Because I believe that this is one of the best brochures I have seen, I am sending it on to one of my friends in Canada."

J. W. Murphy (Lambton West): "This would be a good type of folder for distribution at Ports of Entry, such as Sarnia."

Other letters were received from J. M. Dechene (Athabaska); Richard W. Brown, Edmonton-Strathcona); Hon. George Prudham (Edmonton West) and Georges Villeneuve (Roberval).

Police Blotter

Harvey M. McAllister, 34, of R. R. 1, Corbyville, has been apprehended by city police and is charged with theft over $200, result of an offensive weapon.

McAllister was taken into custody by police on Front Street. In his car was found a sawed-off shotgun and a .22 calibre revolver used for firing blanks.

A five-months-old baby girl in the north end of the city was thrilled and scratched while sleeping in her carriage yesterday. Two small girls aged two and four years were believed to have been responsible.

The Quinte Sea Cadet canteen was entered Monday night with $3 in cash being taken from the cash box.

Second Vaccine Doses Here Start April 18

The local Board of Health has announced that pupils in Grades 1 and 3 of the elementary schools in the city will receive their second dosers of the Salk polio vaccine, starting April 18. It was also reported, the first doses of the vaccine were given pupils in the two classes prior to the start of the Easter holidays. The Board of Health states that the following these first doses there were no minor or major reactions reported.

In common with public health authorities throughout the nation, officials of the Board of Health here were delighted by the startling results achieved in Ann Arbor, Mich., this week, showing that tests made two years ago proven that the Salk vaccine was safe, effective and potent.

At Toronto the Ontario Government has announced that an additional $25,000 Ontario children will receive the vaccine as the result of a revision whereby only two doses will be given, instead of three as originally planned, with a booster dose coming seven months later. This change in the method of giving the vaccine was recommended at Ann Arbor by Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the vaccine.

Up to date it is not known what changes this decision will make in the Belleville program.

McFarland Construction Co. Suit Against City Is Settled With Corporation to Pay Costs

The H. J. McFarland Construction Company and the City of Belleville have settled their dispute over payment of a street surfacing contract early Thursday afternoon.

The settlement was announced at 12:30 p.m. following a half-hour recess in the morning session. It came after conferences between city solicitor R. A. Pringle, Q.C., R. E. Nourse, Q.C., of Pringle, Nourse & McFarlands, and Mayor Jack Both.

Terms of the settlement include payment by the city of the Mc-Farland bill of $33,478.51, and court costs.

The McFarland Company agreed to reopen the surplus pea gravel stockpiled in the city's quarry on the Foxboro Road with the city offering no guarantee that the amount of 183.65 tons originally stockpiled is present. On the 7th and asked when if he made the remarks attributed to him in his report.

"If it is there I must have said it," said Ald. Smith.

The remark attributed to Ald. Smith was that he had noted bare spots were mostly on corners, where traffic starting and stopping had scattered the chips and that he noted no complaints of dust on streets other than Front and Pinnacle.

There was discussion of a meeting held October 8th by council in which a recommendation was made that the McFarland Company be paid $1.50 per yard to back the pea gravel and do patching with about 2,000, or else deduct $500 from the bill.

"If you had been asked for your approval would you have given it" Mr. Pringle asked Alderman Smith.

"Under those conditions, yes," said Alderman Smith.

"There is no question that Alderman Smith hasn't acted in good faith," said Mr. Justice Mooresteps.

At this juncture court was recessed. When it reconvened at 12:40 p.m. a settlement had been reached.

SETTLEMENT DETAILS

The settlement was announced after testimony had been heard from Gordon L. Betts and Robert James Lyall, surface oiling foreman respectively for McFarland's, and Alderman Bruce Smith, chairman of public works in 1954.

Testimony given by Betts and Lyall concerned the processes employed in street surfacing. Both men testified that to the best of their knowledge all terms of the contract had been fulfilled; that they were satisfied the job was a good one and that every request the city official had been complied with.

Both men admitted that traffic had travelled on the new surface very soon after rolling had been completed, but that they knew the spots which they attributed to skid marks caused by traffic; and that they had been dust after the job had been completed which they did not consider serious.

Alderman Bruce Smith testified that he had received numerous complaints from residents on Front and Bridge streets about dust.

In examination of Mr. Smith, Mr. Pringle asked: "Were you asked by anyone to approve payment?"

"No, sir," replied Alderman Smith.

"Did Mr. Mott ask you?"

"No, sir."

"Did Mr. Bateman ask you?"

"No, sir."

"Did you go into Mr. Bateman's office and ask for the approval certificate?"

"No."

Mr. Pringle showed Alderman Smith the approval certificate and asked "Did you ever see this before?"

"I never saw this before," said Alderman Smith.

"When did you first see exhibit 3?"

"This is the first time I've seen it," said Alderman Smith.

Mr. Pringle showed Ald. Smith a newspaper report of the special council meeting held September 7th and asked him if he made the remarks attributed to him in his report.

"If it is there I must have said it," said Ald. Smith.

The remark attributed to Ald. Smith was that he had noted bare spots were mostly on corners, where traffic starting and stopping had scattered the chips and that he noted no complaints of dust on streets other than Front and Pinnacle.

There was discussion of a meeting held October 8th by council in which a recommendation was made that the McFarland Company be paid $1.50 per yard to back the pea gravel and do patching with about 2,000, or else deduct $500 from the bill.

"If you had been asked for your approval would you have given it" Mr. Pringle asked Alderman Smith.

"Under those conditions, yes," said Alderman Smith.

"There is no question that Alderman Smith hasn't acted in good faith," said Mr. Justice Mooresteps.

At this juncture court was recessed. When it reconvened at 12:40 p.m. a settlement had been reached.

Grim Facts of Atomic Warfare Presented to Citizens' Group

TRENTON — (Special) — J. H. Adams is charge of operations under the Civil Defence Co-ordinator for the Province of Ontario told an enthusiastic meeting of a cross-section from the population of Trenton last night that death and destruction caused by an atomic bomb would affect the morale of the nations to a point, where they may lose the will to fight. Mr. Adams prescribed the grim facts about atomic warfare to a group of local citizens interested in setting up an organization to act in the event of an emergency.

Mr. Adams stressed that if efforts of centries across country are co-ordinated many lives will be saved. He pointed out that even in peace, hospitals, are not capable of handling casualties from a disaster like Hurricane Hazel. He noted that an atomic explosion over the City of Toronto would leave 300,000 people homeless after 90,000 had been killed, 80,000 injured, 30,000 suffering from the results of the heat flash and 20,000 dead, 12,000 in agony from radiation sickness. He indicated that the atom bomb was now obsolete and had been replaced by the hydrogen bomb that produced a concussion compared to the explosion of 5,000,000 tons of TNT. Mr. Adams revealed that he was awake all night wondering what the people will do,

Mr. Adams explained that Civil Defence organizers are concerned about the problem of evacuating cities if they are warned of a hostile attack, ahead of time. The first thought of the public will be to bundle the kids up and drive them to the cottage.

SERVICES NOT ADEQUATE

Existing services will not be adequate to cope with the mass exodus.

Mr. Adams indicated that Civil Defence organizers had made great progress lately and funds are available to expand the movement.

In the case of Trenton he said council must budget for a civil defence expenditure and if they spend $4,000 the Provincial government will bear 50 per cent of the cost, while the Ontario government will share 25 per cent. The municipality will be called on to pay the remaining 25 per cent. "Government aid became effective April 1," he said.

Mr. Adams revealed that the job of standardizing fire hose couplings across the nation was just about completed. Until the changeover there were 153 different sizes, types and styles in use in Canada.

Canada has been divided into seven target areas. All air stations are vulnerable and Trenton, Oakville and Port Credit are just as important to the Civil Defence organization as Toronto in a hydrogen bomb strike. Since the announcement that super-bombs are available defence strategy has been revamped to meet a regional need instead of a city need. Roughly seven per cent of the people of Canada will find themselves in the ranks of the Civil Defence organization.

Mr. Adams describing the effects of an atomic disaster predicted that the future world war will be fought here on the North American continent not abroad as in the past.

TRY TO MINIMIZE PROBLEM

Organizers are trying to minimize the fire problem. Fire after an explosion over Toronto would engulf 12 square miles of the city. A normal aid civil defence fire set-up would send equipment from distances of 150 miles to the stricken area.

Rapid restoration of Public Utilities is important because the subterranean shock would be so powerful that all services 15 miles from point zero would be shattered.

In closing his remarks Mr. Adams suggested that Mayor Ross Burk summon members of his council to a meeting to appoint a co-ordinator for Trenton.

Mayor Burk announced by town clerk O. W. Larry.

Norman Banfield, former councillor, who has shown interest in the local Civil Defence organization for several years acted as chairman of the meeting.

DON SUTHERLAND FRES.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors here last night Donald J. Sutherland, Trenton real estate broker, was elected president of the organization. Mr. Sutherland who served with the Royal Canadian Navy during World War II has been a director of the local Chamber for several years. He is a former councilman.

Business manager Eben James and hardware merchant William House Jr., were elected first and second vice-presidents respectively.

The board of directors comprises: J. Alexander, Cliff Baker, Carr, R. Cretney, J. Embleton, Doug Gilchrist, Jack Hadley, Norm Kelly, Barney McColl, J. Parker, Paul Tripp, A. J. C. Ward.

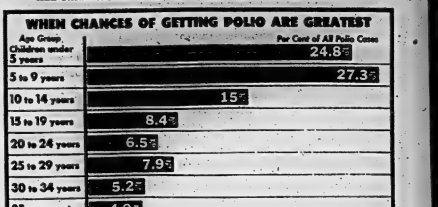
Cradle Best Way To Raise Canada's Population

VICTORIA (CP)—The best way to increase the population of Canada is "by the cradle" Immigration Minister John Pickersgill told a Liberal meeting here Tuesday night.

"I don't believe any immigrant . . . no matter where he comes from, or how good he is . . . is as good as another Canadian baby," he said.

Military Ball Highlight Of Social Season

PICTON — Picton armoury presented a colorful scene Tuesday night when a military ball was held under the auspices of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Music was furnished by Mart Kenny and his Western Gentlemen. The orchestra was seated on a dais which was bankered with Easter lilies, tulips, ferns and palms. As a background there were panels featuring Easter bunnies. Forming a canopy throughout the building were strings of multi-colored streamers. Panels on the walls featured Little Herbie sketches, while the regimental crest in colors on the balcony was spotlighted. Tables were covered with white cloths and bouquets of bright spring flowers added a gay note.



The head table was centred with daffodils and carnations and yellow tapers, surrounded by chesterfields and chairs.

Guests here were the commanding officer of the regiment, Lt.-Col. E. S. Fairman and Mrs. Fairman, Belleville; Brig. M. Smith, Commander Eastern Ontario Area, Kingston; Col. Lyle Carr, Port Hope, Militia Group Commander; Capt. G. W. McGregor, former C.O. of Argyll and Lorne Scots, Peterboro; Major and Mrs. William Graydon, Belleville; Lt.-Col. A. O. Hood, Commandant Picton Camp; Capt. and Mrs. J. Graydon, Picton.

Adding to the color of the scene were the beautiful evening gowns of the ladies, which were set off by the military uniforms and dark formal attire of the men.

During the evening a delectable buffet supper was served by the Royal Hotel.

ALL CANADA PREPARES FOR MASS POLIO INOCULATIONS

This chart shows the incidence of polio — before the Salk inoculations — among different age groups. The Salk vaccine, according to the data compiled among the 2,000,000 children in the first mass test, reduces the occurrence of paralytic polio in children from 40 in 100,000 to eight in 100,000. Throughout Canada now authorities are busy putting their plans for mass vaccination into effect. (Central Press Canadian).

Accident Car Identified By Blood Particles

WINDSOR (CP) — Ontario Provincial Police said Wednesday a scientific examination has revealed minute particles found on the underside of a car seized in the investigation of a traffic fatality were specks of dried human blood and bone.

They said the results of the examination left them "pretty well satisfied" the car, which was seized Monday, was involved in an accident Saturday on Highway 39 five miles east of here in which Mrs. Corinne Girard, 31, was fatally injured.

The driver of the car fled from the scene of the accident before police arrived, but a witness to the accident noted the licence number.

Police said they are still not sure who was driving the car at the time of the accident; since it is a company car and at least six persons had access to the ignition keys Saturday.

They would not identify the company which owns the car.

Liberals Fail to Secure Candidate for Election

PICTON — Liberals of Prince Edward-Lennox failed to secure a candidate for the forthcoming Provincial election. At the annual meeting and nominating convention here yesterday afternoon nine names were proposed by none accepted.

Those nominated were: Wilfred McCabe, J. Donald Baxter, Roland Stalker, W. G. McLean, Arthur Moore, Dr. Gerald Allison, Ross Roblin, T. G. Bowerman, all of whom withdrew, and Dr. Asa B. Clapp, who was not present.

The association's nominating committee was empowered to canvass the situation in an effort to secure a candidate with the ides of a second nomination meeting in the near future.

Officers of the association were re-elected with Clinton Green, Athol, as president; Roland Stalker, Adolphustown, and Ross Roblin, Ameliasburg, vice-presidents; J. Madden, Napanee, secretary-treasurer, with C. B. Simmons, of Bloomfield, as assistant.

Dr. Gerald Allison presided for the election of officers.

Shortly after the meeting opened a wrangle over a rural mail courier appointment developed, and more than an hour passed in this way, with no concrete results.

Speaking was confined to a few remarks by those nominated.

W. G. McLean asked the association to ask a 24-hour ferry service at Glenora-Adolphustown and also that the association go on record as favoring a bridge between Prince Edward and Adolphustown. Henry Wigdman seconded that meetings be held in the evenings with a view to better attendance. Around 60 were present.

CANCER SOCIETY AIDS 15,000

During the past year over 15,000 cancer patients across the country received assistance from the Canadian Cancer Society. That statement is made in a letter received by The Ontario Intelligencer from J. A. Cowan, national campaign chairman of the Society. Mr. Cowan enclosed a copy of the audited financial statement of the society for 1954, explaining that it was the Society's policy to keep the public informed of the use made of funds entrusted to its care."

This financial statement covers all operations of the Society, including the national body, its ten provincial divisions and its two units and sub units. It was through volunteers, working in their local units, that the 15,000 cancer sufferers received assistance.

Payments to affiliated cancer groups, from the proceeds of joint campaigns, amounted to $149,878.58. A special grant of $146,000 was made to the British Columbia Cancer Foundation for a boarding home. Welfare services, such as dressings, sick room supplies, transportation of patients and payment of visiting nurses, to mention just a few items, cost a total of $351,001.57.

A total of $338,974.89 was spent on cancer education, a most necessary part of the Society's program since none of the advances which medical science has made in the treatment of this dread disease is likely to prove very effective unless cancer patients can be persuaded to consult their doctors promptly when the first symptoms appear.

The major task facing the Society, though, remains the encouragement of research. A total of $873,435.21 was spent on research and fellowships.

General overhead amounted to $155,759.39, while the cost of raising funds was $143,232.41, bringing total disbursements to $2,156,080.35.

This left the Society with a balance of $774,538.33 on December 31, 1954, but Mr. Cowan's letter observes that these funds will be required to carry on the Society's normal activities prior to the receipt of funds from the 1955 campaign.

Society has no surplus funds," he writes. In the very nature of things that is proof that the Society is alive to the great need for its services, that its officers are able to discover an effective use for every dollar which the public donates.

STEERING BY LEANING

Life is going to get more complicated.

Our worry for the day is that "flying platform" which has been developed by Hiller Helicopters, down in Palo Alto, California.

Test Pilot Phil A. Johnston says that anyone who can walk can fly it.

That is the type of statement which sends stock soaring and makes shareholders rub their hands with glee. Think of it. Anyone. Even kids, says Pilot Johnston.

If you have been waiting for the opportunity to buy an airplane that Junior or Sis can fly, perhaps you have already been checking the railway timetables to discover how quickly you can rush down to Palo Alto. Before you make the trip, though, you had better read the small print.

Pilot Johnston explains how the "flying platform" is steered.

"You just lean the way you want to go," he says.

Now down in Palo Alto that may seem to make steering child's play, but up here in Belleville there are some of us who have had first-hand knowledge of child's play of just this type. There is another vehicle which is steered by leaning the way you want to go. Sometimes, though, when the snow is flying past in inches and the trees are a tree was aiming itself right at you, you discovered that no matter how vigorously you leaned the sleigh would not move this way you wanted it to.

There are also occupational hazards in this system of steering by leaning, additional risks which the average sleigh-rider does not have to face.

Steering a "flying platform" after a cocktail party might prove even more difficult than driving an automobile under similar circumstances. In fact some overenthusiastic sleigh-sports, bidding farewell to their host with a built-in lean to starboard, might still be endeavoring to leave the neighborhood when dawn came.

As for love's young dream, one-armed "flying platform" drivers will make light little counter-clockwise spirals as they climb to the clouds.

CHANGED BRANDO

According to Dorothy Kilgallen, Marlon Brando is now well-dressed, good-natured and beautifully mannered at all times. He seems to have forgotten the days when a motorcycle, a T-shirt and a pet raccoon were his trademarks. His friends, ascribing the change to Brando's selection for the Academy Award as the best actor of the year, call it "an amazing psychological about-face." In some other circles it may be described as "putting on the dog."

MARRIAGE COUNSEL

I can't tell you whom to marry.
I can't tell you, if you're wed,
You'd have made a better marriage choosing Joe instead of Fred.

But the happiest people living, I can tell you down the years,
Are the ones who share together
both the laughter and the tears.

I can't make life's pathway easy.
I can't keep you from mistakes,
They are always bound to happen. They're what everybody makes.
But, the happiest people living,
can tell you, all life through Cling to faith and love another and forgive each other, too.

I can't tell you: "Take the rich man; from the poor man turn aside."
There are those who've married either and have not been satisfied.
But the happiest people living, I can tell you, seem to be,
The ones loves keeps together
though they often disagree.

Mr. B. C. Sisler, manager of the local branch of the Dominion Bank, has been appointed acting and informative address on the history of banking in Canada at the meeting of the Y's Men's Club last evening. Mr. Sisler was introduced by Newton Thompson and the thanks of the members was expressed by Jack Willard. Stan Wilbur gave several enjoyable vocal solos.

Miss Thelma Reddick spent the week-end with friends in Oshawa.

Mrs. Arthur Bouth has returned home from a visit in Toronto, where she visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Freeman and Mrs. E. H. Wallace are spending today in Toronto.

District Inspector F. Gardner of the Ontario Provincial Police, at one time stationed in the city after spending a week at Kirkland Lake.

30 YEARS AGO

APRIL 14, 1925

It is estimated that about two inches of snow fell here following the rain and the storm of an early hour in the morning was an ideal winter storm, with trees, telephone, telegraph and electric light wires laden with snow. The bright, warm sun later in the day caused the snow to vanish very quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bowen of this city, spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. George Bowen in Windsor.

Mrs. George Aldred, treasurer of the town of Lindsay, is spending a few days here with friends.

Mrs. Charles A. Mott and son, Douglas, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Alex. McLaughlin in Prescott.

Mrs. William Wright, of Lindsay, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. Young, Pine St.

Mr. Clarke Diamond is home from the College of Pharmacy, Toronto, to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Diamond, Foster Ave.

Lavish Praise Dangerous

(Cleveland Press)

Writers on how - to - be - a - success, say one of the earmarks of the man of achievement is cheerfulness and the habit of paying compliments freely.

At one school which teaches popularity, in fact, students must utter a daily quota of compliments.

That sounds fine, if encouraged some normally sour amateurs to undertake the practice without resistance to their friends and acquaintances, and without proper training in the technique.

It is one thing to start telling stenographers they look like movie stars, but a wife whose appearance is praised for the first time in several years a flinty either is left, or to suspect that her spouse has been up to something.

Executives, too, are made uneasy by compliments from underlings, for fear they will be following up requests for more pay.

And the underlings in turn may quake when their work is praised for no good reason, for such has been known to precede firings or transfers to remote places.

Nothing is more unsettling to a man with a hangover than to be slapped on the back and told how well he looks, when he knows from the mirror that he looks just like he feels.

Indiscriminate praise of men's clothing is risky, too, for suits like look as if they have been slept in occasionally are just that.

Even the former sourpuss who utters the compliments may be misunderstood, and suspected of drinking in the mornings or of becoming psychiatrist.

He may as well leave compliment to the professionals, and hope they fill their quotas without encountering him.

Dull Debate In Commons

(By I.N.S. in the Ottawa Journal)

The most impressive part of the Dominion Foreign Affairs debate Thursday was when Black Rod came through from the Senate and summoned the Commoners to leave off their debate and to be present upon the Deputy Governor General while he gave Royal assent to a few accumulated bills.

That bit of tradition and ceremony lifted the spirit. One wants to think well of our parliamentary democracy.

But the "debate" had seen people away in droves. Put quotation marks around "debate" for it was largely a succession of readings from texts, reminiscences from paper clippings, readings from books.

Do I exaggerate its dullness?

Well, within about an hour there were five this main foreign affairs debate of this session only 19 members in the Government benches and 20 in the Opposition benches. Of 40 out of 265 members bothered staying in the seats which they are paid $10,000 a year to occupy (and not more than 50 were at the two committee sittings that day, Thursday noon).

In about an hour only three diplomats of the 25 who had come had stuck it out, in an hour there were virtually people but reporters and in the galleries: an actual total of 41 visitors in the gallery seats, and of the 41 more than 30 were civil servants there on duty.

Now actually quite a good "house" of members had gathered to hear this debate, and a good number in the galleries. They had made the effort to turn out. Before very long they saw no reason to stay.

Hamlet Without Prince

(Christian Science Monitor)

For a while at least world affairs will surely seem like "Hamlet without the Prince." The man who has just retired from Britain's Prime Ministership comes for a long period as synonymous with history.

The 20th century will see few exits as evocative of universal sentiment as Winston Churchill's yesterday, as Sir Winston Churchill's.

He is in the omit of a stupendous character who in failure or success, in error or in wisdom, in small matters or gigantic events, seemed always to emerge dominant, as the full-blown man he should. The man was always more interesting, more challenging to the imagination of his fellows than even the event had been.

Certainly he has been the kind of leader whose greatness added greatness to all. War has because he only disclosed to his hearers qualities that were already in themselves. That is how he explained some of those wartime speeches with which he helped the British people to realize their finest hour.

He seems to have coped with his mistakes, as he has his triumphs, with an unfailing sense of proportion. To a Parliamentary critic, Thomas Cooper, who was reproving the Prime Minister in an error of secondary importance, Winston replied unabashedly that he had probably made many more and bigger mistakes of which his critic had not heard.

That sense of proportion showed itself again and again during his long career of leadership in which he took present sense of history. Nothing ever seemed to happen for him which he did not respond to events as if he saw them always against the broadest and deepest backgrounds.

He had a "feel" for matters of historical moment. The words of Neal Europe attached from the Prince Regent, for instance, foreboding which other Western allied leaders at the time did not understand. It is hard to imagine a foresight at present-day difficulties with the Soviet Union aside's certainty that Soviet leaders aimed to establish Communist control in central Europe in the absence of Western armies on the spot.

This unsurpassed wartime leader was, however, not an easy man to work with, and in peacetime the combination of his genius and his own way without the approval or even the knowledge of his colleagues, led to many difficulties for them. Sir Winston has thus been called to stand for dashing with the mundane than for outmaneuvering the extraordinary in human affairs.

During these last few years he has had his full share of the inconsiderate demands of domestic politics and the complicated and at times fatuous intentions and indeed leadership have so far prevented those Hartwell called "the lower British back on its feet and restoring as many freedoms as possible. He has kept alive the hope of a more great chapter in a life of service to his country. And this time it should be a chapter in peacemaking.

As Prime Minister he has not had to face this condition. The requirements of domestic politics and the consideration of lower British intentions and indeed leadership have so far prevented those Hartwell called "the lower British free world yet has much to gain."

Can the word "genius" properly be applied to Churchill? His leadership certainly was with an unequivocal yes. Others say his great achievement was expressed rather in the power of his mind and of his which writing, and painting, in addition to the command he knew how to employ. Still others who knew him will include his witness to "a peter-natural capacity for finding positive happiness in an adventurous struggle to overcome adversity."

"Several of the work" which he affixed to the concluding volume of his great history of World War II are entitled in his own words "The Unwritten Law" and "The Impossible" and "In Peace: Goodwill"

Clean House With a Hose

(Montreal Gazette)

The new things science is planning are always fascinating reading but sometimes they are so vast it is difficult to grasp their implications. The suggestion that atomic piles should be sunk in Hudson Bay to change the temperature of this whole continent is one of these. It is hard to imagine all the changes that would take place.

Less formidable, much nearer reality, brings science's powers down to more comfortable size. York designer says that progress in synthetics is becoming so swift that in the near future, household cleaning as generations have known it will be obsolete. The new synthetics will be so waterproof that the housewife will be able to hose down the whole house instead of dusting and sweeping and polishing it.

Science is not all atom bombs and space ships. Since the invention of the wheel, the human goal has been the improvement of man's condition in the world.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Artists may have done a lot of harm to our conception of history. There are world-famous paintings of Napoleon at Waterloo, of the judgment of Pilate, or the sack of Rome by the Goths, which dramatize out of all proportion the little events and moments which are basic quality of human nature. Artists are gifted. They have the power to seize the eye; and the eye is the window of the soul. It is the most important of their considerations when they conceive a picture.

Everything is made dramatic. Stage-dead. Thousands of hundreds of years after a time and as event, an artist recaptures it emotionally. Henry the Eighth is a hardly figure riding the lists on his magnificent charger. Really, he was a fat boy, querulous and spoiled, on probably a fat, querulous and spoiled pony.

Cromwell, Cleopatra, Julius Caesar would take a Clyde or something like it to carry fat Henry and several hundred pounds of armor. A village pageant today, with somebody impersonating Henry, would likely come nearer the real thing than the romantic paintings of great artists.

Where art betrays history is in romancing it. It shows events taking place in a certain stabbed past, and deprives us of the sense of continuity, through our parents, grandparents, great-grand-parents, with the past in front of us. We are separately attached as we are to last year, or ten years ago. Some, by all its accounts, are more closely peoples and fountains and terraces, as in all probability are those in Toronto or Winnipeg or Victoria that we would feel entirely at home in it after a week. It was full of lawyers and storekeepers and doctors and dressmakers and grocers and shoemakers, tailors and nuns and doctors, corner stores, theaters, soft drink parlors, offices. Every fresh step in historical research makes more dramatic the distance between yesterday and ten thousand years ago. A few unimportant details, mostly political, we differ slightly from those who gave us birth two thousand years back. For they gave us birth, as surely as they gave their sons and daughters birth. We're all theirs. We look like them, think like them, act like them, live like them. They, too, exaggerated the past.

TRIBUTE TO DR. HOBART A. HARE

A reader who knew the late, great Dr. Hobart Amory Hare justly chides me for what I said here on March 14th about Dr. Hare and his famous Textbook of Therapeutics. As the reader points out, to my remembrance and regret, I quoted the distinguished physician and teacher out of context, which is a wretched thing to do.

Dr. Brady

Believe it or not, I did not do so intentionally. In fact I thought I had quoted Dr. Hare fairly, until I read the master copy of the article for March 14, titled: "Sir William Never Said It." May I please explain what happened?

First I quoted this from Osler's Practice, 6th ed., 1906:

". . . this does not mean, however, that alcohol may not have value in the fever" (of pneumonia) "and I should be sorry to give up its use in the severer forms of enteric" (typhoid fever) "and pneumonia."

I said I called that professional quibbling, and that it reminded me of the quibbling of another illustrious authority, a contemporary of Osler, Dr. Hobart A. Hare. Then I said that in the 10th ed. of Hare's Textbook of Therapeutics 1906 he said:

"The chief uses of alcohol are as a rapidly acting stimulant in heart failure, surgical shock, fainting, snakebite . . . "

That puzzled me, in view of what Hare said on the next page of his textbook, and this is what I intended to quote from Hare:

"Alcohol never acts as a true stimulant . . . on the contrary, its dominant influence is depressant . . . If the dose is large enough to cause the appreciable change in the circulation, it is in the nature of depression rather than stimulation."

When I asked Dr. Hare how come he conserved it, he wrote me his letter date 9-31-'06.

"It is conceivable that alcohol acts as a stimulant on other functions of which, as yet, we know very little, as for example, the ability of the body to resist infection. Scientifically alcohol does act as a depressant. Practically . . . "

Now I still say that Dr. Osler and Dr. Hare were quibbling—but a hundred thousand other doctors then and now quibbled just as much.

In any case Osler's Practice and Hare's Therapeutics, tattered and battered, hold places of honor on my five-foot book shelf—and I regret now that I didn't ask Dr. Osler to explain, for instance, his quaint notion that alcohol has "food" concentrates among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day-laborers, and "those who cannot conveniently get them to cold and damp." A letter from Osler on that subject would make his book more interesting, even if it didn't make any more sense than Dr. Hare's.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A MEDIEVAL PRAYER

A librarian in Dagenham, England, is said to have found a copy of a prayer written by a medieval knight of land in the days of Chivalry. It reads:

"O Lord Thou knowest I have more cattle than I do the City of London and that I likewise lately purchased an estate in fee-farm in the County of Essex. I beseech Thee to preserve the two counties of Middlesex and Essex from fire and earthquake, and as I have a mortgage in Herefordshire I pray Thee to have an eye of compassion upon that county. For the rest of the counties, Thou mayest deal with them as Thou art pleased."

Whether this prayer is fact or fantacy, it nevertheless remains true that we can sometimes be mighty selfish in our praying. The broadest petitions, for the world as the world will they take in, and the more of heaven will they take in above. Prayer is talking to God, and it is as much conversation as we allow ourselves to God as it is to talk with ourselves in daily conversation. Selfishness is one of life's greatest evils, but selfishness is never so apparent as when it moves for us the beauty of things appreciated. Likewise, love is love as when it shines forth out of our prayers.

Our Lord deal effectively with the matter of selfishness in prayer in the statement: "When you pray, say Our . . . .

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THURSDAY

Thursday has for long been an outstanding day for me. It's one of my "dead line" days in which these Talks must be finished and sent to the printer. It's the day in the week when I am most engaged. How many look forward to the two days in which they find relaxation and recreation.

I once knew a writer who wrote under the name of Thomas Thursday, and I once was a member of a luncheon club, organized by the late York literary agent George T. Eye, which he called "the Thursday Club which meets on Friday"! The week begins to lower its wont about when we wake up to face Thursday.

All days, however, no matter what their names, are important. We will never get the opportunity to live any of them over again. Thursday can be a warning to us to keep the hands of the week busy and as satisfactory as possible. Days pass so rapidly that all we seem to do is to hang to the coattails of many!

We can even put Thursday to our important use by assisting ourselves, when it arrives, "What have I done so far?" That could be a time for planning and help to make the remainder of the week brighter and more useful.

Why couldn't Thursday be reserved in which to write to the folks at home? Why not mail for so long? Perhaps you could make it the few cents more, and receive a good habit by keeping caught up with your "Thursday" correspondence. All of us neglect to write to our friends and loved ones oftener than we do.

Thursday, in many homes, is also the maid's day off. Why not give her the chance to plan something different—a picnic, the theatre, a movie? Why not plan for something else in mind for so long? Thursday can be made not alike and outstanding.

Suppliers, Engineer, McFarland Employees Take Stand in Suit Of Company Against City

consulting engineer and McFarland employees testified Wednesday afternoon that the conditions of the contract under which streets in Belleville had been resurfaced last August by the H. J. McFarland Construction Company had been satisfied to the best of their knowledge.

They appeared in Hastings County court house before the Hon. Mr. Justice E. G. Moorhouse of the Ontario Supreme Court who is presiding at the spring Assizes.

Heard Wednesday afternoon were T. W. Wilson, general manager of the Canadian Bitumoil Company, manufacturers of asphalt products; J. N. Morgan, manager of the Toronto division of Consolidated Sand and Gravel, suppliers of the gravel used in McFarland's for the Belleville street surfacing contract; Stanley Newbold, a consulting engineer of Belleville, Welsh, superintendent of road oiling for H. J. McFarland Construction Co., and W. Ross Macdonald, engineer employed by McFarlands.

All witnesses were called by F. E. Rourke Q.C., of Picton; counsel for the McFarland Construction Company.

Justice Moorhouse broke into early testimony with a witticism. The first witness Wednesday afternoon, he said, Mr. Nourse if such testimonee were necessary.

We have a contract. There is evidence that that was complied with. The approval of the city engineer was given to the work.

"The only thing not complied with was approval of the chairman of the board of works," said Justice Moorhouse. "On October 8th there was a motion to the effect that the balance of the account be paid and it was carried. You are entitled to produce evidence in defence by proceeding," he said.

"The question is whether it is a satisfactory job or not. We are concerned only that it was done with the approval of the engineer and the chairman of public works.

CONDITION NOT ALARMING CLAIM

Mr. Nourse went on to question, Mr. Wilson, claim that Bitumoil had be first inspected the job early in November "it was a good job except for, here and there, depressions," which were "not alarming." He said that it had been put on the surface too soon after completion of the job.

The chief discussion of the problems incurred in surfacing streets caused with detailed descriptions of the consistency of the various materials and their ability to hold the surface under the contract-wide rock chips being given.

The effect of traffic on newly-laid surfaces, the effect of extreme weather and snow removal chemicals on the adhesive qualities of the bonding agent were also discussed.

Mr. Wilson also stated that he felt it would be "almost impossible" to get a dust-free aggregate. He also stated that the requirement of roads with pea gravel was not as good a surface as that provided by rock chips alone.

Mr. Wilson also discussed in detail the causes of stripping of the pea gravel surface. He added that "few people could give any one reason for the failure of any particular stripping."

Mr. Morgan, of Consolidated Sand and Gravel, said that the material ordered by McFarlands had been supplied in accordance therewith.

He indicated that an allowance of 10 per cent for material below 3/4 (inch) to the 3/8 inch pea gravel was the common standard. In the trade and also for the purposes of definition anything less than 1/4 inch could be termed dust.

Mr. Nourse asked if the samples of material taken by Mayor Roth was supposed to be 5 per cent sand and 1.8 per cent less than 1/50 of an inch in size.

"In this within the tolerances of the trade," said Mr. Nourse.

Mr. Morgan said that some dust could have been created in the aggregate while being loaded but that content would be within the Department of Highways standard.

AIM AT LESS FIGURE

"It wouldn't surprise you if 10 per cent was not the figure required Mr. Pringle.

"It would surprise us," said Morgan. "We aim at less than that."

"Did the contract say gravel should be free of dust?" said Mr. Pringle.

"No, sir," replied Mr. Morgan.

Stanley Newbold, a consulting engineer employed by a Toronto firm, stated that he inspected the roads surfaced early in November in the company of McFarland employees.

"It was a satisfactory and acceptable job at the time of inspection," he said.

He admitted that he had seen bare spots in the surface which, he attributed to traffic. He said traffic should stay off a newly laid surface of the type for approximately a minimum period of three hours.

"Why were there bare spots?" said Mr. Pringle.

"I can't say why because I did not see it come off," said Mr. Nowakl.

"Couldn't dust in the aggregate be a reason?"

"Excessive dust in the aggregate could be a reason," said Mr. Nowakl.

Jack Welsh, superintendent in charge of road oiling for McFarland's said that he ordered the materials for the job from the Bitumoil company. He said that the material was delivered as ordered and that it was used as ordered.

Mr. Pringle elicited from Mr. Welsh the information that he did not receive the McFarland account until September and that he did not check it. He said the account or give it to Ald. Bruce Mitchell, Belleville's public works

"Is it part of your duty to check all accounts going to council?" said Mr. Pringle.

"No."

"Did you sign this account?"

"No."

"Did Alderman Smith sign it to your knowledge?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Did Alderman Smith have had access to this form without your knowledge?"

"Yes."

COULD HAVE SEEN FORM

Mr. Justice Moorhouse interjected at this point to ask if the form Mr. Pringle referred to would have shown Alderman Smith this document if he asked for it.

"Yes," said Mr. Bateman.

"Certainly," said Justice Moorhouse.

Mr. Pringle then brought out in detail the respective duties of the clerk-comptroller, the city engineer and Mr. Welsh in relation to public works as set forth in the by-laws.

"You wrote the McFarland Co. letter," said Mr. Pringle to Mr. Bateman, "after you had received anything McFarland's that their account had been paid?"

"Yes."

"Who did the gravel belong to when the job was completed?" asked Mr. Pringle.

"It belonged to us," said Mr. Welsh, "until the city made such arrangement as necessary to take it from us."

"You were anxious to get rid of it because it had no further use to you?" said Mr. Pringle.

"I am anxious to get rid of it. That is my job," said Mr. Welsh.

"You said that you wouldn't recommend pea gravel," said Mr. Pringle. "Did you were given an option of rock chips and pea gravel?"

"We had not had a chance to use it," said Mr. Nourse," said Mr. Welsh.

"Did you tell your purchasing agent what you wanted?"

"Yes."

"And you wouldn't recommend pea gravel," said Mr. Pringle.

"Did you ever have any option to buy it free of dust?"

"No."

"Mr. Mott told you he would recommend payment for it?"

"Yes."

Welsh said he saw Alderman Smith once during the progress of the job and he told him that the job was fine after the job was completed.

DIRECTED TO BOSS

"Did your request Alderman Smith's approval, or did any other member of your company ask his approval?"

"Not to my knowledge," said Mr. Welsh.

"Why didn't you go to Alderman Smith and ask for his approval?"

"If I thought there was anything wrong with the job I would have gone to him," said Mr. Welsh.

"Did you ask anyone why payment was held up?"

"No, I reported to Mr. McFarland's office," said Mr. Welsh.

Michael John Dougherty, an engineer employed by McFarland's, said that he had checked certain roads early in November and that the dust content on the roads was satisfactory within the terms of the contract.

He admitted he had seen bare spots at intersections which he attributed to traffic.

He said that he had seen Mr. Mott in Belleville some time in late October or early November and had asked him if there had been any differences in the quantities of material.

"He said no," said Mr. Dougherty. "He said that the quality of the work was holding up payment. He said that an independent engineer had been engaged to report on the work."

Upon post inspection did you see any faulty material or work?" said Mr. Nourse.

"No," said Mr. Dougherty. "It was a comparable job."

"You were not instructed to see Mr. Mott or Mr. Smith?" asked Mr. Pringle.

"No," said Mr. Dougherty.

"Were there any bare spots you couldn't account for?"

"I couldn't pass an opinion. The job was too new to be sold by then."

The case continued Thursday morning with the last two witnesses for the plaintiff scheduled to be heard.

WEDNESDAY MORNING SESSION

In a basic course on street surfacing went into court records of the suit by the H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton against the city of Belleville for payment of work claimed on city streets last August continues in the non-jury assizes in Hastings County court house.

The Hon. Mr. Justice E. G. Moorhouse presiding in the Supreme Court, heard testimony by city engineer, maintenance foreglasers, road materials' suppliers and McFarland employees, as R. E. Rourke, Q.C., of Picton, for the Farland counsel, continued to build his case for plaintiffs.

Testifying at Wednesday morning's session were H. D. Bateman, city clerk-comptroller; C. A. Stanley engineer, and Roy Peacock, city building inspector.

City solicitor R. A. Pringle asked Mr. Bateman about certain clearances surrounding receipt of the McFarland account, his position with the city, his duties as comptroller and the superintendent of public works and his attendance at certain meetings and events in connection with the surfacing of the streets.

Mr. Pringle elicited from Mr. Bateman the information that he did not receive the McFarland account until September and that he did not check it. He did not count or give it to Ald. Bruce Mitchell, Belleville's public works

"Is it part of your duty to check all accounts going to council?" said Mr. Pringle.

"No."

"Did you sign this account?"

"No."

"Did Alderman Smith sign it to your knowledge?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Did Alderman Smith have had access to this form without your knowledge?"

"Yes."

COULD HAVE SEEN FORM

Mr. Justice Moorhouse interjected at this point to ask if the form Mr. Pringle referred to would have shown Alderman Smith this document if he asked for it.

"Yes," said Mr. Bateman.

"Certainly," said Justice Moorhouse.

Mr. Pringle then brought out in detail the respective duties of the clerk-comptroller, the city engineer and Mr. Welsh in relation to public works as set forth in the by-laws.

"You wrote the McFarland Co. letter," said Mr. Pringle to Mr. Bateman, after you had received anything McFarland's that their account had been paid?"

"Yes."

"Who did the gravel belong to when the job was completed?" asked Mr. Pringle.

"It belonged to us," said Mr. Welsh, "until the city made such arrangement as necessary to take it from us."

"You were anxious to get rid of it because it had no further use to you?" said Mr. Pringle.

"I am anxious to get rid of it. That is my job," said Mr. Welsh.

"You said that you wouldn't recommend pea gravel," said Mr. Pringle. "Did you were given an option of rock chips and pea gravel?"

"We had not had a chance to use it," said Mr. Nourse," said Mr. Welsh.

"Did you tell your purchasing agent what you wanted?"

"Yes."

"And you said you wouldn't want it free of dust?"

"No."

"Mr. Mott told you he would recommend payment for it?"

"Yes."

Welsh said he saw Alderman Smith once during the progress of the job and he told him that the job was fine after the job was completed.

DIRECTED TO BOSS

"Did your request Alderman Smith's approval, or did any other member of your company ask his approval?"

"Not to my knowledge," said Mr. Welsh.

"Why didn't you go to Alderman Smith and ask for his approval?"

"If I thought there was anything wrong with the job I would have gone to him," said Mr. Welsh.

"Did you ask anyone why payment was held up?"

Miss Stickney, assisted by the group in charge, served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert McFarlane on May 5.

St. Julien Chapter IODE Presents Homemakers' Style Show

A good representation of those interested in 'the home beautiful', assembled last evening in the Collegiate auditorium as the Homemakers' Style Show, under the auspices of St. Julien Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, unfolded to them the secrets of well paper and drapery fabrics in new backgrounds for the home, both old time, and new style houses.

The guests were welcomed by the Regent of the chapter, Mrs. L. B. Fenger, who introduced Mr. H. Farrow, of the Quinte Paint and Wallpaper, and who in turn introduced Miss Bettie Blight, of Toronto, whose talk on the use of wallpapers and complementing fabrics as drapes was most interesting and delightful.

DRAPERY FABRICS

A most interesting talk on drapery fabric material was given by Miss A. Several samples were shown demonstrating the texture and the variety of colors in which it is used.

Mr. David Fetherman of New York, who was introduced by Mr. Douglas McIntosh, spoke at length on draperies, demonstrating their silky appearance and delightful designs, one of which he designed himself, as hand painted drapery fabrics in new backgrounds for the home, both old time, and new style houses.

Women Doing Splendid Work Aiding Arrivals

By TOM McCUSKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — The German girls stepped from the immigrant vessel at Wolfe's cove here lugging a pair or knee-high farm boots and faced with problems all the usual immigration officer who greeted them.

Eyes welled with angry tears, he tugged at the boots when told they must be held in Quebec for disinfection purposes. Without them, he would be unable to fill a job as a farmhand in Saskatchewan.

Then he met Ruth Robinson who spends the shipping season at Wolfe's cove with a team of volunteers handling such situations. She promised, with the help of an interpreter, that the boots would be sent to Saskatchewan.

HAPPY ENDING

The youth left happy after Miss Robinson promised to write his friends the address of the right man and explain how she could claim the boots when they were shipped there in a few days.

Miss Robinson heads women from five Protestant and French-speaking Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish organizations who call themselves simply "reception committee."

Between dozens of 15 they met 78 ships last summer carrying 41,-000 immigrants. They were on hand at the docks 4,840 hours, distributing free coffee, milk and biscuits and handling such situations of kindly welcome into the cold formality of processing liberal-grants.

Miss Robinson's group was organized in 1947 to help immigrants settling in Canada as domestics.

The committee now spends $3,300 a season. It receives a federal grant-in-aid and gets the remainder from Quebec social welfare societies.

Its headquarters is a comfortable cottage which bunky stevedores push along the ¼-mile-long Wolf's Cove pier in disembarking stations. The cottage, built last year by the Catholic Charities Federation of Quebec for $3,500, has a nursery, canteen and post office.

CARE FOR CHILDREN

Last year children were housed in the nursery while their parents went through the average three-hour period of customs inspection and baggage checking between boat arrival and train time.

In the canteen volunteers prepared 30,000 cups of coffee and 20,000 cups of cocoa and distributed along with 1,100 pounds of biscuits. The committee mailed 10,326 letters through the post office.

Everything but the stamps was free.

Miss Robinson says the four hours' work on a ship's arrival requires at least two days of preparation. She gave up a post on Laval University's summer school faculty of English two years ago to work full time at meeting immigrants.

Jennie, a 30-year-old bride from England, arrived penniless to discover her husband wasn't at dockside to meet her. Miss Robinson searched into her committee's petty cash box to supply the fare for a train ticket to Ottawa.

The minutes before train time Jennie's husband showed up in a car. Miss Robinson supervised the ticket-refund and helped Auntie Jennie's cheated trunk from the train's baggage car.

The woman wrote recently from Ottawa: "If you need help in your work let me know and I'll come flying."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TO SOLVE A PROBLEM, YOU'VE GOT TO REALLY TRY

I must say that I am very tired indeed of people who write me how unhappy they are, what difficult problems they have, and how much they would like things to be different, but who seem to make no effort whatever to do anything. Instead, they tell me that they "can't" do this, and "can't" do that, seemingly bent on trying to sell me the idea, which they already have sold themselves, that it's just not in their power to remedy their situation.

As one example, I set down the following letter from a young woman as why it did enough to have more sense:

"There are three young men with whom I go out, one of whom is married.

"My mother does not know about my friendship with this young married man, and I know it is wrong to go out with him, but I like him such a lot. I am 19 years old and he is a little older. He and his wife quarrel all the time.

"Both the other boys I go out with are wonderful, but I do not seem to care for them.

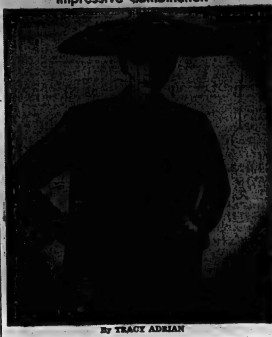
"I want to stop seeing the married boy, and think of us have tried to stop seeing each other, but we can't. I would like to meet some other nice young man in whom I could be interested, for maybe then I could forget the married boy.

"I am the only girl in my family, and there are no girls my age who live near my home, that I could go out with. Most all the girls nearby are married, and the others live too far away, so that I am very lonely at times."

See? This girl "can't" stop seeing a boy she has no business seeing at all, and she "can't" find any way to go out with her friends. What nonsense!

So let me say what I have to say, directly to this adolescent 19-year-old.

If there are no girls of your own age who live near your home, is there any reason why you can't go out with those who live farther away? Apparently your home is in a large city, so that even if you do have no car available to get about in, there must be buses or other means of transportation that could take you where you want to go. Doesn't sound to me as though you're trying very hard.



Isn't there a YWCA or other organization in your city where you could go to take part in activities with other young people? Most such organizations today have plenty of things going on which both interest, enthusiasts clearly, space your words properly.

It won't do to lose interest in appearance or in life or in the reflection in the mirror. Facial massaging when we are tired or the beauty routine has been neglected. In the forties it is especially necessary to use cream freely because the natural oiling system slows up. When applying it use upward movements. Then you are working with the muscles. If you bring down the fibers, you will work against them. Also, brisk friction stimulates the blood streams upon which tissue-health and coloring depend.

Where hair is concerned, good grooming is the most important factor. With white hair, especially, the coiffure should be beautifully molded. Casual hair-dos are strictly for the teen set.

Makeup must be carefully considered. Bright-colored rouge and vivid lipstick are too obvious. If a woman uses them she should pause and remind herself that many women wouldn't look so old if they didn't try to look so young.

Impressive Combination

By TRACY ADRIAN

Lots and lots of costume jewellery will be around this season on everything from evening clothes to play suits and the same will apply to the young and old alike will give out a cheery jingle jangle over afternoon tea and luncheon tables.

The assembled jewels are rather new in conception that they make an attractive picture. A gold chain worn around form the choker and a massed effect is achieved when ropes of simulated pearls are worn. Mammoth pearl earrings go beautifully with the large cartwheel.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

DEFYING THE BIRTHDAYS

As far as appearance goes, middle-aged women never had it so good. It, at the age of fifty, a woman has retained her youthful figure and a clear complexion she can use the same makeup, wear the same hair-do, flaunt the same pretty clothes as her daughter. Not all women, of course. Just those who are faithful to their beauty chores and who are so interested in their appearance are as they were in their youth.

The good-looking older woman is always well harnessed, fully collected, smoothed out and serene. She has poise and dignity—but not austerity. Her step is light. She doesn't poke her feet ahead of her and let her body trail along, as do the women who keep raging against the years.

Then there is the matter of the voice. The older one's voice should grow mellow and full of soft cadences. Let the youngsters shrill and shout and giggle. But, if you are "getting along," keep your voice lowered, enunciate clearly, space your words properly.

ACCIDENTS will still happen after the bath, polish is made from oils to lay bed. A waterproof pad trapped by a narrow section of old sheet will soon be stretched tight over the center of the small bathroom. The small sheet can be pulled off and changed quickly without changing the whole bed.

Bonus Readers' Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Note: Why I feel I should apologize I don't know, but the fact remains I do. I've reached the stage where I must use all of my allotted space to answer your letters and use a verse will do just that, or maybe you will five me. There are letters here on my desk that have been unanswered for as long as 3 weeks, and serious steps have to be taken. I am sorry that I haven't another pair of hands to operate another typewriter but in that respect I'm normal.

Question: . . . my family of two children are great lovers of macaroni served with cheese — no sauce. Lately when I serve it it seems very gluey, the cheese is hardened, not melted. What am I doing wrong? Oven too hot, or not hot enough? . . . Would you consider fifteen dollars adequate weekly to feed a family of four...? This fifteen dollars also covers for the wife's newspapers ($1), carfare for church and shopping, cigarettes, note paper, cosmetics and one show per month, birthday gifts . . . June H.

SIMPLE MACARONI AND CHEESE

In 1 quart of boiling salted water boil 8 oz. macaroni for 15 minutes, drain, rinse with cold water and drain quickly in colander. Place it in alternating layers in baking dish 12 by 8 by 2 with 1/2 lb. medium cheese cut fine to small slices or cubes and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk (this may be yellowed with skim milk powder). Sprinkle top with paprika. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 40 to 45 minutes or until milk is taken up.

I have mailed you the release entitled "Child's Play wonders" which some budget-minded readers found so helpful 2 years ago. Would you consider walking instead of using carfare, except when having to take large bags of groceries home. It is heresy for a newspaper woman to suggest subscribing to only 1 newspaper, but you could get all the news one normally needs from one newspaper. If you do spend only $18. per week on your family buys healthy I wish you would let me know so I could pass it on to our readers. Be sure you all have daily adequate portions of meat or fish, or cheese or eggs, and if anyone shows signs of excessive fatigue or has colds or is languid, it may be malnutrition. Write to me again about this.

Question: Could you send recipe for pickling beef . . . Mrs. Jack C. Answer: Corned beef.

Buy an especially choice piece of brisket point beef from red brand beef, well marbled with fat through that but not overfat on the outside or rump — either should weigh approximately five lbs. Put this in a crock and to measure the amount of water pour cold water over until it just covers the meat. Pour it off and measure it. Take meat out of crock put water in. Add salt — enough to float an egg in the shell. Stir until salt is dissolved. Return meat to crock, weight down and cover. Store in cool place—8 days for brisket, 10 to 12 days for rump. If desired 2 tablespoons brown sugar and 1 teaspoon saltpetre may be added to give slightly sweet flavor and to redden the meat.

CRITICAL MOMENT

VISCHER FERRY, N. Y. (AP) Fire chief Joseph Jerome paused momentarily when an excited scoundrel as he was leading his daughter, Joann, to the altar for her marriage to Frank Lane. Then he decided to remain at the wedding. Several other firemen attending hurried to the two-acre grass fire.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

THEY SHOULD HAVE ACCEPTED "PLEASE OMIT FLOWERS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My aunt passed away recently, and at the request of the family flowers were omitted. We didn't know about this request, and so ordered flowers for the funeral. My aunt was my mother's only sister, and we thought it was rude of my mother to tell us that all the flowers were to be omitted. I told my cousin that Mother had already ordered the flowers, and she told me to cancel—them. I thought that "Please omit flowers" applied only to friends, not to relatives.

Betty

Since it was made clear . . . in the death notice, I judge, and certainly by your cousin's personal request to you and your family . . . that the family of your aunt definitely did not wish to have funeral flowers sent, you should have abided by the request gracefully and understandingly. At such a time we are expected to cooperate with gentle grace with all requests made by those making the arrangements. The only way your cousin not rude, but I think she was most thoughtful to call to your attention the family's request. I'm sorry to have to tell you that you discredited yourself to make an issue of the fact that the flowers had already been ordered. It might very well have been that this request-for-no-flowers had been made by the family under instructions left by your deceased aunt . . . perhaps that is why your cousin was so particularly definite about calling you. However, whatever the reason, your family should have accepted the request and should have cooperated without question.

NOT A FLOWER GIRL IN LONG DRESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister is to be married shortly, either in the vestry or in the manse, a very small wedding with only the members of the two families and a very few relatives attending. The bride will wear either a suit or an afternoon dress. The groom's mother wishes the bride to have the groom's 7-year-old daughter as the flower girl, wearing a long yellow dress. Don't you think this would be out-of-place at this type of wedding?

— Reader.

Yes, entirely out-of-order to have a flower girl wearing a long yellow dress when the bride is wearing a suit or an afternoon dress. And certainly the bride-to-be should not follow this suggestion of having a flower girl unless she particularly wishes to. The best taste would be for the bride to have a maid of honor as her only attendant.

"ANNOUNCE THEIR MARRIAGE" THE USUAL FORM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother and father are not living; my prospective groom and I are middle-aged; we are to have a very small, simple wedding, and then we ourselves are sending the form of announcements to our names. Today I went to interview an engraver who had been recommended to me, and he suggested we use the form "have the honour of announcing their marriage." He said this form was advised by some etiquette authorities. But to me it doesn't seem right. What do you think? —Bride-to-be.

I agree with you that the form "have the honour of announcing their marriage" used in the announcements sent by the couple themselves seems stilted. And as a matter of fact, although this form is occasionally "suggested," I have never seen it used in this type of marriage announcement. The customary form is:

announces their marriage.

CITY AND STATE GIVEN IN ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For two very personal reasons we would prefer not to put in the marriage announcements the name of the city in which our marriage ceremony took place a month ago. Is it absolutely necessary that the name of the city be included?

— Georgina K.

Yes. It is absolutely necessary that, in formal announcements of a marriage, the names of the city and state where the marriage took place must be given . . . the date, the year, the city, the state.

YOU CAN WIN $2,000 THIS WEEK in the exciting DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT!

Were you away for the Easter weekend? If so your trip may have cost you $1,000, perhaps even $2,000. The DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT made calls Saturday night between 8 and 9 o'clock to Brantford, Chatham, Hamilton (2), Aldershot, Kitchener, Windsor, Woodstock, Ottawa (2), Vankleek Hill, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, London, St. Thomas, Brockville, Belleville, Harpersville, Cornwall, and a number of Toronto and district exchanges. On five calls no one was at home. Others answered "Hello," and were disqualified. Then, at 8:48 p.m., Miss Annabelle Lee, 345 Sequoia Rd., Fort Colborne, picked up the receiver and said: "Dominion Stores — New Domestic Shortening." That was the correct answer to last week's DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT puzzle, and today Miss Lee has $1,000 to spend as she wishes — new clothes, vacation, a television set, or perhaps toward a new car.

You can win $2,000 this week in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT. First, find the "Phantom Famous Brand" listed on this page but not illustrated. Next, if your telephone rings between 8 and 9 o'clock next Saturday evening, DO NOT ANSWER HELLO or you will be automatically disqualified from an opportunity to win $2,000.

Instead of answering HELLO, say "DOMINION STORES" and then state the name of this week's "Phantom Famous Brand." If you do, and it is the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calling, you will win the Grand Prize of $1,000.

$1,000 BONUS! If you win the Grand Prize and have in your home at the time a box top or label from this week's "Phantom Famous Brand" (or a reasonable facsimile) PLUS a DOMINION cash register slip dated this week and totalling $5.00 or more, you will qualify for a bonus prize of $1,000.

$100 CONSOLATION PRIZES! If the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calls your telephone number and you make the mistake of answering HELLO, but can still name this week's "Phantom Famous Brand," you will qualify for a consolation prize of $100.

GRAND PRIZE MUST BE WON! If this week's Grand Prize is not won on Saturday night, it will be added to next week's Grand Prize of $1,000. This will be repeated if necessary until someone wins the accumulated Grand Prize.

Employees and members of Dominion Stores Limited and their families are not eligible for this contest.

Kinsmen Hosts to Governor Of District

PICTON — Bob Good, Kingston, Governor of Kinsmen District No. 6, paid a visit to Picton Kinsmen Club, Monday night. The occasion was also ladies night and the dining hall in Masonic Hall was filled to capacity for the event. High praise was accorded the local club on their endeavors.

During visits to clubs in the district he had noted much progress, said the governor. Emphasis has been laid on fellowship and service, he found.

Al. Andersen, Tweed, Deputy Governor of Zone 1, announced plans for a district Kin rally to be held at the Shrine Club in Belleville next Monday night.

In the absence of president Ted Folds, vice-president Homer Walters presided and introduced the speakers, who were thanked by Dr. E. E. McQuean and Arthur Hamblin.

Town to Have New Fire Truck Costing $14,000

PICTON — This town is to have a new and modern fire truck at a cost of around $14,000. From four tenders, town council's fire department committee accepted that of the Thibault Co. of Montreal. The new truck is to be early rated as a 500-gallon-a-minute pumper and is equipped with a 500-gallon storage tank. Delivery is expected early in June. The new outfit replaces a truck used for the past twenty years. This will be retained, due to low trade-in value and might eventually play a part in civil defence.

District Deputy Pays Official Visit to Lodge

PICTON — Rt. Wor. Bro. Hubert B. McConnell, Brighton, District Deputy Grand Master for Prince Edward District, was welcomed by seventy members of Prince Edward Lodge, No. 74, A.F. and A.M., on the occasion of his official visit to Picton. A banquet was held in the Presbyterian Church hall. Wor. Bro. Clifford Wilson, W.M., was an able chairman.

Toast to Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, was proposed by V. Wor. Bro. Gerald Ackerman with response by the DDGM. Toast to the visitors was proposed by Bro. John Graydon with Rt. Wor. Bro. Charles Lennox, Belleville, responding.

Thieves went to a lot of trouble, but received no reward, some time Monday night. Quinte Milk Products plant office at Wellington was entered. Entrance was gained by smashing the glass in a window, two-by-three feet. A door leading to the vault room was locked and the thieves smashed a large section of a partition, using a large iron bar. Whether they were frightened off or they found the vault more formidable than expected is not known but they departed empty handed.

Six weeks ago the same office was similarly entered and office equipment valued at $100 taken. This was recovered the following day in a ditch near Trenton.

INFLUENTIAL VOICE

Second most influential man in British politics now that Sir Winston Churchill has retired is Richard A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer. He is regarded by many as being as powerful a voice in the Conservative party as Sir Anthony Eden. — Central Press Canadian.

Warns Polio Not Yet Beaten

GENEVA (Reuters) — Dr. Anthony Payne, virus diseases expert of the World Health Organization, warned Wednesday, in the wake of the announced success of the Salk vaccine, that "poliomyelitis is not yet beaten."

Payne said there are "sound reasons to believe that poliomyelitis will be beaten in a few years," but added:

"Poliomyelitis is not yet beaten. We do not know how long the effect of the (Salk) vaccine lasts, we do not know if it will work in infants, we do not know if it will be effective under other conditions than those in which it was used —we do not know how best to use it."

Hunters, Fishermen in West Want Farmers for Friends

CALGARY (CP) — Hunters and fishermen here, as in other areas, want farmers for friends.

Fish and game associations in western Canada consistently try to educate members to respect farmers' rights in their land. Complaints have been registered in the past about some hunters' disrespect for farm property. A movement now is starting ashore to the farmers.

The Calgary Fish and Game Association has drafted a resolution to be forwarded to the Alberta legislature which would protect the rights of farmers.

The resolution asks that farmers be asked to post signs outlining the conditions under which sportsmen will be allowed to enter their land. Other provisions ask that the farmer post his name and registered number, entitling him to close the land to sportsmen at certain times of the year.

One fish and game group here has proposed that the club sign up for a $10,000 public liability insurance policy to provide protection to farmers for property loss caused by sportsmen. Hunters would carry cards bearing their names and addresses. These would be given to farmers who give permission to hunt on the land.

Bern in Polpero, Cornwall, England, Mr. Spargo started in conservation as assistant to the inspector of Alberta fisheries in 1921. He was director of fisheries when he resigned in 1946. He has been active in fish and game organizations since 1926.

Members say Mr. Spargo has been a major factor in making the Alberta association the largest of its kind in Canada. One of his desires is formation of a Canada-wide fish and game group.

A key man for Ducks Unlimited in Canada, he had a part in forming the North American group and was one of the first to use the phrase "Ducks Unlimited."

Much of Mr. Spargo's time is spent speaking to organizations on the Prairies. He lectures on conservation and illustrates his ideas with his own picture slides and two films, "Hunting with Camera" and "We Give You Fish."

Mr. Spargo tries to win over junior sportsmen as well as adults. He has advocated formation of junior groups and has drawn up and edited a code of ethics for young sportsmen.

Says TV Poses New Problem For Education

TORONTO (CP)—Television was characterized Tuesday as a levitan which could swallow and digest Man, its creator.

The dean of the University of Toronto's faculty of arts, M. St. A. Woodside, addressing the supervising and training department of the Ontario Educational Association, called television "probably the single most potent cultural influence which has yet been developed by man's technological enterprise."

He said he is not organizing a campaign against television, but whatever its future, it presents a problem for all levels of education.

To future historians, he said, the 20th century will appear to have been a time when people stopped reading and began looking exclusively at pictures.

Dean Woodside said that by learning to read, there is at least a chance that during the time it takes, the learner will come into contact with what is intellectually strong and honest.

"There is no assurance of such a hope, when one's mental pabbum is to be pictures," he said.

"... A steady diet of comics or western films will not induce the average child to seek refuge from trash, which he does not recognize as trash, in the works of Shakespeare or Robert Louis Stevenson."

Control Export Of Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Wednesday slapped export controls on the Salk polio vaccine.

The commerce department said the controls will be maintained until production of the vaccine is sufficient to meet both anticipated domestic and foreign demands.

Under the control system, licences will be required for any shipment abroad except to Canada.

TALLULAH SICK, SHOW STOPS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Actress Tallulah Bankhead's sudden illness Tuesday night forced "Dear Charles," the play in which she was appearing at the American Theatre, to be stopped after the first act.

ATLANTIC SURVIVOR

Capt. Robert Hatfield, 47, skipper of the fishing vessel Irma and Rog II, rowed with his crew of four for 100 miles through the freezing North Atlantic after their ship sank off Nova Scotia. They brought their dory to shore at an isolated point near Liverpool, N.S. Capt. Hatfield was released from hospital after treatment for exposure. The other four also were treated for various injuries (CP Photo).

Ore Carrier Opens Season At Sault Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — The 1955 navigation season officially opened Tuesday with the passage of the Enders M. Voorhees through the Sault locks, bound for Two Harbors, Minn., for a cargo of iron ore.

The passage of the Voorhees launched the observance of the 100th anniversary of the locks and was welcomed by a delegation of 125 marine and civic officials. Capt. W. T. Simmons was presented with a plaque signifying that his was the first boat of the centennial year. The chief engineer was presented a box of cigars and cigarets were handed to the crew.

The Voorhees was ushered into the harbor by the sound of factory whistles, car horns, sirens and a high school band.

The icebreaker MacKinaw also locked up into Whitefish bay Tuesday to clear a path through the ice for the Voorhees. The MacKinaw will remain in the bay until ice conditions loosen and ships can pass through without assistance.

Telling of her experience with Syntona, Miss Marjorie Dickie, 18 Bath St., London, Ontario, said recently: "After being rundown and suffering from indigestion for a long time, I have found Syntona to be the greatest medicine I ever used.
"Many people who suffer as I did will know how badly I felt all the time. I would have a bad headache almost every morning and a nervous dizziness that was sickening. Often my nerves were so on edge I couldn't sleep at night.
"But Syntona has really been wonderful for me. I am now able to eat three meals a day without having to worry as my food down. All that distress in my stomach is relieved and my nerves are calmed down so I sleep better all night and as a result feel refreshed and rested in the morning."

CAMPBELLFORD

Proposed Well Is Discussed By Commission

CAMPBELLFORD — The Public Utilities Commission met in the council chambers for their regular meeting, and much the discussion centred around the proposed well digging project, which will assure the town a supply of water better than that which it now receives from the Trent River.

A contract for the drilling of a ten-inch well has been let to C. J. Fraser, well driller of Marmora. Mr. Fraser was to be at the meeting to discuss the project, but as he was unable to attend, it was decided to hold a meeting at the call of the chairman at a later date. Work on the well will likely get under way immediately.

A special meeting will be held to discuss the proposed new switchboard at the town power plant.

A request was received from the board of the public and separate schools, asking the playgrounds be lighted in order that the children could use the facilities after dark. The commission estimated that it would cost $1,200 to light the grounds, and on motion of Commissioners Newman and Meeres, the matter was laid over until a future meeting, in order that the board can study costs and receive more information.

The board authorized the purchase of a welding machine at a cost of $100.

The manager was requested to contact the department of public health for information and advice relative to the proposed well project.

A request for $25 per month salary increase by Ernest Archer to the maintenance department caused some discussion. Commissioner A. J. Meyers made a motion that the increase be granted, but there was no seconder for his motion, and no action was taken.

Agency to Direct Control Of Marketing Hogs in Ont. Established by Producers

GUELPH (CP)—A co-operative agency to direct and control the marketing of hogs in Ontario was set up here Wednesday. It was established by the Ontario Hog Producers Association and marketing board.

"History in Ontario agriculture has been made here today," declared several speakers.

While a direct statement was not made, it was understood that the new co-operative would take the place of the United Livestock Sales organization which has been handling the association's products for the last two years.

ENDS NEXT MONTH

The association's agreement with ULS ends at the end of May and association officials, refusing to be directly quoted, said that the new co-operative would take over from ULS "with the least possible friction."

Formation of the co-operative now sees the association with three separate sections. There is the association proper, the co-operative and the association's marketing board.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to keep the association in existence.

Association president C. W. Minnis of Iroquois said it was more than likely that within a year there would be a country-wide support of the new agency. The strongest possible publicity would be needed to combat "those who, in their own interests, oppose this plan" said Mr. Minnis. He urged that the association be kept in being to provide this election "machinery."

BOARD ELECTED

The decision to set up a co-operative was made at the association's annual meeting early in March. At that time a seven-man marketing board was elected to fill seven of the 21 directorships of the co-operative.

The seven directors chosen were A. Rintoul of Lanark county, W. E. Tummon, Hastings, Charles Newton, Simcoe, W. I. Bishop, Oxford, Norm McLeod, Waterloo, Elfred Allen, Bruce, Clayton Fry, Lambton. The four directors elected by open nomination were Charles McInnis, Dundas, C. A. Milligan, Lennox and Addington, Wes Hagwood, Grey and Lance Dickieson, Wellington.

R. E. Harris, legal adviser to the association, reported on the regulations governing the co-operative which will be presented to Lieutenant - Governor Breithaupt for approval. Most of the provisions contained in the regulations had governed the actions of the ULS for the last three years, but there had been nothing in the regulations to say so.

OUTLINE REGULATIONS

These regulations specify that the co-operative shall:

Direct and control the marketing of hogs, the times and places at which hogs may be marketed.

Specify the quality, grade and class of hogs to be marketed or to prohibit the marketing of any size, grade or class of hog;

Fix price or prices to be paid to the producers.

Impose a service charge for the handling of hogs and to pay the producers for their hogs within a definite time period.

Other regulations designed to stimulate marketing have been drafted for the marketing board.

Mr. Harris said it was his understanding the scheme would not apply to hogs sold retail.

GOING TO OTTAWA

The legal adviser added that Canada appeared to be on the threshold of co-operation between the provinces and the Dominion government on the marketing of various farm products. Mr. Harris will be going to Ottawa shortly with Premier Frost's delegation to the Dominion-provincial talks.

Association members thanked the Ontario government for having requested amendments to the Farm Products Marketing Act.

W. E. Hamilton, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Wellington South and a minister without portfolio, said hog producers would have to be tolerant and patient in the co-operative's early days. They should not jettison the scheme because it did not immediately accomplish all that was expected of it.

J. Kohler, general manager of ULS, hinted at difficulties which ULS had faced and said: "I get bitter when I realize the efforts made to interfere with normal supply and demand establishments and how effective they would have been in your case if there had been no sales agency at all."

OPEN HOSPITAL

TORONTO (CP) — Medical services previously available only to veterans and industrial workers in Toronto now are available to the general public in a streamlined orthopedic hospital. The $25,000, 50-bed building was opened Wednesday by Health Minister Phillips of Ontario.

Police Capture One of Fugitives From Asylum

RENFREW, Ont. (CP)—Ontario Provincial Police early today recaptured one of two inmates who escaped from a New Toronto mental hospital Tuesday night.

John Hanniman, 25, of Dacre, Ont., some 15 miles west of this Ottawa river valley town, was taken into custody by three OPP constables as he sat in his brother's car shortly after getting off a train in Renfrew.

Still at large is Arthur Hooey, 25, of Owen Sound, convicted of manslaughter in a 1948 knifing of a school pal and described by police as "violently dangerous."

Hanniman, who they said is not dangerous, wired a sister to send him money to the Union station in Toronto. The sister wired the money and notified a brother, Raymond, in Dacre that John said he had been released.

Raymond, expecting John to come home, met the train there shortly after midnight and took him to the car, where the OPP, whom Raymond previously had notified, took John into custody. He was held in jail overnight pending instructions from the mental hospital.

Police said Hanniman told them Hooey escaped shortly before he did and had disappeared by the time he got out.

Cobalt Bomb Will Be Placed In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — This city's first cobalt bomb for the treatment of cancer is being installed at the new Montreal General Hospital.

Considerable installation work remains to be done and treatment with the unit, equivalent to 3,000,000 volts of x-ray, will begin sometime this summer after the capsule of radioactive Cobalt 60 is brought from Chalk River, Ont., and inserted into the one-top head of the machine.

Gift of J. W. McConnell, prominent business man and publisher, the apparatus is located in a large room deep in the basic rock of Mount Royal, on which the hospital stands.

French Canada Now Favoring Seaway Project

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Pierre Camu of Montreal said Wednesday there has been a substantial swing of French-Canadian opinion away from its traditional opposition to the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Addressing the Ontario Geographical Teachers' Association, Dr. Camu traced the swing away from the strong opposition that raged in the 1920s and 1930s.

The change began in 1951 when Quebec began to reassess the effect on its economy, he said. The swing has been mainly to a neutral position.

Dr. Camu said the public attitude now is: "What shall we gain?" instead of "What shall we lose?" by building the seaway.

Toronto Firebug Sets 13 Blazes In Automobiles

TORONTO (CP) — Fires were started in 13 automobiles here Wednesday night by a firebug with an apparent grudge against motor cars.

Police and firemen were hard pressed, despite the brightly-lighted trail he left through the Bloor-Bay section of mid-central Toronto.

Some of the cars was badly damaged. One man was picked up but later released.

Police believe the firebug is the same man who has struck at cars several times during the spring. He seems to have a particular grudge against the more expensive late models.

DEVELOP NEW VACCINE

CHICAGO (AP)—Scientists at the Michael Reese Research Foundation said Wednesday they may be ready within nine months to report on a new polio vaccine. Dr. Albert Wolf said it differs from the Salk vaccine in that live polio virus is killed by a bombardment of ultraviolet light rays generated by mercury quartz lamps. In the Salk method, the live virus is killed with formaldehyde.

Canadians Ask for New Support Program at Parley

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Proposals by Canadian agriculture for a new price support program in the Dominion drew interest at Wednesday's closing session of a two-day meeting of North American farm leaders.

Discussion centred around a plan by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture for price props for six major crops ranging from 65 to 85 per cent of so-called parity. The proposal was recently placed before the Canadian cabinet at Ottawa by a CFA delegation.

Canadian delegates explained the plan to Wednesday's meeting, attended by North American representatives of the International Federation of Agriculture Producers. The meeting considered the North American approach to the world IFAP conference in Rome in September.

The Canadians said they were not seeking an "incentive price" support program, such as exists in the United States, but one that would prevent losses by farmers. The U.S. program, by guaranteeing government purchase of farm surpluses if they fall to move at prices equal to the government's 90-per-cent support, acts as an incentive to all-out production.

Australian delegates expressed admiration for the operations of the Canadian wheat board and said Canadians appeared to have an "edge" attitude toward the handling of the sale of grains.

Study also was given to the U.S. policy of offering surplus commodities on the world market under competitive bids. The U.S. has called for offers on oats, barley, dry whey, linseed oil, cottonseed oil, grain sorghums, rye and butter. World farm leaders have maintained this policy is bound to undermine world prices.

Islands of British West Indies Being Forged Into Links For Stout Commonwealth Chain

By RON EVANS

LONDON (CP) — Eight sun-baked colonies — the sugar- and-spice islands of the British West Indies — are being forged into links for the stout Commonwealth chain.

These tropical territories, water-strung through 1,500 miles from Cuba to the sloping shoulder of South America, have agreed to unite in a British Caribbean federation. They have drawn up a 30-page blueprint for union and British experts are busy fashioning federal machinery which will bring about 3,000,000 West Indians under a central, semi - independent government.

The latest guess is that federation will be achieved late in 1958.

EVENTUAL AUTONOMY

Jamaica, the Leeward Islands, Grenada, St. Vincent, St. Lucia, Dominica, Barbados and Trinidad-Tobago meanwhile are steadily grooming themselves for a place in partnership with Canada and the other members of the British family of nations. Eventual autonomy within the Commonwealth will cap for the West Indians, most of them descendants of West African slaves, a 400 - year history under Spanish, Dutch, French and British rule.

Colonial leaders hope unity will spell prosperity. Behind the federations lies the realization that social and economic progress, on a large even survival, depends on co-operation.

The federal system when introduced will bring into the western hemisphere's new state, which will be a governor-general, a 13-member senate and a 45-member elected house of representatives. Emphasis, however, will be on the member states, not on the central government.

BRITISH AID

In place of a cabinet, the main instrument of government will be a 14-member council of state. This will include the prime minister, seven members of the House or Senate, three officials appointed by the governor - general and four senators appointed by the governor-general-in-council.

The federation, with headquarters at first at St. George's on the tiny mountainous island of Grenada, will not be immediately independent. Control of defence, finance and external affairs will remain with Britain. And entrance to the Commonwealth will come gradually, as in the case of all colonies approaching self-government.

The British government has granted £500,000 to help set up federal headquarters and about £3,000,000 more to put the federation on its feet over the next 10 years. Site of the permanent federal capital is yet to be decided.

The march towards federation has been slow and has met with considerable opposition within the bodies. Four colonies — British Honduras on the Central American mainland, British Guiana on the South American coast, Bermuda and the Bahamas — have decided not to join. They prefer to wait and watch the federation's progress. The way has been left open for them to enter the union later.

ECONOMIC NECESSITY

Some leaders in Trinidad and Jamaica, both relatively prosperous colonies, argued that federation would sap their economic strength as they were forced to help support weaker neighbors.

The decision that all members shall contribute 15 per cent of their customs revenue toward support of the federal government has helped overcome these objections.

The islands depend for their income on agricultural exports, mainly rum, sugar, molasses and bananas, and in recent years the terms of trade have turned against the colonies. Linked with the sterling area, they have felt the pinch following devaluation of the pound in September, 1949.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

The colonies must import much of their food, textiles and other goods from dollar countries and the cost of living is high. Living conditions are generally depressed throughout the Indies. Most West Indians are employed on the sugar plantations at low rates and many are poorly housed in tin - roof shacks.

The need for co-operation has become obvious. There must be joint action to win favorable prices for exports; to promote fullest use of the land both for more food and more exports; and to encourage foreign capital investment.

Much has already been achieved through regional planning on such problems as uniform currency, shipping, social welfare and, most recently, inter-island migration.

FINAL STEPS

First suggestion that the islands seriously consider the subject of a British Caribbean federation was offered in 1945 by the late Oliver Stanley, then colonial secretary. West Indian leaders met two years later at Montego Bay, Jamaica, and agreed to set up a committee to examine the matter.

A plan for federation was approved at a London conference in April, 1953, and the individual legislatures have since ratified the agreement.

The plan was further advanced at a conference on migratory matters in Trinidad this spring. The next move, as announced by Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, is for the British government to set up three commissions to work out financial judicial and civil service arrangements. When these commissions have completed their work, a final plan will be drawn up and submitted to another West Indian conference. Colonial office officials are hopeful the conference may be called late this year or early in 1956.

When the final plan is adopted, the British Parliament will be asked to pass legislation setting up the federation.

'Skeleton' Found Alive in City

TORONTO (CP)—Provincial police said Wednesday the identification of the skeleton of a woman found near Collingwood last fall as that of Mrs. Hazel Kaminski of Windsor Centre near Simcoe was wrong.

They said Mrs. Kaminski, missing from her home since February 1954, is living in Toronto.

Police said they talked with Mrs. Kaminski Wednesday afternoon.

Police in Collingwood said earlier Joseph Kaminski was "almost positive" in his identification of the reconstructed skeleton as his wife's.

Appeal Court Reduces Sentence For Robbery

TORONTO (CP) — Joseph Glen Lotharp, 28, of Detroit, who said he wanted "to thank Canada for a fair trial" when sentenced to 15 years for a robbery in which two persons were killed, Wednesday had his sentence reduced to eight years.

Lotharp and Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N.Y., were jointly convicted of murder in the slaying of Bruce Beatty, 67, Simcoe service station operator. Mrs. Ida Beatty died later of injuries received in the robbery.

Lotharp's appeal was upheld when it was shown he had not taken part in the savage beating given to the couple, nor had any knowledge of it. Simmons later was hanged.

The Ontario Appeal Court today decided the robbery sentence was excessive. It was Lotharp's first offence.

Electric Workers Accept Terms

GUELPH (CP) — Canadian General Electric Co. transformer workers Wednesday night voted 205 to 69 to accept an eight-cents-an-hour pay increase and $70 in back pay. The increase is the $1.25 hourly rate becomes effective midnight Sunday. The United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers Union (Ind.) originally demanded a 15-cent hourly increase and $40 in back pay.

Acceptance of the offer brings the Guelph workers in line with the master union agreement covering the Toronto CGE plants and one at Peterborough.

Will Set Up Special Panel

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Phillips of Ontario today announced he will set up a panel of experts to study the problem of sexual psychiatric psychopaths. He said Dr. Kenneth Gray, medico-legal expert, will be invited to act as chairman.

The minister promised co-operation with the Parents' Action League, an organization started by three Toronto housewives. The league is seeking Canada - wide support in a campaign to protect women and children from sex criminals.

Dr. Phillips said he will investigate the possibility of launching a research institute under sponsorship of the league.

Second Blizzard Sweeps Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Earth reeled to a standstill by the second spring blizzard within 30 days, Wyoming heaved from under a smothering blanket of snow Wednesday.

As the two-day assault ended, the storm spread southward across the plains into Texas and Oklahoma.

Highway crews worked overtime in Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska to clear roads. The soggy mass drifted in some spots higher than the automobiles it stalled by the score.

All motorists marooned in cars in Wyoming and Colorado were rescued late Tuesday, with the exception of about 100 persons stranded near Rockport, Colo., 35 miles south of here. They were believed safe as rotary plows crunched slowly into the area.

Sicilian Storm Balks Churchill

SYRACUSE, Sicily (AP)—April thirteen brought bad luck to an eager amateur artist who came here in search of a sunny palette's paradise.

During Sir Winston Churchill's first night in Villa Politi, overlooking this 2,500 - year - old Sicilian town's historic harbor, a terrific thunder and rainstorm burst down from snow-capped Mount Etna. Intermittent rain continued today and skies were grey. The forecast: no improvement within 36 hours.

"Il Vecchio Winnie"—Old Winnie, as Italians call him—stayed comfortable inside his private apartment in the hotel. Employees said he got up late this morning and, after one look at the weather, showed no sign of venturing forth.

A spokesman said that besides "a lot of painting," Churchill plans to spend some time editing "The History of the English-Speaking Peoples," which he began writing before the war.

True Bill Returned

EDMUNDSTON, N.B. (CP)—After deliberating nearly four hours a grand jury in the Madawaska circuit court Tuesday returned a true bill in the case of Mrs. Lina Thibodeau, 36, charged with murdering her husband, Joseph Thibodeau, 38, last November.

While the grand jury deliberated, defence counsel J. A. Pichette made a motion to have five newspapers and an individual cited for contempt of court. He alleged interference with the administration of justice because of newspaper publicity given to the inquest and preliminary hearing last November.

Newspapers named were the Saint John Telegraph - Journal, Fredericton Daily Gleaner, L'Evangeline of Moncton, Le Soleil of Quebec City and The Cataract of Grand Falls, N.B., the latter a weekly. Also named was Audrey Stevenson of Edmundston, a Telegraph-Journal correspondent.

Chief Justice J. E. Michaud set next Tuesday as the time for hearing the motion.

Little Benny's Notebook

Me and Fuds Simkins are the 2 secret members of the Fortin Intrigues, and today in school we were giving each other private information by talking the deff and dum language with our fingers, and Miss Kitty caught us, saying, Boys who go so clever with their hands should be given an opportunity to use them for a useful purpose. The class is now dismissed, except for Benny and Charles, who will remain and clean off the blackboards while I mark the spelling papers, she said.

Benny sed never, and after school me and Fuds started to clean off the big middle blackboard with blackboard erasers, starting at different ends when Miss Kitty stayed at her desk with her back turned marking the papers, and I took a piece of chalk and smuck over Fuds's side of the blackboard and wrote, The master spy a shadow-ing it, brewer.

And I smuck back again and Fuds quick rubbed off the secret message and smuck over to my side and wrote, Dont worry, I see through his dickize, all is well.

And he smuck back and I hurry up rubbed it off again and I smuck over to his side and started to write another secret message, being, Bring the papers at midnight, and the chalk screeked and I quick got it down and started to erase as fast as anything and so did Fuds, and Miss Kitty turned around, saying, For goodness sake you haven't made any progress at all, and what do you mean by practically standing on each others toes?

We happened to pick out the same spot, I said, and Miss Kitty said, Then you'll happen to both go and sit down on opposite sides of the room till I finish these papers.

Which we did, being less fun.

Chiang and Wife Make Six-Hour Visit to Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Units of the United States 7th Fleet, including the Essex, were alert for rescue operations if anything had happened to President Chiang Kai-shek's plane during his trip Tuesday to and from Quemoy, official American sources said Wednesday.

The ships were ready to help if for any reason the plane came down in the Strait of Formosa.

President and Mme. Chiang made the trip to and from Quemoy, only six miles from the Communist island port of Amoy, near the mainland, in the generalissimo's private plane.

During the 6½ hours the couple spent at Quemoy the Reds did not fire a single shell against the island.

Chiang's visit appeared to back Nationalist assertions that they will fight to defend Quemoy, largest and strongest of the Nationalist's hold offshore islands, and the Matsu group 180 miles up the coast.

Porter in West To Purchase Gas

EDMONTON (CP) — Attorney-General Dana Porter of Ontario said Tuesday Ontario is faced with the prospect of requiring a vast increase in power energy sources in the next 12 or 13 years and wants to buy Alberta natural gas.

Mr. Porter said in an interview he came here at the request of Premier Manning of Alberta to discuss certain aspects of the Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd. project. Under this project, gas would be supported from Alberta to eastern markets by an all-Canadian route, 2,300 miles in length.

Mr. Porter said there has not been any suggestion to the Ontario government that it should support the Trans-Canada Company's project with a financial guarantee.

"We have never considered it," he said.

Expressing his personal opinion, he said he felt certain that within 10 years an all - Canadian line through northern Ontario would pay for itself.

IN RETROSPECT

The news that Sarnia will meet the Kingston Goodyears for the OHA senior "B" championship brought a flood of memories to hockey oldtimers of this city. Not so much the name "Goodyears" as that of the Oilmen because it will be the first (if they win) title they have garnered since that memorable series against Belleville intermediates way back in 1916.

That was a wild, weird and woolly series for the Ontario intermediate championship, the finish of which left Belleville hockey fandom stunned, aghast and flabbergasted.

After the first game of the two fray—goals-to-count series which Belleville won 14-3 (get it?)—it looked like a romp for the Men of Mairs—a Citation-milk-horse duel. It seemed so far "in the bag" it was wearing a hole in the bottom.

But many things were changed before, during and after the second clash in Sarnia. Two of the biggest changes were the score, Sarnia 14, Belleville 4—and large, juicy chunks of that green lettuce that rab bits won't eat. Yup, Oilmen walloped our laddies by that score to win the round 19-18 and gallop off with the title.

Many strange stories were circulated in the period following the game. Belleville fans talked about ill for years afterwards. It was unbelievable that a team that could thump another 14-3 in one game should go into a reversal of form that saw the foemen thrash them by a 14-4 count a few days later. It was a rabbit-and-tortoise race that was thought to be confined to kiddies' story books.

But that's the way it was. Maybe it was one of the reasons that shortly after came the goals-to-count series idea passed into oblivion and the games-to-count series came into being.

Members of the Belleville team of that series were: goal, Bus Conley; defence, Benny Whitton, Bill Symons; rover (it was seven-man hockey in those Kaiser William days), Bull Pinkie Gilmour, Ted Whalen; wings, Sammy Symons and Johnny Mitchell.

The manager was one Brock Sheery, who later took the team to the United States to play an exhibition game and while there decided to enter a protest on the ground that a Sarnia player named Hillman was ineligible to play because of a breach of the residence rule. (They had that in those days, too.) The protest was thrown out because of lack of evidence. The referee of the second game was one named Cook and when the mode of transportation of players was reported to be "a no-good so-and-so," a "boomer," a man without parents, home or country, and the usual non-de-fames which are the lot of the luckless arbiters.

Ah, "them were the days" when the boys were not averse to a little skullduggery. "Cyclone" Taylor told us once, after being informed we hailed from Belleville, that he played here at one time under an assumed name, when he was a member of Ottawa's famed Silver Seven.

"In fact," laughed "Cyclone," "as of the moment there are only two people aware of the fact. You and me. The man that brought me to Belleville is dead."

But that is water under the culvert.

Kingston and Sarnia clash in their first of seven series in the Oilfown on Friday, April 15, with the second game in Sarnia the following night. The team play in Kingston, Saturday, April 16, Monday, April 25, and Tuesday, April 26. The other games, if necessary, are slated for Sarnia, April 29 and 30.

According to Kingston reports, Sarnia held out for a three-of-five series with the first two games on their ice, and the next three in Kingston. The Goodyears did not exactly agree, figuring that if these Sarnians were exceptionally good they might wrap up the series in three games which would give the Kingston faithful but one chance to see the teams in action. So they rose on their argumentative hind legs and when the smoke of debate had disappeared, emerged victors of the tonsil tiraid.

Not forgetting the fact that a team must be of fine quality to reach the championship series heights, nor that the Sarnia squad is reported to be young, fast and extremely capable, having played as a unit since junior days, we recall a prediction that the toughest opposition the Goodyears would meet in the quest for the goafalon, was the Belleville Mcmen. The limb cracked slightly when Orillia took a two-game lead over the Goodyears, but regained necessary four games later. We'll pick the Goodies four games to a pair. You're welcome, Michael.

MAY BE TELECAST

There is a possibility that the Canadien-Red Wings Stanley Cup game may be televised in its entirety starting at 8.30 over the CBC network tonight, a CBC official said today.

PROTEST UPHELD

Point Anne has been ordered by the OHA to replay the two games with Becton in the intermediate "C" semi-finals. The OHA upheld the Becton protest regarding the eligibility of players Hurst and Letman under the residence rules. The Pointers won the games, by decisive scores. The first game is scheduled for Becton Saturday night and the second for Marmora Monday night. Bates will play in the nets for Point Anne.

Incidentally they defeated Marmora 7-2 last night to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven TVL finals. The fifth game will be played tomorrow night in Marmora.

TWO SURVIVE

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two members of the touring Ontario Provincial Lawn Bowling Association move into the second flight quarter-finals doubles today in the combined mid-winter and southern California championship events. Kenneth Wadsworth and Charles Loomis of Toronto survived from a field of nine teams entered by the Ontario association in doubles play.

INDIANS SELL HOOPER

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs Wednesday night bought right-handed pitcher Bob Hooper from Cleveland Indians. General manager Gabe Paul did not disclose the purchase price. Hooper, a 25-year-old native of Leamington, Ont., pitched 33 innings in 17 games with Cleveland last year but had no won-and-lost record.

Champions Fail to Touch Ace Until Late in Ninth Frame; Ford Allows Two in 19-1 Rout

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It couldn't have been a worse day for pitchers if the hitters had ordered it special. But Robin Roberts and Whitey Ford shrugged off the inclement stuff.

In Philadelphia it was dreary and rainy, yet Roberts no-hit the world champion New York Giants for 8 1-3 innings Wednesday before getting tagged for three hits and two runs. The Phils' righthanded ace still claimed a 4-3 victory, however, in the National League opener for both clubs.

And in New York, with temperatures in the 40s, Ford allowed Philadelphia just two singles as the Yankees brawled into the American League season with a 19-1 rout of the Athletics.

SMALL CROWD

At Brooklyn the smallest opening day crowd in a quarter of a century—6,702—practically shivered while the Dodgers and Carl Erskine beat Pittsburgh 6-1 in the only other National League game scheduled.

In the American, Detroit's Tigers, who welcomed Kansas City into the league graciously on Tuesday, turned around and clubbed the Athletics 10-2.

In Philadelphia, it was just another chapter in Roberts' frustrating chare of a no-hit, no-run game. He's been doing it in fantastic fashion thus fir. At Cincinnati last May 24, Roberts had to be greeted by a leadoff home run by Bobby Adams—then retired the next 27 men to the side in fa.

Ford had a more relaxed afternoon than Roberts and found time to drive in four runs on three singles, Ford walked five but fanned eight. He would have had a shutout except for a balk when he slipped from the mound in the sixth with a runner on third.

POTENT ATTACK

The Yanks teed off on starter Maury McDermott and three relievers for their most potent attack since beating Washington 23-1 on Aug. 12, 1953. Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron homered in the Yank romp.

Brooklyn's victory was in doubt until the seventh when a five-run rally broke a 1-1 tie. Junior Gilliam led it off with a homer and Carl Furillo capped it with a three-run blast.

Detroit smacked the A's for four runs off loser Arnie Portocarrero in the third and five off Ed Burtschy in the sixth. Harvey Kuenn homered and doubled for the Tigers.

Tony Percy Meets McFater

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian welterweight champion Tony Percy of Drummondville, Que., will meet Alan McFater of Toronto in a title fight here April 26, it was announced Wednesday night.

In announcing the bout, matchmaker Deacon Allen said sanction has been received from both the Canadian Boxing Federation and the Ontario athletic commissioner.

It will be the third fight for the 23-year-old McFater since returning to the ring after time out for education. He kept in training during his studies and is expected to weigh 140 pounds at fight time.

Percy, 21, won the crown last November from Johnny Greco of Montreal shortly before the latter was killed in a car accident.

Russ Referees Blamed for Loss Of World Title

MOSCOW (AP)—A high Soviet sports official has blasted the whistle on Russian referees in assessing the blame for his country's defeat by Canada in this year's world hockey tournament.

A. Tarasov, a Merited Master of Sport, says Soviet referees are so strict in punishing rough play that Russians competing abroad are unprepared for the more lenient standards that prevail in other countries.

"We can no longer tolerate such one-sided, unqualified referees and officials," Tarasov writes in the newspaper, Soviet Sport. "They do a lot of damage to Soviet hockey."

Reviewing Russia's loss to Preston Vs. of the world title they recaptured from Toronto East York in 1954, Tarasov is critical of Russian training methods.

He urges that "our physical culture and sports committees seriously develop ice hockey on a wide mass scale," that coaching improve and that more hockey equipment be provided.

DEBATE ROUGH PLAY

But the chief argument is in favor of a more robust style of play.

"Rough play is not new for us. We have always played and know what it is but we never use it. Actually roughness is necessary, especially on defence."

Western observers during the West German hockeyfest found the Russians fast, well conditioned and accomplished in well-drilled play although somewhat rigid pattern of pass plays. But the Soviet players showed poor body-to-body checking, legal under European rules in a team's defensive zone.

Penticton's effective use of the bodycheck was a decisive factor in the Vs' 5-4 win over the Russians in the final game.

Kingston-Sarnia Playoff Dates

Dates were released yesterday for the O.H.A. Senior "B" championship series between the Kingston Goodyears and the Sarnia Sailors, the first two games in Sarnia on Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

Sarnia, while arranging for the series, approached Kingston with a suggestion that the series be a home-and-home affair with the first two games in the Western Ontario city. The Goodyears management however demanded the usual best-of-seven series.

Should the first two games in Sarnia, there will be a week's rest before the Sailors return to the Limestone City. The third game will be on Saturday, April 23rd, the fourth on Monday, the 25th and the fifth Tuesday, the 26th, all in Kingston.

Should the sixth and seventh games be necessary, they will be played in Sarnia on Friday, April 29th and Saturday, April 30th.

The Goodyears earned their way into the finals by routing the Orillia Pontiacs four games to two, while Sarnia took four games to one from Dundas.

Dutchies Coach Foresees Tough Hockey Grind

KITCHENER (CP) — Although Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen hold a 3-1 edge in games in their best-of-seven eastern Canada Allan Cup finals, Kitchener coach Bob Bauer figures his team faces a tough grind if it hopes to advance to the Canadian championships.

Bauer based his belief on the 6-0 trouncing handed the Dutchmen by Moncton Hawks Tuesday night which provide tough competition now that the team has won a game, Bauer feels. The fifth game of the series will be played here tonight.

Buzzy Hillyard, playing coach of the Hawks, said "it was about time we hit our stride." McNeil predicted before Tuesday's game that the Hawks wouldn't go down in four straight. He conceded then that Kitchener would probably win the series.

ONE AT A TIME

"The win may have changed his thinking but he isn't saying.

"We'll play them one at a time," he said.

Turning to his own team, Bauer said the Dutchmen let down in the fourth game. "We were too relaxing," he said.

All both teams have been lucky as far as injuries go so far in the series.

The eastern champion will play either Fort William Beavers or Vernon Canadians for the Allan Cup.

TRIBUTE TO FLATBUSH

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — This ancient city of culture Wednesday paid its supreme tribute to Brooklyn, N.Y. The name of the city's baseball club, which plays in the Italian Major League, was changed to "the Brooklyn-Florence Baseball Club."

Relegated to Eighth Batting Spot, Mild-Mannered Campy 'Blows Top'

BROOKLYN (AP)—Usually mild-mannered and even-tempered, Roy Campanella is steamed to a boiling point because manager Walter Alston has relegated him to eighth spot in the Brooklyn Dodger batting order.

The slugging catcher, who insists the troublesome left hand that ruined his 1954 season is completely healed, made no attempt to conceal his disgust as he talked about his demotion from the cleanup (fourth) spot for Wednesday's opening day game against Pittsburgh.

"That's fine encouragement he (Alston) is giving me," Campy growled, "sending me in to hit with the bat boy. That guy must think I'm a butcher with a bat. . . ."

He was pointed out that Campy had not exactly knocked down any fences during the spring training games, hitting only .235 with three home runs. This, following his poorest season in the majors in which his batting average dropped from .312 to .207 certainly was no strong recommendation for a fourth place hitter.

"Look," he exclaimed, "I know I'm not being hard-headed about this. I don't care what I hit in practice games. They don't mean anything. . . My hand is okay now. That's all that matters to me. I'll hit.

"All my playing days I've been hitting c'ther fourth, fifth or sixth. I never batted eighth even in the little leagues.

"I'm being wasted hitting just ahead of the pitcher. You know what's going to happen. Those pitchers are no dummies out there. They'll never give me a good ball to hit at with men in scoring position. They'll be crazy not to pitch to me with the pitcher up next."

P.S.: Campy got a hit in four at bats as the Brooks beat the Pirates 6-1.

Bobo Olson Ready For Crack At World Light Heavyweight Championship

Middleweight King Smashes Out Unanimous Ten-Round Decision Over Joey Maxim

By CHRIS EGGLESTONE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The "new" Bobo Olson, who picked up a unanimous ten-round decision and also pounds extra weight, is ready for a crack at the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

The Brazilian-born middleweight king, departing from his usual damaging body attack and switching to a savage overhand right to the head, floored Joey Maxim twice and was all over him from the opening bell Wednesday night as he won a unanimous 10-round decision at the Cow Palace.

A national audience watching the non-title fight on television saw all but the final round, which was set by a sub-station power failure here. A crowd announced at 13,215 paid $106,052.50 and checked wildly as Olson, a 3-1 favorite, pounded the 175-pound Maxim into submission.

HIT HARDER

Olson weighed 160 pounds, nine above his normal figure, but looked faster and hit harder than he did in his previous 20-straight tri-umphs. He is the first champion who concentrated on the body and beat Maxim's torso bright red, did he hurt the 33-year-old campaigner.

In the second round Maxim went down for an eight-count from two smashing rights to the head. In the ninth, Olson dropped Maxim flat and caught the tottering former light-heavyweight champion with a left to the jaw as he fell. This time Maxim was up at six.

"I was surprised when I knocked him down," the usually impassive Olson told reporters in his dressing room later. "I was so excited after I knocked him down the first time I didn't know what punches I threw the rest of the round."

ALSO SURPRISED

Maxim, who had only four times previously in his career covering more than 160 flights, said he was surprised, too, at Olson's hard punching.

"He hits harder than (Archie) Moore does at 175 pounds," said Maxim, who ought to know as the result of their three bouts in four years to the light - heavyweight championship. "He hits harder."

The chances of an Olson-Moore title fight are good, something that Sid Flaherty, Moore's middleweight king's manager.

"There's nothing definite on it yet, of course," Flaherty said, "but we'll have a few talks about it very shortly."

Strait Swim Is Postponed

VICTORIA (CP)—An unexpected wind shift late Wednesday forced 22-year-old Tacoma, Wash., resident Tom Strait to postpone his attempt to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca between here and Port Angeles, Wash.

Strait officials announced Thomas, who planned to set out across the chilling waters, would try at 9 p.m. Wednesday, has put off his try until tonight at 10 p.m.

Thomas is given another more chance to make his attempt. If the weather continues bad today—and the indications today were that it would—and he still cannot swim, there will be no favorable tides for about six weeks.

Cockell Will Try 'Belts' On Rocky's Nose

CHICAGO (AP)—"I'll give 'im a couple of belts on the nose and see if it's all right."

Rotund and compact Don Cockell of England gave that line when asked Wednesday what his plan of battle will be in his title match with wonderful heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano at San Francisco May 16.

Cockell, en route to his training camp at San Francisco where he was cautioned pointedly by sports writers on the subject of Marciano's tender nose:

"I've read a lot about it, I've heard a lot about it and I've wondered a lot about it," said the Negro-hating British Empire champion about Rocky's beak which was split dangerously in his last title defense against Ezzard Charles.

The beaky ex-blacksmith, who is generally remarked by veterans of some 73 pro fights, continued sarcastically:

"I've had the money he's supposed to have and had a nose as bad as his is supposed to be, I'd quit and enjoy my fortune."

Cataracts Whip Royals 4-2; Square Series

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP)—Goalie Bob Perreault got out of a sick bed Wednesday night and helped Royals to a pair of goals as Shawinigan Falls Cataracts squared the best-of-seven Quebec senior hockey finals with a 4-2 victory.

Perreault missed the first game of the series at Montreal Sunday with a virus infection. He still had not shaken it Wednesday night but went out to turn in a sound performance.

Connie Broden paced the Cataracts with a goal and a pair of assists. Newfoundlander George Faulkner, defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot and Guy Gosselin got the others to tie the series 2-1.

Al Dewsbury and Kelly Burnett scored for the Royals, both in the third period.

Sport in Brief

AUSSIES BEGIN BATTING

PORT OF SPAIN (Reuters)—Australia was 235 runs behind the West Indies with all its first-innings wickets intact at the halfway stage in the six-day second test here Wednesday.

Colin McDonald (80) and left-hander Arthur Morris (67), the Australian opening pair, had put on 147 without being separated when stumps were called.

Earlier, the West Indies had lost their five remaining wickets for 37 runs and were all out for 352.

ROSE ON WIMBLEDON TRAIL

MELBOURNE (AP) — Former Australian tennis champion Mervyn Rose left here Wednesday by air on a private six-month overseas tour. His main mission will be the Wimbledon title in England. Rose, who left with his wife Coral, sacrificed his chance of Davis Cup play in America because he would not sign a Lawn Tennis Association of Australia agreement preventing his wife accompanying him.

No Desire To Take Olympics From Melbourne

SYDNEY (AP)—"We have no desire to take the games away from Melbourne," says Avery Brundage's parting words. Melbourne's so left by plane for Manila.

The president of the International Olympic Committee kicked up a storm in his state-day visit to Australia by blasting what he called Melbourne's lagging preparations for the 1956 games.

In his last interview here, the American suffered his toes.

He said his attacks on Melbourne's construction was "past history" and something could be done.

"Let's get busy and do it all," he said. "We have no desire to take the games away from Melbourne."

Meanwhile, a showdown on the Games administration is expected when Brundage organizing committee meeting at Melbourne town hall Friday night.

Lord Mayor Councillor Selleck will lead a move to streamline the Olympic administration by urging firstly that a full time deputy chairman be appointed to the organizing committee and secondly that five business men be appointed to work with the present technical staff.

The amateur athletic officials on the committee may support the "businessmen in charge" move. But Brundage will be held behind closed doors.

Shallow Lake Takes Title

GODERICH (CP)—Shallow Lake shaded Ebenezer 6-5 Wednesday night to take the D series championship in the sixth annual Young Canada Week hockey tournament.

The victory means Shallow Lake will square off against the winner of the E series for the first game of the grand championship series Saturday. The B finals are tonight.

Jim Keller and Gerald Stanley paced Shallow Lake with two goals apiece. Cottell and Walt tallied for Ebenezer.

In B series games Wednesday, the Lucan entry defeated Port Perry 4-3 and downed Listowel 5-3, while Listowel edged Milverton 5-3.

In A series play, Newmarket trounced Simcoe 11-1 and Goderich defeated Preston 8-4. Goderich fired three goals and assisted on two others for Newmarket.

The tournament today highlights the A series finals and the first game in the AA series in which Winnipeg will meet Welland.

Sundridge Edges Walkerton 4-2

SUNDRIDGE (CP) — Sundridge Beavers defeated Walkerton Capitals 4-2 Wednesday night in the first game of their best-of-seven series for the all-Ontario intermediate B hockey title.

Second game of the series is scheduled for Walkerton Friday.

Sundridge opened the scoring at a minute late in the third period to take the victory before 1,175 fans. They were trailing 1-0 at the end of the first.

Harold Hill, Harold Kidd, Ross Johnstone and Keith Mogridge scored for Sundridge. Willard Haas tallied both Walkerton goals.

He died in 1948 after two years' illness.

Hockey Fever Hits Detroit Red Wings Favored Over Habs

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — The hockey season, 139 days old, comes to an end tonight—maybe.

Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens—who have played more than 80 games apiece since the start of the season last October—clash in Olympia Stadium in the seventh and deciding game of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The game should be over about an hour before midnight, but it will come as no surprise if overtime is needed and the season stretches out a little longer, spilling over into the early hours of Friday morning. Playoff games usually do that.

For example, Red Wings once played until 2:30 in the morning before winning a playoff game. That happened in 1936, with Mud Bruneteau firing the winning goal after 176 minutes and 30 seconds of play.

Last year it looked as though Red Wings and Canadiens were headed for one of those we-how marathons in the seventh game of the playoffs. But little Tony Leswick put a quick end to the suspense by rifling a goal at 4:39 for the "sudden death" period to give Wings a 2-1 victory.

That was second time in four years Wings won the Stanley Cup on a "sudden death" goal in the deciding game. Pete Babando did it in the 1950 playoffs, firing the key goal in a second overtime session to defeat New York Rangers.

The Red Wings and Canadiens enter the title game after playing the first six games of the series in 12 days.

In an effort to put some fresh legs into the lineup, Red Wings have called up two rookies from their Edmonton farm club. They are center Norman Horvath and forward John Bucyk. They will be teamed with Vic Stasiuk to form a fourth forward line, an unusual move for a game of such importance.

The Wings, who are shooting for their seventh Stanley Cup—which would tie them with Toronto—are unbeaten at home since Dec. 18, having gone through 22 games in that time. For that reason they are favored over the Canadiens.

Regina Pats Oust Winnipeg Monarchs, Qualify for Memorial Cup Finals

WINNIPEG (CP)—Regina Pats entered the Memorial Cup picture Wednesday night when they edged Winnipeg Monarchs 3-1 in a thrilling contest before 1,700 fans. Pats won the best-of-seven Western Junior final 4-1.

Pats won the first three games 7-4, 4-1, 10-4 and dropped the fourth 5-3. They now meet the winners of the Quebec Frontenacs-Montreal Marlboro series.

Harvey Flaman scored the winning goal for the Pats in the second period. The other Regina marksmen were Lorne Worsley and Ken Hodge.

Murray Couch scored the only Winnipeg goal in the second frame while Regina's Wayne Klinck was in the penalty box. Monarchs were trailing 3-0 when Couch converted Zeke Zelenka's pass.

Monarchs dominated the game with tremendous fore - checking, passing and shooting but poor marksmanship and sensational goal tending by Regina's Roy Selinger kept them at bay. Selinger made out 30 shots, while Ted Dedrett stopped 17 in the Winnipeg nets.

Peg Peewees Given Welcome

GODERICH, Ont. (CP) — Winnipeg Red, White and Blues, Manitoba's Peg Peewees arrived in the Young Canada Week peewee hockey tournament, were given a rousing civic welcome when they arrived in Goderich Wednesday.

Mayor J. M. Erskine officially welcomed the Winnipeg party while the team's coach, Vince Leah, presented in turn a message to the mayor from Mayor George Sharpe of Winnipeg.

The Goderich pipe band provided musical welcome for the visitors, who were driven in motorcade through the streets of this Lake Huron town to the Goderich Memorial Arena.

ALS SIGN WRESTLER

MONTREAL (CP)—Bill Miller, football star turned wrestler, has been signed by Montreal Alouettes for the 1955 Big Four football season. Miller was a star tackle for Ohio State University before he took up professional wrestling.

Wings, Indians Provide Treat For Detroit Fans

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit sports fans will be treated to a winter-summer doubleheader today.

In the winter sport, Detroit Red Wings open their home season against Cleveland Indians in Briggs Stadium.

At night, Detroit Red Wings meet Montreal Canadiens in the seventh and deciding game of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs.

The two sports have clashed three years ago, with the Red Wings winning the Stanley Cup title by a 3-0 score and the Tigers taking their opener by the same 3-0 margin.

Albemi, Soo Cage Series Starts Tonight

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—Basketball fever is running high in this small Vancouver Island centre as the youthful but boarded Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds and Alberni Athletics prepare for their first crack at the Canadian men's basketball championship.

The eastern Canadian champions arrived here Wednesday sporting beards, mustaches and sideburns and confidently predicting victory in the best-of-five series opening here tonight.

The second and third games are scheduled for Friday and Saturday with the remainder, if necessary, Monday and Tuesday.

There was little talk but basketball in this sports-minded city of 12,000 situated at the head of Alberni inlet on the west coast of Vancouver Island some 80 miles due west of Vancouver.

Three straight games up at the baseline some 12 hours before tickets went on sale at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday night and a large crowd was assured for the 1,300-seat Alberni basketball arena.

"There's a good explanation for the foliage," said smooth-shaven Clint Robertson, coach of the Soo cagers champions, as he ran the Gunners through a brief loosening-up drill.

"The folks back home are celebrating the winning of the title and our Soo locks by growing beards, mustaches and sideburns. I'll have a $100 fine if you're caught without one. A day-old bristle. I've been lucky so far. Haven't had to shave at all."

Both Robertson and Elmer Speidel, playing-coach of the Alberni quintet, pronounced their clubs in top shape for the series and both said they are confident of victory.

It is the first time either club has reached the Canadian finals. Athletics won the Vancouver Cloverleafs to take the B.C. title, then edged the Edmonton Tower Hallers for the western Canada title in a best-of-five series.

The Gunners advanced to the finals by eliminating last year's series champions, Kingston Tri Bells, and Ottawa Shaffers.

Billiards Stars Start Tourney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Top billiards players contemplating a players' association to govern and promote—and possibly revive the game, got underway today.

Players are gathering here for a tournament starting Saturday and billed as the world's pocket billiards championship. Nine pairs in a round-robin series of matches will play. Defending champ Cesar Jimmy Caras and Erwin Rudolph.

Sponsors of the tourney hope it will become the big thrill, now claimed by several players.

SET JUNIOR GOLF DATE

TORONTO (CP)—The 1955 Canadian junior golf championship will be played at the Calgary Golf and Country Club Saturday, July 30, the Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Wednesday. Junior champions from each province will compete in 36 holes of medal play.

Frontenacs Cling to Lingering Hope Of Prolonging Junior A Semi-Finals

By GEORGIE FRAIKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—A heart-to-heart talk, an injured defenceman and the law of averages are not needed to rely on, but if they work well the Quebec Frontenacs can still bring to the Memorial Cup semi-finals, says Quebec coach Phil Watson.

The Frontenacs face the dismal prospect of being knocked out of the best-of-seven series by Toronto Marlboros tonight on their home ice. Even a tie would give the Marlboros, who lead the series 3-1 in games and have one point on a tie, the eastern Canada junior hockey championship.

In the Memorial Cup series, it takes eight points to win a best-of-seven game series, with ties counting for a point and wins for two.

NEED THREE STRAIGHT

The Frontenacs would have to win three straight games to go against Regina Pats in the finals.

"Today," Watson said, "I'm going to have a heart-to-heart face to face talk with Bobby Watson."

WANTS HARRINGTON

But the psychological approach isn't enough, he added.

"I want Harrington back on defence. I'm going to get him to play tonight if it kills me, or him."

Henry (Hank) Harbinson, 18-year-old defenceman, suffered a severe shoulder injury in a game here last week and was missing when the Frontenacs were beaten 3-1 in Toronto Tuesday.

Jean-Guy Hurtubuise, a defenceman who turned forward early in the season, was switched back to defence to make room for Harrington. Two of Toronto's goals were Hurtubuise's fault, Watson said, but he wasn't expecting Hurtubuise to stand up as well as Harbinson under the unremitting Toronto pressure, especially after not playing defence for so long.

Watson said the Frontenacs haven't gone four games without a win this season so "maybe the law of averages will be on our side tonight."

Grace Kelly, Brando Replaced Sinatra, Jones and Won Oscars

By BOB THOMAS

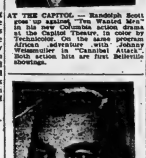
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

Look for a battle royal to ensue over Rita Hayworth's notification that her contract with Columbia is at an end. Needless to say, the studio doesn't see it her way and it is usually good enough for all concerned. The battle could keep Rita out of work until 1960, if it's carried to the highest courts. By that time Rita will be 42.

The studio feels it has taken good care of Rita over the years, putting her in big films to restore her to popularity after her public-city. Now it intends to fight for her services.

The legal duel could be as nasty as the one in which Rita's director, Charles Vidor, won his wife's freedom from Columbia a few years ago. . . .

Final observations on the Academy awards: Wonder how Jennifer Jones and Frank Sinatra feel? Jones was set to do the wife's role in "The Country Girl," but had to check out because of pregnancy. Grace Kelly replaced her.



Sinatra was originally set for the role of the ex-fighter in "On the Waterfront" during the early stages of the picture's planning. Later the cast was shuffled and Marlon Brando got the role.

But for the workings of fate, Jones and Sinatra might have won the Oscars this year. The consolation is that both have won before.

Some folks are still muttering that Judy Garland should have won the award. Although she was a good loser, she wanted the Oscar badly. She wanted to show her longtime studio, MGM, which fired her. Her adherents argue that she should be given a special Oscar. But it was ruled that stars cannot be given special awards in the same year they are nominated for regular Oscars.

Point Anne Whips Marmora 7-3, Holds 3-1 Lead in TVL Finals

MARMORA — The Point Anne Cementmen, TVL champions last year, took a strangle hold in their best-of-seven series for the 1955 title last night when they handed the Marmora Millionaires a 7-3 setback in the fourth game of the series.

The win gave the Ox-pointers a three game to one lead with the fifth fixture scheduled for here on Friday evening.

The game was one of the cleanest of the season, penalties being at the minimum of two for minor infractions incurred in the second period.

Strahan drew first blood for the Ox-pointers on Gilmour's assist in the eighth minute of the game to be followed by Coyer in the next minute registering on Williams' pass. Just before the period closed Marmora drew two in but Jones scored unassisted and K. Trumble got the second on Mayes' assist.

Marmora took the lead temporarily in the opening of the second period. Lavender beating Bates on assist from K. Trumble. It was Williams who tied the score on G. Goyer's assist to end the period 3 all.

In the third, the homesters rallied to check the Ox-Pointers who scored through Strahan assisted by Graham, next through Williams with G. Goyer on the assist. G. Goyer was repaid by Williams shortly after and Killian was successfully deceived by Graham for the final goal, Gilmour getting the assist. The attendance was over four hundred.

Teams:

Point Anne: goal, Bates; defence, Hunter, Semark; centre, Gilmour; wings, Graham, Strahan; alternates, G. Goyer, Doran, Williams, Stewart.

Marmora: goal, Killian; defence, Darrah, Leonard; centre, Maynes; wings, Lavender, K. Trumble; alternates, Jones, Blute, Paraniuk, Gray, Brown, Doyle, Smith, Sweet.

Referees: W. Holway and D. Barrett, both of Belleville.

AT THE CAPITOL — Johnny Weissmuller stars as a Jungle adventurer in Columbia Picture "Cannibal Attack" at the Capitol Theatre with Judy Walsh and Ted de Corsia featured. On the same program in Technicolor "Ten Wanted Men", starring Randolph Scott and Joczyn Brando. Both action hits are first Belleville showings.

Coldwell Denies Plans to Retire

REGINA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell CCF national leader, said Wednesday night he hopes to lead the CCF in the next federal election "and in the election after that."

The 66-year-old Mr. Coldwell, in ill health a year ago, said he wants to put aside any rumors that "I may retire" by announcing his intention to remain as party head. He made the remarks while introducing British Labor leader Clement Atlee at a public meeting.

At the same time, Premier T. C. Douglas said he has no desire to enter the federal political field.

It had been rumored that Mr. Douglas would be drafted as leader because of Mr. Coldwell's health.

OFFERING AT THE DOOR FOR THE PUPILS' BENEFIT FUND

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Not always does the bidding of your bridge partner give you a clear picture of his holding. But it is usually good enough for all practical purposes. As in the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠A Q J 10 2
♥K 10 6 4 2
♦A 4
♣5 3

WEST EAST
♠9 6 3 ♠K 8 7 5
♥— — ♥8 5
♦K Q 10 8 7 ♦J 5 3 2
♣K 10 6 7 4 ♣9 8

SOUTH
♠4
♥A Q J 9 7
♦9 6
♣A Q 4 3 2

The bidding went like this

South	North
1 Heart	2 Spades
3 Clubs	3 Spades
4 Clubs	4 No-trump
6 Clubs	6 Hearts

From the bidding north could see two south suits with at least five cards in each. From the moment south opened, north was headed for a slam in hearts. But he angled for more information first.

In answer to four no-trump, six clubs is the Gordon conventional signal for showing two aces and no kings. Therefore, north knew that the other two high cards of the opener must be queens.

With three kings now known to be with opponents it looks as if a slam might be dangerous, but south had shown extra tricks by his several bids and must be short in the two suits he has not bid.

Therefore, the outstanding kings are definitely known not to be the menace they might seem without this picture. For this reason the north hand was even considering the possibility of a grand slam.

With at least ten cards known to be in clubs and hearts, south could have no more than three cards in diamonds or spades. In that case the silver suit would be absolutely void.

If south does not have three cards in one of his unbid suits he must have a singleton and a doubleton. Therefore, a small slam is virtually a cinch and a grand slam is possible.

Do you get the picture?

REPORT $EXTUPLETS

BELGRADE (AP)—A 19-year-old woman gave birth to sextuplets in a Yugoslav mountain village, the Zagreb weekly newspaper "Vjesnik U Srijedu" reported Wednesday. The newspaper said none of the babies survived. Four boys died soon after delivery and two girls died three days later, the newspaper said.

AT THE McCARTHY

While the War Between the States raged with undiminished fury on now-historic battlefields, it affected even far-flung corners of the land. Columbia Pictures' "The Black Dakotas," starring Gary Merrill, Marsha Hunt and John Bromfield in color by Technicolor, which opens at the McCarthy Theatre Friday, the great crisis of the Northwest Territory when the mighty Sioux Nation stood undecided between war and peace, while partisans of the North and South, respectively, sought to keep the Indians quiet or to send them on the warpath, hampering the Union forces considerably.

In "The Black Dakotas," Merrill in his first outdoor action drama plays a Confederate agent who has come into possession of a proposed treaty between Abraham Lincoln and the Sioux. The treaty is to be secured when a shipment of gold promised by Lincoln reaches the Sioux within three days. Otherwise they threaten war against the Northern settlers, engaging troops who could otherwise be used against the South.

Miss Hendrix is seen as the daughter of the secret leader of the Dakota rebels who, unmasked, is hanged for his traitorous activities, and Bromfield as a stagelike operator, a Northern sympathizer who becomes romantically involved with Miss Hendrix. He is the individual who, with the help of the Indians, tracks down Merrill when that worthy has hijacked the gold shipment. Noah Beery, Jr., is featured as a Southern partisan who is betrayed by Merrill.

"The Black Dakotas" is reported to be a thundering mammoth drama of the Northwest, replete with Indian raids, gunfights and fisticuffs set amid the bitter struggle between partisans of the North and South for control of the Dakota Territory.

Second feature stars Richard Conte in "A Race for Life".

Famous Trichologist will demonstrate how to grow thicker hair . . . and guarantees it!

Demonstration to be held here

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Belleville, Ontario, Monday, ONLY, April 18.

These private individual demonstrations will be held at the New Queen's Hotel on Monday, ONLY, April 18, 10 NOON to 9 P.M.

HALIFAX, March 24 — In an interview here today William A. Keele, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Keele Hair Experts said: "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one basic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders", he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Keele firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee", Keele said.

Once a person avails himself to the Keele treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Trichologist is quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, utterly bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin or colorless, the Keele treatment can perform wonders.

A complete, private examination is given by a Trichologist to determine the condition of the scalp, and cause for the hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical; it requires 20 to 30 minutes. The Trichologist makes no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination the person is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, the person makes regular reports to the Keele firm in Halifax. Keele check the progress of the home treatment.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, independent trichologists are visiting various cities throughout Canada to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness" Keele emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Keele wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the surface or a spot begins to show up at the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair on the head for the rest of their life," said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment. It all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist Keele at Abbeid at the New Queen's Hotel in Belleville, Ont., on Monday ONLY, April 18, — 12 NOON to 9 P.M. The public is invited.

You don't need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Both men and women are welcome. Advt.

Pearson Warns Economic Aid Can't Buy Allies

Help Asia Out of Kinship, Not to Fight Reds, He Urges

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada Thursday night advised against providing economic aid to Asia for only "cold war motives."

In the third Stafford Little Lecture on the Princeton University campus, the Canadian statesman said "it is important to guard against any false idea that we should or can purchase allies. The East will not become a mercenary in our service.

"We must also avoid the superficial idea that the appeal of communism is merely to the hungry, and that a higher material standard of living will remove the appeal. Men are not so simple as that."

Pearson suggested that economic aid should be given "out of a recognition of kinship with our Asian neighbors so that we might succeed in improving the political atmosphere as well as promoting human welfare."

Girl Complains Pocket Picked By Elephant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ever have your pocket picked by an elephant? A 12-year-old Canadian girl says it happened to her.

In a letter to city council Thursday, Grace Russ of London, Ont., said she was touring the Columbus zoo one day last week when:

"One of the elephants grabbed my wallet and swallowed it."

Grace says she lost $5.00 and some pictures. She asked city council to reimburse her. Council will consider the claim Monday.

British Election Called by Eden For May 26

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Anthony Eden, Britain's new prime minister, announced tonight he will call a general election for May 26.

In his first radio talk to the nation since succeeding Sir Winston Churchill as head of the government last week, Eden said he had asked Queen Elizabeth to dissolve Parliament May 6.

The new Parliament will be summoned June 7, following the election, and the Queen has agreed to open it June 14.

The Conservative government will go into the election battle to return a new House of Commons at the head of 350 parliamentary supporters against the Labor party's present 294—a majority of 56.

There are also six Liberals and two Irish Nationalists with three seats vacant in the 625-strong chamber.

Dangerous Man Still at Large

TORONTO (CP) — A "violently insane" man who escaped from a New Toronto mental hospital Tuesday, was still at large tonight, police said.

Police searched downtown rooming house district for Harry Hoey, 35, of Owen Sound, who escaped while serving a manslaughter sentence for the 1948 knifing of a school friend.

But John Hannigan, 25, who escaped the same night, was recaptured at Renfrew Thursday after a tipoff to police from his family.

The men escaped separately. Police said Hannigan told them Hoey had escaped before him and had disappeared by the time he got out.

Guaranteed Wage Demand Is Made By Oshawa Union

OSHAWA (CP)—First round in the United Automobile Workers' fight for a guaranteed annual wage in Canada lasted five minutes.

Representatives of the CIO-CCL union handed union proposals to officials of General Motors of Canada Thursday and departed to await a company reply, expected in 10 days.

Included in the union's demands are a 10-cent wage increase, voluntary overtime and elimination of incentive standards. Negotiations are 18,000 workers at GM plants in Oshawa, London, Windsor, St. Catharines and the Toronto suburb of Scarborough.

The union's brief contained the clause it wants written into the "guaranteed annual wage" contract—a guaranteed pay cheques a year—but there was no argument or discussion.

Separate negotiations will take place for the Oshawa plant and for the rest at the GM Canada chain. Thomas MacLean of Windsor, assistant Canadian director of UAW, and Oshawa negotiator Robert Hurst of Windsor will head the team for negotiations expected in Toronto for other GM plants.

Ontario Works Program Is Said Of Little Help

TORONTO (CP—Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, Thursday criticized Ontario government's program of public works introduced to ease unemployment.

Addressing 75 organizers of the Ontario Federation of Labor, who met to plan strategy for the next provincial election, Mr. MacDonald said:

"The program will not provide relief right now, when it is needed."

The CCF leader said that the basic spirit of the provincial government is wrong. He said the government itself "is violating the letter and certainly the spirit" of the Ontario Labor Relations Act in its dealings with civil servants.

Government payment to workers on highway projects in northern Ontario is a pittance, he said. Bulldozer operators at Geraldton receive only 95 cents an hour, Mr. MacDonald said.

The major issues in the coming elections will be unemployment, educational health insurance and the highways scandal, he said.

In a letter to federal Health Minister Martin, the federation asked the government to purchase all available supplies of Salk polio vaccine for the free inoculation program.

The Ontario government plans immediate immunization of 375,000 school children.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: The disturbance which brought rain and thunderstorms over southern Ontario Thursday night will move eastward into the Maritimes by Saturday. Cooler air from northern Ontario is pushing southward across the lower lakes region today. However, a sunny day is forecast for Saturday and temperatures will reach the low 60s during the afternoon. Cloudy and cool weather is forecast for the northern regions.

TRUCE COMMITTEE COMPLETE FARCE SAY OFFICERS

Accuse Reds of Blocking Inspections in North

By FORREST EDWARDS

TOKYO (AP)—Swiss and Swedish officers say the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission is "a complete failure and a farce in Korea."

They accuse Communist Polish and Czech members of the four-power body of blocking inspections that would have revealed a Red buildup of military aid in violation of the armistice.

They also were critical of Allied Command officials who say the armistice clause which set up the truce group "The commission has to operate by majority vote, which gives the Communists veto power. The Polish and Czechs had to do to stop inspections in North Korea," said a Swiss officer, "went to vote against such an inspection as was necessary."

That is what the Czechs and Poles did throughout the first week in the group's life in Korea, he added, when the Communists were completing their military buildup in North Korea."

ALLIES HELP—AT FIRST

In the first year of the armistice, when the Communists were blocking inspections in the north, they said, the Allies in the south were co-operating fully.

Polish, Czech and Swedish members of a truce team "vetoed inspection of nine airfields, where the Communists claimed the Communists had introduced military aircraft," a Swiss officer said.

Then the Allies began tightening up on commission activities in the south. South Korea said Red inspectors in the south were spying.

Then the Communists "began relaxing in the north," an officer said, but the inspections they allowed meant nothing.

They usually consisted of a walk through a rail station or down an airport runway, officer said, and everything further was vetoed as "not necessary." But the Communists were using the Neutrals' reports "to try to show the teams had plenty of freedom.

"Finally," one officer said, "the Swiss and Swedish members began vetoing further inspections in the north because they were being used by the Reds to forge a false record."

Will Vaccinate Pre-School Age School Children

QUEBEC (CP) — An estimated 145,000 children in this province between the ages of 2 and 3 three years will begin receiving free inoculations with anti-polio vaccine next month.

The federal and provincial governments will share the cost of the program, part of a nation-wide campaign using the Salk vaccine, and the vaccine will be parcelled out on a population basis by provinces which sells them within the province.

Premier Duplessis announced details of Quebec's part in the program Thursday at a press conference.

The premier said the amount of vaccine available is not sufficient to inoculate more than 145,000 persons. The children, chosen because of the prevalence of polio in that age group, would receive three shots, one more than the amount Ontario announced will be given children in that province.

Former Bombers' Coach Wants Marilyn to Swim Catalina Channel

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says today that George Trafton, former Sault Ste. Marie Winnipeg Blue Bombers football team, is flying to Toronto from Santa Monica, Calif., Saturday to try to talk Marilyn Bell's advisors into allowing the young swimmer to attempt the Catalina channel this summer.

Thursday it was announced that Marilyn, 17, who swam Lake Ontario last September, will attempt the English channel this season. The Toronto Telegram, which is sponsoring the swim, will pay the $15,000 whether she completes it or not.

In a phone conversation today Mr. Trafton said it is "regrettable" the committee made such a "shaky decision" on the Marilyn Bell swim.

"Your prize could not Marilyn anywhere from $75,000 to $100,000," he said.

Marilyn's advisors said Thursday it is unlikely she will attempt more than one major swim this summer.

In a front page bylined story in the Telegram Marilyn tells of her plans for her proposed channel swim.

"It's been my life dream to get to Rome," she wrote. "If I have to swim the English channel to do it, it will still be worth it."

Reds Would Withdraw Troops From Austria by End of Year

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government called for the early conclusion of an Austrian independence treaty and withdrawal of all occupation troops not later than next Dec. 31.

A joint Soviet - Austrian communique issued this afternoon said Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab had assured Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that Austria will not join any military alliances or permit the establishment of any foreign military bases in its territory.

The Soviet government also pledged: (1) Big power (i) reparations bill against Austria for the equivalent of $150,000,000 in Austrian goods; (2) to return to Austria all former German property in the Soviet zone including the Danube Shipping Co., and (3) to return the Austrian oil fields and refineries which the Russians have been operating during their 10-year occupation.

The joint communique summed up the results of negotiations between Molotov, Raab and their aides which began here Tuesday. It was issued two hours after the Austrian party left in a Soviet military plane for Vienna.

The Russian-Austrian agreement now must be approved by the four Western occupation powers, the United States, Britain and France, before it can be implemented in the independence treaty and the treaty can be signed. It was expected that a Big Four meeting would be called soon to do this.

Austrian Deputy Chancellor Adolf Schaerf indicated earlier today that Western agreement on the new treaty provisions was almost certain. The Austrian delegation has been keeping the Western allies abreast of developments in Moscow. State department officials in Washington said Thursday Russia's present attitudes was "encouraging."

Schaerf told reporters that Russia had made her agreement to Austrian independence conditional on a guarantee by the four occupying powers that Austria and Germany never would merge again, as they had under Hitler in 1938. The joint communique made no mention of this point, however.

The communique, which also was issued in Vienna, said Russia and Austria also had agreed to start negotiations in the near future about a normalization of trade between the two countries.

It added that the presidium of the Supreme Soviet—the executive committee which acts for the Soviet parliament when it is in recess—had taken a favorable step toward speeding the return of Austrian prisoners of war still held in the Soviet Union.

Russia's Action on Austria Fans Prospects of Big 4 Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's evident about-face on independence for Austria brightened prospects of a new Big Four meeting higher today than at any time since the last one collapsed on that issue 18 months ago.

Word from Moscow early today was that Russia has accepted a proposed Austrian treaty which Britain, France and the United States already have agreed to. That would mean the end of 10 years of Red stalling and of the four-power occupation.

It would mean also that the Russians will have met a key prerequisite to a Big Four meeting laid down by President Eisenhower: That Moscow give some evidence of good faith which would indicate a Big Four session might be fruitful.

Another key requirement, integration of West German military power within the Western European union, already is in a fair way to completion. Britain, France and the Netherlands, only countries yet to act, are expected to do so by month's end or soon after.

This would clear the way for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial council, tentatively set for May 9, at which the Germans also would be welcoming West Germany as the 15th NATO member.

Aides of State Secretary Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay have been meeting here this week in little details. "A French spokesman said at Paris Thursday: "The three powers are using methods to be used in preparing for a foreign ministers' meeting with Russia.

Dulles has declared himself against a four-power Summit-level meeting until after the June conference at San Francisco to mark the 10th anniversary of the United Nations.

The last Big Four foreign ministers' meeting at Berlin in February 1954 broke up in disagreement after Molotov suddenly injected a new issue into negotiations for an Austrian treaty.

Attlee Declares Britain Must Aid Rest of World

CALGARY (CP) — British Labor party leader Clement Attlee told a public meeting here Thursday night that Britain must rearm, not based on export, must help raise living standards in other parts of the world.

Production for export became the keynote of post-war Britain and this interest in markets formed much of the Labor leader's address here.

"We have no interest whatever in ruining our trading rivals. We want them for customers," he said.

It was not only ethically right, said British Labor, but essential to interest in raising the standards of living in India, China, Africa and elsewhere.

LAKE ONTARIO COMMUNITIES ASK LOWER LEVEL

Would Cost $47,373,000 Says Joint Commission

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of shore communities from Kingston to the mouth of Niagara river Thursday disagreed with the International Joint Commission's proposal to lower the maximum level of Lake Ontario to 248 feet. The commission proposes to drop the maximum by 1.3 feet and raise the minimum by the same amount to 244 feet. This could be done with completion of the St. Lawrence power and control development.

The delegation said the 248 maximum is not low enough. However, it would be an improvement over 1952 conditions when the lake climbed above 249 feet and caused millions of dollars damage.

POINT TO DANGER

A 247-foot maximum was recommended by some. Others said that the level should not go above 246 feet. They said the 248-foot maximum would endanger.

A threat to health because sanitary and storm sewers would be backed up and water supplies would be endangered;

Flooding of valuable low ground around the lake, particularly shoreline recreation, bathing and park facilities;

And extensive loss through erosion of some of Canada's best fruit farm lands in the Niagara peninsula.

BRIEF OUTLINED

IJC expert Thomas Patterson, Canadian representative on the Lake Ontario board of engineers, said lowering the maximum below 248 feet would involve:

Additional expenditure of $47,373,000 for power lost, for dredging harbors and channel enlargement.

Draining an additional 80,000 cubic feet a second out of the lake when discharges go into the St. Lawrence river at an average rate of 240,000 cubic feet a second.

Commission chairman Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said he does not know what amount of property damage is going to be injured as a result of the control plan.

Unknown Driver Killed as Auto Falls Into Creek

ENGLEHART (CP) — Police today described the body of a man and an auto that Thursday night plunged into Adie creek at the community 30 miles southeast of Kirkland Lake.

They did not identify the man immediately.

Police and civilian volunteers worked until midnight trying to reach the car. The operation was "dangerous and very tricky," police said.

The car crashed through a guard rail over a small bridge and into the swollen waters of the creek. Laurie B. Fuller, of Kirkland Lake, told police he was passed by a car travelling at a excessive rate of speed. When le Blanc passed the top of the hill the car had disappeared, he said.

He found the car between two trees in the creek. The car was barely visible above the water.

Unclaimed Body Taken from River May Be Corpse of Murdered Man

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says today an unclaimed body taken from the Chicago river six years ago may be the body of Rudolph Weber, 36, who disappeared in 1949. At the one time Maier was reported to have been slain in a violent quarrel.

In a newspaper story from Chicago, the Star reports that the pays disinterment of the unclaimed body, now buried, may be ordered.

It is believed that the missing man were unable to identify the body because of the way in which the features are blurred.

The story says, however, that information has been reported to be near a solution to Maier's disappearance.

Connected with the disappearance is Gordon Emmerson Weber, 41, a son-in-law of the missing man who in 1953 gave a series of contradictory "confessions" to police in Los Angeles, Cal., in which he claimed to have killed Maier and hidden his body at Guelph. Police later released him because they could find no evidence of a slaying.

Weber, now living with his wife recently, the story says.

Weber's confession in 1953 led police to two locations, at Milwaukee and Kitchener where he said he had buried the murdered man.

At both points police uncovered pieces of human skull but in the former quantity is too small for statistical evidence of a body.

Relatives of Maier said Weber told them in 1949 he had taken his father-in-law away for a quiet place where he could spend his last days in peace.

Police have evidence the pair travelled together from Nashville, Tenn., to Chicago Weber's 1953 city.

The Star's story says police have proof Maier was not with Weber when he registered.

Police have been trying to find Maier since 1953 when members of the family became alarmed at his disappearance.

Weber was arrested but later released when police could find no evidence of a slaying.

Chased By Police, Acid-Laden Truck Hurled Into Ditch

Windsor Driver Is Killed Trying to Evade Arrest

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP— — Ricocheting from one tractor - trailer truck to another, while being chased at 80 miles an hour by a police cruiser, a panel truck was hurled into a ditch on Highway 2, early this morning. The driver, Alfred Pugsley, 21, of Windsor, was pinned in the cab and died instantly.

Constables Harley Hyland and Charles Adam, of the Sandwich East police department, were on patrol on Walker road at 12:45 a.m., when Pugsley's truck passed their cruiser. The police gave chase, as the speed increased through traffic and turned east on Highway 2, travelling at speeds of 75 to 80 miles an hour.

At St. Joachim, 20 miles east of Windsor, the truck stopped. As the police got out of their car to question the driver, Pugsley backed up and headed his truck around.

By the time the police had turned their cruiser about, the truck was a mile ahead of them. It is believed Pugsley tried to pass a tractor-trailer truck driven by Wallace Sweeney, of Windsor, and collided head-on with one driven by Donald Hampton of Cornwall, Ont.

ACID IN WOUNDS

The panel truck bounced into the Sclerver vehicle, and then rolled over in a ditch.

It is believed that Pugsley died from a broken neck and internal injuries. He was carrying a load of muriatic acid, used for cleaning bricks, in the truck. This splashed into his open wounds, causing deep acid burns.

No one else was hurt in the crash. The panel truck and both tractors were wrecked.

Neither Father Nor Husband Saved

Equalized Assessment of County Set at $28,570,000 by Council

As equalized assessment of $28,570,000 for 1956 was agreed on by Hastings county councillors at their spring session which was concluded at Shire Hall Thursday afternoon.

The equalized assessment for the county thus takes a boost of over five million dollars over that of the current year. There was little discussion on the assessment figures as recommended by County Assessor Cecil Geen and they were adopted practically without opposition although one or two reeves questioned why the equalized assessment should be more than their actual.

Assessment figures as adopted by the county further illustrated the common knowledge that Thurlow township is the wealthiest municipality in the county.

With a population of 7,838, the township's equalized assessment for next year has been set at $7,150,000 representing just over 25 per cent of the total county figure. Next to Sidney township with a population of 3,571 and an equalized assessment of $4,050,000 or 14.20 per cent of the county total.

Lowest equalized assessment is that of the township of Mayo with a population of 1,000 and an assessment for county purposes is $125,000, representing .44 per cent of the county total.

The total population of the county, exclusive of Belleville and Trenton was set by the assessor at 42,040.

FOUR TO BE ASSESSED

Only four municipalities in the county now remain to be re-assessed. They are the town of Deseronto, and the townships of Mayo, Carlow, and Hernerd via Montcalm.

Reeve "Bud" Price of Elzevir township asked regarding assessment for mining property with County Assessor Geen pointing out such properties were not assessable. "To compensate the municipalities is precisely the purpose of the profits tax on mines was turned back to the municipalities," he said.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township, took exception to the fact that the supposedly equalized assessment for his municipality was $57,000 higher than the actual and said this had been the case for many years. He was critical of a situation which saw farm property assessed at the highest figure possible while the price of farm property was now lower than at any time in the past 50 years.

Farm assessments were all out of proportion to those in the urban municipalities, he claimed.

A blanket assessment for all rough land in the county was suggested by Mr. Geen. This would do away with the injustice that rough land in different municipalities was assessed at different values.

In answer to the Madoc reeve, Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora, stated that construction costs in the country were just as high as in the urban area and therefore assessments should compare.

The reeve was critical of real estate agents who advertised homes in the rural areas which had "one-third of the village taxes."

NOT TOO HIGH CLAIM

"That is not a fact and I do not believe it," he said.

Deputy Reeve B. Harder of Sidney suggested that much of the taxes in urban municipalities was for local improvements.

Mr. Geen felt that assessment on rural houses in the county was not too high and quoted a provincial assessment supervisor who said they were actually lower in Hastings than in some either municipalities.

Reeve Cecil Ketcheson of Thurlow township questioned oil pipeline assessments and asked how they compared. He was told there was a lack of uniformity as there were three municipalities in Hastings having different assessments. These ranged from $3,500 per mile in Sidney to $5,000 in Thurlow. In some municipalities in the western Ontario assessments on oil pipe line ranged up to $8,000 per mile, it was stated.

However, there was an effort currently being made to get uniformity of assessment across the province, council was told.

Following are the equalized assessment figures adopted for 1956 and the percentage which each municipality has of the county total:

	Proposed Assessment	% of Total for 1956	Total for 1955

Council Praises Hastings County Home Report

The farm at the Hastings County Old People's Home on the Trent Road showed a high 87 per cent average of profit during 1954 than privately operated farms in the county.

This is the opinion of farmer members of council who appeared rather envious of the financial statement submitted by the committee in charge of the institution for the county owned farm. Farm revenue last year totalled $19,335.74 as against $9,925.54 being listed as expenditures.

"I must say that the county farm is the most profitable one in the county," stated Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township. "County farmers are not generally in that position."

Deputy Reeve Byron Harder of Sidney township as chairman of the county home board, stated, however, that the statement read did not take into consideration the labor of home inmates which if paid for would result in a different financial picture.

The report showed the value of farm produce consumed and consumed in the home amounted to $10,881.48 while revenue from produce sold amounted to $4,211.48. Produce sold or used in the home was valued at slightly less than wholesale prices, it was stated.

LOW OPERATION COST

Total expenditure at the county home for the year was $117,350.19, while the revenue, including rates paid by pensioners, was $93,250.45. Net cost to the county for the home operation was $24,189.27.

On April 1st there were 201 residents in the home—126 male and 75 female. Patient days averaged to 65,355, including 51,478 patients days for county patients, and 13,-779 for city patients. The county average cost per day for each resident was $1.80 which is considerably lower than the average cost for county home patients across the province.

It was noted that the county home infirmary wing was saving considerable money for patients requiring bed care. Home superintendent Kenneth York stated the infirmary wing at the home was filled.

Mr. York asked that reeves have close checks made on the physical and mental health of potential home patients before they were sent to the home.

Rondeaunettes, Diment School Of Dance Give Fine Program

An appreciative audience last night watched the curtain rise and fall on another annual presentation of the Diment Holy Singing of the collegiate auditorium.

A combined song-and-dance show it featured, the Trenton choral group, "The Rondeaunettes" in several fine musical presentations, lined together with colorful scenes presented by the Diment School of Dance.

Sponsored by the Belleville Y's Men's Club the show's eight full scenes and solo interludes ran for just two hours.

Combining the voices of the Rondeaunettes and the feet of the Diment pupils was the brain of Bill Long, who, besides pulling the strings as director and producer, also acted as conductor for the musical numbers.

Some colorful costumes and workmanlike scenery added to the evening's entertainment which was the finale, which saw the artistes lining a staircase in the auditorium while the main scene round and round from a piano on a revolving platform on stage. Backdrop for the show was the ominous backdrop for a Scottish dance scene by the Diment School, also in luminous costumes.

Probably the most colorful scene in the show a full costumed Gay Nineties presentation.

Some girls and also interludes were the versatility of Barb Diment, Elaine Martin and Gail Hendricks.

Miss Diment featured in several smooth-paced dancing routines while Elaine Martin enthusiastically gave an exhibition of dance numbers in an engaging style.

The appearance of The Rondeaunettes as a choral group was particularly pleasing. They are a well disciplined group and last night their choice of musical numbers was a satisfying one, ranging in style from the beautiful "Evening Home" by Anton Dvorak, to the flippant "Zing Zing Zoom Zoom" of Sigmund Romberg.

The show will be presented again tonight, curtain time at 8.30 p.m.

Following is the cast:

Helen Hayes; Denise Jones; Mary Long; William Allore; Reginald Fraute; Lou Newton; Cecille Bleasdell; Elaine Martin; Raymond Dube; Betty Kinney; Joanne Hosking; Ann Rayvals; Beverly Baker; Douglas Camp; June Weaver; Faye MacKenzie; Donald Bowman; Neil Stubbs; Mae Cormack; Yvonne Scalette.

City Engineer Commended By Presiding Judge

The Hon. Mr. Justice E. G. Morden sitting at Belleville Court of Ontario commended city engineer Charles A. Brayley for his action in recommending purchase of the surplus pea gravel from the R. C. McFarland Construction Co.

He said that what Mr. Mott did "was what one would expect from a good and faithful employee."

He made his remarks Thursday afternoon when particulars of the settlement of the suit between the McFarland Construction Company and the City of Belleville were filed by counsel.

Justice Morrison said he could not let the case pass without comment on Mr. Brayley's action.

He said that whether or not Mr. Mott had authority to purchase surplus pea gravel he should have had such authority.

"He did what he would expect of a faithful employee."

Justice Morrison said he realized taxpayers should not be burdened by stockpiling surplus materials but in this instance it appeared that the city engineer had saved the city money in dealing so.

"I can find no fault with what he did," said the judge emphatically.

Justice Moorhouse approved the settlement which has been agreed on by counsel. The settlement called for payment of McFarland's bill of $21,611.85 plus $500 compensation for bare spots and stripping gravel to court costs by the city of Belleville, removal of surplus pea gravel from the city's quarry by the McFarland Company.

The settlement also called for dismissal of the city's counter claim against the McFarland Co. with costs.

The terms of the settlement were filed with the court following Justice Moorhouse's approval.

Many Motions Having Effect Says Reeve

Numerous resolutions from county councils and other rural organizations protesting the importation of New Zealand cheese into Canada are apparently having some effect on government policy.

This was noted at Hastings county council this week when Thurlow township reeve Cecil Ketcheson referred to an address given recently in New Zealand by Hon. C. D. Howe, Canadian minister of trade and commerce.

Reading a press report in which Mr. Howe was quoted as saying there was little likelihood of New Zealand cheese coming in, Reeve Ketcheson noted that apparently the many resolutions forwarded to Ottawa by Canadian farm organizations were having some effect.

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were fully 50 cents and more a hundredweight higher. Calves were fully 50 lower. Hogs were firm to 25 cents higher while sheep and lambs were steady to lower.

The run of 7,200 head of cattle was about 300 head more than last week and about 800 head more than the same period last year. Included in the fresh run were 363 head of western, mostly stockers. This is some 300 head of westerns fewer than last week. Shipments to eastern Canada were 200 head which is the same as last week at two cars. Three cars, totalling 72 head of steers and heifers, were shipped to the United States.

Light overall receipts of slaughter cattle resulted in an improved buyer demand. Cull steers and grades showed gains of 50 cents from the opening with good and medium finishing strength by mid-week. This class closed at as much as $1 higher. Although there were a few slaughter cattle were light, the quality was considerably better than in the past few weeks. An estimated 300 head will be unsold at the close. Cull cannery and medium replacement cattle.

Prices: Choice steers, all weights $20-21 with sales to $21.30. One small lot of choice weighty steers sold at $22.25; good steers $19-20; medium 16-19; common $12-16; choice heifers $18-19; good heifers $17-18; mediums $14-16; commons $12-14. Boner steers and heifers $10-12; choice cows yearlings $20.25-21.50 with odd sales to $22; good cwt yearlings $19-20; mediums $17-19; good cows $13.50-14.50 with good light heifery cows to $13.50; canners and cutters down to $7; good heavy bologna bulls $13-13.50; some sales to $14; butcher bulls up to $16; common and medium light bulls down to $10.

Replacement cattle: Shipments back to the country were comparable to last week at about 1,700 head. Prices were firm on the good quality with this grade meeting a broad demand. Replacement cattle unsold at the close will consist mostly of light weight medium and medium kinds.

Calves totalled 1,250 head. This is a decrease of some 130 head under last week. Calves closed sharply lower with good and choice vealers selling at $21 to an extreme top of $23. This is fully $1 lower than last week. Mediums $15-20; commons $10-15.

There were 2,000 head of hogs. This is a slight increase over last week. The carloads of hogs were shipped east. Grade A hogs were firm at $24.50-24.75; sows unchanged at $19- stags $14.

Sheep and lambs were 375 head; including 200 Saskatchewan shedded lambs. Good spring lambs were sharply lower with top fancies at $30; unfinished springs lambs were $20-25; $3 lambs out of the western load sold at $22 with the balance at $21.50; common and medium native lambs were $10-18; good light sheep $8-10; common and mediums $4-7.

Runaway 'Nike' Being Probed

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Admittedly "embarrassed," the army had a board of inquiry working today to find out what caused a Nike guided missile to run away.

Sgt. Stanley Kozek of Allentown, Pa., was slightly burned Thursday when the missile, armed with a high explosive, took off during a routine practice alert.

It exploded, apparently while in the air, about a mile from the edge of the military reservation.

The board of inquiry was organized to find out whether it was an individual or a mechanism which "goofed." The accidental launching, officers indicated, may have been caused by a severe memory or a malfunction in the electronic firing mechanism.

The Nike, which can search out a target plane and destroy it, was not supposed to be fired.

Close Five Roads To Seaway Area

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Five of the six town roads leading to the St. Lawrence seaway and power project area were closed to traffic Thursday night because of deep holes in the macadam surfaces.

Supervisor F. Lloyd Hosmer of the town of Massena ordered the closings after being notified the state power authority that no trucks or other vehicles will be allowed on the roads until they have been repaired.

Hosmer reported that he had found holes up to eight feet deep in the roads north and northeast of the town.

Law on Insanity Is Criticized

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Arthur M. Doyle, a psychiatrist and lecturer at the University of Toronto, said Thursday there are injustices in the law dealing with insanity as a defence in criminal cases.

Dr. Doyle said there are only two definitions of mental illness in the Criminal Code; that cases involving persons suffering from such illnesses are "either all black or all white."

He appeared before the royal commission on the law of insanity as a defence in criminal cases.

Dr. Doyle said the law pays little attention to medical knowledge and suggested more up to date terms especially various cases of mental illness.

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret, vivacious sister of the Queen, will make a three-day tour of British army units in West Germany next month, Buckingham Palace announced today. The 24-year-old princess will visit two regiments of which she is honorary colonel-in-chief. She leaves May 23.

Committee to Check Need For High School in Frankford

Appointment of an educational consultive committee of Wooler, James Sprackett, Frankford Reeve George Montgomery and Deputy Reeve Byron Harder of Sidney was made at Hastings county council on Thursday.

The committee was appointed at the request of Reeve Montgomery to investigate the high school situation in the Frankford district with the view of determining whether it was possible to form a high school at that village.

Reeve Montgomery said his municipality believed it was paying too much for high school education with students being transported to Belleville. Due to the long distance to travel many students dropped out of school.

The idea was to investigate the nearby municipalities to see if there were enough high school students to get a high school at Frankford.

ADVOCATES WEED SPRAYING

County Weed Inspector Harry Coulter spoke on the value of spraying to keep weeds down on roadsides and said he would like to see more townships take on spraying as a control measure. Deputy Reeve Reeve Harder agreed as result of spraying on county roads, he said.

Spraying of crops for weed control was also beneficial and it is the farmer or weeds in any event this could be done economically. Hiring of municipally owned sprayers for this job was "out of the question" he said.

That something would be done very shortly with respect to construction of the initial section of the Madoc-Foxboro development road was expressed by Reeve Harry Morrow as he presented an interim report of the roads and bridges committee.

Reeve Morrow said he had been talking with members of a highway department survey group recently who expressed the belief that "something would be done shortly."

Plans call for the reconstruction of the county road from Madoc to Foxboro as a development road by the highway department following which it would be turned back to the county for maintenance.

Maintenance work on the county road system following the spring break-up had been heavier this year than has been generally throughout Eastern Ontario. Such work would cost the county about $30,000 more than last year, Mr. Morrow said.

A twenty mile section of county road No. 13 between Tweed and Stoco would be resealed as a development road, according to the report. The department of highways had forwarded the general agreement form covering the work with an amount believed to be about $32,000 being allotted.

WORK AUTHORIZED

Authorization for further development and work on the Foxboro-Frankford county road had also been received with a sum of $18,000 being allotted for this project.

Taylor's Bridge on the Shannonville sideroad will be widened this year at an estimated cost of $7,200 with an 80 per cent subsidy to be received from the province. Two blind knolls at the western entrance to Delora on the Marmora road would also be eliminated.

Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora suggested that while county road equipment was in the district consideration might be given to two bad knolls just outside Frankford, while Reeve Irvine McCoy said the county road north of Marmora also required attention.

Reeve Morrow stated that the problem of over-loading between Tweed and Sulphide during the half loading period had been successfully solved.

Reeve T. C. Graham as member of the Children's Aid Society committee, commented that since the presentation of the committee report on Wednesday, he had been informed that a preventive officer was now available for work in the county. He asked guidance of the county with respect to authorizing payment of the $5,000 grant which had been voted by council in January for this work.

His personal feeling was that Insofar as Tweed was concerned there would be little call for such a worker, while Reeve Theodore Tryon of Tyendinaga said the same of his municipality.

Deputy Reeve Harold Vary of Hungerford asked if all C.A.S. personnel were not preventive workers.

Reeve Harold Wells of Marmora was of the same opinion declaring there would not be much for a preventive officer to do if other C.A.S. personnel fulfilled their duty.

ASKS ABOUT COSTS

Reeve Morrow noted how much the city of Belleville was paying toward the cost of a C.A.S. officer to be placed in full time preventive work. In reply Reeve Ritchie Wells of Belleville referred heartily to the community chest fund part of which went to C.A.S. work. Also the town of Trenton had made a $2,300 grant to be used in preventive work.

Deputy Reeve Charles Long of Tyendinaga said church organization in his area were doing much to assist in easing their problem, regarding broken families.

The matter of paying the grant to the C.A.S. was left in the hands of the treasurer.

County Assessor Cecil Geen was authorized to attend the assessors' convention in Niagara Falls, while clerk-treasurer Erle S. Denyes was authorized to attend the treasurer's convention.

Reeve Lorne Sprackett for the efficient manner in which he had presided over the various sessions of council was expressed by Reeve Cecil Ketcheson. The warden in turn expressed his appreciation to council members for their co-operation.

The new members of council, Deputy Reeve Alfred Wickett, of Thurlow and Deputy Reeve Harold Varty, of Hungerford, were invited to give their impressions of county council. Both stated they were grateful for the opportunity of serving their municipalities 'and said it was their sincere wish when representatives from 30 municipalities were able to sit down and work out their problems together.

Small Telephone Systems Will Be Rejuvenated

When rejuvenation of private telephone systems in North Hastings and Renfrew gets underway under the move which sees the operation of several small systems in this rural area taken over by the government, the very latest in telephonic equipment is to be used.

North Hastings reeve, William J. Davis stated that work is expected to commence shortly on connecting the various small systems. Dial telephone equipment will be installed with wires strung wherever possible on existing hydro poles. Service to the latest in mines west of Bancroft will be given first and the whole rural area will be connected by several central offices.

Telephone communication in the north area in recent years had proven unsatisfactory and complaints of the service were being heard regularly.

Costly Refusal For Three Young Kingston Men

That it doesn't pay to seek transportation on a freight or passenger train if you are not prepared to pay the fare, was learned this morning by three young Kingston men.

Appearing in city magistrate's court on charges of attempting to defraud the Canadian National Railways through refusal to pay their fare, Albert Corbyn, 18, William Stocks, 21, and Gary Bush, 19, were each fined $25 and costs of $25.10, in default of payment they will serve 21 days in jail.

The three young men attempted to ride from Kingston to Toronto without the formality of purchasing their tickets when they failed to produce tickets at the request of the conductor they were taken off the train at Napanee.

Harvey M. McAllister, R. R. 1 Tyendinaga charged with having an offensive weapon in his possession, was arraigned before Magistrate Jeff Wills and was remanded until April 22nd. McAllister was apprehended on Front street Wednesday night, when officers noted he had a sawed-off shotgun in his car.

Councillors Want No Part Of Keeping Dogs Tied Up

Hastings county councillors want no part of having to keep their dogs tied up all year, and especially they want no part of being a party to bringing in such a regulation.

They decided this as an after thought Thursday at their annual spring session, when they rescinded a motion in favour in a Wollaston township resolution which among other things would prohibit all dogs running at large.

Then they voted to council in the part of the resolution calling for inspection of hunting lodges and watching of lakes for deer being shot in the water.

INJURIES FATAL

TORONTO (CP)—Grazino Bazic, 7, died in hospital in Toronto today, five days after he was struck by a car near his home near Brampton. Police said Anate Jeniega of Brampton was the driver of the car. No charges have been laid.

GETTING A REPORT

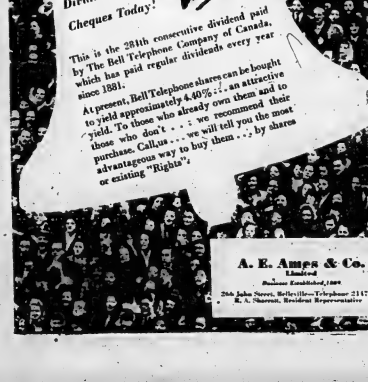
Hastings county councillors getting a resident to report his neighbor's dog, the by-law was practically useless. And he said that it was not only hounds that were running deer in the closed season, but collies were more to blame.

This was supported by Warden James Sprackett who said he knew of collies running deer during the summer.

Council voted to rescind Wednesday's motion, then on recommendation of Reeve Harry Morrow of Sidney concurred in the part of the resolution calling for inspection of hunting lodges and watching of lakes for deer being shot in the water.

WANTED WORDING CHANGED

He suggested that the wording be changed to state "hounds" and not all dogs be prohibited from running at large.



Reeve Les McLaren of Tyendinaga was of the same opinion, saying that the resolution as it stood would interfere with hunting of foxes and jack rabbits.

It was pointed out by Reeve Theodore Tryon of Bancroft that each municipality could regulate dogs by passing its own by-law. It was the responsibility of each municipality not that of the county, he said.

Reeve Hughson replied his municipality already had its own by-law but due to the difficulty of

IS THERE A TROTSKYITE REVIVAL?

Expulsion from the Ontario section of the CCF of 14 alleged Trotskyites and reports in two Vancouver papers that similar action is planned by the Pacific province, might have a strange reading to some. With both CCF may make strange reading to some. With both Trotsky and Stalin dead, many may have imagined that the split in the Communist party which originated in their struggle for power after the death of Lenin, thirty years ago, had long since ceased to be significant.

A moment's thought, though, will suggest that there are several valid reasons why the Trotskyites might be enjoying a new lease on life. The terrible accumulation of evidence against the Communist regime in Russia and throughout the satellite states cannot help but have brought disillusionment and dismay to many Communists in capitalistic countries. Among them there are certain to be a number who sincerely believed that Communism was the road to greater freedom and to plenty. Some, like Max Eastman whose renunciation of Socialism appears in the current issue of Under Cover, have found World Events will relinquish all their former convictions. But it will be much easier for many to blame the Russian deities on Stalin and his followers, rather than on defects in the Marxian theory. What could be more natural than that these people, still convinced Communists but horrified by the repression of all liberty in Russia, should turn to the only existing Communist "opposition," the Trotskyites?

The action of Trotskyites in infiltrating the CCF may appear strange. Past experience, however, indicates that the Trotskyite brand of Communism has no appeal in Canada. Few Canadians would be able to distinguish between the Stalinist and Trotskyite brand of Communism. For the Trotskyites to announce themselves as communists would be to invite denunciation for the sins of the Communist regime in Russia. The Trotskyites are convinced the blame for those sins lies not in the error in the Marxian theory but in the Stalinist application, or perhaps one should say rejection, of this theory. So they sought to hide themselves in a party which, no matter how widely its platform theory departed in theory, at least believes in a degree of nationalization of the means of production.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK

With the sun getting warmer and the evenings getting longer, the lure of the outdoors has been growing this week.

Those strong bodies who are not averse to work, or those equally strong souls who are immune to the prodings of conscientious and wives, may even have wandered out into the wreck which winter left of the garden and enjoyed themselves.

This is the week for it, this enjoyment of nature as it is and not as it should be erroneously believed it to be. There is chaos in the air above. The swallows are back and they are hungrily chasing every early insect. They do not yet appear to have been chastened and confined by family cares and they will have to be attended to the business of egg-hatching, while on the ground below man goes about the equally arduous business of growing a garden.

This week, though, both bird and man have found it difficult to act domesticated. Could it be that they were, perhaps unconsciously, bent on fittingly celebrating National Wildlife Week?

The Jack Miner Foundation at Kingsville, Ont., sponsors and promotes this week as its educational program and scheme for the week was authorized by a special act of Parliament passed in April of 1947.

"It is strictly an educational week," says the Jack Miner Foundation, "to arouse public interest in God's great gift of wildlife and to teach children from most grades weeks because no one is asked to buy or contribute anything but the public, fifty or a hundred years from now, will reap the receiving end."

The Foundation says that in sponsoring the week it is "only carrying out one of Jack Miner's sayings when for years he went from coast to coast at his own expense, from Alaska to Florida and from Florida to Newfoundland, preaching conservation and said 'I stand for more education and less legislation'."

Correct as far as it, that is not a bad slogan to apply to more than wildlife.

INTERESTING PROPOSAL

The Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council has offered to form a limited dividend company to provide low-rental housing for elderly residents of metropolitan Toronto.

Murray Cottrill of the United Steel Workers says that industrial pension plans are resulting in more people retiring but that there is no use in providing $100-a-month pensions if "the whole $100 is to be grouped out in rent."

"We cannot just run around censuring other people," he says. "We have a certain responsibility in the matter ourselves."

Mr. Cottrill might have added that one of the reasons why labor unions may be financially able to discharge this responsibility is this self-same trend to pension plans. In some plans, but by no means all, the union shares the responsibility for investing pension funds.

It will be interesting to watch the results of this trend. Already several unions have become capitalists. Split personality difficulties may develop.

Why No Gadgets In Back Seat?

(Toronto Saturday Night)

We have often wondered why all the electrical gadgets are concentrated on the dashboard and but the most exotic motor cars without so much as a wall outlet for the back-seat passenger.

If there were such an outlet, the passenger could attach all sorts of useful things — shave, brew coffee, warm the baby's bottle, toast a sandwich, dry hair and bathing suits, clean the upholstery, decontaminate the dog and finish up any last-minute pressing.

With all this going on, the passenger would have no time for any type of back-seat conversation which, we are told, bores the driver into drowsiness or drives him to distraction.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

En route home from a motor trip to Mexico, an acquaintance of mine died of a heart attack in Texas. After a sad and confusing experience for his widow and the friends accompanying her on the trip, they got the body home and the funeral was held. While the mourners were all away at the funeral, thieves entered the house and stole a great quantity of things including a valuable camera and the leather case. The case contained all the exposed film. No kidnapper had taken in Mexico. This was a particularly pathetic loss to the widow, for the films were the last record of her husband and a happy time.

It is a well-known fact that thieves make a special study of the death notice columns and funeral arrangements. To enter a house temporarily vacant at funeral time is a simple matter. Strangers by the dozen have been coming and going for two or three days, so that neighbors would not be expected to observe anyone in particular. Some of the visitors to the bereaved home have carried suitcases and other baggage. To see another stranger departing with suitcases would not appear to be out of the way.

Police advise that some members of the family or some friends should always be left in charge of the house at funeral time. But it might be an interesting thing for funeral directors to bring up at one of their association meetings. Could not one of the services regularly rendered by the funeral directors be the provision of an employee to stay at the home until the family returns? If that is not practicable, should not the funeral directors make it a point invariably to advise their clients to arrange for someone to be in the house to guard it from thieves at that special time?

Now and again, neighbors perform that function unasked, much to the satisfaction of the police. A next door neighbor recently saw a well-dressed stranger trying the doors of the house from which the family had left not ten minutes before to attend a funeral. She called the police, and a well-known thug was caught in the act of opening a side door with a celluloid strip. Probably all thieves are mean, but these are surely among the lowest.

African Industrialization

(By Edwin Lloyd, writing from Johannesburg in the Windsor Star)

The Central African Federation has decided to go ahead with the construction of a dam on the Zambesi River which will cost £53,000,000 and, when completed, will be larger than the Boulder Dam. This vast project is typical of the energy with which the white colonial African state is planning for the future under the guidance of its Prime Minister, Sir Godfrey Huggins, now a Viscount.

The Federation is short of power necessary for its economic development, particularly for its Copper Belt adjacent to the Belgian Congo. The Kariba Gorge dam will produce almost 800 men waits but even this will not be sufficient and a second dam will be constructed later. If both had been built together the national debt of the Federation would have been £1,500 per head of the European population, which would have been about double that of the figure for the United Kingdom. Even the redoubtable Huggins balked at this.

As it is, the International Bank will be asked to finance a big part of the scheme, provided the Federal government does not want to go to the London market so that there will be no competition with financing for ordinary development. The Federal government is contributing £3,000,000.

The Prime Minister told the Federal Parliament in Salisbury; "It is true that we have a very cheap power so that we can industrialize and employ our cheap labor to increase the per capita income of the European population. Fiddling about with bits of land is not going to help us much. The available land is limited, but the industrial potential is great. Permanent solution can only be found by industrialization, the use of our coal and our power."

Such a policy is in direct contrast to that of South Africa which aims which at least in theory aim to curtail drastically the urban Bantu population. The Central Africa, too, must industrialize because her only hinterland (not the uranium yield) are a wasting asset. The huge complex of mines on the Copper Belt would not have much more than 30 years of profitable working.

The Copper Belt is to the Central Federation what the Witwatersrand is to South Africa. The Federation does not rank second in copper. At present there are only four mines but every year now in hand to open up the biggest postwar copper mine started anywhere in the world. It is half a mile from the Congo border and situated in dense bush where elephant and hippo are still very much at home. The town which will grow up around the mine will have a population of 22,000 and, by the number of houses, huge, but then the Federation is itself struggling to get a total white population of 250,000 in a territory just about as big as the whole of western Europe.

In its two years' history, the Federation has run up against the usual growing pains which it has a confidence not seen in very many other parts of Africa.

In Nyasaland, the most acute crisis was a strike by African miners on the Copper Belt. Carefully nurtured in the arts of trade unionism by the former Labor government in England, these 30,000 workers have staged two successful strikes in the past few years but their latest attempt has ended in stalemate. It lasted for nearly two months and cost the country £2,500,000. During the strike, which was marked by violence but the difficulties of the Copper Belt are by no means over and the white miners are determined to safeguard their position at all costs. Their attitude to the native miners to take an ever-increasing part in industry.

It is easy enough to condemn the attitude of the white miners and their leaders in the Labor Party, but the comparatively minute influx of coloured labor into Britain has had repercussions which have been followed round the world.

As long as Prime Minister Huggins is in charge of the Central African Federation, problems will have a way of being overcome. He is of the stuff of empire builders, but, as was the case with South Africa, there is a dark side to the same calibre to succeed. The Federation has the material to carry through and in the Federation there is a considerable nucleus of white settlers. We believe that South Africa's "apartheid" is the only way to develop their future. While Huggins is there, bold plans will be followed out both in the economic and social sphere, but he is 70. The Central African Federation needs ten years to lay solid foundations. Thirty thousand South Africans have moved north believing that it will succeed.

Who Will Cut Grass?

(New York Times)

It is not too early to begin thinking about who will cut the grass next summer. To be sure, the yard at the moment looks as though it would not need to be cut. Our end is covered with the leaves which were not raked up in the fall, and the other end is a dismal swamp, host to a family of ducks which have taken up the low end, and should be left undisturbed. Nevertheless there is well be a repetition of last year's humiliating experience when hall a dozen ducks alighted suddenly to break the long journey north. But time will be required to drain the swamp, too, and there will be grass which must be cut each week. Hence it is not too early to determine that, personally, I am getting older not longer will result in the same old system. That means that the grass-hagged gentleman, older not far than he thought, and not getting, will get the most beautiful time on the lawn by evening, pushing the same old machine. It decidedly is not too early to begin thinking of a way around that.

The mail order catalogues have, of course, one splendid answer. On page after page they show how they show power mowers, so easy to operate that women delight in cutting the grass. This is all very well as spring approaches and ill-lit painting, but these mowers are not free, are not given away, and are not available to the deserving. To acquire even such a machine would be like a pretty penny, as well as rather intricate negotiation. It is not too early to begin thinking about it, indeed; it is just the right time, for there will be a sudden, urgent need for new hats, new shoes, new handbags and other new finery. It is a well-known fact that the cutter of grass seldom buys anything for himself, and that perhaps it is his turn this year to exchange finery for the old corduroy. This may work, although the meals will be sorry if the effort is made to get both. Anyway, it is not too early to begin thinking.

It is not too early to begin thinking of that power mower almost in the house. The fact that the thought is about as close as it will get need not dismay pleasant dreams. The power mower makes a fine clatter as it swirls across the lawn of these dreams, middle age's version of teen-age dreams made by a sports car with the muffler kicked off. Back and forth along even rows it goes, a machine which pulls its driver and which, in dreams, pulls itself. It is not too early to think of that, and to think, also, that the advertisements will be well-boosted and women really will cut the grass. At this time of year it is a natural kind of dream, one that goes hand in hand with the thought there may be a requirement due on income tax, or that there likely will be rain in the month of Sundays. Always the inventor type, the dreamer can see himself a small boy, with a radio on the mower, with a gadget to cut only dandelions and the ball game. He also can think of a wagon drawn behind, and on the wagon a man to load and seat the grass cutter. The chariot of "Ben-Hur" is O.K. now for shooting.

Nor is it too early now to consider variations of the power mower, such as the one that cuts grass cutting to the Scouts as a free gesture, or those run by professionals on a contract basis. Unfortunately, the Scouts—certainly those who live in cities—would rather wait for gold turns upon clothes-lines than cut the street. Unfortunately, too, the hiring of a professional always puts the entire matter on a employer-employee basis, which constantly is irritating. Indeed, the mower rests a moment while on set, for the wage-slave is the slowdown, with feathered-ing the next step. If he operates on a piecework basis, he obviously will get through the lawn in a hurry, but the next morning man would require. If there is a good ball game he will not come for days. Only for a rainy day for cutting grass, but will be working on Sunday, which is the proper day for sleeping, he will come with his power mower at daybreak. No, it is not too early to begin thinking.

It is not too early to think of getting that same old hand mower sharpened. Indeed, it is almost too late to begin thinking of that. The ducks just-now flew over, quacking and reducing. Grass won't be long now.

Personal Health Talks

THE PARTINGTONS AND THE MALAPROPS

Dr. Brady

Can a doctor determine by examination that a person is allergic or is it just a figure of speech to say "I'm allergic to" something we dislike? It seems the same question has been discussed this in your column, but the recollection is hazy.—(E.H.)

Allergy, a state or condition of hypersensitivity (oversensitiveness) to one substance or another taken into the body in food or medicine, by inhalation or by absorption through scratches, punctures, burns, blisters, cuts, ulcers or other break in the skin.

This peculiar sensitivity of some persons to substances which do not affect normal individuals at all, such as horse dander, canary feathers or orris root, seems to be more prevalent now than this may be because doctors today recognize the manifestations of allergy which doctors of twenty years ago didn't understand.

The skin test — which consists of this or that applied to tiny scratches on the skin — usually can determine whether a person is allergic and usually to what.

From the medical literature on the subject, into which I have dipped considerably in the past ten years, it has become clamored of a pet notion (remember folks, I am the first to call it a pet notion) that calcium deficiency is an underlying factor if not the chief cause of allergic sensitivity.

Now, wait a minute. Sooner or later some chucklehead, lay or medical, is going to lay back his head and say that if you poor souls that Brady is balmy about calcium deficiency, startled every thing from hot flashes to spinal curvature to it . . . if that is publicized enough as the quitty I'm wacky, all right, but compared with a hundred thousand humbugs in the medical profession who ascribe to cold, change of weather, wet hair or a hypothetical draft everything they diagnose, I am not really dangerous.

From . . . reports . . . it would seem that calcium and vitamin D taken as a supplement to the diet lessens allergic sensitivity in most instances . . . it is not a cure, however.

Are you one with allergy or any of the complaints I ascribe to calcium deficiency can settle the question for himself by supplementing his diet and I explain in the booklet and following the high calcium diet described therein.

BIRTH OF RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

Freedom to worship after the dictate of conscience is one of our most precious legacies.

It is amazing how recently this idea entered the stream of human consciousness. There was practically no conception of religious liberty until Roger Williams instituted it near the middle of the seventeenth century. He had suffered the rigors of conformity in England and both in the wilderness and Holland to escape them. There he discovered another brand of conformity as distasteful as that from which he had fled. When the authorities were about ready to send him back to England, he escaped and after a perilous journey through the wilderness in winter, he went into that section of the country now called Rhode Island and there established a colony built up a little community where "all men may worship as their consciences have made them, everyone in the name of his God."

We all believe in this freedom today. The words of Roger Williams seem so simple that we cannot imagine that men ever thought otherwise. But his whole world had to be overcome by an alarming, radical scheme 300 years ago, and many regarded it as high-ly pernicious. Roger Williams was a highly educated but a very plain man. His whole mien was the mark of the greatest reformers of all times. He established a free church by a free state.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FLOWER WORLD

God must have had in mind a great mission for flowers, for He made so many, and made them so perfectly. It has been said that angels are perfect. That's why they live in Heaven! God created flowers as a tribute to man's love for beauty.

Grass is perfect with a new flower I marvel at its beauty and perfection. Each has its color balance, as to form and color. Man has copies the designs and colors of flowers and made them to serve his inherited love for them. Flowers do not meet all man's occasions. In a home they brighten it radiating beauty and fragrance. When the time comes for burial, the first thought of the lover is to cover the casket with flowers. And when sorrow comes, to the sad we send our tribute of love and sympathy. Its silent voice is enough.

We are familiar with so many of our domestic flowers, but we are constantly running into those with which we have never been acquainted. In Honolulu I viewed orchids blooming in many gardens, and in green houses there saw some of the most beautiful flowers I have ever seen. Recently I saw at the Miami flower show white orchids that could well be worn by angels. They were so exquisite I am sure that any woman wearing such a perfect bit of beauty would feel like an angel!

I can understand the enthusiasm of gardeners and flower lovers. I have talked with many of them and they even talk with their flowers. It has been written of the famous Luther George Burbank, that he actually did "talk with flowers." He experienced something which made him believe that he was right.

Once the gardener who talked of plants as "he" and "she." He personalized and endowed them with the love that he owned. Something of what we are goes with flowers that we send to others.

Inaccuracy Major Flaw

(High River Times)

Perhaps the greatest criticism levelled at the school system of today is inaccuracy. The importance of accuracy is a major element during the years of schooling. Inaccuracy manifests itself so frequently heard, and from so many levels of employment that the educators cannot reasonably ignore it.

The layman does not presume to dictate the means by which certain basic requirements can best be taught. But he has a right to expect that the monumental sums which are spent on education will yield a superior product.

Proposed Policy Declarations Drafted by C. C.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, the proposed policy declarations were submitted by the policy committee under the chairmanship of A. O. Drysdale. The following is a list of the proposed policy declarations which will be presented to the membership at a general meeting to be held in May for the members' final approval:

Agriculture: To promote agricultural activities with particular emphasis on urban-rural relations.

Civic Government: To bring to the attention of the public modern techniques in municipal government.

Civil Defence: That a program of education and training in civil defence be promoted.

Communism: To oppose Communism and to develop a wider public appreciation of the dangers it represents.

Education: To give leadership and encourage members to take an active part in educational matters, with a view to assisting in developing sound and enlightened public opinion on our free enterprise system.

Employer-Employee Relations: Good Industrial relations cannot be created by legislation. Employers and employees should be left the maximum freedom to work out their common problems without government intervention. The Chamber supports the principle of collective bargaining between the representatives of employers and employees. The Chamber is opposed to any legislation or provisions in collective agreements which would have the effect of enabling either employers or labor to exercise a coercive monopoly over either group or the public.

Employment of the Physically Handicapped: Employers are urged to consider the advisability of the placement of physically handicapped workers in suitable jobs.

IMPROPER IMMIGRATION

Immigration: The Chamber endorses the policy of fostering Immigration in order to further Canada's economic well being and to bolster our defences during an era of international instability. To assist where possible in the integration of "new Canadians" into the community.

Freedom of Enterprise: To work towards a better appreciation of our free competitive enterprise system which has produced for us the highest standard of living in the world today. The Chamber particularly emphasizes in this regard the need for a sense of responsibility and a revival of a common code of ethics on the part of every citizen. Freedom of enterprise, as we know it, can only be maintained and improved so long as each individual recognizes his responsibility to his community and his fellow man.

Natural Resources: Our natural resources, such as forestry, commercial fisheries, fish and game, minerals, water power and water conservation are a vital element in the national economy. To this end the Chamber of Commerce urges that governments and business should extend educational programs to stress the part that the public can play in ensuring the preservation and growth of these resources.

WANT MORE INDUSTRIES

Industrial Promotion: The Chamber believes that, in order to improve our economic position, we must promote desirable new industry and aid existing industry in our community. The Chamber offers its services and administrative organization to the city of Belleville to assist in any way possible to promote new industry and aid existing industry.

Tourist Promotion: The Chamber believes that it should publicize our community and assist tourists during their visit to Belleville.

Town Planning: Essential to the future welfare of the community and the district is good town planning. The Chamber believes that it must support the city and the township in their efforts, through the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board, to promote good town planning.

Safety: The Chamber believes that, in order to protect and maintain the safety of our citizens at home, at work, at school and at play, we must encourage our people to practise safety throughout their daily routine.

Parking: The Belleville Chamber of Commerce encourages the council of the city of Belleville to continue to seek out a solution to the parking problem and encourage planning for future parking on a long term basis.

Parks: The Belleville Chamber of Commerce believes that, in order to maintain the beautification of our community that we must have adequate park and recreation facilities. The Belleville Chamber of Commerce encourages the council to maintain parks and recreation facilities in the future.

Legion-Sponsored Trade Fair At Armouries Is Success

Motordom's sleek 1955 royalty backgrounded by a glittering display of appliances, furniture and other exhibits too numerous to mention marked the fifth annual Trade Fair of Branch 99 Canadian Legion, which opened in three floors of the in armouries last night, as one of the best since the fair was inaugurated.

The Trade Fair will continue tonight with a special afternoon show for children climaxing with a gala Saturday evening offering that will be marked with special events.

Tomorrow night one of the main features will be the presentation of the—Belleville "Athlete of the Year" Trophy to Keith MacDonald, baseball, hockey and rugby star, by Eric Nesterenko, Toronto Maple Leafs ice luminary. Mr. Nesterenko will be there as the special guest of the Legion. The presentation takes place at 8.15.

A large crowd helped usher in the opening night of the Fair and found plenty to see in delightful entertainment, which interspersed the evening activities.

Clair Rouse, a popular favorite with Belleville audiences is one of the featured attractions with the "Musical Vagabond" has forgotten none of his humorous tricks and clever personality. Rouse is again in his role of a musical hobo and extracts instruments by the score from his many spacious pockets. An outstanding musician Rouse performs equally well on all of his large variety of melody-producing paraphernalia while his comedy routine is another feature of this delightful funster and master showman. He will appear again tonight.

Pat Rafferty and Charlie Jeeves one of Canada's outstanding comedy duos will be here Saturday. Pat is well-known to Belleville audiences after he is an entertainer of the famous "Dumbells" World War One outfit which took place around across the country. He also appeared here in several shows sponsored especially for service audiences during World War Two.

2ND EXCELLENT JOB

Don MacKinnon, president of the Belleville Fish and Game Club, pinch-hitted in a fly-casting role and did an excellent job. He was assisted by Bob Blaind and gave an outstanding exhibition. He will perform again tonight while on Saturday a casting expert from Toronto will be here.

The crowd showed keen interest in the Globe and Mail colored motion picture "Welcome the Queen". It is a colorful picture story of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth's tour of Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific, a tour that should be seen by everybody. It will be shown again tonight and tomorrow afternoon and evening. Don't miss it. It is worth the price of admission alone.

The colorful display of exhibits cover the entire floor of the armouries. It is a variety show window for Belleville and other exhibitors, cleverly arranged with the large motor exhibit occupying the centre of the floor.

Sleek aristocrats of motordom in all their gleaming beauty were the cynosure of hundreds of eyes. Latest models in many colors and styles, sought the eyes of a discerning public. Most of the popular makes were on exhibit and form one of the outstanding features of the fair.

Included in the exhibits are Trudeau Motors, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Cadillac, Riggs Motors, Ford and Monarch; Elliott Motors, Buick and Pontiac; J. B. Boyce Motors, Plymouth and Chrysler; Belleville Motors, Mercury, Meteor and Lincoln and Jensen Motors, Austin.

FINE DISPLAYS

The Yolles Furniture company has a fine display in the southwest corner of the armouries featuring bedroom and living room suites. The Aluminum Company of Canada is next with a wide display of aluminum kitchenware and other products. The Cory aluminum features doors and windows and other articles.

The Moira River Conservation Authority brings its work to the public through the medium of large photographs artistically arranged.

Of especial interest is the public and very timely is the exhibit of the Bell Telephone Company, "How the Dial Works" is shown and demonstrated with the intricate mechanism of the system being separated for view.

Jack Ireland displays large arrays of washing machines, refrigerators, stoves, electric television sets and furniture plus a neat dinette table arrangement.

The Moira Fuel show a fine exhibit of oil burners with the Fuelmaster Company advertising a varied display of roofing-woods, lumber, tiling, paints, etc. with a feature being a small full scale model house.

The Belleville Recreation Commission has an attractive booth under Director "Red" Doran. It pictures some of its many activities such as art, leather, ceramics and aluminum work.

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is represented by a modern tank exhibit. The Legion auxiliary operate a refreshment booth where the inner man can be satisfied.

TO DECORATE SALK

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—The governments of the five Central American republics have agreed to present decorations to Dr. Jonas Salk for development of a vaccine against polio. C.N.R. to Make Timetable Changes On April 23rd

TORONTO — With the adoption of daylight saving time at midnight, April 23, the Canadian National Railways will make certain timetable changes, the most significant of which will be the inauguration of the "Super Continental" from Toronto to Vancouver.

This new diesel-powered train will leave Toronto at 7.00 p.m. (E.D.T.) daily and arrive in Vancouver at 2.45 p.m. (P.D.T.), making the run in 70 hours and 45 minutes, a cut of 12 hours and 15 minutes from the present schedule. Eastbound it will make the run in 69 hours leaving Vancouver at 3.15 p.m. (P.D.T.) and arriving in Toronto at 3.15 p.m. (E.D.T.).

An elapsed time of 29 hours and 30 minutes between Toronto and Winnipeg establishes the fastest train service available between these points, with one less night on board than on the present schedule.

The "Super Continental" service will also be available from Montreal to Vancouver with similar time savings.

The schedule of the present "Continental" will also be improved when the time changes become effective. It will leave Toronto at 10.00 midnight (E.D.T.) and arrive at Toronto eastbound at 8.00 a.m. (E.D.T.).

Other passenger main line trains will operate on the same standard time schedules as at present, with the exception of the "Maple Leaf" between Toronto, New York and Philadelphia, which will be adjusted by one hour to offer the same daylight saving time departure hours as the present standard time departure hours.

Hockey Player Sues Opponent Result of Injury

TORONTO (CP) — A hockey player who suffered an arm injury that may prevent him from playing again has started a $20,000 damage action against the player who was given a match penalty for the incident.

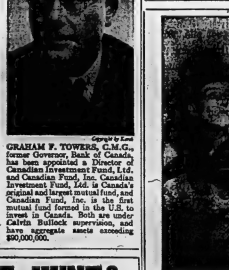
Stewart M. Gilliam of the Wells Service Centre club is seeking $225 for loss of earnings, hospital and medical expenses in addition to $20,000 general damages from Alan Standing of the Bonis Flyers club.

Vic Alexander and Harry Southworth, who refereed the Toronto Hockey League intermediate game last Feb. 28, have submitted reports but will not discuss the case.

The THL placed Standing under indefinite suspension but has not made any further ruling because of the court action.

In his statement of claim filed at Osgoode Hall Thursday, Gilliam says his left elbow was broken when he tried to protect himself as Standing swung a hockey stick at his head. Gilliam says his enjoyment of life has been lessened and that "it is unlikely he will be able to play hockey again."

Food Poisoning Was Not Cause Of Woman's Death



TORONTO (CP) — An autopsy Thursday revealed no evidence of ptomaine poisoning in the death of an elderly woman who became ill after a meal.

Dr. Chester McLean, pathologist, said Mrs. Martha Kesber, 80, died of shock from a stomach ailment combined with a heart condition.

Rich food may have contributed to the stomach ailment, he said.

Four other members of the family were treated for dizziness and nausea. They are reported to have eaten some sausage meat. Samples of the meat are being analyzed.

Weddings

CAMPBELL—BRISTOL

In a double-ring ceremony against a setting of Easter lilies, pink and white snapdragons and lighted candles, in Christ Church, Belleville, on Saturday, April 9, Barbara Joan Bristol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bristol, Belleville, became the bride of William Arnold Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Campbell, Belleville. Archdeacon J. B. Creegan officiated.

The wedding music was furnished by Mr. J. C. Withers. Before the ceremony Mr. Ronald Elmsy sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and during the signing of the register "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The décolletée neckline was enhanced with iridescent sequins and edged with bracelet sequins. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a coronet of pleated tulle, highlighted with sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade of pink camellias and white hyacinths.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Maribeth Bristol, as maid of honor; Miss Jean Campbell and Miss Jean Edwards, as bridesmaids, all wearing waltz-length gowns of nile green crystalette over taffeta. They wore coronets of flowers in their hair and carried nosegays of pink roses, carnations, stocks and white hyacinths.

The flower girl, little Lorena Totton, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, wore a floor-length gown of rose crystalette over taffeta with matching head-dress. She carried a nosegay of spring flowers.

Mr. John Luscombe was the groomsman, while the ushers were Mr. John Campbell and Mr. Roy Taylor.

At the reception in the church parlor, the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of Dior blue peau de soie with pink accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and carnations. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing rosewood pure silk surah with navy accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and gardenias.

For her wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec, the bride chose a suit of virgin wool tweed with pink hat and moss green accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will reside in Belleville.

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Lagoona Beach, California; Rome, Italy; Toronto; Montreal and Drummondville, Quebec.

Seamstress Has No Time To Make Clothes

VANCOUVER (CP)—As a seamstress, vivacious Gisele Renaudin of Paris is so busy she has her clothes made by another seamstress.

The reason: in the last five years she has travelled through Belgium, Germany, Spain, the United States, Mexico, Cuba, Peru, Venezuela, Colombia, Israel, Indochina, Japan and Canada—as wardrobe mistress to famed entertainer Josephine Baker.

Miss Baker, former star of the Folies Bergere, admits stealing Mlle. Renaudin from the Paris Studio of Marcel Rochas.

Two things which the association has prevented her from doing are making her own clothes and marrying.

"I get married when Miss Baker retires," she says. As for her own clothes, there's a little shop back in Paris which takes care of those.

Speaking as an expert, the tiny Parisienne prefers the cut and design of French gowns to those of the United States. "They seem more chic."

Dior, she says, is out. "Only certain types of women can wear Dior—Ah, but that Pierre Balmain, all women can wear his designs. They are, how you say it? More comfortable for everybody."

'Feed My Sheep' Special Message At W.M.S. Meet

The members of the various groups of the Woman's Missionary Society of Bridge St. United Church recently gathered at a pot luck supper in the Sunday School auditorium. The occasion was the Easter Thank Offering meeting.

The leader of each of the groups were seated with the special guests at the head table. These included: Mrs. Erle Denyes and Mrs. Fred Adsett, president and vice-president of the Afternoon Auxiliary; Mrs. Gertrude Lazier president of the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary; Mrs. Ralph Morden, advisory president of the Invictus Mission Circle; Mrs. R. M. Patterson, leader of the Mission Band; Mrs. Freeman Burrows, superintendent of the C.G.I.T. and Mrs. A. G. Marshall, counsellor of the Explorer Group.

The special guests were Rev. G. J. and Mrs. Miniely and Rev. H. M. and Mrs. Davis.

The Mission Circle, with Miss Florence Foster in charge, led a devotional service, the theme of which was in keeping with the Easter season.

Mrs. Houston chose as a solo "All In An April Evening."

The C.G.I.T. girls gave a choral reading as their contribution to the program. They chose a beautiful poem "Thy Kingdom Come", written by a Christian professor of India.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Davis introduced Mrs. Minielly of Trenton, president of the Belleville West Presbyterial, who brought a challenging message to her audience from Christ's admonition to Peter, 'Feed My Sheep'. The speaker illustrated how those who love Christ today feed His sheep. The missionary work cannot be carried out entirely by those who are in direct contact with His sheep, but need the support of those others who stay at home and share the work through prayer and financial aid.

Mrs. Fred Adsett, expressed the thanks of Mrs. Minielly's audience and on their behalf presented her with a beautiful bouquet of snapdragon.

Woman Serves Forty Years As Correspondent

WATERLOO, Que. (CP) — Mrs. Nellie Irwin has watched the bon ton social give way to the cocktail party in her 40 years as a social correspondent for the Sherbrooke Daily Record.

The 81-year-old woman has recorded the parties, weddings, christenings and club activities of this town ever since she agreed to take on the job "for a couple of weeks."

Mrs. Irwin remembers her indifference when she was asked to report the social activities of her community. She said only she would buy her hand at it but it became her life work.

Her philosophy has been "never write anything except fact and always avoid items that might be misinterpreted."

Mrs. Irwin, born and raised a short distance from Waterloo, taught school for three years before she was married. Her only son, Ashton, died three years ago.

For many years, she was active in community and church organizations but recent illnesses have forced her to forgo these activities.

Age has not lessened her interest in her work as a social correspondent. Mrs. Irwin said she relies on her many friends to keep her posted on events.

Cosmetics Can Be Dangerous If Swallowed

OTTAWA (CP) — Madam, keep your cosmetics where children can't get at them. They might poison themselves.

That's the advice offered by Dr. D. L. Henderson of the health department's occupational and health division.

In an article in the department's monthly magazine "Health and Welfare," Dr. Henderson says cosmetics can be very dangerous if swallowed.

Cuticle removers are powerful alkalis which can injure eyes seriously. Perfumes contain poisonous ethyl alcohol. Home permanent preparations would also poison children who unwittingly swallowed them.

HOME HAZARDS

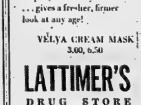
Dr. Henderson listed several other chemical hazards found around the average home.

Besides old dangers like lye, ammonia, insect repellent and sedatives, the new detergents may have ill effects if taken internally, he says.

Another thing to watch is carbon tetrachloride, frequently used as a cleaning fluid, he said. It is dangerous even to inhale. If kept in contact with a hot surface, it changes into phosgene, a poisonous gas used in the First World War.

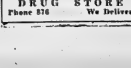
Dr. Henderson's advice is to keep all dangerous chemicals—from silver polish to anti-freeze—where children can't get at them.

"Labels are seldom read by adults and not at all by children," he says.



Cann that this slate of officers be accepted.

Conveners for standing committees: Agriculture - Canadian Industries, Mrs. E. Carman; Citizenship-Education, Mrs. Beryl Bateman; Historical Research, Mrs. James Bailey; Home Economics-Health, Mrs. F. Palmer; Public Relations, Mrs. Bob Wright.



After the meeting closed, refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess.

Canadian Army Has All Family In Its Ranks

OTTAWA (CP)—Lilith Bennett won the Miss Canada title in 1936 and now the Canadian Army has a whole family in its ranks.

With the beauty title went a trip to Hollywood for the Ottawa girl, a second cousin of the late Vincount Bennett.

There she met an Irishman who decided Ottawa with her was better than California's San Fernando valley without her. He followed her home, married her and that's how the army got a Major Weber and two Corporal Webers from the same house.

Maj. M. L. C. (Tiny) Weber, 40, left for the Far East recently as a member of the United Nations military observer group in India and Pakistan. Behind he'll leave Cpl. Lilith Weber of the CWAC and Cpl. Richard Weber, their 19 year-old son, of the 3rd Signal Regiment.

GOOD MANNERS

By EMIL BEECHMAN

BRIDE SHOULD STAND AT GROOM'S RIGHT IN RECEIVING LINE

Mrs. Beechman:

Many questions, big and little, arise when one begins to plan one's wedding. Your answers to other brides-to-be have helped me so much, had we the moment I have a special question. It's this: In the receiving-line should the bride stand at the groom's right or left? Recently in our group there have been several quite formal weddings and receptions, and sometimes at the reception I've noted that the bride stands at the right of the groom, and sometimes at his left. I should think there would be a definite rule about this, but if there is we haven't heard of it. Is there really a rule about this? — Pop M.

Yes . . . In the receiving line the bride should always stand at the bridegroom's right! This is a most important item in the reception-procedure, and it is amazing to me that so often the ones who plan wedding, even professional wed-ding planners, obviously do not know this rule. There are, it is sometimes correct ways to form a receiving-line at a wedding reception, but no matter which of the shoons, it is essential that the bride stand at the right of the bridegroom. And also adding by this, the bride sits at the right of the bridegroom at the bridal table at the reception. On no occasion more than at the wedding reception do the traditional rule of correct-ness and honour more important: "The lady at the right of the gentle-man."

INVITATIONS AND REPLIES ON INFORMAL CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I've just received my first In-formals. Now that so many kinds of invitations are written on In-formals, how about replying to these invitations? May the replies also be written on one's Informals? If so, how? For example, an invitation to a Sunday evening buf-fet party. — Olive M.

Yes, you may correctly use your Informals to reply to invitations written on Informals. For example, when accepting:

I'm delighted to accept!

Sunday, May 15, at 7

Or, to regret:

I'm so sorry I can't come

I'll be out-of-town that week-end. Thank you for asking me!

Or on the inside page or pages of your Informals, you may write a pleasant little note:

Dear Beth,

You and Bill are so kind to ask me to come to your buffet supper on Sunday, May 15th. I'm so happy to accept, and I'll be ringing your bell at 7 o'clock. Thank you!

Devotedly,

ANNOUNCING THAT SECOND ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Beechman:

[illegible] over a half ago my hus-band and I gave a large (and, I may add, expensive) party to an-nounce our daughter's engagement. Not very long afterward her en-gagement broken, under very unattractive circumstances. Now she is again engaged, and my hus-band and I feel quite strongly that she would like to have us give the same kind of party to announce his second engagement. Before we decide we'd like to know your re-action about this. Thank you. — Perplexed Mother.

I would think that your giving another engagement-announcement party, so comparatively soon after the first one, would point up the circumstances you describe, and I prefer not to have pointed up. My judgment is that it would show best taste to make this announce-ment in the simplest way: that is, 1) your daughter and her fiance would tell or write the news to [illegible] relatives and friends, and (2) you and your husband would make formal announcement of the en-gagement in the newspapers.

WHICH BRIDE CARRIES PRAYER BOOK, BIBLE, TESTAMENT

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

We are to have a semi-formal wedding next month, to be held in the side chapel of a Catholic church at 11 o'clock. Would it be strange for me just to carry a white Prayer Book and rosary, rather than carrying a bouquet, when my attendants will be carry-ing bouquets? —Katherine R.

Not at all "strange" for you to carry a Prayer Book and a rosary, too . . . and it makes no difference that your attendants are carrying bouquets. As a matter of fact, it is a very popular procedure to-day for the bride to carry a white Prayer Book or white Bible or Bible or Testament, and I think it is such a beautiful idea, such a right and fitting idea, for this re-ligious ceremony. (Occasionally each bridal attendant carries a Prayer book or a Bible, and on a few occasions I have seen the mother of the bride carry a Pray-er Book.)

ALL SHOULD SIGN MEMORIAL BOOK

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When friends attend a wake should they sign the book in the entrance, or should the book be signed only by the people who come to the wake when relatives are not there? — B.

All those who come should sign the book, either on their arrive or as they leave. This means a com-plete record for the family, an im-portant, In Memoriam record of all who called, whether or not any members of the family were pres-ent. These memorial booklets can prove a source of deep comfort to the family.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Question: . . . money could never buy the valuable secrets Mari-anne is learning from you . . . you certainly deserve all the ap-preciation your readers feel in their hearts . . . I. Would like re-cipe for choke cherry jelly — a dark red with lemon juice in it. 2. Could headcheese be made with stewing pork . . . for sandwiches? 3. Are crumpets very complicated to make?. 4. When I make an ap-ple pie in a pyrex plate the crust in-gnue always seems to stick. Why? 5. Let me have your best recipe for dills — no garlic. . . . Mrs. J. C. L.

Answer: That was a charming letter and I hated shortening it.

CHOKECHERRY JELLY

Wash well and stem the choke-cherries. Crush with potato mash-er in bottom of preserving kettle. Measure. Add an equal quantity of washed stemmed and cut up unpeeled, uncored, tart apples. Add just enough cold water to cone just below top layer of prepared fruit. Simmer to covered kettle until fruits are soft, crushing dur-ing cooking. Pour into moistened jelly bag and allow to drip over bowl overnight. Do not squeeze unless you do not care if jelly is cloudy, Measure juice. (Do not work with more than 3 cups juice at one time.) Boil juice uncovered for 3 minutes or until when 1 teaspoon juice is mixed with 1 teaspoon alcohol or rubbing alco-hol (poison) it will clot. Measure sugar allowing 3/4 cup to each cup of measured juice — measur-ing very accurately. (That is 3 cups juice require 2 cups sugar.) Add sugar slowly. Boil hard re-moving scum. To test for doneness dip large spoon in syrup. If it sheets or drops in 2 drops it is ready to pour into sterile glasses. Cover with 2 coatings hot paraf-fin. You may add lemon juice as part of the fruit juice if you wish.

"HEADCHEESE" LOAF

Genuine headcheese is made from pork head as you know. This is a popular imitation. Buy 2 or 3 pork hocks weighing 4 or 6 lbs. wash them well, put in kettle just covered with boiling water, add 1 slice of onion, 1 bay leaf, 12 pep-per berries and simmer until ten-der, covered, and meat falls from bones. Lift meat from liquid, let it cool enough to remove bones and rind. Chop meat finely, using some of the gelatinous gristle. Strain liquid and measure liquid. Let us suppose you have 4 cups liquid. Soak 4 tablespoons gela-tin in 1 cup cold water 5 min-utes. Dissolve it by stirring it over hot water until clear. Add it to the 4 cups strained liquid. Add also 2 teaspoons salt, 1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon lemon juice and if desired a dash of cayenne and 1 teaspoon mono-sodium glutamate. Add this to the chopped or ground meat, stir and pour into small moulds, prefer-ably glass or porcelain. Chill until set. This must be stored as it it were fresh meat.

CRUMPETS

Mix 1 1/2 cups lukewarm water with 1/2 teaspoon each salt and sugar and 1 teaspoon melted butter. Dissolve 1/4 oz. of yeast cake in this mixture. Into this stir enough flour to make a very stiff batter. Beat for 10 minutes adding enough lukewarm milk to make batter just stiff enough to pour. Grease shallow muffin rings and place them on a soapstone or heavy aluminum griddle. Pour batter into rings to 1/4-inch depth. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. turning when brown on under side. (Some good bakers use jar rings for baking crumpets.)

Angel pie will not stick if re-frigerated for 24 hours before cutting. I have mailed dill recipe.

Lip Reading In Training Deaf Best Method

CALGARY (CP)—Elizabeth Ag-new's second chorus of a carrer has proved rewarding. "I wouldn't trade this work for anything in the world," she says.

Miss Agnew is a teacher—but her 11 students in the Eames Short School, one of the first of its kind established in Canada, are deaf.

"I wanted to nurse," she says, "but every time I started training I became ill. So I thought if I couldn't nurse children, I'd teach them."

She advocates lip reading in training the deaf, rather than the manual method in which sign language is used.

"All handicapped people want to be as normal as possible, and it's not normal for ordinary people to use sign language.

BUILD BARRIERS

"We often find that deaf adults who have been taught only the manual method build a barrier around themselves, and these aren't as able to associate and work with others."

Miss Agnew's students range in age from six to 16.

"It is difficult for us to imagine how much concentration deaf chil-dren must apply to the simplest idea in order to assimilate it," she says. "Yet, despite their handi-cap, they are really intelligent, quick and eager to learn, and po-lite."

Miss Agnew says children in her class—not at all bitter about their handicap—are freely mixed as classmates their families and friends.

"Also, in their classes you find a sense of fairness seldom en-countered elsewhere," she says. "Perhaps it's because they've had to hear the many varied opinions of grown-ups."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T TRY TO FORCE A FRIENDSHIP

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am in love with a boy who is in England for two years. He is 26 and I am almost 17, and our families have been good friends for years. He was going with another girl, but before he went overseas he told her not to plan on marrying him.

I want to send him some ciga-rettes for his birthday, if he has written to me by that time. Could you please find a way for me to write him and tell him how much I think of him, and is there any way I can tell what he thinks of me? — B.C.

Dear B.C.:

I advise you not to try and rush things with this chap. It would be very silly indeed for you to write and tell him how much you think of him, or to try to worm out of him what he thinks of you.

Don't be so impatient. Be con-tent to approach developing a friendship with him gradually, so that it will come about naturally, if it is ever to come at all. Otherwise, you may find your acquaintance be-fore the friendship even starts.

I see no reason, however, why you shouldn't write him a nice friendly letter, or send him some cigarettes for his birthday, if you want to. After all, since his family and yours have been good friends for a long time, you must have known each other as you grew up, and so it would be perfectly natural for you to treat him as an old friend. Write him a newsy letter, but keep any romantic remarks out of it. If he is sufficiently in-terested in you to answer, and in-dicate that he would like to hear from you again, you may be sure he'll let you know.

BE A SMART GIRL AND DO WHAT YOU KNOW IS WISE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am almost 16 years old, and because most of my girl friends smoke, I do, too. The problem is that, while my girl friends' moth-ers know they smoke, mine doesn't.

I would like to tell my mother, because I don't like to do anything behind her back, but I know she won't like it and I'm afraid of what she would say.

Can you suggest any solution to my problem? — Connie R.

Dear Connie:

It's only natural, of course, for you to want to do what the other girls do. At the same time, I think it would make you look much smarter if you decided to be differ-ent and not smoke. After all, you're not, yet, even 16, and if your moth-er objects to your smoking at such age, she's entirely right. I rather suspect that you secretly agree with her, but are afraid not to go along with the crowd.

Why not have the courage to be independent? I'll bet there are oth-er girls who'd be delighted to do the same if someone like you set the style. I don't mean for you to be a goody-goody about it, but simply say, whenever it's neces-sary to say anything, that you don't smoke and let it go at that. Peo-ple respect those who think for themselves and just quietly act ac-cordingly.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

KNOCK KNEES AND BOWED LEGS

With the swimming season in the offing, legs must look pretty. Like faces, they can appear young or straight, or graceful contour. They curve outward slightly at the calf-yes, taper to a slim, neat ankle.

Girls and women whose legs are perfectly proportioned are lucky. Usually they are individuals who are interested in outdoor sports that keep them in form. With mus-cles firm, fat cells will not ac-cumulate.

We were meant to live active lives. The woman who loves her soft cushions, who likes to have other people wait on her, need not be surprised if youthful lines de-part and she develops "fatted cal-ves."

The victim of knock knees or bowed legs has a real beauty prob-lem. Both these defects usually de-velops in childhood. The coming years will see fewer of them how-ever. Physical examinations in the early school years keep mothers informed concerning their chil-dren's physical status. If parents are unable to pay for the needed attention there are many clinics which can be of help.

Wrong bone structure of the legs and angles can be due to malnu-trition or lack of sunlight. Now bow-legged children are made to wear special shoes that give prop-er support. If put on early enough, the little legs can be straightened.

More girls than boys suffer from deformities of the legs. Physicians account for this by the fact that small boys are more active, get more strenuous exercise.

Outdoor play creates healthy ap-petite. The child who eats every-thing that is put before him gets all the food elements, vitamins and mineral salts that are necessary for growth. Milk is essential as it and teeth depend for health and contains calcium upon which bones vitality.

Everything is on wheels these days; and here's a free-wheeling bar that can quickly be put into service or rolled away.

Folding Plywood Unit on Wheels Rolls Out at Refreshment Time

A convenient unit for the home handyman with a spare difficulty, the mobile bar shown here can readily be moved from living room to rumpus room as the occasion demands. For the small apartment owner it is the answer to many party problems.

Most easily made from ¾-inch fir plywood, the unit is simple as a box to construct and practically as inexpensive.

Plenty of storage space is provided on inside shelves. A good working top for arranging of hors d'oeuvres, sandwiches, mixing materials and glasses results when the unit is wheeled into action and opened up.

When folded, it still remains a handsome furniture piece, easily stored in a corner to act as a small table when it can be set off with a lamp or vase of flowers.

IN THREE SECTIONS

The mobile bar is built in three sections with the base of each framed with 2 x 3 inch lumber. The sides and tops of ¾ inch fir plywood should be attached with screws. Joints can be glued as well for greater sturdiness. Sides and tops need no framing because the rigidity of the fir plywood provides the required strength.

Shelves can be attached to wood molds or by metal shelf hangers. For a top-quality job the shelves can be rabbeted into the plywood sides, however a small mold makes a strong, clean support and simplifies construction.

Joints can be mortised for a neater finish, however but-joint construction in this folding bar also provides a handsome unit. A 1½ inch kick-back around the base will prevent shoe scuff marks from marring the panel faces.

The few items of hardware involved, including concealed hinges, catches, rubber-caster and shelf hangers are readily obtainable.

Points to Check in That New Home

If you are planning to buy a house it is important to check construction to make sure that the one you choose will give you long years of satisfactory service without excessive cost for maintenance and repair.

Knowing where and what to look for will help the layman recognize tell-tale signs of future trouble, and by the same token, good workmanship. W. A. Nicholson, of the Small House Planning Bureau, suggests starting the inspection in the basement and continuing through the house point by point, as follows:

1. WET BASEMENT FLOOR AND WALLS. Usually traceable to poor drainage and lack of gutters.

2. FOUNDATION CRACKS. Symptoms of more serious faults, such as inadequate footings which have permitted settling. Settling is apt to continue, causing more and larger cracks and affecting the whole structure, even to the roof.

3. CRACKS IN CONCRETE floor, a sign of poor concrete or a thin floor.

4. WOOD POSTS. They should be set on a curb, slightly above the floor, to avoid moisture absorption.

5. WOOD BEAMS. Look for sagging between supports.

6. CROSS BRACING. This is the bracing between joists which should fit tight and be double nailed.

7. FLOOR JOISTS Sagging joists or springy floors are caused by using joists too light for the span.

8. SUBFLOORING. While you are checking joists and bridging see if the subfloor above is laid diagonally.

9. INTERIOR DOORS. See that doors fit the frame, open, shut and latch properly. Look for warped doors.

10 WINDOWS. Try windows for smooth operation and rattles. Loss of heat can be lost around loose windows. Look for water marks around top and bottom of windows, a sure sign of no flashing.

11. PLASTER CRACKS. Sometimes caused by shrinkage when building is new and can be patched. More often caused by settling which may continue to get worse. Diagonal cracks over openings are caused by faulty framing over the opening.

12. INTERIOR TRIM. Look for open joints in casings, baseboard and cabinet work.

13. FINISH FLOORS. Squeaky floors can be traced to improper nailing. Open cracks between boards and uneven floors are bad signs.

14. BLISTERED PAINT. May be caused by a combination of conditions but is the result of moisture in the exterior walls. High inside humidity, condensation and lack of ventilation in exterior wall spaces are problems here.

15. ROOF. A poor shingle job can of course, be corrected, but look for sagging rafters and ridge. If possible check bracing and collar beams, or ties, in the attic. Ceilings should be well insulated and attic ventilation is a must.

16. HEATING SYSTEM. The advice of a heating man would be handy. Try to find out how much fuel was consumed in previous heating seasons.

17. WIRING. Wiring must be adequate to carry the load imposed by present day appliances and the number and location of outlets need to be considered.

18. WOOD FINISHES. Exterior should have two coats of paint over the priming coat. Interior finish should obviously be smooth and attractive.

19. GENERAL APPEARANCE. Poor workmanship always speaks for itself and the impression of general shabbiness is as apparent to the layman as to the expert.

SHELLAC'S DRYING TIME

Shellac is quick drying, hardening dust-free within 10 minutes, but it should not be walked on, even lightly, in less than an hour. For best results, allow at least three hours between first and second coats. If a third coat is desired, allow an overnight drying period.

Who's Who in the Building Trades

WATSON AND WIEGAND

Art and artistry in their most functional forms, fluid expression in architecture. The architect, by inclination, training and practice, is dedicated to the task of solving building problems in the most attractive, most functional and most economical form.

W. A. Watson and M. P. Wiegand of the firm of Watson and Wiegand, 344 Front St., are graduate architects with wide experience in all types of design and construction. Sound business practice in construction of all kinds, and especially for home builders with limited experience, dictates the advisability of consulting them before committing money, time and property to a building project.

Watson and Wiegand begin their services by interviewing the client to ascertain his needs, his wants, and his ability to finance his project. They help their clients to select the most suitable site.

PLANS AND DRAWINGS

Sketch plans, rough plans of the projected construction, are prepared on the basis of the interview and the conditions of the site; and are accompanied by perspective drawings to give the client an idea of the appearance of the completed building. These Plans and drawings crystallize the client's ideas and bring out more concrete and specific detail. They also give the architect an opportunity to explain to the client why some features are not structurally sound or economically practical.

Sketch plans are easily revised until they satisfy both the client and the architect.

Watson and Wiegand design all homes to conform with local housing and zoning by-laws, and according to regulations and recommendations in the building codes, electrical and plumbing codes, and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation when these apply.

They prepare specifications — detailed written descriptions of all materials and types of workmanship to be used in construction.

SUPERVISE CONSTRUCTION

The architect can be retained to supervise construction. This service includes progress checks to see that the building is built in accordance with specifications. It will also certify the accounts with the contractor relieving the owner of the worry and responsibility of dealing with trades and materials with which he may not be familiar.

Watson and Wiegand, well known for design and construction supervision of schools, offices and factories, like to work on homes because of the satisfaction which they derive in solving the interesting problems inherent in home construction. Because they are in constant touch with the leading builders' supply houses in Canada and the United States, Watson and Wiegand are prepared to advise clients about latest building materials and methods.

If you have a design or construction problem you can depend on Watson and Wiegand for sound, sensible, expert advice, and completely satisfactory service in any and all phases of planning and building.

Build It Yourself!

Farmers, and others with small utility buildings, have found that one of the best ways to cut the cost of building and repairing is to employ hardboard of the type marketed by Abitibi as a by-product of the newsprint industry.

This hardboard, an Ontario-made product, is made in different grades for exterior and interior application. It is tough, durable, and resistant to moisture and can be sawn, planed, nailed, glued, finished with wax or stain or any grade of paint. Hardboard works as easily as lumber but is more economical because of its low cost, and because of the ease with which it can be handled since it comes in panels mostly from 8 to 16 feet long and 4 feet wide, with some grades offered also in 4-foot lengths.

For exterior use on buildings exposed to the wide range of temperature in this part of the country, Abitibi recommends its Treated Grade in thickness ranging from ¼ to ¼ of an inch. For interior use, where there is no exposure to excessive moisture and wear, Standard Grade is recommended with similar thicknesses.

This type of material is ideal for garages, utility sheds, milk storage, tool sheds, chicken coops, granaries and other farm construction. And it is good, too, for the farmhouse itself; indeed, for any use where the ravages of rain, hail, sleet and snow have to be considered.

Hardboard is available from lumber dealers who will discuss the needs of any customer and provide the type of board best suited for the purpose intended.

FOR THE SMALL FAMILY

CEDAR SHAKES, vertical wood siding and brick veneer make a colorful contrast for the exterior of H-336-KF. High windows of the front of the house, which gains interest with a gable over the living room-bedroom area, and length via the attached garage.

THE KITCHEN IS CLOSE to the front entry, so the living room is not subject to traffic. Bedrooms are on the right side of the house.

Small and compact, the other house shown, H-336-KF, is a light airy design with an extremely good floor plan. The house is divided efficiently for living and sleeping.

Both bedrooms are at the right side of the house, accessible through a hallway from the living room. When the hallway door is closed, complete privacy can be achieved. Closet space is good in the bedrooms, which are separated by a bath.

THE FRONT ENTRANCE

The front entrance opens on the living room, but the kitchen is just a step away, which will save wear and tear on the living room carpet, since it needn't be used as a traffic lane to the door. Corner windows are featured in the living room, and again in the bedrooms, making for very excellent cross ventilation.

BASEMENT STAIRS

The kitchen has plenty of table space and room for storage. Only a few steps away from the kitchen are stairs to the basement and the rear door.

All rooms are compact and there's a minimum of wasted space. All told, Design H-336 comprises 17,335 cubic feet.

Plan Hunting Much Like House Hunt

By J. E. ERICKSON
Small Home Planning Bureau

Plan hunting is much like house hunting. In both you are looking for a suitable home for your family. The type of plan you are looking for depends on your building budget, family needs and your taste.

Early in your search you must decide on the general arrangements, number of bedrooms required, whether or not you will want separate dining room, breezeway and attached garage. This will narrow the field and reduce the number of plans you will want to study.

In any house certain fundamental principles will make the operation of a household simpler and easier. Foremost of these is free circulation between rooms ,the ability to reach any room without first passing through another room. This may call for a little more hall, but is well worth it.

The kitchen, if properly planned, is the place where most of the drudgery of housekeeping can be eliminated. Refrigerator, sink and range should be located so a natural sequence is set up in the movement of food from storage to preparation to cooking. Space for eating in the kitchen is a must.

A small bathroom is normal for a small house but a recessed tub, away from the window, is a most desirable feature.

Bedroom size depend on personal preference and the amount of furniture to be used. Check wall space for beds. You may want two possible bedwalls to provide for the almost inevitable shifting of furniture.

The success of a plan depends a great deal on the closet space available; "a place to put things". One of the most important closets is one near the side or rear entrance where family traffic is heaviest. Do not overlook linen, storage and bedroom closets.

Use of picture window, or window wall, depends on the degree of privacy you want and the location or facing of your lot. o'or living room

Colors Play Big Part In Modernization Jobs

Good color is as important to a remodelled house as it is to a new home.

"Real modernization of a house without an attractive job of color styling the exterior is impossible," says Beatrice West, color consultant to professional builders. "The planned use of color is an essential part of all home design today," she says.

Here is Miss West's basic color guide for the two main exterior areas of a house — the roof and sidewalls:

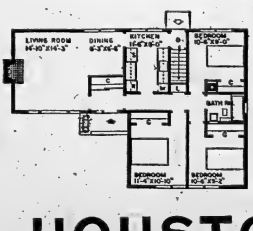
"The roof is generally the largest unbroken area visible. The color is the key to colors you may use elsewhere on the house. You have a wide range of selection in modern asphalt shingles. But make that selection with care. Be sure your liking for the roof color will last as long as the roof itself. A house may need painting every four or five years, but its roof is expected to last 15 to 20 years.

"A light, bright roof will make a house appear taller than it really is. A dark roof makes a house seem shorter. Use light-colored roofs on one-storey houses, darker roofs on two-storey houses.

"Sidewalls should be colored to harmonize with the roof. If the roof is light in color, keep the sidewalls light. If the roof is medium to dark in color, the wall may be in those ranges.

"In general, contrasts between a roof and siding should be subtle. To give a house bigness, choose a light, bright asphalt roof and bright siding. To make a big house appear smaller, use subdued colors.

"Choose siding with horizontal lines to make a house look longer. Vertical siding lines add to the appearance of height.



"Paint adds mods on small houses to match the sidewall color. Don't use many different siding materials on one house. A combination of colors, patterns and textures can be unpleasant. Don't try to achieve glamor with brick and stone on the same house. Use one or the other."

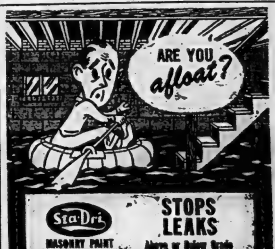
NHA-SMALL HOUSE DESIGNS—With the popularity of bungalows growing in Canada year by year, this three-bedroom house designed by architect A. McPhalen of Ottawa, should prove attractive to prospective home-owners. The L-shape of the house lends itself to good interior layout as evidenced by the complete separation of living and sleeping areas and good circulation between rooms.

The location of the fireplace provides for good furniture arrangement while the well-lighted dining area is handy to the kitchen. The rear entrance provides direct access to the basement. The exterior aspect of the house is enhanced by the living room and bedroom window arrangements and the sidelighting at the front entrance.



The total floor area is 952 square feet while the cubic measurement is 11,900 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 34 feet by 29 feet, six inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 236, may be obtained from Houston's.

Tennis Club Discusses Budgeting

CAMPBELLFORD — The annual meeting of the Campbellford Tennis Club met in the Council Chambers with about 20 present, from public school age and up.

Last year's president, Mr. Kenneth Kingston, gave a resume of the situation of the courts with a new season about to open. He said that he had never seen the grounds and facilities in better shape. Hot ewers a single light had failed through the rough, windy fall and winter, and there is plenty of new fencing on hand to replace little spots which had rusted through.

NEW NETS

In addition, there are new nets ready to install on all three courts when the danger of snow has passed for the season. He advised a system of "cyclical budgeting" in reference to the financial operating of the club, that is, he explained, reserving money this year for a season when expenses are certain to be higher, and fees kept on a fairly even keel from year to year. The club house is in grave need of attention, and it was suggested that some improvement could be made to make the building at least serviceable with little expense, if members would arrange to do the work themselves.

The president also stated that while he regretted that an invitation to enter the Bay of Quinte Tennis League would have to be shelved for this year, at least, he felt that friendly home-and-home games for inter-club social activities could perhaps be mutually arranged with Point Anne, Belleville Quinte Club, and Peterborough Quaker Club.

REPAINT LINES

In concluding, the president advised that the lines on the courts be repainted this year with top-quality paint. Prospects for an even better season than the very satisfactory one of a year ago appear quite bright, and tennis generally seems to be on the upswing in Campbellford.

The retiring secretary-treasurer, Anne Nicholls, rendered a financial report which indicated a favorable bank balance of $50.09.

HONORARY PRESIDENT

Captain Harry R. Pyes, World War I flyer, and Seymour West, farmer, was named honorary president of the club, a post which has been accorded him annually in recognition of his long and outstanding service to tennis ever since the local courts were laid following the return of the boys from Flanders in the First World War.

Other officers chosen for 1955 were: president, Ken Kingston; vice-president, Peter Edwards; secretary-treasurer, Paul J. Coughlan; chairman of the grounds committee, Robert Anderson; chairman of social and refreshment committee, Mrs. Robt. (Vi) Anderson; High School student representatives, boys: Ron Pierce and girls: Sandra McDonald.

FEES SCHEDULE

A simplified schedule of fees was set for 1955, after some discussion on the subject. There was a change from last year in that that special couples fee was abolished. Fees were set at a straight $4 per person, with the exception of high or public school students, who qualify for membership and the right to use the courts for the usual nominal sum of $1 per boy or girl. Fees may be paid to, and membership cards received from any of the following: Paul J. Coughlan, Anne Nicholls, at the Bank of Montreal, Ken Kingston, Ron Pierce or Sandra McDonald. Deadline for fees is the month of May.

A vote of thanks was moved to the Public Utilities Commission, and to Mr. Rothwell, principal of the public school, for their generosity on behalf of the recreational facilities for tennis, and a further motion that the kind offer of the latter to arrange for public school boys to repaint the lines on the courts this spring, with the club supplying materials, was graciously accepted.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG—Several from Thomasburg attended the church service in Moira United Church on Friday morning. This was also a communion service, the Rev. C. R. Chapman officiating.

There was an afternoon service in Christ Church on Friday. The Rev. G. Walker, Camden East, conducted the service.

Funeral services for the late George Hamilton were held Friday afternoon from the United Church, Thomasburg. The Rev. R. C. Chapman officiated. Many one-time neighbors attended the service. Mr. Hanbary's family lived here several years. This was his birthplace and Thomasburg school was where he received his education.

The Thomasburg Sunday School recently sponsored a play "The Absent Minded Professor," presented by the Young People of Stockdale, a well-filled hall and an appreciative audience attested to the success of the entertainment.

The early morning Easter Sunday communion service in Christ Church was well attended. The Rev. G. Walker officiated.

The united congregations of Moira and Thomasburg filled almost to capacity the United Church for the Easter Sunday evening service. The Rev. C. R. Chapman's impressive address was "The Resurrection, the Gift of Eternal Life." The United choirs of Thomasburg and Moira and the Junior Choir were much appreciated in their service of song, as was Mrs. Chapman's solo, "The Holy City." The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was a fitting observance to end what was an impressive Easter service.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morton were hosts to a dinner Easter Sunday when they entertained their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Latchford and their sisters Barbara and Janet.

Mr. and Mrs. Taverner and Miss Edith of Napanee were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Elliott. Friends were pleased to hear of Edith's improvement in health and best wishes go to her for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Porter of Toronto were week-end guests of his sister, Miss Emma Porter. While here Mr. Porter attended the funeral services of the late George Embury. Mr. Porter and Mr. Embury were pupils in Thomasburg school at one time.

Miss Verna Morton of Toronto visited with relatives here over the Easter week-end. She returned to Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. B. Porter on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Richardson and children of Stirling, were Sunday guests of Mrs. H. B. Richardson.

Mrs. Shay is spending the holidays in Toronto, the guest of her son and daughter-in-law and daughter, Mrs. R. Guenion.

'No More Todas Babies Unless You Give Us Land' Ultimatum

By V. M. NAIR

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The Todas of the Blue mountains have issued an ultimatum to the government: "No more Toda babies unless you give us land."

Their threat has caused concern. Fed while other Indians are being encouraged to reduce their families, sociologists and social workers have for years regarded with elation the birth of each new Toda child.

The Todas of the Nilgiri hills, with their blue eyes and Roman noses, are not only an anthropological oddity in the midst of South India's dark-skinned, dark-eyed Dravidians, but they are also one of the smallest and most carefully cherished things living on the Indian sub-continent. Their total number today is only about 536.

DWINDLED TO 475

Two years ago, the Todas' numbers had dwindled to 475. Disease, polyandry and female infanticide were wiping out the tribe. Government and welfare workers stepped in. Mobile medical units were dispatched to tour the Todas' barrel-shaped mud houses.

Women welfare workers taught child care and fought against female infanticide (the killing of baby girls) and polyandry (several husbands for one woman).

Their efforts achieved results. Infanticide is rarely practised, while polyandry is reported on the wane.

But the Todas, well aware of the government's anxiety to protect their tribe from extinction, have also found in it an effective weapon. A deputation recently visited the state capital at Madras to demand ownership of the land they cultivate. Otherwise, they said, they would not beget more children.

The Todas are a puzzling race. Their ancestry has not so far been established, although it has been subjected to years of research.

ROMANS OR HEBREWS?

Some anthropologists record the Roman noses and flowing robes of the Todas as an indication they are the last remnants of some ancient colony of Romans. Another group takes the view that Todas are members of a lost tribe of Hebrews. Still others say they are descendants of Scythians from central Asia, who invaded India in the second century before Christ.

Whatever the origin, there is no dispute about the Todas' individuality among millions of south Indians. The men of the tribe are tall, sturdy, with piercing blue eyes, Roman noses, fair skins and finely-chiselled features. They are some of the best-looking men in India today.

Their social customs and rituals, too, are different from those of other Indians. The Todas worship the buffalo. Dairies are the temples and the form of worship is linked with the milking ritual. Only a selected few men are allowed to milk buffalo. They are the priests of the community.

The Todas worship only female buffalo. The male is treated like any other animal.

Because the Todas used to kill girl children, there are only three women to every five men and it has been customary for a girl to marry several brothers.

Roslin

ROSLIN—Easter holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Alford were: Mr. and Mrs. Alford Thompson and infant son of Hamilton, and Messrs. Phillip and Howard Watson and Dawn Curtis of Wooler.

Rev. L. G. O. Walker, conducted a special service on Good Friday morning in St. Paul's Anglican Church, which was well attended.

On Easter Sunday the services in the three village churches were well attended. Easter flowers and special music were used.

Stirling

PRESENTATION

STIRLING—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bateman attended a presentation on Friday evening at Havelock L.O.L. No. 328 for Bt. Wor. Bro. Richard Sanderson, Grand Master of Ontario East.

A good program was enjoyed. Past President Fred Bateman gave an address.

The Havelock lodge members presented Dick Sanderson with a silver cake plate and Mrs. Sanderson was the recipient of a bouquet of daffodils and carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bateman returned to Stirling following the program and attended another gathering which ended in a birthday surprise.

Miss Margaret Eggleton, of Grimsby is holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eggleton.

Mr. Grant Richardson and a group of other young folk from the Stirling area recently attended a banquet at Thurlow. The special speaker was Padre W. A. Young, of O.A.C. Guelph.

'Thank God' Says Man Voted Pension After 19 Years in Jail For Crime He Didn't Commit

SUBMIT TO TESTS TO END RUMORS

To put an end to false rumors said to be circulating in Toronto, reflecting upon himself, William MacLeod, top, accompanied by his wife, above, journeyed to Ottawa to voluntarily submit to a detector test which was also given to his wife. Mr. MacLeod is the ex-partner of 10-year-old Judy Carter, who was found strangled to death near Markham, Ont., six weeks after her disappearance from a street near her home. Referring to results of tests, which will not be made public, nor will be admissible in Canadian courts, Mr. MacLeod said: "I am satisfied that when the graphs have been carefully studied my innocence will be completely established."—Central Press Canadian.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A man who went through 19 years of hurt and humiliation in Minnesota prisons will within a few weeks earn the final reward of a plodding justice.

Slender Leonard Hankins of Dawson Springs, Ky., will accept the first of $300 monthly pension cheques, Minnesota's payment for the years of suffering it inflicted on an innocent man.

Hankins will accept it with gratitude, some disappointment and no bitterness.

"It's enough to live on," the 39-year-old southerner said in a resonant drawl that carried no rancor.

A bill providing Hankins with $300 a month for the rest of his life has been passed by both houses of Minnesota legislature. When a number of other unrelated claims were added by a conference committee, the bill goes to the governor. Hankins' payments would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

WANTS TO FORGET

"I thank God that the legislature did as much for me as it did," Hankins said. "The only thing for me to do now is to put all of those terrible years behind me. I don't want to think of them."

Hankins was pardoned in 1951, years after mention to pack Bunker-Karpis gang which held up a bank in Minneapolis and killed two policemen in 1932, had confessed Hankins had no part in the bank robbery.

Hankins, because shaky circumstances pointed to him, was convicted Feb. 6, 1933, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Jo Ahern, wife of Jesse Doyle, a member of the Barker gang, disappeared from her home during hearings followed. Several times Hankins was promised his freedom.

Hankins won his release largely through efforts of his sister, Mrs. Della Lowery, Jack MacKay, St. Paul correspondent for The Associated Press, and Joseph Ryan, former Minneapolis detective. Mrs. Lowery was granted $10,000 by the legislators as partial recompense for money spent in gaining her brother's release.

Ceaseless Patrol Maintained By Section Crews

LAKE LOUISE, Alta. (CP)—Death lurks around every corner on a two-mile stretch of railway track which twists through the Rocky Mountains between Lake Louise, Alta., and Field, B.C.

Poised high above the right-of-way, is snow piled many feet deep over jagged boulders. The slightest push or jar would send tons of snow and rock roaring down to the tracks below.

But for more than a quarter of a century there have been no fatalities as a result of an avalanche on this stretch of the Canadian Pacific Railway line. The reason: the railway keeps a constant vigil. Section crews and track walkers maintain a ceaseless patrol watching for any threatening snow mass.

Electric wires are stretched across the path of the slides. When an avalanche occurs, the wires are flattened and warning signals are tripped. Oncoming trains wait for the all-clear signal from railway crews before proceeding.

"Sugar sliders" are another hazard maintenance crews watch for. The "sugar" is fine frozen snow, blown off the mountain tops by strong easterly winds on to the tracks below.

When these slides start, two snow plows, one on each end of a locomotive, start shuttling back and forth to keep the track clear.

If "sugar" is allowed to pack firmly on the tracks, no snow plow could dislodge it. One plow which tried to do so, coasted over the slanting side of the drift and tumbled into the valley below.

But safety measures aren't confined only to the winter time. Danger rocks the mountain sides periodically during summer months to dislodge any threatening masses of rock that could precipitate an avalanche.

Burma's Capital Bulges Today With Premiers

RANGOON (AP)—Burma's capital bulged today with premiers here or in the offing. Indian Prime Minister Nehru and Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser were due by plane this afternoon from New Delhi by the Burmese Red Cross Communist China and U Nu of Burma.

All four are scheduled to fly together to Indonesia, Saturday for the Asian-African conference. Conferences of Nehru and Nu are two of the five conference hosts.

Premier Nasser took off this morning from New Delhi, where Nehru has been for the past week discussing what is likely to happen when Egyptian troops and bases their delegations will take there.

Chou arrived in Rangoon by Indian airliner yesterday for similar pre-conference talks with the Burmese premier.

NEW SPIRIT SHOWN

Before taking off from New Delhi, Nehru told reporters at the airport that the 29-nation conference in Indonesia "represents the new spirit of Asia, which itself was born out of the fire of the times."

At a dinner in honor of Nasser Thursday night, Nehru said he hopes the Bandung conference will produce a turn in world affairs which will lead to reduction of the conflicts and hatreds of today."

Traveling with Nehru, Nasser and their delegations were Afghanistan's deputy premier and foreign minister, Sardar Mohammed Naim, and his aides.

Canada Set to Prevent Salk Vaccine Bootlegging--Martin

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has taken steps to prevent bootlegging in Canada of the Salk vaccine and will work with the U.S. for more preventive until the country's shots are ready.

Health Minister Martin said in an interview Thursday no time will be lost in getting sufficient production ready for a countrywide mass immunization campaign.

"But naturally we are anxious to get Canadian children—especially first," he said. "Any supplies that remain we will share with the world."

Present plans call for the inoculation of perhaps 1,000,000. Canadian youngsters first.

TWO CANADIAN SOURCES

The vaccine will come mainly from the University of Toronto's Connaught Laboratories which has produced doses for about 600,000 persons so far.

Another supplier, the University of Montreal's Institute of Microbiology, is expected to start production next September. Two United States commercial drug companies, with Canadian branches, have been licensed to sell the vaccine in Canada.

The U.S., facing a shortage, has except to Canada.

But Canada has no such firm ban, Mr. Martin said that under Canada-U.S. agreements any item produced by the U.S. and shipped to Canada, cannot be exported without a federal licence. No Canadian export licences would be granted.

"No one can tell just when we will be able to export," he added.

Canadian supplies likely will be short of the demand for some months. There are about 5,300,000 children of 16 years and under in Canada.

Flowers Taken To Queen, Makes Little Boy Happy

BURNLEY, England (Reuters)—A small boy stood sobbing by the roadside here Thursday because the Queen, making a two-day visit of the Lancashire cotton district, unintentionally spurned his tribute of roses.

But the incident came out all right after all.

There the sovereign was — a beautiful lady riding in a shiny car and smiling at the growing throngs lined up along the route. There he was—a tot no taller than six-year-old Prince Charles—eager to make his courtly gesture to the queen.

He stood at the roadside clutching four cream-colored roses, their prickly stems carefully wound in silver foil. He was just about to offer them to the Queen when she turned to acknowledge the cheers of the crowd on the opposite side.

The boy wailed. He lowered the fistful of roses and let them drop in the dust.

The Queen looked back at the tiny, sad figure and quickly passed a message to a lady-in-waiting in the car following as the grown-ups lined up along the route. There he was—a tot no taller than six-year-old Prince Charles—eager to make his courtly gesture to the

Clumsy Hunters Skin Seals Alive Doctor Declares

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A doctor said today he found cruelty to animals and intolerable living conditions on his trip with the Newfoundland sealing fleet this season.

Dr. Joe Cunningham said he found the methods of radio station CENW New Westminster to the Southern Co. Ltd., following a breakdown caused by overwork. The sale is subject to approval of the CBC board of governors.

In 1944 Mr. Rea was permission to operate a little 250-watt, $30,000 station in the rural city. Everyone on the staff worked hard but Bill Rea outworked them all.

His own four hours on the air included a "Roving Mike" program and three other separate shows.

Bill Hughes, present station manager, can recall Mr. Rea at work.

"I remember," said Mr. Hughes. "Bill talking on the phone to Telsun, giving instructions to station hands; doing dedications, spinning records and drinking the sponsor's coffee. He was fantastic."

But the window went such stock radio money-makers as soap operas, giveaways and cops-and-robbers drama.

He drew on his training in the early 1930s when he was "emcee," singer, guitar player, and string man in Harry Hall's struggling 5-man hill-billy band.

"Those hillbilly songs are a whole lot better," he used to tell the staff. "Such songs all tell a story; you always know what's going about the outdoors."

So Mr. Rea, who was convinced radio listeners were more interested in flower shows and lost children than in the International situation, built CKNW into what he called the "top dog" in British Columbia radio.

It won international recognition as one of the outstanding stations on the continent.

Mr. Rea branched out in several directions but collapsed under the pressure when disaster struck his operation twice.

The CKNW studios here were gutted by a $70,000 fire and the bottom fell out of Mr. Rea's television appliance firm costing him $100,000.

On doctor's orders, he left the business and moved with his family to Santa Barbara, Calif., where the "live wire with the mike" still shows enough voltage to keep an average man fully occupied.

During his convalescence he completed a TV and movie course and now is studying photography.

He also has been active in serving as a YMCA director and handling community chest publicity in Santa Barbara.

Built Fantastic Radio Empire, Cashes in for Cool Million

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—A radio empire built from a guitar string and some "fantastic ideas" has been cashed in here for an estimated $1,000,000.

William (Bill) Rea, Jr., first became interested in radio while attending Victoria High School in Edmonton. Last month Mr. Rea, 46, announced the sale of radio station CKNW New Westminster to the Southern Co. Ltd., following a breakdown caused by overwork. The sale is subject to approval of the CBC board of governors.

In 1944 Mr. Rea was permission to operate a little 250-watt, $30,000 station in the rural city. Everyone on the staff worked hard but Bill Rea outworked them all.

some 400 of them died at a London airport recently has already been relaxed.

"I feel sure that my country will only be too delighted to co-operate in the development of this great boon for mankind," he said.

The vaccine is manufactured in the living tissue of monkey kidneys. The University of Toronto's Connaught Laboratories developed a synthesis of 61 chemicals in which the tissue is placed for large-scale production of the vaccine.

Verandah Will Become Stage For Drama, Music

OTTAWA (CP)—The verandah of the late prime minister Mackenzie King's summer home at nearby Kingsmere will become an open air stage for drama and music next summer.

The Kingsmere Festival of the Arts has planned for its first season, July 15-Aug. 28, a series of six plays, five one-hour concerts and informal ballet and art classes.

Festival president, H. S. McGregor, historian now working on Mr. King's memoirs has announced new play will be presented every week during the festival. Eugene Young of Montreal has been appointed producer and director.

The selection of plays will be announced later, but at least two will be Canadian plays, including one in French.

The Sunday afternoon concerts will be given by two orchestral groups, the St. George's cathedral choir of Kingston, and the Palestrina choir of Ottawa.

Mr. King bequeathed his Kingsmere estate to the people of Canada and it is administered by the federal district commission.

India to Provide Monkeys Needed For Salk Vaccine

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is not expected to have any trouble getting the rhesus monkeys from India necessary for manufacture of the polio-killing Salk vaccine.

Dr. C. Gupta, first secretary of the Indian high commissioner's office, says he is sure India will co-operate fully in making available the monkeys from which the vaccine is developed.

He said a ban imposed by India on exports of the monkeys after

The best of Tall Tales

When a well known billiards champion joined a rifle shooting club everyone expected him to show a high standard of marksmanship. After all, it was a steady hand and a good "eye" that had made him famous. But somehow he couldn't even hit the target.

Then one day he scored ten points out of a possible ten at 1,500 yards. Everyone wanted to know the reason for the terrific improvement in his aim. "S'easy now I've got the hang of it", he told them. "I'm playing it just like billiards . . . and bouncing the bullets off that rock out there on the range."

Decimal Currency to Replace Present Money in South Africa

By ASTLEY HAWKINS

CAPE TOWN (Reuters)— South Africans may be packing "riddlelars" into their pockets if the government adopts recommendations that a decimal currency replace pounds, shillings and pence.

The South African bureau of standards advised the change in a report completed after nearly years' investigation into the most suitable currency for South Africa. Its implication involves one of the biggest accounting upheavals any country ever faced. No other country has tried such a step in modern times.

Riddlelars, meaning literally "dollar of the realm," originated in Europe as a general term for early Dutch, German and Scandinavian silver coins. Today's proposed value for a South African riddlelar would be 10 shillings sterling ($2.40).

Country-wide conversion, estimated to cost South Africa $3,000,000—or 16,000,000 riddlelars—is considered practicable by the experts if a three-year preparation period precedes the change.

UP TO GOVERNMENT

South Africa's Nationalist government must now make up its mind about it.

In its 72-page report, the South African bureau of standards gives some idea of what the switch in currency would mean for a highly industrialized country now geared to thinking, talking, buying and selling in terms of pounds, half-crowns, "bobs" (shillings), "tanners" (sixpences) and "tickeys" (threepenny pieces).

Under the recommended system based on one riddlelar for 10 shillings, South Africans would have to get used to working in riddlelar notes of various denominations and a variety of silver and copper coins for cent values. There would be notes ranging from one riddlelar to 100 riddlelars, silver coins for 50 cents, 25 cents, 10 cents, five cents and 2.5 cents, with copper coins for one cent, a half cent and a quarter cent.

The bureau's report recommended that all existing silver coins should at first be kept in circulation at unchanged values. New silver coins would display both decimal designations and their equivalent in shillings as long as necessary. Pennies, halfpennies and farthings in copper would be replaced by similar coins in near-equivalent cent values.

All the possible effects of the change have been investigated by the bureau. Schools and school books will be vitally affected. New ones may have to be printed. All the South African post office thousands of forms will have to be changed from most of the old ones catering for pounds, shillings and pence might be worked off in the three-year preparation period.

Government departments, banks, offices, shops, even the harassed housekeeper working out his domestic budget, will have to review their accounting systems. Tickets for buses, streetcars and trains can be overprinted, however, and machines taking current coins will also be affected as the proposed new currency would be identical in size and weight.

Ma was sighing sad sighs to herself, and I said, G, ma, what's a matter?

Oh, nothing that I can tell you about, ma said, and I said, Why, is it a secret?

Well no, I just meen you wouldn't understand if I told you, ma said, and I said, Why wouldn't I, ma? Can't you say it in English? I said.

Certainly I can, silly, ma said, and I said, Then why wouldn't I understand it?

Oh, it's just too deep, ma said. It's simply over your head and beyond your depth, she said, and I said, Do you meen if you try to tell me, it will come out something like Chinese?

I meen it wont come out at all, because there are things you simply can't have any idea about at your age, so there's no use pursuing the subject further, ma said, and I said, Aw G, ma, go ahead and tell me, just to see if I even understand any part of it.

Well now, come to think of it, no wonder I can't tell you, ma said, and I said, Why, ma?

Because there's nothing to tell, really, ma said. I'm simply in an undigested mood, ma said, and I said, Do you meen you feel blue, ma?

Well yes, you might say that, ma said, and I said, Oh boy, ma, after all that argument, I told you instead of you telling me.

So you did, ma said.

And she laffed like somebody feeling perfect again.

Proving it was a good thing I asked her.

Detroit Red Wings Take Stanley Cup With 3-1 Defeat Of Canadiens

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

A BIG MOMENT!

There is one question you can ask anyone—and ninety-nine times out of a hundred you will get an answer.

"What was the biggest thrill of your life?"

The sweet young thing will tell you it was the day she got the diamond from the boy friends. He will say "the day she accepted it."

KEITH McDONALD

Fisherman, hunters, in fact people in all walks of life, have had their big moments. Sportsmen will tell of home runs, holes-in-one, the goal scored with a second to go; a 106-yard touchdown run, monster fish that did not get away; and so on.

We are not aware of the big moment in the life of Keith MacDonald, Bellerville's senior hockey and baseball star, who has been named the city's "Athlete of the Year" for 1954 but when the popular athlete is presented with two handsome trophies at the Canadian Legion Trade Fair Saturday night, it will go down in his personal archives as, at least, one of the biggest incidents in a colorful athletic career.

The presentation will be made at 9.15 in the Bridge Street Armouries with Eric Nesterenko, well known star of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey club, handing Keith the big trophy. Vernon Goyer, another versatile Belleville athlete and first winner of the 'Athlete of the Year' trophy will present Keith with a miniature of the cup which will be his permanent possession.

The trophies are on display in a colorful setting in the window of Paul Mercier's Front Street jewelry store. Paul has arranged a fine display in tribute to Keith and the arrangement has attracted plenty of attention.

The Athlete of the Year Selection Committee has apparently made the general choice in naming Keith for the 1954 honors. There has not been a dissenting voice since the announcement was made. Perhaps the finest tribute came from Vern Goyer, who missed the honor by a few points. "It could not have been awarded to a more deserving fellow than Keith," he said. "It will be an honor for me to present the miniature to him."

MacDonald was the unanimous choice of the committee after several names were taken into consideration. Athletes from all phases of sport were considered.

While versatility has been a prominent factor in the selection of the trophy winners in the past, the committee desires it to be clearly understood that an exceptional performance in one field of sport will warrant the trophy. For instance, if a roller skier won the Canadian championship or prominent district championship; if a swimmer comes up with an outstanding achievement, provincial championships, etc.

As has been stated before the committee has included in the presentation constitution, that all future presentations will be made in Belleville at a public function, no matter the sponsor. The winner will be selected at the end of the senior hockey schedule, and presentations made as soon as possible following the naming of the winner.

Meanwhile this department in conjunction with city and district sportsdom, extends sincere congratulations to Keith 'not only for the honor extended him, but his fine sportsmanlike attitude and ability in many fields of sport. As Vern Goyer said, "It could not have been awarded to a more deserving fellow."

RARE DEAD HEAT

It has never happened here before, according to veterans of the sport who claim it is not likely to happen again.

In short, two bowlers of the Major "A" League each bowled 24 games and ended with identical pinfalls of 19,754, and the same average of 823.1.

Ron Saylor (Schwabs) and Art Atkin (Belleville Golf) ran the seasonal schedule course practically neck-and-neck, and it looked like a photo finish. However the camera was not necessary since they broke the tape closer than your next two breaths.

Nearing the wire it looked as though Art might pull out ahead. With 81 games under their belts and three to play, Atkin led Saylor by one point. When the last three games were ended Ron had rolled an 838 with Art coming up with a 798. These figures added to the seasonal pinfall brought their totals to 19,754.

Now it looks like the boss-men of the Major "A" League will have to come up with duplicate prizes.

Peewee Hockey

GODERICH (CP)—Temiskaming downed Aylmer 6-2 Thursday night to capture the class B championship in the 45th annual minor Canada week pee wee hockey tournament.

The victory means the northern Quebec youngsters will face off against Shallow Lake, Owen Sound district winner of the D series title, in the first game of the grand championship Saturday.

Robinson paced Temiskaming with three markers. Cowper tallied twice and Ryan got one. Dalley and Cline scored for Aylmer.

Temiskaming advanced into the B final after trouncing St. Marys 16-3. Aylmer clipped Exeter 4-2.

In AA series games Thursday, winds up with the A and AA finals.

Toronto dropped Kingston 9-3. Rathgate led the Toronto scoring parade with three goals and one assist. Weeks was next with two goals and three assists. Singles went to Abbott, Martin, Bennett and Brady. Robertson, Boutilier and Steen counted for Kingston.

Winnipeg swamped Welland 14-1. Taylor, Clark and Cruikshank counted three apiece for Winnipeg. Price notched two. Asmundson, Tarasuik and Mooney scored one each. McPherson fired Welland's lone goal.

Hergott fired three markers to pace Waterloo to a 7-1 win over Oshawa. Stratford edged Woodstock 3-2. Galt overpowered Owen Sound 6-2 and East York defeated Chatham 6-3.

The tournament continues today with play in the A and AA series and winds up with the A and AA finals.

Delvecchio Toast of Town With Fine Two-Goal Effort; Gordie Howe Sets New Record

By W. R. WHEATLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

DETROIT (CP) — Detroit Red Wings today reigned as world hockey champions, and the toast of the town was a 25-year-old crew cut centre, Alex Delvecchio, who had a big hand in Detroit's 3-1 win in the deciding game Thursday night.

The Red Wings had too much power for the hard-trying Montreal Canadiens in the seventh contest of the Stanley Cup series. The two clubs each had won three games at home prior to Thursday's do-or-die meeting.

Delvecchio, a native of Fort William, sparked the Wings' triumph with two goals, one in the second period and one in the third. Between them came a goal by the formidable Gordie Howe. Floyd Curry kept the Habitants from biting that out by scoring less than six minutes from the game's end. Presentation of the Stanley Cup to the Wings at centre ice wound up the bitterly fought series in which all victories were scored on home ice.

GREAT PLAYOFF TEAM

It was the third time the two teams have met in the final and the third win for the Canadiens. Only once in five cup semi-finals had Montreal scored a win over Detroit.

Thursday night's game had a tendency almost to be a bore at times but it nevertheless was an all-out, hard hitting affair that went to the Red Wings by right of superiority.

The man who probably created most havoc with his checking in their efforts to get a sustained offence rolling was little Tony Leswick. The tough winger scooted all over the ice and tirelessly disorganized Montreal's big scoring line of Boom Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Bert Olmstead.

Curry and his linemates, Ken Mosdell and Calum Mackay, were the most effective on the Canadiens' offensive thrusts. Defensively, Canadiens' forwards weren't as consistently good as those of Detroit.

At 7:12 of the second period the first break came. Defencemen Red Kelly of the Wings rapped a rasping lateral pass from just inside the Montreal blue line which Tom Johnson and Dickie Moore steered the puck off, but as it went free Delvecchio picked it up and raced in on Montreal goalie Jacques Plante to score while Butch Bouchard, covering the other side of the Montreal area, tried desperately to reach him.

MORE OFFENSIVE

From there on the Red Wings opened up more on the offence.

In the first minute of the second period defenceman Marcel Pronovost streaked toward the Montreal goal, but was stopped at the blue line by Bouchard defence. The puck went to the side boards and Pronovost moved in fast to get the rebound. Howe was parked outside the crease. Pronovost let loose with a drive and Plante was all set to make the save when the puck hit Howe's stick and was deflected into the net.

The two-goal margin as the teams entered the third period forced Canadiens on the offensive. Delvecchio picked up the puck and was away fast, chased by Johnson, and from about 12 feet out from Plante fired the clincher.

The Red Wings knew they were Stanley Cup winners again and played like it, breaking away only when chances offered and giving Sawchuk the maximum of protection.

The Red Wings had a comfortable margin on shots, Plante having 31 directed at him and Sawchuk 22.

SPLIT PENALTIES

Fourteen penalties were called by referee Bill Chadwick, seven against each team.

Howe's 23 points beat the old record of 18 set by Toe Blake of Montreal in 1946. Ted Lindsay of the Wings has also bettered it by one point. Howe's new mark is made up of nine goals and 20 assists.

Another record to fall was that of Sawchuk, who set the new. Howe, Earl Reibel and Ted Lindsay have pushed the new mark to 32, two more than the mark set in 1944 by the Montreal line of Toe Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard.

The Red Wings' victory Thursday night gave the undefeated streak on home ice to 24 games. They were last beaten on Detroit ice by Montreal Dec. 19, a 5-0 shutout.

The victory also gave Detroit the edge over Montreal for the whole season. In the regular NHL season the Wings seven and in the cup final each had three wins until Thursday night, leaving the final count 11-10 in Detroit's favor.

Alberni Whips Soo Gunners In Cage Opener

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—Supporters of the Alberni Athletics are already claiming their first Canadian basketball championship.

And on Thursday night's performance, no one is willing to risk the price of a shoe lace on the best-of-five series going any further than Saturday night.

The Athletics, despite early jitters, roared out on the floor Thursday night to thrash the Sault Ste. Marie Gunners 84-68 in the first game of the Canadian final.

Led by playing - coach Elmer Speidel, who has become something of an institution in this Vancouver island centre, the Athletics crushed the fight out of the Gunners with a 31-26 advantage at the half.

The visitors rallied briefly and cut the score to 44-47 with 12 minutes left in the second half but the Athletics took a deep breath, turned on their fast break and were away again.

PACED BY COACH

Coach Speidel dropped 30 points through the hoop for a phenomenal 50 per cent shooting average. Doug Brinham with 18 and Al Brown with 16 were next in line for the winners.

Lou Lukenda cut off with 20 points and Jerry Kaske scored 16 for the Gunners.

Coach Gene Roberison, unwilling to make a prediction on tonight's second clash after the decisive loss Thursday, contented himself with the remark, "tomorrow's another night."

The game was ragged and loosely played by contrast with the tension ridden series that saw Alberni fight off Vancouver Cloverleafs and Edmonton Towne Hallers while advancing to the final.

The eastern champions took over the lead only once in the game—a 4-2 lead by virtue of a field goal by Ken Brown five minutes in the first three minutes.

HARD WORKING PAIR

The hard work of Ray Sultanen and Bill Harris kept the Gunners in the fight from time to time but they were unable to hit consistently.

Gunners, who had predicted a sweep of the series, had trouble with the Alberni pressing zone defence throughout the game and four minutes through the second half as well as he slammed the ball down in a display of temper after a jump ball call.

Gunners failed at the free throw line although advance reports indicated this was their strong suit. Nineteen calls were made against Gunners while the whistle was blown on Alberni 13 times.

Unbeaten Chicago Cubs Surprise Of National Le ague; Win Three In Row

Three Homers Offset Errors In 6-4 Victory Over Redlegs; Dodgers Wallop Giants 10-8

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Stan Hack, the smiling man who manages the Chicago Cubs, could figure a way to make his guys full-fledged campaigners instead of first-week wonders he might be cracking that April grin come September.

The Cubs haven't challenged since 1946, but they're leading the National League today, unbeaten in three games and banging out base hits by the dozen. It's a springtime madness Hack seems to instill in his lads.

Hack took over the Cubs just before the 1954 opener, and the team smashed 62 hits during the first six games. Their record then was 3-3 and they never got above .500 again, winding up in seventh place.

This year the Cubs have slugged St. Louis and Cincinnati for 43 hits, with six home runs and 13 doubles.

Question is, how long can it last?

Thursday, Hal Jeffcoat, Bandy Jackson and Ernie Banks produced home runs in the sixth and 10th innings to down winless Cincinnati 6-4. The shots undid the damage done by fielding errors that let the Redlegs tie the game in the seventh.

The victory kept the Cubs a jump ahead of Brooklyn and Philadelphia, each unbeaten in two starts. The Brooks pasted the world champion New York Giants 10-8 and the Phils beat Pittsburgh 4-3. St. Louis hit five home runs to beat the Braves wallop 14 to 11 homings in the other NL game.

In the American League, Cleveland marred Detroit's home opener 5-3 to keep pace with Philadelphia. Boston, which beat the New York Yankees 8-4. The Chicago White Sox defeated Baltimore 6-2 on Sandy Consuegra's three - hitter. Rain washed out Baltimore's night game in Washington.

The Cubs won it in the 10th as Jackson belted a two-run homer and Banks hit a solo right behind him. Jeffcoat, whose ninth-inning homer off Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall in Bell's to make it 3-3, was the winner in relief.

Roy Campanella, unhappy with his next-to-last spot in the Brooklyn batting order, smashed a three-run homer in the fourth and pitcher Don Newcombe hit two as Sal Maglie, the old pitcher tamer, failed to last. Carl Furillo hit his second home run in two days. Hank Thompson and Bobby Hofman homered five runs across for the Giants.

Herm Wehmeier took charge for the Phils after Willie Jones had homered, and beat the Pirates on six hits.

Three more were home runs as St. Louis opened at home to the Braves. Eddie Mathews' second was the big one, his off Dave Koslo to win it in the 11th. Schoolboy Frank Sullivan held the Braves in check with one hit over the last three innings, but pitch-hitting Gus Bell homered in the 10th when he failed to run to second and Billy Hoeft was due what should have scored the winning run from third. Hank Aaron drove in second Braves' winning-ending out.

Cleveland got six-hit pitching from Mike Garcia and four hits from Al Smith, one a two-run homer, to defeat the Tigers. Frank Hill Hoeft was the loser.

Bob Nieman homered and doubled for the Sox, who found Bobby Shantz of the A's almost as good as new in his first start of the season.

Willard Nixon got his fifth straight victory over the Yankees.

'Babe' Goes After Tourney

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Babe Zaharias, the wondrous woman athlete who fought back cancer, today went after the championship of golf tournament named for her.

Two years ago, the dauntless Babe, whose deeds had brought her the designation of greatest woman athlete of the half-century, won this tournament with 217 for 54 holes. Then she entered hospital for cancer surgery and operation after operation.

She returned to golf and won more laurels but there were times when she appeared ready to quit under the pain. Last October, when she went on and last week the doctors gave her a 100-percent physical rating when she had a check-up.

So, feeling fit as a fiddle, the Babe came to the Beaumont Country Club and swept through rounds of 68, 71, 70 and 72 in practice and leads a field of 27 feminine shot-makers into the first round of the Babe Zaharias Open today.

But the competition is tough. Louise Suggs, who won the tournament last year with 221, will be back and finishing second also has been getting in some nifty practice rounds. So have Patty Berg, Gloria Armstrong, Betty Bush, Marlene Bauer and Alice Bauer Hagge.

Fort William, Kitchener Will Battle in Allan Cup Finals

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Fort William Beavers Thursday night earned the right to meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the Allan Cup final by defeating Vernon Canadians 3-2 to capture the western championship. It will be their first Canadian senior final for Fort William since 1934.

Thursday night's victory, watched by 3,004 near-hysteric fans gave the Beavers the best-of-seven western title four games to two. The Beavers were outscored 19-18 in the six games.

Penalties opened the dike for the winning goal just as it appeared the game was heading for overtime. With less than four minutes left in regulation time and the Canadians playing four men to five, Morris Hamilton slapped in a rebound to break a 2-2 deadlock that Vernon had managed by coming from behind twice.

Vic Kryzluk and Tom Kompon scored Fort William's first two goals. Sherman Plaxton and Brian Rooke counted for the Canadians, with Hamilton and Geoff Agar, the leading scorer of the six games, assisting on both. Agar collected two assists to lead scorers on three goals and seven assists. Hlair was top goal-getter of both teams with five.

DOWNED WINNIPEG

The Beavers won the first two games of the series and 3-1 overall dropped the third 7-3, won the fourth 4-1 and lost the fifth 7-3.

Fort William's win handed Vernon finals by eliminating Winnipeg Maroons four games to none, no contest ending in a tie.

The game was marred by an attempted attack on referee Pat Ullman by Agar just before the presentation of the Dafoe Trophy to the Beavers. Dick Davis, the other official, and Fort William players restrained the Vernon coach before any harm was done. The game started and ended relatively mild but tempers were flaring before the end of the game with 18 penalties, including a major and a match-misconduct, were meted out by the referee for the latter misconduct and major came in the third period when Vic Kryzluk had his stick confiscated for eight rule infractions.

Of the total, the Canadians were tagged with nine penalties, the match-misconduct. Beavers took five minors and the major.

PENALTY HELPED

Kryzluk opened the scoring for Fort William at 10:14 of the first period, firing a rebound that Jim Gordon stopped. The puck got away from the Vernon netminder and trickled into the net. Fort William penalty paved the way for Vernon's first tying goal when a scoring from a scramble while Alex Irving was off for tripping.

Kompon scored the only goal of the second period to give Fort William a 2-1 edge. The Beavers were shorthanded when Alex Irving broke away during a changing attack and passed to Kompon, who hit the net on a difficult angle shot from the side.

Rooke tied the count for the second time when he deposited Agar's pass in the net at 11:03 of the third but Hamilton batted in Alex Irving's rebound while the Canadians were playing four men to five at 16:27 for the deciding tally.

The best - of - seven Allan Cup finals will probably get under in Kitchener next Thursday. All games will be played in the east.

Marilyn Bell Accepts Offer To Swim English Channel

TORONTO (CP) — Marilyn Bell has accepted an offer to swim the English Channel this summer but her advisors indicated it will likely be the only major swim the teenager undertakes this year.

The 17-year-old Loretto College student, first to conquer Lake Ontario when she splashed over the grueling 40 miles last summer, will attempt the channel for $15,000 and get the money whether she completes the swim or not.

The Telegram is sponsoring the swim. Tentative date has been set as July 1.

Meanwhile, it was reported a group of California business men headed by George Trafton, former coach of the Winning Blue Bombers football team, may offer Miss Bell $75,000 to swim the Catalina straits.

J. (Mike) Pretty, vice-president of Marilyn Bell Limited, the company which handles her investments, said it will be "impossible for her to plan more than one major swing in a man or six months."

Mr. Pretty said a member of the California group approached Miss Bell last summer after her Lake Ontario swim. He said the California syndicate was advised at the time to come up with a concrete offer.

"They have been told she was considering another offer but we haven't heard anything from them" he said.

The offer of $15,000 to swim the channel does not include extra earnings she might make from personal appearances and endorsements, Mr. Pretty said.

He added he feels the reported offer of $75,000 from California probably is predicated upon her accepting certain other obligations such as personal appearances and endorsements.

Meaford Wins Over Tillsonburg

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — A five-goal rally in the third period gave Meaford a 9-7 victory against Tillsonburg Thursday night in the first game of the Ontario Hockey Association intermediate A best - of - seven final.

Tillsonburg built up a 7-2 lead in the first two periods but Meaford rapped in two in the last minute of the second.

Art Hayward, Charlie Macdonald and John Macdonald each scored twice for Meaford. Bobbie Meek, Albert Walmsley and Barney Walmsley added singles.

Bobbie Stewart counted two for Tillsonburg. Joe Holota, Earl Rose, Gordon Land, Doug Parsons and Jack Drew shared the others.

Cramps Force Swimmer to Give Up Attempt to Cross Juan De Fuca Strait

VICTORIA (CP) — After five agonizing minutes of attempting to overcome a paralyzing stomach cramp, a 28-year-old former U.S. Marine frogman today reluctantly gave up his attempt to swim the chill Strait of Juan de Fuca.

The cramp clutched at Bert Thomas, a heavy bogey man at 200 pounds, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and 10 miles between here and Port Angeles, Wash.

He had spent four hours and 10 minutes in the water in the attempt to become the first person to swim the treacherous strait.

The cramps, brought on by salt water, overtook him shortly after he had taken nourishment and just after he had described his venture as an apparent "cinch." He had to be helped into a boat.

ZIG-ZAG COURSE

Thomas fought his way through almost seven miles of choppy salt water before he was forced to give in. To take advantage of the tides, he was following a zig-zag course that would have carried him considerably more than the direct distance across the strait.

"I'm still as strong as a bull," Thomas said after he was pulled out at 2:10 a.m. PST. "I'll be back. She (the strait) didn't whip me. She's going to be whipped."

He said he would likely try again in May when the treacherous tides are more favorable.

Thomas was pulled out after he had forged into the open waters of the strait. In more than four hours he had covered more distance than did distance swimmer when she started from the same point in Beacon Hill park here in an unsuccessful attempt. She covered six miles in five hours.

Meanwhile, a 25-year-old German from Vancouver made an unsuccessful try at joining Thomas by jumping off an escort tug. John Giese was picked out of the water after 40 minutes and was still suffering from severe cramps in his legs several hours later. He was defeated by the cold.

SORRY FOR TROUBLE

Giese had planned earlier to try the swim without an escort but was persuaded it was foolhardy to go it alone. He had intended to try the swim in August.

Giese was riding an escort vessel when he suddenly took off his clothes and, clad in a bathing suit, jumped in. Capt. William Dickens of the tug Island Scamp talked him into returning to shore and making an official attempt.

At 10:30 p.m. he started from shore and by 11:10 p.m. he had enough.

"I am sorry to have caused so much trouble," he said.

TO SELL TROPHIES

HELSINKI (AP)—Tax authorities Thursday decided to confiscate the trophies of world ski jumping champion Matti Pietikainen and his two brothers. They will sell the trophies to pay the three skiers' income taxes.

Matti Pietikainen said he is unable to pay his tax of about 430,000 Finnish marks ($2,000). He said Veikko and Esko Pietikainen, Aatto and Lassi, who also are well-known ski jumpers, could not pay their taxes amounting to about $1,000 each.

Sign American Football Stars

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Dick Imer and Joe Delucca, outstanding back and lineman on the 1954 Montana University football squad, signed contracts Thursday to play in the Canadian Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Imer signed with the Saskatchewan Roughriders and Delucca with the British Columbia Lions. Both will report for tryouts in mid-July, after each are reported to have signed for $5,500 a season.

Imer letters for two years with the Grizzlies and was an Associated Press all-skyline conference selection two years. He set a new rushing mark for the league last season.

Delucca is a three-year veteran. He was an all-skyline selection as a guard last season.

'The Rack' on TV Profoundly Moving and Disturbing Play

By SAUL PETT
(For Wayne Oliver)

NEW YORK (AP) — Every so often television pulls itself loose from the quicksand of mediocrity and hurried expediency, ignores what lacxpert experts imagine is "the mass taste," and stands up and talks like a living, breathing, recognizable, fully flushed human being.

It did that this week with the play, "The Rack." This should bring great praise, to Rod Serling for writing it, to the Theatre Guild for producing it, to Alex Siegel for directing it, to the sponsor-for-paying for it, to the American Broadcasting Co. for transmitting it.

"The Rack" was a profoundly moving and disturbing play. In all its major departments, writing, acting, and directing, it seemed to me an expert job, done with telling dramatic impact and, more important and refreshing, done with adult intelligence.

WHO'S A COWARD?

It was the kind of intelligence that presumes the world is not made up exclusively of heroes and villains. It suggests that while we're putting it searchlight on the blacks and the whites, we ought to illuminate the varying, intermediate greys.

In the re-telling, the story can be only over-distilled to its disadvantage. But basically, "The Rack" Is the story of one captain of infantry. He proved his valor in Korean combat. But after long months of hunger and cold, threats and cumulative pressures in a Communist prison camp he yielded to his captors, signed the fantastic confess they gave him, to sign delivered the lectures they wrote for him.

He is returned home to a shocked family and a pained United States Army. But after long months of hunger and cold, threats and cumulative pressures in a Communist prison camp he yielded to his captors, signed the fantastic confess they gave him, to sign delivered the lectures they wrote for him.

TWO AIRMEN DIE AS BARRACKS BURNS

Railman's Hunch Leads To Arrest Of Insane Escapee

Arthur Hooey Captured Here Without Resistance

A "criminally insane" escapee from the Ontario Hospital at New Toronto was captured by city and railway police shortly before 6:00 p.m. Friday in the CNR yards about 600 feet east of the passenger station.

Arthur Hooey, 25, object of a province-wide search since his escape Tuesday, was captured at 5:50 p.m. while smoking a cigaret. He admitted his identity to the arresting officers and gave him-self up without a struggle.

William Mantle, CNR air brake tester here since 1926, gave police the tip that led to Hooey's arrest after he made a tentative identification of Hooey from a newspaper picture he had seen Thursday.

Hooey was captured by Detective Harold Reid and Constables Cecil Cook and Thomas Schreiber of the city police and Geoffrey Harry "Gerry" Jerome, 39, CNR constable.

A search of the CNR yards Friday morning by city, provincial and railway police found nothing. Hooey later admitted to police that he came to Belleville from Toronto sometime Friday morning riding on a freight train.

ON WAY HOME

Mantle was on his way home from work at 5.30 p.m. when he noticed Hooey standing between two freight cars.

He first spotted him at a distance of 150 feet.

"I thought it might be he but I wasn't sure," he said.

To make more positive identification Mantle walked to within 50 feet of Hooey.

"I let on I didn't see him," he said, "although I am sure he saw me. He was standing still looking towards the station."

Mantle walked on to the CNR police office where he reported a suspicious looking man's pres-ence to CNR Constable "Gerry" Jerome, 39.

"I thought it was a wild goose chase but didn't think it would do any harm," said Mantle in discussing his report to Jerome.

Jerome called city police for assistance.

Detective Harold Reid and Constables Cecil Cook and Thomas Schreiber met Jerome at the station and took charge of Hooey who gave up without a struggle.

WAS UNARMED

Hooey was dressed in a grey coat, brown pants and a shirt with-out a tie. He had braces that round his waist in place of a belt. He had no hat or topcoat and was unarmed.

"I think we took him unawares" said Jerome.

The police handcuffed Hooey's hands behind his back. He was taken to the Belleville police station by Detective Reid, Constables Schreiber and Jerome and was booked on a charge of vagrancy. He was held in Hastings County Jail Friday night and was scheduled to be escorted to Toronto Saturday morning.

Hooey was alied during the ride to the police station but at the station told police he came to Belleville Friday morning from Toronto riding a freight train.

Hooey's clothes were dry despite yesterday afternoon's rain and Jerome said he thought Hooey had hidden in a sleeping car on a siding in the local yard Friday afternoon.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: Skies cleared over southwestern Ontario early this morning. The clearing will progress eastward across all of southern Ontario by this evening. Warm sunny weather is forecast for Sunday. A weak disturbance is moving rapidly eastward bringing showers across the north country today. Clearing and a little change in temperature are expected Sunday.

Grain Handlers At Lakehead Commence Strike

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — About 1,200 Lakehead grain handlers went on strike today for higher wages. They announced they are arranging to throw picket lines around the first grain ship of the season, which arrived earlier today.

The ship, the Gordon C. Leach, reached Port Arthur at 6:45 a.m. to take on a load of grain.

The strikers, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL-TLC), said they will ask the Seafarers International Union (AFL) to oppose bringing any more grain ships to the Lakehead during the strike.

The grain handlers walked out after meeting for an hour and a half in the arena rink. Meetings were also held in Fort William.

Eric G. Taylor of Toronto, named as federal mediator in the dispute between grain handlers and 11 terminal operators, was due to arrive Monday.

Between 20 and 30 grain-carrying vessels are expected here during the weekend.

Railway officials said Friday the working capacity of grain yards here has been taken up by grain cars waiting for unloading. The CPR had 2,000 on hand, the CNR 2,500.

Newspaper Executives Plan Meetings

TORONTO (CP)—Newspaper executives from the 10 provinces are gathering here for a week-long series of luncheon meetings at which editorial and business problems are considered.

Directors of CP, the national news co-operative owned and operated by Canadian dailies, met Tuesday. The annual meeting of CDNPA is Wednesday.

CDNPA directors meet Thursday and Saturday with the annual meeting Thursday afternoon.

The Canadian section of the Commonwealth Press Union meets Tuesday night.

John Bassett, president and manager of publisher of The Montreal Gazette, will address the annual Canadian Press dinner Wednesday night.

FALLS OFF RAILING

KITCHENER (CP) — A 16-ft. backward fall through a second storey verandah railing Friday landed a Bell Telephone Company of Canada worker in hospital with possible broken ribs.

Condition of Ian Scott, 26, of Brantford, was reported "good."

ODESSE GIVEN THIRTY MONTHS FOR ABDUCTION

Magistrate Rejects Plea Of Suspended Sentence

TORONTO—Rejecting a plea for suspended sentence, Magistrate Martin yesterday sentenced Philip Lawrence Odesse, 33, of Penetanguishene to two years and six months in penitentiary for the abduction of eight-year-old Alice Nesbitt. The child, daughter of wealthy Forest Hill lawyer W. Rankine Nesbitt, was released after the abductor after he had sought $25,000 ransom from her mother.

Magistrate Martin declared in passing sentence said he had taken into consideration four things:

1. The child had not been harmed.
2. Odesse had evidently changed his mind and was returning her child to her home just as a messenger was arriving to pick up the ransom.
3. The previous clear record of Odesse, his service in the commando unit and his RCAF service as a citizen.
4. The magistrate's own "impression from observing you in court. I believe you realize the enormity of your crime and are truly sorry. I hope so."

Before sentencing Magistrate, the crime was of too serious a nature; and the safety of children, of family life and of citizens generally de-manded action taken by courts against "those who might be tempted to do harm."

He declared that under present circumstances the Criminal Code the penalty could have been life imprisonment for kidnapping and holding for ransom." Odesse was charged with abduction of the child and had pleaded guilty to that charge earlier in the ay.

"It was a terrible thing to take a child away and make her mother go through anxiety like that," Odesse told the court.

Defense Counsel A. B. Thompson said Odesse was throwing himself on the mercy of the court. This was not a criminal type of crime. It was just a foolish, stupid mistake on the part of a man distressed by financial troubles."

Odesse declared in evidence that he had come to Toronto to sell an island because he needed money to pay off a number of debts. En route, he changed his mind, he said, he recalled that Alice Nesbitt went there, and "then I got the idea."

Later, according to Det. Edward Draper, Toronto City Detective, he telephoned Mrs. Nesbitt and told her to go to the police. He telephoned again and gave her instructions as to how the ransom was to be paid and a messenger would call for it.

He was sentenced 25 to James Edwards, 12, to go to Dunvegan Rd. and pick up a parcel and Odesse, following that, was told to go and started on his errand. Odesse got as far as the station wagon and drove up to Kilbarry Rd., where he let her out.

The child had not been molested; no violence had been used and according to Det. Draper the story of the abduction when he was arrested, the detective testified.

Testifying on Odesse's behalf, Mayor George Kerr of Penetanguishene said "Actually this happened both my wife and myself received a call after call from citizens wanting to know if they could do anything. I know he is very fond of children and he'll be able to re-pursue his place in society."

Appeals Court Quashes Conviction Of Quebec Nudist Camp Operator

MONTREAL (CP) — An appeals court has quashed a two - year penitentiary sentence imposed on Couture, operator of a nudist camp, convicted last year for possessing obscene photographs.

The court Friday freed Gaetan Couture, 35, of Kitchener, Ont., after rapping two Quebec provincial policemen for procedures used to collect evidence against the accused.

The officers allegedly joined Couture's camp in the Laurentians and posed in their birthday suits with a girl friend for photographs.

Interest of British Firms In Seaway Is Still Lively

TORONTO (CP)—British interest in the St. Lawrence seaway and power project, which has produced relatively few major contracts, still is high, Lionel Chevrier said Friday.

The president of the seaway authority told the Canadian Association of British Manufacturers and Agencies that already British manufacturers have obtained substantial orders for the supply of equipment and materials for the project.

"This is all to the good because anything which promotes Canada-British trade is a healthy condition for our countries," he said.

Members of the association said British firms had not received more of the primary contracts because their bidding was high.

Many Canadian firms in bidding are making a thin profit line either to get business and keep their staffs intact or for the prestige value of being associated with a project being talked about around the world, one British spokesman said.

British is the preliminary estimate of seaway traffic. Traffic estimates for the first years on the St. Lawrence's operation have been nearly 20 per cent.

The last estimate, made in 1950, predicted movement of 44,505,000 tons annually through the 27-foot waterway linking the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, he said. A recent estimate revised that figure to 31,000,000 tons.

Regina Man Missing Months, Find Body Locked in Home

REGINA (CP) — A full - scale investigation has been launched into what may be Regina's first murder case in more than 10 years following the finding of a decomposed body in a tiny east-end cottage here Friday.

Police who battered in the door of a bedroom in the three-room home found the remains of 74-year-old Michael Fitzsimmons, missing 16 months, sprawled on a bed.

Everything indicated the man had been dead, possibly as long ago as Christmas, 1953.

Late Friday night police picked up a man for questioning in connection with the case. Two other persons, a man and a woman, were reported sought.

Today an illiterate laborer who hoarded his money, was reported by some who knew him to have stashed a large amount of cash in his mattress.

To Buy U.S. Gas For Montreal And Ottawa

CALGARY (CP)—N. E. Tanner, president of Trans Canada Pipelines Ltd., said today the company expects to move United States natural gas into Ottawa and Montreal this fall.

Mr. Tanner told a meeting of Calgary oilmen that the purpose of supplying Ottawa and Montreal is to build up gas reserves prior to the arrival of gas from Alberta.

Negotiations are expected to be completed shortly.

EXTEND LINE

The gas would be purchased from the Tennessee natural gas transmission system and would be an extension of the Trans-Canada now operates from Niagara Falls, Ont., to Toronto.

The Trans-Canada president said there has been no change in his company's plans to take Canadian gas to eastern Canada via an all-Canadian route, but there is no possibility of construction being able to start this year.

Mr. Tanner said there were three primary reasons why construction of the Canadian section of the pipeline to Montreal and Montreal-Ottawa was not now be ready to convert to natural gas this fall, and financing has not been completed.

Trans-Canada is asking the Alberta conservation board for a late-month extension of its present authorization to export Alberta gas, and will not now have a new contract for gas sales to Northern Natural Gas in the Minneapolis area, via a lateral line south from Winnipeg. The contract with Northern Natural is for delivery daily of 100 million cubic feet daily for the first year, and 130 million cubic feet daily the second year.

COSTS HEAVY

In the last year alone, Trans-Canada has invested more than $10,000,000 in its project, Mr. Tanner revealed. Of this, approximately $5,000,000 was spent in engineering studies and $5,300,000 on the Niagara-to-Toronto line. Total cost will be in excess of $200,000,000.

To Test A-Bomb's Effect on Robot Planes, Weapons

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The atomic testers were taking a rest today after setting off a major nuclear explosion Friday to determine the effect on remote-controlled planes, weapons and battle vehicles.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the next atomic shot is planned tentatively for April 26. It will be an air-burst to study blast effects and observation experiment.

Friday's king - size desert buster was detonated from the top of the 700-foot steel tower at the edge of the AEC, this atomic device provided a blast with larger than "minimal yield." A "medium" atomic blast yields about 20 kilotons of punch, or the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

There was a brilliant fireball that lasted at least five seconds and a mushroom cloud rose to an altitude above 40,000 feet.

TEST EQUIPMENT

Three unmanned F-80 jet planes, controlled from afar, were flown into the blast area. Then they were then crashed into nearby mountains and another was crashlanded on a dry lake bed. The third drone plane was landed safely by its pilotless pilot on the Nellis airforce base base, the takeoff point for all three.

Tons of weapons and vehicles were spread out across Frenchman's flat for testing. Battle gear subjected to the nuclear test included military supplies and the army's latest atomic combat uniforms.

There were about 125 military observers stationed 6½ miles from the detonation tower. One hundred aircraft took part in the atomic exercises.

DROWNS IN POND

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) — Linda Marie Thompson, 2, who disappeared from her home in Fort Frances Thursday night, was found by a neighbor after a widespread search. She drowned in an ornamental fish pond. The pond contained 11 inches of water.

REDS REFUSE WEST'S APPEAL FOR TAX TALKS

Reject Big Three Notes On Berlin Road Levy

BERLIN (AP) —East German Communists turned thumbs down today on an allied proposal that the high commissioners of Russia and the three Western powers discuss new Red taxes on supply traffics to West Berlin.

The Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland says the matter could be handled only by the transport ministers of East and West Germany.

The high commissioners of Britain, France and the United States sent notes Friday to Soviet high commissioner V. M. Pushkin protesting that they discuss the troubled situation.

The west wants increase the cost of supplying West Berlin by truck by more than $5,000,000 a year.

The East German Communists said the additional income is needed to keep the roads in repair.

25,000 Workers In 23 Textile Mills on Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Some 25,000 workers in 23 New England cotton textile mills went on strike today to back up a refusal to take as much as a 16-cent-an-hour cut in wages and fringe benefits.

Mills owned by six firms in Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont were affected by the strike of CIO Textile Workers Union members.

The workers seek renewal of a contract which expired at midnight Friday.

Some 37 other mills have agreed to renew contracts.

The firms which refused to renew contracts on an "as is" basis contend that a cut in wages is necessary to meet competition from southern mills. The management contends that is a 22-cent-an-hour differential which displaces northern mills at a disadvantage in competing with southern mills.

Twenty Injured In Hotel Fire Near Montreal

ST JOHNS, Que. (CP) — Twenty persons were slightly injured Friday night in a fire that swept the rooms during a fire at the Normandie Hotel in this town, 25 miles south of Montreal.

Only three of the injured required hospital treatment.

Firemen said a short circuit apparently started the fire on the fourth floor of the four-storey, 40-room hotel about 11:30 p.m. About 200 people were in the building at the time, most of them in the bars and cocktail lounge.

Find Missing Rochester Executive Playing Clown in Florida Circus

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— The role of a small-time circus clown apparently has come to an end for a 46-year-old Rochester, N. Y., business executive who had been missing for more than two months.

Rufus Dryer was found in Pensacola, Fla., Friday, happily working in the ring as a clown and circus assistant in a small circus. He had been missing since leaving his place of business in May.

He had shaved his head and friends said he had a complete dragon tattooed on his back and arms and extending around his neck.

Dryer, president of the Clark Paint, Oil and Glass Co., of Rochester, was vague in his answers to questions and police said he apparently was an amnesia victim.

Danny Styron, lattoist from East Pittsburgh, Pa., said he paid Dryer $25 a week as his assistant. In addition to his circus work, he had been on television together and made other appearances.

He said he knew the man as David Carey.

They joined the Ring Brothers Circus, a small road show in winter from Pensacola, and Dryer was a big success. The circus opened Thursday and Carey was the white rabbit from "Alice in Wonderland," and chants "I'm late, I'm late." He was assisted by a duck named Charlie.

Styron said Carey often commented how good it made him feel to see the children's eyes sparkle when he came out to do his act. Carey appeared happy, he added, and he never suspected the clown was a prominent business man.

ScoreHaveToLeap From 2nd Storey In Ottawa Blaze

Loss in Property, Personal Belongings Said $110,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Fire swept through a wooden RCAF barracks block early today, killing at least two airmen and injuring about 15.

Nine men were taken to hospital, none seriously injured. Another score were forced to leap from second-storey windows as flames destroyed the 90-room building at the Rockcliffe Air Force Station.

Bodies of the two known dead were found in the rubble of the building after the fire. They were not immediately identified.

Firemen continued searching the ruins for possible other bodies and city fire chief John Foote said that will take some time.

The RCAF called a muster parade for 10.30 a.m. to check on the 180 personnel normally in the building, but officials said it might not be until early next week before all the names are known for.

The check was complicated by the fact that outsiders were allowed to enter the barracks Friday night for a party following local elections in Rockcliffe.

The fire, which started about midnight, caused an estimated loss of $110,000. The building was valued at $75,000 and airmen's personal property, all destroyed, at another $25,000.

The H-shaped barracks was built during the Second World War.

Most of the nine men taken to the RCAF hospital on the station were suffering from the effects of breathing smoke. They were treated with oxygen.

No one was hurt in jumping from the second floor of the building.

Cause of the fire was not known, but officials said it did not appear to be the work of an firebug believed to have started a number of church fires in Ottawa recently.

The RCAF announced a board of inquiry will open an investigation immediately.

The two known victims were found in the basement area of the building by firemen searching the wreckage after the fire. Flame and smoke apparently had trapped them in their bedrooms.

The flames leaped through stairways for others trying to escape. Some did slide down fire escapes while others crashed through the windows.

LAC Douglas Horton, 21, of Winnipeg said he was asleep when he heard the fire bell at 5:30 a.m.

LAC Roger Laurent of Quebec City said he was in bed when he smelled smoke.

"I wrapped a blanket around me," he said. "And started knocking on the doors of the men around me to get them out of bed. I was able to get down by the stairs, but a lot of the other lads were not so lucky and had to jump for it."

Wellington Child Killed, Run Over by Truck

WELLINGTON (Special) — A two-and-one-half-year-old girl, Carol Heffernan, was killed almost instantly here last night, when she was run over by a truck.

The little girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Heffernan, and one of a family of four.

Glen Lowery, truck driver for the Canadian Canners, had driven his vehicle to his house near the plant of the company at the west end of the village. He drove away and a few minutes later Mrs. Heffernan, mother of the dead girl, saw her lying in the road-way. She was rushed to the office of Dr. S. S. Thompson, but died en route.

Coroner was unaware of the tragedy and last night was under a doctor's care.

Heffernan is a neighbor of Lowery, and both are employed by the Canadian Canners.

Y's Men's Club Hears Talk On Salonika YMCA

George Molyvdas, of Salonika, Greece, was guest speaker at the Belleville Y's Men's Club on Thursday evening. Mr. Molyvdas is general secretary of the Salonika YM.C.A. and is currently touring U.S.A. and Canada.

He was introduced by Di Diamantides, general secretary of the Belleville Y.M.C.A., who explained that he and George had been friends and co-workers in the Y.M.C.A. at Salonika 15 years previous.

SALONIKA Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Molyvdas described the Salonika Y.M.C.A. as being considerably larger than that of Belleville, and occupying a most prominent position in community activities. In particular the Salonika Y.M.C.A. possesses an athletic field, complete with track and bleachers.

Another feature of the Salonika Y.M.C.A. is the educational department which operates courses up to High School level during the evenings and has a total enrolment of as many as 350 students.

The Y's Men's Club in Salonika, of which Mr. Molyvdas is a member, has undertaken the service project of equipping a village school which was re-opened this January after having been destroyed during the war.

The speaker was thanked by Carm Lowther on behalf of the club, and presented with a souvenir monogrammed key case, by club president, Willis Hutchison.

Club members devoted the remainder of the evening to the presentation of the variety show "Can't Help Singing". Hugh Watson and the special services committee provided a variety of doughnuts for the cast, and assistants at the end of the show.

Seven-up Plant Safe Blown By Professionals

Professional safe blowers were active in the city Friday night with the office safe at the Seven-up Ltd. plant on Station street being blown and cash amounting to slightly over $100 taken.

Company employees discovered a door to the premises smashed open when they arrived for work Saturday morning, then found the office had been entered and the safe blown. Police said the door of the safe had been blown off with nitroglycerine.

"These were no amateurs," stated Police Inspector J. Clair Hayes this morning. "They smashed the door leading to the building, smashed the office door, then blew the door off the safe."

Police were unable to say what the approximate cash amount was blown. As far as they knew no residents in the immediate area had been disturbed by explosions and the break-in was not discovered until employees reported for work this morning.

Watershed Tour Will Be Taken By Authority

The Moira River Conservation Authority will hold another bus tour of inspection Tuesday, June 15th, it was decided by Authority members at a recent meeting held at Foxboro.

Points of interest on the waterway will be visited by members who, during the day, will hold their regular monthly meeting at Tweed.

A special committee composed of Earl Sager, E. Wood and Field Officer Don Beil was authorized to spend not more than $1,000 from this year's budget on the Oulara Mill development. Plans are to develop the old mill property as a historical site. As it was fast falling into decay, the mill has been dismantled and will be restored on the original site.

The Belleville Fish and Game Protective Association was given permission to ask the Authority gravel pit property for the establishment of a gun range.

Members also voted for the Authority farm pond subsidization program to be carried on during 1955 and also adopted to the the amended reforestation subsidization program.

All members of the Authority executive were present for the meeting which was presided over by Chairman Bruce H. Smith of Belleville.

Raked-up Leaves Will Be Taken Away by Dept.

The city public works department will cart away leaves raked from front lawns but will balk at providing transportation to the city dump for refuse raked from back yards as well.

This was stated today by City Engineer Charles Molt who asked that residents rake only leaves from front yards to the curbside for removal by the trucks.

Word of warning from the engineering department was not to burn leaves on the pavement.

"Burning leaves on the pavement burns holes in the road and is contrary to the city by-laws," stated Mr. Molt.

Fisherman Flings Wire Into Air, Interrupts News

A nocturnal fisherman who inadvertently flung a piece of wire in the air was responsible for what was the cause of a news wire disruption which halted CKWS operation in the news room of this newspaper for approximately 7½ hours.

The wire-tossing, early morning semi-secret effectively shortcircuited the cables with his aerial heaver—and the city desk and typing news staff into a state of confusion.

The short circuit occurred a few yards away from the news room along the east side of the river bank. A dozen or so young smelt found near the scene of the short circuit were quite exhilarated as to cause.

A hurried call to Toronto at 5.30 a.m. revealed no trouble there. Cables from Toronto to Trenton were clear. Tests from those from Trenton to Belleville. All were found in proper condition. That meant the trouble lay between the C.P.R. station and the newspaper point of delivery.

Finally the trouble was located but not until 11.30 a.m. when the morning news had been sent out.

A spare "loop" facilitated matters somewhat for transmission of news editors, but the main circuit was not working properly until 9.30 a.m. The trouble started at approximately 4 a.m.

Abrupt cessation of the teletype copy at this time suggested something of a short-circuit nature, since this trouble occurred once before, when a fish flipping from a tree crushed the wires, causing the short.

It is believed the smelt-seeking fisherman was arranging a net of sorts, and a surplus of wire caused him to toss the thing in the air, causing the damage.

Cut Gas Rates In West Ontario

SARNIA (CP)—City councils of five western Ontario municipalities will be asked sometime in May to approve a new schedule of industrial gas rates, representatives of the areas concerned announced Friday.

Proposed rate reductions were not disclosed at a general meeting, called Friday to hear a committee report on negotiations with the Union Gas Company. But officials indicated that the committee had been instructed to seek a lowering nearly all that it asked for.

Municipalities involved are London, Windsor, Sarnia, Chatham and Wallaceburg.

United Church Seeks Funds For Madoc Camp

This Sunday the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church inaugurates a Camp Building Campaign with an objective of $10,000, to be divided equally between Five Oaks Camp at Ports, Ont., and Quin Mo Lac Camp at Moira Lake. Representative for the Belleville Presbytery will be $2,500.

Naturally the chief interest in this conference, and particularly in the Five Oaks Camp at Quin Mo Lac Camp, it was in 1944 that the Rev. Dr. Ralph Lee Downey approached the executive of the Bay of Quinte Conference Young People's Unions requesting that a campsite be sponsored to raise funds for improvements to the camp at Oak Lake. Many felt that a new camp was needed since the site at Oak Lake was limited. A committee was formed to study the question at the Bay Y.P.U. May of 1946, Don Williams and Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten visited the present site of Camp Quin Mo Lac and reported favorably. This resulted in the purchase of 80 acres of land on the southeast shore of Moira Lake. Only $1,000 was raised, and advanced $300 for the down payment. A campaign was conducted by the Y.P.U. and approximately fifty campers plus leaders. One of these units has been completed, and a central dining hall have been erected. The remaining units will follow. The third unit is not yet started. Additional funds are now required to reduce the present mortgage, of approximately $8,000 on property worth $35,000, and to provide correct additional cabins and leaders' lodges for their improvement.

The camp was planned as a centre for the Christian education of Christian education for the Bay of Quinte Conference. Camping commences in late June each year and continue throughout July and August. Each year these have been given to a boys' camp, senior girls' camp, Canadian Girls in Camp Cubs' and Scouts' Camp, Young People's Camp, executive leadership training camp, and family camp. The emphasis in each camp is on Christian fellowship and spiritual enrichment.

Another Large Crowd Enjoys Trade Fair

Another large crowd enjoyed the outstanding exhibits and entertainment at the 1955 Annual Trade Fair sponsored by the Canadian Legion at the Bridge St. armouries last night.

Clare Rouse, the musical boba, again delighted a large audience with his funny patter and mastery of ability with a score or so of musical instruments, which he selects from as many capacious pockets.

The fair is one of the best since its inception, 25 years ago, and Legion members expect a record turnout this afternoon and evening.

The film, "Welcome the Queen," a beautiful motion picture showing in color of Her Majesty's trip to Australia, New Zealand and other faraway parts of the Commonwealth, continues to draw the attention of the fair crowd and will be shown again this afternoon.

Belleville's athlete of the highest quality featuring the new 1955 automobile models, while other displays are viewed by the fine brand of merchandise obtainable in the shops of city merchants.

The feature this evening will be the presentation of the "Athlete of the Year" Trophy to Keith MacDonald, versatile athlete of Prince Edward County. The presentation will be made by Eric Nesterenko, youthful star of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey club, while the miniature trophy will, in turn, be presented to MacDonald by Vern Goyer, team-mate of his on senior hockey and baseball teams. The presentations will be made at 9.15.

Another entertainment feature will be the comedy duo of Pat Rafferty and Charlie Jeeves, one of Canada's outstanding humorous pairs. They come here with the fine reputation and lovers of this kind of entertainment should not miss this performance.

There will be lucky draws too.

Francis Hewton Is Knocked Out - As Car Is Upset

TRENTON (Special) — Francis E. Hewton, 30, yesterday was knocked unconscious when his car hit a hydro pole and careened crazily along West Street for 321 feet before it overturned. C.P.R. railroad tracks and turned over on its side on the north side of the rightaway. He was trapped in the wreckage for 20 minutes before police officers could extricate him. He was treated at the scene by Dr. W. S. Bailey and then rushed by Weaver's ambulance to the Trenton Memorial Hospital. He regained consciousness two hours later.

Hewton, on his way to work at Central Bridge, lost control of his car when it hit a hole in the road on West Street at North Charles Street.

Sgt. Doug. Bradshaw and Constable Ken White of the Trenton Police Department were on the scene minutes after the accident happened and lifted the injured man to safety before the crowd of the front seats. They had to push the car over on its top to reach the rescue. The car did not catch fire.

Today the Trenton Hospital reported that Hewton's condition was satisfactory, although he suffered severe headaches from the concussion. He will be under observation in hospital for four days.

While police worked to release the trapped man he remained cool and called "Helen, Helen," the name of his wife. Then he lapsed back into unconsciousness.

Police reported that the Hewton car, proceeding north on West Street, veered out of control, glanced off a hydro pole and continued north, striking the railway tracks, and upset on the left side.

ETERNAL FATHER, STRONG TO SAVE

Eternal Father! strong to save,
Whose arm doth bind the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep,
Its own appointed limits keep;
O, hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea!

O Savior, whose almighty word
The winds and waves submissive heard;
Who walkedst on the foaming deep,
And calm amid its rage didst sleep;
Oh, hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea!

O Sacred Spirit, who didst brood
Upon the chaos dark and rude;
Who badest its angry tumult cease,
And gavest life, and light, and peace;
Oh, hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea!

O Trinity of love and power,
Our brethren shield in danger's hour;
From rock and tempest, fire and foe,
Protect them whereso'er they go;
And ever let there rise to Thee
Glad hymns of praise from land and sea.

"Then He arises and rebuked the winds and the sea: and there was a great calm". — St. Matthew 8:26.

One of the most beautiful religious art windows in America is that above the altar in the chapel of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. Placed by members of the naval class of 1860 as a memorial to Admiral David D. Porter, it portrays the Saviour walking upon the water. At every religious service it reminds worshipers that Jesus is still the Ruler of the winds and the sea.

It is a tradition at the Naval Academy to close chapel services with the singing of the hymn cited above. Every naval graduate of Annapolis has sung it scores of times and will remember it always.

And for navy men and officers serving on ships throughout the world there is something satisfying in the knowledge that they are being "Remembered" regularly in kneeling congregations in the navy's mother church.

The hymn was written in 1860 by William Whiting, a clergyman of the Church of England, for publication in a volume of "Hymns Ancient And Modern",

For Parents Only

Gardens Bring Big Rewards

By NANCY CLEAVER

Let your child have the thrill of growing some one simple annual flower, Poppies, because they come up quickly and make a blaze of color, delight in any youngsters. Zinnias are sturdy and have bright colors, and they are well liked too. A boy who is fond of birds might like to grow a bordering row of sun-flower seed food for his feathered friends next winter.

Pansies have a great attraction with their velvety petals for little fingers. A child is apt to be so impatient waiting for his seeds to sprout, as it isn't a bad idea to purchase a box of panies or some other not too fragile species. Give him a bit of help in transplanting them carefully into damp soil, protecting them from the bright sunshine and watering them.

Every child loves to play with water, and when it comes to using the hose, the young gardener is apt to be too diligent. Here is one job which has to be strictly supervised or both seeds and plants may be washed away! Many parents insist on substituting a small watercan, and allowing this process only in the evening when Daddy is working in the garden, too.

Don't let him try to grow anything quite as difficult as parsnips, which sometimes do not germinate very well, or cabbages which are so hard to keep free from pets. But there are a number of vegetables which are easy to grow and a child will want the ones which are his favorite foods.

Gardening is its own reward. The child sees no profits or prizes as an incentive . . . and actually the "reward habit" is not a desirable one. It places the emphasis on a material prize, instead of on the satisfaction of the activity itself. Unfortunately, if used frequently it develops a "gimme" child and defeats its own end. The smart youngster starts bargaining for bigger and better rewards very quickly.

Far too many of our leisure time activities are "spectator" ones. Gardening gives a child the thrill of full participation. Often our recreation plans demand an admission sum and the continual spending of money. Gardening costs a certain amount, but it yields big returns.

The person with "green fingers" is the one who gardens with joy and patience. Possibly real gardeners are born and not made. But a parent can help to find out if a son or daughter has even a little flare for growing things.

Mother or Dad can also feel the bond of affection between a child and a growing bit with a common interest.

"I just love to help you in the garden," how many little folk have said that to Mummy or Daddy. The poet Molly Anderson Haley, knows in all truth when she said:

"What is love? Gardens prove
Love is life—life is love:

A Lift For Living

God's Help in Trouble

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

When is the best time to talk about trouble? When we are not in trouble, the subject doesn't interest us. When we are in trouble, we rarely view the subject intelligently. Perhaps it would be best not to talk about trouble at all.

Maybe it would be well if we adopted the attitude of the tramp who said that he always kept the wind at his back. The only defect about that practice is that it makes you a tramp, just drifting with whatever wind may blow.

Maybe to some of you it seems uncongenial to talk about how God helps in time of trouble. Perhaps we could assume the spirit of the London cockney who in the dark days of 1940, when Dunkerque cast its shadow across the Channel, said: "Life ain't all that you want, but it is all that you can save. So stick a geranium in your 'at, and be 'appy." However, we cannot escape trouble that easily—with all due respect for geraniums.

NO BLARNEY PRESCRIPTION

Since troubles are of such a vast variety, I realize there is no blanket prescription which can be given for their cure. But, ponder the familiar statement with which the Hebrew singer begins the 46th Psalm: "God is our refuge and strength; a very present help in trouble."

Life is so full of petty irritations, pressures most of us in our youth read "Gulliver's Travels." It is one of the most popular books for children in the English-speaking world, and also one of the most penetrating interpretations of adult life.

As the giant Gulliver was tormented in the land of the pygmies, so we grown-ups are harassed by a horde of little trouble-makers. They get on our nerves, they fret our tempers, they distract our minds, they may even get us down, as they did Gulliver. These little frustrations and petty insults constitute what a friend of mine calls "the mosquitoes of life." God is our refuge from these trivial troubles of life, for in His greatness we find a largeness of perspective which helps us to see the molehills as molehills and not as mountains.

A BIGNESS OF SPIRIT

He imparts a bigness of purpose which sweeps us along with a force that brushes aside petty irritations. We catch also a bigness of spirit which makes us too magnanimous to remember insults or to cherish grudges.

A friend of mine lost his good executive position through rivalries in his organization. He was about 40 and it was a real blow. Speaking of it afterward, he said, "I never felt I could afford the luxury of resentment." With that godly attitude he started in a new business and today he is a recognized leader.

Turn now to the tempestuous troubles of life. They may begin as little things—just a little laxity here and there, just a little something wrong in this place or that. Thus we "sow the wind and reap the whirlwind." The little troubles grow until troubles "like the sea billows roll."

Or these stormy troubles may come through no fault of our own. Yet they do come and even the hardiest mariner at times longs for the harbor.

A REFUGE

The testimony of experience is that God is our refuge from the tempestuous troubles of life as a land-locked harbor is a shelter from the waves that beat on a strong - and - rock - bound coast. Temptations and trials do not reach us when we are in the presence of God.

Remember, too, that God is both our refuge and strength to overcome our troubles by work and service. A mother in my church lost her little seven-year-old son. At first she kept his playroom intact and there she would go to nurse her grief. Finally she started a nursery for some poor children and in that work she found the comfort to surmount her sorrow.

WOODLAND, HERE!

Perhaps Belleville residents ought to serve public notice on the world that they will not take kindly to punsters who refer to them as "people from the sticks."

On and after Sunday, every Belleville telephone will be designated by a number preceded by the word "Woodland." We want it distinctly understood that, in the conviction of all good Belleville residents, the Bell Telephone Co. in its selection of "Woodland" as our telephonic addressee was moved by a desire to pay tribute to the beauty of the city's tree-lined streets, and not by any illusion that we live in a backwoods town.

With that point understood, we can settle back and enjoy the advantages of the dial system. The Bell people are right in style with this change, which comes as a "do-it-yourself" craze is cresting in record peaks in a dozen lines of endeavor. Thanks to the Bell engineers, though, dialers are sure to get much better results than the majority of "do-it-yourself" efforts in other fields. Once the technique of dialling is learned—and it can be painlessly and speedily acquired by a few moment's attention to the telephone company's advertisements—operation of a dial telephone is simplicity itself.

We shall not pretend, though, that this latest step in the march of progress is without its drawbacks. Nor shall we take kindly to any suggestions that, in advancing this view, we are akin to those who saw in the advent of the automobile only the disappearance of the horse. There are many tasks which the horse can be paid to the horse. But, after all, it is dispensable. The same can not be said about the possessors of the pleasant voices for which the new system substitutes a "dial tone." We are pleased to learn, therefore, that adequate scientific research in centres which have been served by dial telephones for several years indicates that this electronic masterpiece does not reduce the human touch in any way into oblivion. On the contrary, there are some grounds for the belief that it will merely transfer the owners of those pleasant voices into positions where they can be seen as well as heard. If this hope is substantiated by developments, the advent of the dial telephone will prove an unalloyed boon to Belleville.

FIRE HYDRANT COLORS

Reading the Sudbury Star, one acquires a clear insight into the feeling of the Pharisee, when he thanked God that he was not as other men.

Up at Sudbury, they have been squabbling about the color of fire hyrants and the Star, in an editorial, praises as a sensible compromise a decision that fire hydrants shall be painted yellow tops.

The Sudbury fire chief had recommended that the hydrants should be painted yellow, because the conventional red hydrant was not out clearly against dark backgrounds at night. Some of the city fathers had objected to any change in the conventional red color. It was the fire chief who recommended the compromise of red hydrants with yellow tops. The Sudbury Star says "the yellow top will surely provide sufficient area to reflect the beams of the searching spotlight."

It is almost impossible, at this point in the discussion, for a Belleville resident to avoid that feeling of vast superiority, to refrain from offering thanks that Belleville is not as others are.

Here in Belleville most of our hydrants have been yellow, with red tops, for many years. We say "most" on advice of counsel—in this case an official of the fire department. It was because Belleville is not bound by convention that we had courage enough to abandon the conventional red hydrant many years ago and it is because of this same unbound by convention that we encourage individualism, that all our hydrants may not be adorned in yellow. There was, for instance, the case of the East Hill resident who painted a hydrant green, to blend with his lawn. That fellow was installed, then there is a suspicion that some other individualists may have asserted themselves in a more subtle fashion. There may be a hydrant or two in the city citizens have painted red and so strong is the force of habit that this individualistic return to what was once the conventional color may have escaped the notice of the authorities.

RUSSIAN EYES ON INDIA

Recently it was reported that a Russian technical mission had signed a deal with Prime Minister Nehru to provide India with the necessary plan and equipment for a modern steel mill. Western countries, which were given an opportunity to bid for the contract, were unable to come anywhere near the Soviet price of $91 million.

As friends who fight colonialism, the Russians have not been wasting any time to dig in on the propaganda front in Asia. For after Mr. Nehru appear at all squeamish about accepting capital equipment built by the Soviet Union's slave labor force.

The Russians, to be sure, probably don't expect India to go Communist overnight. So far as the objectives of Soviet imperialism are concerned, however, anything that can serve to keep India from challenging Red China for the leadership of Asia's masses is good business.

Russia's steel mill deal is nicely calculated to keep India neutral on the issue of Asian leadership at the Afro-Asian conference in Indonesia.

HOME DISASTER

It wouldn't seem like home to me,
The dining places filled,
Unless some accident
A glass of milk was spilled.
My youngest manners are surveyed,
I sit up straight to chat,
But with the children I expect
Disaster at that.

I'm quite accustomed to a pool
Around my plate and cup,
And always I am calm and cool
When butter soaks up.
I know the deepest of a glass
A little hand may slap.
I never hope to meet will pass
Without a milk-soaked lap.

A glass of milk is dangerous stuff
When children sit near-by.
No grown-up head seems quick enough
Protector to supply.
And when beneath the table
dozes
The milk is flung my way,
It makes me feel that I'm at home
I'm used to that," I say.

Fishermen Secretive

(North Bay Nugget)

Fishermen are a highly secretive breed of men. When two of them trout fishermen, for instance, leave the province lake or stream it is an unspoken law that the three will thereafter lie, steal or cheat to keep the location a secret. At the same time they will, in word and gesture, at least double the length of each fish caught so as to make the secret information still much more elusive.

Many a fisherman would rather reveal his most secret sins than the location of his favorite trout hole. Such a thing would blacken his name forever among the fishing fraternity; a fate which abides even the staunchest sportsmen.

So we don't find much hope this the future of fishing statistics in Canada. As long as fishermen enjoy their sport, the art of preserving the truth will rank among them almost as highly as the ability of tying a fly or casting a spinner.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DOORS

All over this world are doors—doors opening and shutting—leading into rooms, for-eating, sleeping, study, visiting and planning. Every office, building, or home has its doors. We have invisible doors, as well, and they are doors to the mind. You often have to earn your way through these doors. Often, however, it's by invitation.

There is even a door to the heart, but usually there is a key to that. Fortunate is that one who needs no key to pass through its door.

Conan Doyle, famous author of the Sherlock Holmes stories, wrote a book called "The Magic Door", which was the door into his library, and there it was that he took his most intimate friends for intellectual treats. I wouldn't feel happy with the doors of my library closed. I think the spirit of a library should circulate. So I am always happy to open a book friend calls.

Like the idea of beautiful doors to public buildings, institutions and homes. How appealing are the old New England homes. It is no doors to St. Patrick's Cathedral, in New York City, and I always like to see them open. I like to see people going through them for a period of worship.

For many years I was a salesman and traveled all over the United States and Canada selling my newspaper features. I found few closed doors among the great of that day. Publishers were always ready to listen to what might prove a valuable idea. An open mind and an open door make good companions!

It will be a glorious period in human history when there will be an open door to every nation in the world, and when they trade and communicate as friends, and as strangers behind a closed or locked door.

(Guelph Mercury)

All marriages are happy — it is only living together afterwards that causes all the troubles.

No Longer Sin To Be Wealthy

(Montreal Gazette)

The late Andrew Carnegie once said that any man who died rich, died disgraced. His words were applauded at the time, and they are sometimes applauded still. And the public seems to have no doubt whether there is much truth in them. They were a recognition on the part of a comment belief that the acquisition of wealth is essentially sinful. Though a man may acquire it during his lifetime, he ought to give the greater part of it to others.

Prof. W. B. Harvey of the University of Western Ontario describes the idea that making money is sinful as one of the most wide-spread fallacies in the world today." And he goes on to say: "I have no hesitation in saying that the moralists who condemn moneymaking as a sin are most socially unenlightened."

And why are they mistaken? They are mistaken because they are still thinking of wealth in medieval terms. Wealth, in those days, whether it took the form of jewels and precious metals, or hoards of gold and silver, was of little or no advantage, except to the person who owned it. The only wealth of capital today exists primarily in the form of investment. The wealth of Carnegie was in his steel mills. The wealth of Ford was in his automobile factories. He was not in the form of gold coins locked in an iron-bound box in a castle cellar.

'Spike' Milk, Farmer Urges

(Family Herald and Weekly Star)

There is a dairy farmer in the Fraser Valley who has thought out a scheme to induce children to drink more milk. He suggests "spiking" it, though not in the usual alcoholic way of "spiking" milk.

H. J. Hohman elaborated on his solution when giving evidence to the B.C. Royal Commission inquiry on milk in Vancouver. He said:

"We can't get away from the fact that city children do not get as keen on milk as we dairymen would like them to be. Milk in the form of ice cream is the main thing. Too many of the children drink it almost under compulsion.

"We should 'spike' this milk to make it more attractive. We should give it flavor, because it's wouldn't cost much. It is already being done with carbonate, and that sells very well. There are lots of flavors that blend nicely with milk.

"Also, we should offer colored milk to the children. A mighty's taste different from ordinary milk, but it would be more attractive if colored rose, or yellow, or pink, or even blue. Kids like brilliantly colored things, and they wouldn't care if the concoction didn't look very logical."

Birds Ignore Iron Curtain

(Windsor Star)

The United States has learned, to its sorrow, that certain song birds which normally stick to North America have turned up in Europe, including Australia and other points of origin.

This merely proves again that birds are the world's greatest travellers. It is hardly correct to call them feathered travellers. They show a sublime unconcern for national boundaries.

Migrations from north to south, and back again, come with the changing seasons. Flocks of summer birds in Essex County that winter in Florida, that scorn snow geese and pintail ducks have scorned the iron curtain may be a variation from old practices, but otherwise is in character.

If some of our migratory birds could express themselves, they probably would say huntsmen's guns are no more ruthless in Russia than here.

When Elden Visited Duce

(St. Thomas Times Journal)

The story is told that during a visit to Rome by Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, he met Premier Mussolini, Il Duce, sitting behind a huge desk was showing off his comprehensive knowledge of the push-buttons, Mussolini said, "When I press this yellow one my colonial minister comes. When I press this green one my foreign secretary enters. And when I press the red one here the late Ben Jonson arose and jutted his chin like the rock of Gibraltar — "a million men are mobilized."

Eden answered with a grin. "Well, I'd just like to call a sandwich and glass of beer and pressed the red button by mistake."

Letters to the Editor

Voice Opposition To Fluoridation

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Could you find room in your paper for a few words on water fluoridation?

According to articles printed in the Ontario Intelligencer, as well as some broadcasts on CJBQ, I would gather that the city council, considering the use of fluoride in the water supply.

I am an ex-Belleville citizen, and feel very much at home in your city. According to many articles I have read about the experiences of other cities who have used fluorine in the drinking water, it seems to me the city council should at least investigating before they give the "go ahead" sign to a dreadful thing when this can't be supplied.

Do you remember a few years back the pedicillin became well known? Any person could go to the drug store and get it in some form. This was done by thousands of people, for colds, on scratches and small cuts and what happened? People developed allergies to the drug. Then it was sold only on a doctor's prescription. What about allergies from fluorine? What do these people do then? If fluorine is necessary to prevent decay in children's teeth, let it be made in tablet form on a prescription basis, so those who want it may get it, and those who don't want it may leave it be. In this way individual has the right to say what goes into his body, and putting fluorine in the drinking water just doesn't give anyone a chance to say no to else.

What does the taxpayer think of this? It will mean added expenses, and to the best of my knowledge Belleville is highly enough now. If you have a surplus of money on hand there are plenty of ways it can be used, so why bother the taxpayer for more unnecessary taxes?

Give our children good clear drinking water, feed them plenty of fresh fruits, vegetables and dairy products, they will have good teeth.

Think this over before it is too late.

INTERESTED.

BRIEF PRESENTED

The Ontario Intelligencer has received an excerpt from a brief on water fluoridation presented by The Property Owners' Association of Toronto to the Council of Metropolitan Toronto. This was printed in the magazine of the Property Owner and Building Maintenance." The brief in part follows:—

"The Association does not consider that the Metropolitan Council authority has any right to spend the taxpayers money for the proposal to put chemical additives into the water supply for the benefit of a section of the residents of the municipality. In the first place, the people pay, say, only 0.05% of the total water consumption for drinking purposes and, therefore, only that percentage of the expenditure required for fluoridation would result in benefit, if any, to the residents of the municipality. The other 99.95% of the expenditure would be literally washed down the drain. Under the circumstances it is submitted that expenditure of public taxpayers money for this purpose cannot be justified. If fluoridation is as beneficial as it is claimed to be to children under the age of eight, it ought not to be difficult for individuals to make their own additions at the chemical to the beverage water supply of their children at their own expense, and at a much smaller cost than the cost to the public at large of adding the chemical to the total water supply with the consequent enormous wastage of expense and effort.

Concerning treatment of a person after a "heart attack," a physician who presumably has had some experience as a consultant, writes:

Dr. Brady

"In many cases the main doctor would have preferred not to give any medicine, but he knew some medicine the patient or his wife or family would feel that he was being badly neglected."

So you see, poor souls, why some eminent specialists keep their customers taking digitalis indefinitely. Indeed, some of them make their customers believe that life itself depends on taking the daily dose of digitalis or some similar medicine.

It's funny how a doctor can be so busy as these track specialists pretend to be and yet be ready to tell a patient he doesn't need any medicine.

Many times in my early practice—the honest years—I tried it, and the experiment proved costly. The patient would go straight from my office to the office of a more experienced doctor who considered medicine indispensable. I not only lost business but laughed into the ensuing fee the patient that way; the patient could be pretty indignant if I decided after careful examination that he needed no medicine and yet charged a fee for my advice. It took several years—about six years—for me to learn to discard such patients six cents worth of inert tablets and keep him coming.

Then, after I became callous about that, I wasn't entirely happy, except that the children got more of the pleasures other children enjoyed.

Digitalis may possibly be beneficial in some circumstances. At least a lot of good doctors seem to think so. Some good doctors have tried to explain to me, in language simple enough to fit a child to understand, how and why digitalis is good for certain conditions of the heart trouble is, they become first nettled, then vehement, and finally so darn mystified.

I used to say I'd never take digitalis unless my doctor ordered me to take it or else.

Now I must amend that, to read as follows:

I would not take digitalis in any conceivable circumstance. If I developed heart trouble and the physician prescribed digitalis, I'd refuse it.

If the doctor gave me the tablet-or-else routine I'd say, "Well, that's too bad, Doctor, I like you. But without digitalis. Give it to some poor good who doesn't know anything about therapeutics."

THE SONG WAS STILLED

One of America's greatest musicians was Stephen C. Foster, who wrote "Old Folks at Home," "Swanee River," "Old Kentucky Home," and many others which have gladdened the hearts of generations of people. His life has been a struggle to get to the top called for heroism and perseverance of which he had plenty.

But Foster could not carry this heroism and perseverance over into the field of morals. He early became interested in drink and in conflict. A woman who worked in a large publishing house in New York tells how Foster, well under forty years of age, came into the establishment one day, looking dazed and looking like a tramp. This woman who greatly admired his compositions walked over to him, put out her hand and asked, "Is that you, Foster?" He took her hand and replied, "Yes, the wreck of Stephen C. Foster is here."

He had not reached the zenith of his usefulness when he died, in a cheap boarding house on the Bowery...murmuring, "I am done for" and humming a few of his many songs that he was in the hands of a habit he could not control.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The time is almost ripe for an interesting new profession for young men and women—the professional field naturalist. Not for those who are actively interested in wild nature, and our numbers increase by leaps and bounds every year, it should be possible, on vivid, clear words, to lead a group of nature lovers over any other professional person, would take you to see and hear and show us the birds, wild flowers, animals, or whatever other aspect of nature is in season.

The number of young men and women now equipped to do just that is already considerable. The field naturalist clubs in numerous Canadian cities and towns have very expert keen members who every year add enormously to their bred and march for miles around. With the changing seasons, they can locate, with the greatest skill, any bird, orchid, fox, rare tree, mushroom, rock formation, and especially any curiosities of nature that lie within their familiar territories.

Professional field naturalists are already in existence in considerable numbers. In provincial parks, naturalists are employed by governments to conduct parties of conducted trips through the woods to point out the interesting features to parties of visitors. Two hours or two or four more and more summer resort hotels are hiring trained field naturalists, especially students, to serve as guides to individuals or groups who want to learn more about the natural history of the district in which they are staying. In evenings on the birds, fish, animals, trees, wildflowers that are found locally.

In most Canadian cities, it is not unusual to find a professional teacher to come and teach you or your family how to cook fish. Or you might employ a golf instructor. But the outdoors is another and much wider and wider constituency than the anglers, hunters, golfers and other lovers in the open air. Being a member of the American Ornithologists Union, I can visit any city or town in America and telephone a fellow member who will gladly take me out and show me the local features of interest in wild birds. Soon we are going to need professionals in the much wider field of nature as a whole.

Along Canadian Trails

Beetown, Ontario

By LEONARD L. KNOTT

In London, England, and in Cornell University, in the United States, there are memorial plaques to a Canadian who has been forgotten by his own countrymen. His own home town where he spent most of his life and which owes its name to his life-work knows practically nothing of his achievement which won him international fame.
